COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1943. 135th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 27. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, APRIL 26, 1943. No. 48.

SENATE

MONDAY, April 26, 1943.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock p. m. Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D., offered the following prayer:

As the earth inclines toward the sun for light and warmth that produce life, so may our hearts and minds incline toward Thee, the sun of righteousness, whose rays will illumine our darkness and make our lives productive of only good. May our growth in the knowledge of God be continuous and as natural as is growth in the vegetable world.

Help us to increase in likeness to the divine by cultivating the Christian virtues, the seeds of which Thou hast implanted in our souls. Then the harvest of our lives will be for the glory of God and our own rejoicing.

The time allotted to us for honoring God and serving our fellowmen is short. In the business of the day may the members of this body be actuated by the earnest desire to produce beneficient results for all people.

May gratitude arise from the altars of our hearts today as incense arose from the altars of Thy holy temple in the long ago.

All we pray is in the name of our Lord and Savior. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. SCARLETT, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. ZIESENHEIM.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. EDMONDS, on account of illness.

House Bill No. 686, entitled:

An Act to permit the sale and purchase of imitation butter or oleomargine for consumption by inmates and employes of charitable and penal institutions within the Commonwealth for a period of two years, and suspending certain provisions of the law prohibiting such sales and purchase for the same period of time, under certain circumstances requiring the keeping of records and the making of reports and providing penalties.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. GELTZ asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, yesterday throughout the world there was observed the anniversary of an event which meant more to the world and to humanity than any other single event that has ever occurred in this world. We observed yesterday and have for nineteen hundred years observed on that day, not the birth but the re-birth or resurrection of the Person in this world Whose teachings and Whose philosophy have meant more than any other single thing.

I wonder, Mr. President, in that observance if we remember that in order to commemorate the light coming through the darkness in the world, we keep in mind that in order to have that great event and to have light coming through dark it was necessary that the supreme sacrifice be made? We have now for nineteen hundred years looked back upon that sacrifice as the greatest and the most supreme sacrifice made on this earth. That sacrifice, Mr. President, was made by the Great Teacher, Who, above all things, taught us love for our fellowmen. His greatest teaching, I believe, was love thy brother.

It seems to me that this Easter season should be especially important to us, because of the fact that now thousands of our fellow citizens, and I am afraid it will not be long until tens of thousands of our fellow citizens will be making that great and supreme sacrifice for the purpose again of bringing hope in a dark world.

We talk about those boys, our patriots, who are in the service and who are giving their all. We talk sometimes about those at home whom we believe are not making a sufficient sacrifice parallel with the one the boys in the service are making.

I wonder, however, if we stop and try to analyze the purpose for which the sacrifice of these boys is being made. Why are we fighting this war? When that question is asked, some individuals say we are fighting for Americanism—that is true—some others say we are fighting to make the world safe for democracy, something we heard some twenty-five years ago—and that, too, might be true—but that is not the most significant thing.

These boys are fighting and are willing to make the sacrifice, in my opinion, in order that this world may continue on, on the principle of brotherly love, in order that there may be continued in this world that greatest teaching that Christ gave us, love thy brother, and that is necessary, Mr. President, because there grew up in this world, in certain parts of the world, an opposite principle, an opposite or contradictory philosophy, and that was one apparently which was hate thy fellowman.

If we just go back a few years we recall that after the last World War there was desolation and poverty pretty much throughout the world. Because of that desolation and poverty there was fertile soil for false leaders in Europe, there was fertile soil for hypocrites and demagogues to sow their seeds and to have them flourish, and that continued on until those false leaders became strong enough to set the world on fire.

I am afraid that in this country we have had some of that philosophy of hate spread among our citizens, we have some individuals teaching hatred, teaching labor to hate its employer, teaching the tenant to hate his landlord, teaching the poor to hate the rich, and that is a philosophy which is exactly foreign and opposite to that which was taught by the Great Teacher.

Therefore, Mr. President, I wonder if this Easter season should not be one of special and particular significance to each and every one of us? We have heard in this Chamber and we have heard in other places that we must make certain that our form of government is preserved for the boys who will come back, that we must do what we can to make certain that conditions are existent here upon their return as they were when they left. I do not think that is enough. I think that each and every one of us, and each and every citizen of this country, should firmly resolve at this time to do everything she or he possibly can, not to have conditions here as they were when the boys left, but to have them better than they were when the boys left, and I think that if each and every one of us, the citizens of this country, would firmly resolve to try to put into our daily lives and practice a practical Americanism based upon the great teaching of Jesus Christ, love thy brother, then each and every one of us will be keeping faith with those boys who have gone away to make their great sacrifice for us.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to thank Senator Geltz for his splendid address.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. JASPAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, last Monday night while I was in the midst of discussing a very important bill dealing with the registration of our citizens, known as Senate Bill No. 305, as introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell, I was unceremoniously interrupted.

I appreciate the fact that the Senate was within its rights—the matter was technical—and I am not going to quarrel with the Senate on that score at the present time.

However, I do say it is a very dangerous practice at any time to suppress debate, irrespective of the length to which a member may go. There were many things I intended to go into while I was discussing that bill.

However, as I said before, I was cut short, and at the present time I wish to read into the record a statement as appearing in the Philadelphia Record of last week entitled "Urges Pickling of Farrell Bill—Committee of 70 Cites Veto of Similar Law by Governor James." The article is as follows:

"URGES PICKLING OF FARRELL BILL

"Committee of 70 Cites Veto of Similar Law by Governor James

"The Elections Committee of the State House of Representatives was urged yesterday to let the Farrell registration bill die with adjournment of the present session of the Legislature.

"The Committee of 70 suggested that the measure, which already has passed the State Senate, 'be kept in committee, so that permanent registration can be enjoyed by all qualified electors in the city, and not only by those who are fortunate enough to continue their places of residence in the district from which they have registered.'

Provisions of Bill

"The legislation, sponsored by State Senator Louis H. Farrell, of the eighth (Northeast) district, proposes to abolish removal notices as a method of certifying to the Registration Commission a change in a voter's address when he moves from one election district to another. More than 100,000 Philadelphia voters annually would be affected.

"The Committee of 70's request was contained in a letter to Representative Ivan C. Watkins, Schuylkill Republican, chairman of the House Elections Committee, written by William Barclay Lex, chairman of the civic group's committee on elections.

What Governor James Said

"Lex suggested that members of the House committee read Governor James' message vetoing a similar bill in 1939.

"The Governor wrote, at that time, that the bill would cause, 'unnecessary expenditures of county funds, the perpetration of fraud and the inconvenience of bona-fide voters. . . . The requirements that electors moving from one election district to another in the same city appear in person and register de novo are unnecessary to the citizens and negatives the permanent feature of registration.'

"'Under the proposed act,' 70's letter read, 'approximately 100,000 persons would be required to re-register each year in Philadelphia, since the bill provides that those who move from one election district to another must register again in person. This, we believe, will cost the taxpayers large sums of money, inconvenience electors and will tend ultimately to turn permanent registration into personal registration.'"

In closing, Mr. President, may I say that in 1939, many of us here were members of the Senate. The House was controlled by the Republicans, the Senate was controlled by the Republicans, and a similar bill had passed both Houses and yet a Republican Governor, Governor James, vetoed the bill.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. CROWE, from the Committee on Education, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 575, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (d) of section six hundred two and one-tenth of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," further regulating the power of directors of school districts in the sale of unused and unnecessary lands and buildings.

Mr. KEPHART, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 615, entitled:

An Act to amend section sixty of the act, approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 447), entitled, as amended "An act relating to the administration and distribution of the estates of decedents and of minors, and of trust estates; including the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, liabilities, accounts, discharging and removal of executors, administrators, guardians, and trustees, herein designated as fiduciaries the administration and distribution of the estates of presumed decedents; widow's and children's exemptions; debts of decedents, rents of real estate as assets for payment thereof, the lien thereof, sales and mortgages of real estate for the payment thereof, judgments and executions therefor, and the discharge of real estate from the lien thereof; contracts of decedents for the sale or purchase of real estate; legacies, including legacies charged on land; the discharge of residuary estates and of real estate from the lien of legacies and other charges; the appraisement of real estate devised at a valuation; the ascertainment of the curtilage of dwelling houses or other buildings devised; the abatement and survival of actions, and the substitution of executors and administrators therein; the survival of causes of action and suits thereupon by or against fiduciaries; investments by fiduciaries; the organization of corporations to carry on the business of decedents; the audit and review of accounts of fiduciaries; refunding bonds; transcripts to the court of common pleas of balances due by fiduciaries; the rights, powers, and liabilities of nonresident and foreign fiduciaries; the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, and liabilities of trustees, durante absentia; the recording and registration of decrees, reports and other proceedings, and the fees therefor; appeals in certain cases; and, also, generally dealing with the jurisdiction, powers, and procedure of the orphans' court in all matters relating to fiduciaries concerned with the estates of decedents," further regulating the administration and distribution of the estates of missing persons; prescribing the jurisdiction, powers and duties of the orphans' court relative thereto, and of the trustees appointed by said court for the management, control and distribution of such estates; and repealing existing laws.

RESOLUTION

SENATE BILL No. 272, PRINTER'S No. 245, RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. WALKER offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, April 26, 1943.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), that Senate Bill No. 272, Printer's No. 245, entitled "An act to apportion the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania into congressional districts," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, is unanimous consent required in order to recall a bill from the Governor.

The PRESIDENT. No.

Mr. BARR. I object, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. There is no provision requiring unanimous consent to recall a bill from the Governor. A majority, voting in favor of the recall resolution, is required.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. KEPHART, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 625, entitled:

An Act providing referendums to ascertain the will of electors on the question of baseball and football on Sundays, and for the enactment of licensing ordinances and resolutions in accordance therewith.

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE ADMENMENTS RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of House Bill No. 440, entitled:

An Act to further amend section seven hundred two of the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 289) entitled "An act relating to nonprofit corporations defining and providing for the organization merger consolidation and dissolution of such corporations conferring certain rights powers duties and immunities upon them and their officers and members prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the first class within the provisions of this act prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign nonprofit corporations may be admitted or may continue to do business within the Commonwealth conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas prothonotaries of such courts recorders of deeds and certain State departments commissions and officers authorizing certain local public officers and State departments to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations" by further regulating the method of approval of amendments of articles of incorporation of nonprofit corporations by the members thereof.

And the admendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—46

Barr,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Tallman,
Becker,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Taylor,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 67, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" establishing the method of appointing promoting reducing in rank suspension furloughing discharging and reinstating members of the police force of counties of the second class creating and defining the powers and duties of a civil service commission imposing certain duties and expenses on such counties and prescribing penalties.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in connection with Senate Bill No. 67, I desire to interrogate the sponsor.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like the gentleman from Allegheny to explain, if he can, the meaning of the clause on page 15, beginning at line 13, which says "any member of a county police board for counties of the second class who was dismissed from such board since January 1, 1943 for any reason except those as specified in Section 330.10 of this act shall be reinstated to his former position in the police force without any examination whatsoever."

What is the purpose of the provision, Mr. President, on page 1, beginning with line 13.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, the purpose of that section is to give protection to any of those individuals who may have taken some part in having this bill promoted and passed.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Does the gentleman from Allegheny mean that some people who promoted the passage of this bill were dismissed on January 1 or thereafter?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, this is just one of those "in case" clauses, just in case one of them was dismissed—I do not know whether any of them were dismissed or not. I do not know that it would apply to any individuals who had been on the police force but it was put in there as a protective measure.

Mr. SHAPIRO. It seems to me, Mr. President, with this provision in the bill, that any policeman dismissed since January 1 must be automatically reinstated under the provisions of this bill, no matter what the reason, unless it comes within the provision of section 330.10 which I think is for the commission of a specific offense; otherwise policemen would have to be put back automatically.

Mr. GELTZ. I do not see any harm in that, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—32

Becker,	Deitrick,	Kephart,	Thomas,
Bowers,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Tyler,

DiSilvestro,	Kephart,

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 291, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section forty-nine of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 447) entitled as amended "An act relating to the administration and distribution of the estates of decedents and of minors and of trust estates including the appointment bonds rights powers duties liabilities accounts discharge and removal of executors administrators guardians and trustees herein designated as fiduciaries the administration and distribution of the estates of presumed decedents widow's and children's exemptions debts of decedents rents of real estate as assets for payment thereof the lien thereof sales and mortgages of real estate for the payment thereof judgments and executions therefor and the discharge of real estate from the lien thereof contracts of decedents for the sale or purchase of real estate legacies including legacies charged on land the discharge of residuary estates and of real estate from the lien of legacies and other charges the appraisement of real estate devised at a valuation the ascertainment of the curtilage of dwelling houses or other buildings devised the abatement and survival of actions and the substitution of executors and administrators therein the survival of causes of action and suits thereupon by or against fiduciaries investments by fiduciaries the organization of corporations to carry on the business of decedents the audit and review of accounts of fiduciaries refunding bonds transcripts to the court of common pleas of balances due by fiduciaries the rights powers and liabilities of nonresident and foreign fiduciaries the appointment bonds rights powers duties and liabilities of trustees durante absentia the recording and registration of decrees reports and other proceedings and the fees therefor appeals in certain cases and also generally dealing with the jurisdiction powers and procedure of the orphans' court in all matters relating to fiduciaries concerned with the estates of decedents" by changing the provisions of subsection (b) thereof which authorize executors or administrators to make distribution and pay or deliver legacies without the audit of their accounts

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 304, entitled:

An Act to amend Sections 1604 1605 1606 1607 and 1608 of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. FARRELL. I object, Mr. President.

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 304

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 304, passed second reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I voted "aye".

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I voted "aye".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I assume the purpose of this bill is to prevent labor organizations from making contributions for political purposes of course, I am going to vote against the bill. I am not going to make a speech about it because I think it is known why I will vote against this bill, because I have previously spoken against it.

However, Mr. President, I would like to call to the attention of the sponsor of this bill that I do not think he has done any good by this bill I think he has done a great deal of harm.

Page 3, clause (b) is intended to prevent unincorporated associations from making contributions. As the bill is now amended, it will not only permit unincorporated associations to make contributions but it will permit corporations to make contributions, because this proposed bill, with the amendment, now reads: "(b) No corporation or unincorporated association or officer or agent thereof whether incorporated or organized under the laws of this or any other state or any foreign country except those formed for or having political purposes shall pay, give or lend or authorize to be paid or lent—"

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadephia is not reading from the latest printer's number of this bill.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Now, Mr. President, I am handed another printer's number of this bill, which I did not have over the weekend, which reads—"those formed primarily for political purposes or a political committee." I can not see that that has corrected the amendment, at first blush, because it will permit agents thereof, who may form organizations for a political purpose, to make contributions. It is easy for an incorporated association to have an agent organize a corporation for political purposes, and that is what this amendment does now, by placing in there the words "except those formed for or having political purposes," whether it be primarily or not, any corporation may now form through its agent another corporation for a purely political purpose and make contributions.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I wish to direct the attention of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, to the fact that if a corporation should form another corporation for purely political purposes, the first corporation could not contribute to the second.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not quite understand why any group of men can not get together willingly and voluntarily and vote some of their own funds for political purposes. O course, everybody knows that the Liberty League did not contribute to the Labor Party in the Nation, and everybody knows that labor unions did not contribute to the Liberty League.

It seems difficult for me to comprehend why a labor organization cannot contribute for political purposes, when you have such bills on the Calendar as Senate Bill No. 46. I certainly think that any group of men and women who work for a living ought to be able to defend themselves against that type of legislation, by helping to elect men and women to public office who are not in accord with that kind of legislation.

I can easily see how the letters could come in from various labor organizations, for or against any legislation that is on the calendar, and easily be ignored and thrown into the waste basket, because they have lost their political potency. I mean that you are nullifying the right of free action on the part of an organization and that organization is formed for mutual benefit; whether those benefits take the form of increased pay, better working conditions or more humane legislation, they all come within the scope of the activities of labor organizations or any other organizations.

Needless to say, Mr. President, I do not think that any person within the hearing of my voice feels that this or any other bill can stop large contributions from going into campaign funds of the type of legislators who would propose and pass anti-labor legislation. The only method by which labor can make itself felt in a political campaign is collectively, not individually. In other words, no member of a labor organization has sufficient funds to contribute a thousand dollars, we will say, to every man in a Senate campaign who happens to vote for their legislation, but having been in the political game since I was twenty-one years of age, I know individuals interested in the other end of the picture, on the other side of the fence, who can very easily give a thousand dollars to every member of the Senate who votes for the Woodward bill or bills of that type.

I do not think you are being fair in trying to nullify the vote of labor by saying they can not contribute under any circumstances to a man running for public office or to a political party.

I think you fellows on the other side realize well enough by now that no matter what contributions, if any, are ever made by labor organizations, the fellows behind you men can certainly double and redouble the amount that the entire dollar a month dues can produce, for political contribution.

I do not worry much about it, except the principle of the thing. In all of the years I have supported labor legislation, I have yet to ever receive any backing financially from any labor organization, as such, or any labor leader as such. What they have done, I believe, at times, is to put ads in the paper calling attention to the fact that as far as their own legislation was concerned, perhaps some of the members of the legislature had gone along with them and had voted the way they thought was right. You are stopping that, of course, because that is a campaign contribution, that is a political contribution.

Now, members of the Senate, if you feel that the labor vote is potent, if you feel that the labor vote is something to be disturbed about, the way to curry their favor and to get their support is not by trying to hamstring their political efforts, but by trying to introduce and pass legislation that will at least be fair to them. I do not ask that you give them anything unfair or any advantage over anybody, but I do believe that you are making a serious mistake in analyzing your concept of American government by saying that any particular group, especially an underprivileged group, can not contribute to a political campaign for their own protection and I do not think that any man need go beyond today's Calendar to find where labor would need some protection. They can easily see, by looking on the Calendar, that somewhere along the line labor needs protection, it needs to organize and fight for its very right to exist. Under the terms of the Woodward bill, it would be difficult for them even to stay in existence, and certainly they ought to be allowed to fight for that right they ought to be allowed to fight to stay alive.

No man here can say, with all the wrongs charged against labor organizations, that in the main they have not been beneficial, particularly to the membership, particularly to the men who make up these labor unions.

I can remember a particular case that may interest you. In one of the largest corporations in this state, prior to its employes organizing a labor union, their minimum pay rate was eighteen cents an hour, and within a year and a half after their organization had firmly established itself, the minimum rate of pay was sixty-two cents an hour, and, incidentally, dividends to stockholders were never cut down because of the increase in hourly earnings, but prior to the time the men and women were earning a fairly decent minimum wage, the stockholders of that company were reaping a harvest, unlimited amounts of money were being paid out to the principal owners.

I say to you men in the Senate of Pennsylvania that when you say to a man who works for a living that he can not take an active part in politics, you are adding another nail to the coffin of this democracy. In the first place, you are nullifying the vote of the so-called civil service employes in the federal government, you are trying to nullify the vote of anybody who works for government, state, nation or county, and now you are going to nullify the vote of the person who works for a living because he happens to belong to a labor union. You say no your are not doing that, because he can still go out individually. Certainly he can, but I say to you that it takes collective action on the part of the underprivileged to get any benefits out of legislation. You do not need to take my word for that, just look at the Calendar, just go over and review the four years under Governor James, just study the thing that happened to workmen's compensation, study what happened to the anti-injunction law, study what has happened recently to the merit rating plan, robbing the state unemployment compensation fund; study the acts of this General Assembly in the past four years and part of this session, and you will see that labor has every right, under any concept of the way the American Government was founded, they have every right to collectively contribute to a campaign in order that they may secure the protection that we here should secure for every one of them, and so I say to you, pass this legislation if you so desire, and I will guarantee you that it will do no good.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, right after the Session opened today I heard a very beautiful expression of thought from the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, who spoke about the brotherhood of men, he spoke of our creating hatreds between labor and capital, yes, creating hatreds between the farmer and the man who lives in the city. I sat back and listened and thought this Session had at last reached a point where some of the things that we are talking about were going to be put into effect. I was firmly of the thought that considerable sincerity was back of this bill, I thought the sponsor of the bill had only one thought in mind, and that was to correct election laws so that we could have better elections and better results from elections.

With that in mind I offered amendments. This Senate did not even stop to have the amendments read. They voted them down without knowing what they were voting down. My amendments, I believe, would have improved this bill.

If we are worrying about donations to political parties, we should also close all loopholes by which political parties get around election laws.

Mr. President, the members of this Senate know that large sums of money are borrowed by political parties and that those political parties do not give an accounting to the people to whom those money are to be paid back. I believe that that creates in the minds of the people of Pennsylvania a distrust of government, I believe it creates in the minds of the people the thought that maybe this money is not paid back in dollars but is paid in some other way.

It was to correct this evil that I offered amendments compelling any party, whether it be Democratic or Republican, or any party not yet formed, to give an accounting three months before the next election of how this money was paid back, and where were the contributors who raised the amount of money that was to be paid back. I think that is only fair, I think it is only just, I think that the Senate of Pennsylvania by turning thumbs down on these amendments, shows a lack of sincerity in this bill. You can not create a brotherhood of men if you are going to permit these men to do what the men who were chased out of the temples during the time of Christ did when Christ chased out and drove out the money changers; I say to you that you must drive them out again.

If everything we do in this Senate is going to be judged by the power of money, then I say this Senate is not following the teachings of Christ.

In this Easter season which has just passed, I believe all of us should sit down with our consciences and try to turn over in our consciences whether we are following the teachings of the Nazarene. We are not following those teachings, because Christ believed and lived with the common men, He lived with the poor, He associated with the people who were hungry, unclothed and sick. He did not associate with the men of wealth of those days, He did not go to them for advice, He went down to the masses and sat with the masses because He believed in the masses.

We are not doing this today. We have proven it in legislation that has been passed. We are going to create a greater hatred, a greater hatred of those who have not against those who have, if we continue that line of thinking.

Yes, I would like to say to the gentleman from Allegheny, I too have a philosophy of what we are fighting for, I believe we are fighting for a better world, a world where want will be driven out and those great depressions will be nor more. I believe we are fighting to prove, when this war is won, that we can produce to live like we are producing now to kill. That is what we are fighting for, those are the things our boys are dying for, and how I wish I could say they are the things that this Senate is fighting for.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I feel that this bill is going in the wrong direction. The main purpose of it is to discourage labor unions from entering into politics. I think we have made a great mistake in keeping civil service employes out of politics, and I say the same thing about the Hatch Act. If we continue keeping these hordes of civil service employees out of politics, and all federal employes under the Hatch Act, and now here is a bill that is starting at least to begin to discourage laboring men from entering into politics, why, there will be nobody left to vote except a few bankers and owners of manufacturing plants, because the rest of us will have some restriction on us so that we can not enter into politics.

I feel that every civil service employe, every man that is affected by the Hatch Act and every laboring man ought to be encouraged to get into politics and be interested every day of their lives in what is going on in their state and nation.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am not going to delay the vote on this bill by very many seconds, but I just thought there ought to be a few words said here in answer to some of the statements made by my brethren on the left.

Mr. President, this bill in no way curbs the working man. I do not know how the Senators on my left ever got such an idea. As the election law now stands, Mr. President, a corporation can not make a contribution to a political party, and this merely extends the law by saying that neither can unincorporated associations.

It is true, Mr. President, that labor unions fall into that same category, but there is nothing to hinder labor union officials from making contributions themselves, just the same as an officer of any corporation. Neither is there anything to prevent a labor union from taking up a collection for political purposes among its members.

What this bill will prevent Mr. President, is the loaning of tremendous sums of money from the treasuries of labor unions, or any other unincorporated associations, to political parties.

There has been a great demand among labor union members and members of other unincorporated associations, Mr. President, for this type of legislation. For instance, it is well known in the memories of some folks that a nationally known labor union just a few years ago made a loan of some $500,000 to a political party, and members of that union have told me that they have never yet received that $500,000 back. That is the sole purpose of this amendment, to protect the rank and file of the working people of Pennsylvania. It in no way hamstrings them politically, they can go out and run for committeemen, aspire for any office, collect money for political purposes and donate moneys themselves, just the same as any other officer of a corporation or any individual in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the Majority Floor Leader, the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, touched upon a few questions and I believe in fairness to all concerned I should be permitted to make an answer. First, in connection with the loan of which the gentleman from Delaware spoke, we might as well bring the dog right out in the open where everyone can see the color of its hair. There was a loan made by the United Mine Workers to the Democratic National Committee for the election campaign in 1936. That loan was made, after due consideration and deliberation, at the National Convention of the United Mine Workers held at Atlantic City. The money was loaned to the Democratic National Committee and was repaid in full, every cent of it, to the treasurers of the United Mine Workers of America.

I do not want to go into any loans that might have been made to your party, I know nothing about them, they are none of my business.

The gentleman on the other side also said that this does not curtail labor in its activities. I do not know whether he got the significance of what I tried to put across, but I say to you that you destroy the labor vote when you destroy its collectiveness; in other words, there has always been an old adage in the operation of many of our managements in this state and nation to keep labor divided and therefore you keep it controlled.

That is what you do in this bill. You say these men can make a contribution by taking up a collection. Yes, they can make a contribution by taking up a collection, probably, but I would hate like the devil to be the one in a union who tried it. You see memberships in unions are just like any other group, corporated or unincorporated. They are made up of members of both political parties, and the minute somebody up and says "I move that we take up a contribution to help out a certain candidate," another man gets up and says, "The General Assembly of the State of Pennsylvania passed an act that labor unions were not allowed to contribute." It might just so happen that maybe he would want to contribute to the Republican Party and a Democrat would get up and object, or if a Democrat wanted to take up a collection for the Democratic Party a Republican would get up and make objection, so I say to you, Mr. Majority Floor Leader, and I repeat, if you will read the bill, on page 4 it says "those formed primarily for political purposes or a political committee," and then you go on and read further in that section and you will find it says a political committee can not give money—the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Kephart, called that to the attention of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, and Senator Shapiro tried to get it into the record that they could.

I want to say to you further, Mr. Majority Floor Leader, and this is not at all personal, except to say this: This bill is definitely aimed at keeping the labor vote divided so that it will lose its potency.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I take a different viewpoint on these bills. It was rather kind and I thank Senator Farrell for presenting to the General Assembly the registration bill last week and this bill this week, and I will tell you why. When I got home last week, after putting up a fight against the registration bill, I called a meeting in my district and I said "boys and girls, we got to go to town." I said to them, "you see, if you move from this side of the street to the other side of the street, Senator Farrell's bill says you have got to go to the Registration Commission and register on the fourteenth floor, or wherever the Registration Commission sends its army of registrars." They said, "Is that what they did?" I said, "That is exactly what they did." I said, "We are going to fight hard and we are going to form squads so that we will find out when those war workers come out of work and when they leave for work, so that we can adapt our time according to their convenience.

Now, Mr. President, in connection with this bill, when I get back to Philadelphia again I will call another meeting and I will say "boys, no more labor money" and my newspaper, La Libera Parola, will be on every doorstep in South Philadelphia.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, there is another purpose in this bill aside from preventing labor unions from making contributions. Under section 1604, sub-section (b) on page 2 of this bill, if this bill should be adopted, it will now become possible for political organizations to pay out up to ten dollars without vouchers. Up until now, if they paid out ten dollars or more they would have to have a voucher or they would have to pay the ten dollars by check—they would have to account for it, but now the "ten dollars or more" is amended and the words "or more" are stricken out and the wording is amended to read "more than ten dollars" so that the bill as now amended reads: "any primary or election expenses amounting to more than ten dollars shall be vouched for by a bill stating the payment and by a receipt and shall be made by check or money order drawn to the individual association or corporation to whom the payment is due."

Now, Mr. President, anybody who has had practical experience in politics with committeemen knows what that means. Up until the passage of this bill all moneys paid to committeemen were vouched for by the committeemen, up to ten dollars, and now it has got to exceed ten dollars. Now, the ten dollars that the committeeman gets does not have to be vouched for, but it has got to be $10.01 at least.

Of course, this bill was designed to take care of the labor organizations or, as the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Heyburn, euphoniously calls them, unincorporated organizations, but at the same time, incidentally of course, it takes care of political organizations.

I agree with my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator DiSilvestro, that the more of this kind of legislation you pass the better it will be generally, provided the people know about it, and I think that is one of the reasons why I said I was not going to argue about this bill.

I think the only thing to do about these bills, instead of talking about them here, is to do what the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator DiSilvestro, does at home, that is, let all of us get together and let the people know how the labor organizations are taken care of in the bill that takes care of the political organizations, and also let the people know that while it will be unlawful if this bill becomes law for organizations to loan $500,000 to a political party, it is not unlawful for bankers to loan to two, three or four powerful politicians $500,000 or $1,000,000, so it can be used for political purposes; it is not unlawful for a business man or a group of business men to loan in Philadelphia, as we have seen it done, $200,000 to a political organization and thereby gain control of that political organization; that is not unlawful but don't you labor organizations, you who have, apparently, from what has been going on here, more interest, a greater interest at stake than anybody else, don't you dare try to do that which four or five or even one individual business man may do by himself in association with three other people or through banks every day, to exercise great influence.

This bill is a direct thrust at labor, it is a direct attempt to prevent labor from making large contributions. If it were a bill directed against all persons, I would be in favor of it, because I agree that the basic principle is that no individual or group of individuals by large contributions should acquire control over any political party, but let us be consistent, do not let us just pick out one group and say you can not but others can control a political organization.

I think the worst thing that happened in this country was the loan of $500,000 made by a particular labor organization to a political group, and I think we see more evidence of it now, but you gentlemen who will not pass a law preventing loans of such large sums of money, give people the idea that Mr. "X" can lend $2,000,000 to the Republican party, but there are no gentleman of equal wealth who will lend that to the Democratic party, and if a labor union would like to put its party in power and it has the money, it takes the cue from you and it lends $500,000, and that is why I say the viciousness of this bill lies in the fact that you are attacking labor organizations.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the more I listen to some of the lawyers here, the more I make up my mind, if I ever get into trouble, I am going to defend myself.

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, says this bill does away with the necessity of filing vouchers for political expenditures. As the law now exists, expenditures of $10.00 or more must be accompanied by vouchers or made by check, which means receipts are turned in for expenditures under that.

This bill as now amended means that if an expenditure is more than $10.00, in other words $10.01, you would have to file a voucher.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, two weeks ago last Thursday I stated on this floor that as long as the congressional reapportionment bill was before either House of this Legislature that I would insist that the constitutional provision with reference to the reading of bills be strictly complied with. Subsequently my action was approved and unanimously adopted by the Democratic Caucus.

The purpose of this action was twofold—First, to focus the attention of the public on the intent of the Republican party, and in order to accomplish that, to pass such legislation as they deemed necessary, and in doing this they were in our opinion striking a blow at the Democratic process. It was important in our opinion, particularly in war times, to expose this purpose.

Second, we hoped by making this matter public property that the Republican party might, by the force of public opinion, be compelled to desist. Accordingly we suggested the appointment of a joint committee of Democrats and Republicans in both Houses. As is well known a committee representing Democratic members of both Houses called upon the Governor and requested the setting up of such a joint committee; the Goveror accepted the suggestion. A joint committee was appointed. Beginning last Monday, our Floor Leader made every effort to have this Committee sit down together without success The meeting was finally fixed for 12:00 o'clock today—the Republican Floor Leader came in at 2:55. I am told that this committee got nowhere very fast and that the Republican Floor Leader said he would not have any authority to ask any member of the Senate not to vote for any bills and that he thought all the war measures had been taken care of. If he means by this the post-war planning bill, which is the only bill so far passed by the Senate that deals with war measures, for my part I can only say that this bill accomplishes little more than nothing. However, I feel, and my colleagues in the Democratic Caucus agree with me, that our purposes have been accomplished. We have exposed to the light of day, not only in Pennsylvania, but in the nation, the gerrymandering of congressional districts upon purely political lines and thereby making it almost impossible to reelect Democratic congressmen who have voted 100 per cent with the President on war measures.

We have exposed the attempt to destroy the principle of civil service in Pennsylvania to such an extent that even the Republican controlled House revolted against it.

We have exposed the attempt to destroy the parole system in Pennsylvania.

We have exposed the attempt to deprive war workers of the right to vote by means of the vicious Farrell Bill, very commonly known as Senate Bill No. 305.

Finally, we have focused the attention of every citizen of the state, particularly the workers who believe in our Democratic form of government, on the vicious attack made on the labor unions by Senate Bill No. 46, and I am serving notice now that we propose to further focus attention of the public on the attitude of the Republican party on this bill by moving to re-commit the bill to the committee from whence it came in the hope that it will meet its deserved death, or the responsibility for its life will be fastened where it belongs, on the Republican party.

These are but a few of the bills which follow the pattern of the Republican party. I have mentioned only the highlights. I had hoped that the committee appointed upon the suggestion of the Governor would have accomplished additional results. However, the facts are all now disclosed, the purposes have been accomplished at no additional cost to the Commonwealth for clerk hire, printing or otherwise, and with what I feel was of great benefit to the citizens of this Commonwealth. For these reasons and with the authority of the Democratic Caucus, I withdraw my insistence that bills be read at length.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HEYBURN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I intend to move that the Senate take a recess in a short time, but before doing so I should like to tell the members of the Senate that the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, did not attend this so-called conference so, therefore, someone who was present at the conference must have talked to him and whoever did so did not tell him the truth.

Mr. President, the conference was scheduled to be held this morning but there was not a Democrat on the hill, and as far as the leaders were concerned, we could not find them, so, naturally I was late because they did not keep their appointment.

I also note, Mr. President, that the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, made a remark about the Taylor-Wade Civil service bill and the truth of the situation is, Mr. President, that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, sponsored a similar bill affecting local communities and forced it out of committee and it is now on the Senate Calendar, and I suggest that the Senator read and follow his own bills.

RECESS

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now recess until 9:30 p. m.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 357, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932), entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class; and amending, revising, and consolidating the law relating thereto," providing for exonerations of sewer liens and the discharge of properties covered thereby

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 398, entitled:

An Act regulating the issuance of execution on judgments confessed on written instruments and providing that when such judgments are entered in one county defenses may be made to the same by petitions to open filed in any other county where execution thereon is issued or made

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Whenever a judgment is confessed or entered in any court of common pleas on a note bond or other written instrument hereafter executed in which judgment is confessed or containing a warrant for an attorney-at-law or other person to confess judgment against the person or persons who execute the same and such judgment is transferred to any other court of common pleas by filing there a certified copy of the record in the case before an execution bill of discovery or attachment shall be issued thereon in such other court of common pleas the plaintiff therein shall enter his appearance in the prothonotary's office of such other county giving an address within that county where all papers may be served on him When the defendant has a defense to such judgment he may file his petition to open the same either in the court where the judgment is originally entered or in any other court to which the judgment is transferred and in which an execution bill of discovery or attachment is issued thereon

Section 2 Whenever a judgment is confessed or entered in any court of common pleas on any instrument in writing set forth in section one of this act and a testatum writ of fieri facias is directed to the sheriff of any other county than that of the court in which it is confessed or entered the plaintiff shall enter his appearance in the prothonotary's office of such other county whose sheriff is directed to issue execution thereon giving an address within that county where all papers may be served on him When the defendant has a defense to such judgment he may file his petition to open the same either in the court where the judgment is originally entered or in the court of the county whose sheriff is directed to issue execution thereon

Section 3 All acts and parts of acts in so far as inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I want to go on record that I am opposed to the policy of this bill in every possible way. Some of the members of this Senate have convinced me that some very large loan companies, finance companies, are oppressing poor people by entering judgments in a county distant from their homes and then issuing an outside sci. fa. and levying on their property in their homes, and I do not propose to sit here and help pass a bill where parties are indulging in a practice like that. I think the bill is a wrong principle of law, to allow them to move to have the Court of Common Pleas of Chester County, for instance overrule the Court of Common Pleas of Cumberland County to open a judgment of the Court of Common Pleas of Cumberland County. Some Members of the Senate, both Republican and Democratic, have said to me that big finance companies are entering these judgments where they have their headquarters, and the poor people are not able to make a defense because the cost is more than the amount of the judgment, and while I am not in favor of that course of conduct, I am going to vote for this bill even though I do not approve of the legal principle involved.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—46

Barr,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Tallman,
Becker,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Taylor,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 403 on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 208) entitled "An act to regulate the practice of pharmacy and sale of poisons and drugs and providing penalties for the violation thereof defining the words 'drug' and 'poison' and providing for the appointment of a board which shall have in charge the enforcement of said law and the power to make rules and regulations for the enforcement of said law and providing for the purchase of samples of drugs for determining their quality strength and purity" by requiring a copy of the latest edition of the Year Book of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association to be kept in every pharmacy go over in its order temporarily for the reason that amendments are being prepared which are not yet ready.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 441, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend article forty-three of the act, approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 932), entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class; and amending, revising, and consolidating the law relating thereto," authorizing the organizations, associations or boards having charge of police, firemens and other city employes' pension or retirement funds to enter into contracts with insurance companies whereby such companies undertake to pay any pension, retirement or other allowance which may become due under said article forty-three, to policemen, firemen and other employes; prescribing how the costs of securing and continuing such contracts may be met; providing for certain future adjustments in said contracts in case the Federal Social Security benefits are extended to policemen, firemen and other employes; providing for certain modifications of the rights of policemen, firemen, and other employes relating to pensions or retirement; and authorizing city councils to make certain appropriations be recommitted to the Committee on Insurance for the purpose of further study.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 442, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend Section 2 of, and to add Section 8.1 to, the act, approved the eighth day of July, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 298), entitled "An act authorizing the creation of, and providing for, and regulating the maintenance and operation of a county employes' retirement system in counties of the fourth class, imposing certain charges on counties, and fixing penalties," by reducing "regular interest" to be paid on contributors' accounts from three and one-half per centum to two per centum; authorizing the retirement boards in said counties to enter into contracts with certain insurance companies, whereby such companies will undertake to pay any retirement allowance which may become due under the aforesaid act to original or new members of the county retirement system; prescribing how the payments or premiums due to insurance companies under such contracts shall be met; providing for certain future adjustments in said contracts in case the Federal Social Security System in hereafter extended to include county employes; and providing for certain modifications of the rights of original and new members of county retirement systems in such counties be recommitted to the Committee on Insurance.

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 465, entitled:

Section 7 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order.

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 524, entitled:

An Act to amend sections four hundred twenty-six and four hundred twenty-seven of the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 566) entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for occupational disease contracted by an employe arising out of and in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder imposing duties on the Department of Labor and Industry the Workmen's Compensation Board Workmen's Compensation Referees and deans of medical schools creating a medical board to detremine controverted medical issues establishing an Occupational Disease Fund in custody of the State Workmen's Insurance Board imposing upon the Commonwealth a part of the compensation payable for certain occupational diseases making an appropriation and prescribing penalties" conferring exclusive jurisdiction on the county court of Allegheny County in cases of appeals from the Workmen's Compensation Board

Section 1 Sections four hundred twenty-six and four hundred twenty-seven of the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 566) entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for occupational disease contracted by an employe arising out of and in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder imposing duties on the Department of Labor and Industry the Workmen's Compensation Board Workmen's Compensation Referees and deans of medical schools creating a medical board to determine controverted medical issues estbalishing an Occupational Disease Fund in custody of the State Workmen's Insurance Board imposing upon the Commonwealth a part of the compensation payable for certain occupational diseases making an appropriation and prescribing penalties" are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 426 The board upon petition of any party and upon cause shown at any time before the court of common pleas of any county of this Commonwealth other than Allegheny County and in Allegheny County before the county court of Allegheny County to which an appeal has been taken under the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-seven of this article shall have taken final action thereon may grant a rehearing of any petition upon which the board has made an award or disallowance of compensation or other order or ruling or upon which the board has sustained or reversed any action of a referee but such rehearing shall not be granted more than one year after the board has made such award disallowance or order or ruling or has sustained or reversed any action of the referee If the board shall grant a rehearing of any petition from the board's action on which an appeal has been taken to and is pending in the court of common pleas [of any county of this Commonwealth] or in the county court of Allegheny County as the case may be under the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-seven of this article the board shall file in such court a certified copy of its order granting such rehearing and it shall thereupon be the duty of such court to cause the record of the case to be remitted to the board Provided however That nothing contained in this section shall limit or restrict the right of the board or a referee designated by the board to review modify set aside reinstate suspend or terminate an original or supplemental agreement or an award in accordance with the provisions of section four hundred thirteen of this article

Section 427 Any party may appeal from any action of the board on matters of law to the court of common pleas of the county in which the employe was last employed prior to his disability or death or of the county in which the adverse party resides or has a permanent place of business or by agreement of the parties to the court of common pleas of any other county of this Commonwealth Provided That no such appeal shall be taken to the court of common pleas of Allegheny County but in Allegheny County all such appeals shall be taken to the county court of Allegheny County which shall have exclusive jurisdiction of such appeals Such appeal must in all cases be brought within twenty days after notice of the action of the board has been served upon such party unless any court of common pleas or the county court of Allegheny County as the case may be to which an appeal lies shall upon cause shown extend the time herein provided for taking the appeal The party taking the appeal shall at the time of taking the appeal serve upon the adverse party a written notice thereof setting forth the date of the appeal and the court in which the same is filed and shall file either with his notice of appeal or within thirty days thereafter such exceptions to the action of the board as he may desire to take and shall specify the findings of fact if any of the board or of the referee sustained by the board which he alleges to be unsupported by sufficient competent evidence

Upon filing of the notice of an appeal the prothonotary of the court of common pleas or the clerk of the county court of Allegheny County as the case may be to which the appeal has been taken shall issue a writ of certiorari directed to the board commanding it within ten days after service thereof to certify to such court its entire record in the matter in which the appeal has been taken The writ so issued shall be mailed by the prothonotary or the clerk of the county court of Allegheny County as the case may be to the department at Harrisburg together with a copy of the exceptions The board shall within ten days after such service certify to such court its entire record in the matter in which the appeal has been taken including the notes of testimony

Any court before which an appeal is pending from any action of the board may remit the record to the board for more specific findings of fact if the findings of the board or referee or of the medical board are not in its opinion sufficient to enable it to decide the question of law raised by the appeal

If the court of common pleas [of any county of this Commonwealth] or the county court of Allegheny County as the case may be shall affirm an award or order of the board or of a referee sustained by the board fixing the compensation payable under this act the court shall enter judgment for the total amount stated by the award or order to be payable whether then due and accrued or payable in future instalments If such court shall sustain the appeallant's exceptions to a finding or findings of fact and reverse the action of the board founded thereon the court shall remit the record to the board for further hearing and determination in which the procedure shall be the same as that hereinbefore provided in this article in the case of a petition presented to the board except that the testimony taken in the original procedings shall be considered as though taken in such further hearing

The prothonotary of any court of common pleas or the clerk of the county court of Allegheny County as the case may be to which an appeal has been taken from the board shall send to the board a certificate of the judgment of the court as soon as rendered with a copy of any opinion which may be filed in the case and within five days shall give notice of such judgment and the date thereof by registered mail to each attorney at law appearing in the case at the address given by the attorney in the pleadings and if no attorney at law has appeared by registered mail to the party or parties not represented by counsel At the end of the period hereinafter allowed for an appeal from the judgment of the court the record of the board shall be remitted to it by the prothonotary or the clerk of the county court of Allegheny County as the case may be unless an appeal shall have been taken to the Superior Court as hereinafter provided If such appeal shall be taken the record shall be remitted to the board by the prothonotary or the clerk of the county court of Allegheny County as the case may be on its return from the appellate court

Any party may appeal to the Superior Court from the judgment of the court of common pleas or the county court of Allegheny County as the case may be within thirty days after entry of said judgment irrespective of the amount involved Such appeal shall be taken and prosecuted in the same manner and form and with the same effect as is provided in other cases of appeal to the Superior Court and the record so certified shall contain all that was before the court of common pleas or the county court of Allegheny County as the case may be Any appeal from the action of the board to a court of common pleas or the county court of Allegheny County as the case may be and from it to the Superior Court shall take precedence over all other civil actions The judgment of the Superior Court shall be final unless an appeal therefrom is allowed as in the case of other judgments of that court

Upon the rendition of any judgment in the county court of Allegheny County hereunder the party to whom such judgment is awarded shall be entitled to file in the office of the prothonotary of Allegheny County a transcript from the docket of the county court showing the judgment so rendered which judgment shall be entered upon the judgment index of such county in the same manner and with like effect as in the case of other judgments rendered by the county court of Allegheny County

It is the intention of this act that all appeals from the Workmen's Compensation Board heretofore triable in the court of common pleas of Allegheny County shall hereafter be exclusively triable in the county court of Allegheny County regardless of the amount of money involved in the appeal

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 13 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions shall be held to be unconstitutional the decision of the court shall not affect or impair any of the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included herein

Section 14 This act shall become effective thirty days after its final enactment and shall continue in effect until and including the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred [forty-three] forty-five

Section 2 This reenacting and amending act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COX. Sometime ago, Mr. President, I made a statement to this Senate on the question of compensation of school teachers. At that time I said the matter was of such a serious nature that it was impossible for a budget to be formed or any tax measures to be passed until we had determined what assistance we were going to give to the school teachers of this state.

I said at that time I personally would not vote for any bill which would reduce taxes or decrease in any way the revenues of this state, until the members of this Senate and this Legislature had kept the pledge which they had made to the school teachers of this state.

This bill falls into that category and for that reason I intend to vote for the bill. These remarks also are applicable to any other tax measure which comes before this body.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

DiSilvestro,	Holland,	McQuiddy,	Woodring,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 547, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" by increasing for a further limited period of time the rate of tax imposed by the act upon the gross receipts of certain companies limited partnerships associations joint-stock associations copartnerships and persons

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Will the Senator from Pittsburgh please tell me the purpose of this bill?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I do not quite understand the interrogation of the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. JASPAN. What does it actually do?

Mr. GELTZ. It reduces the emergency gross receipts tax from twenty mills to fourteen mills.

Mr. JASPAN. I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. How much money is involved, Mr. President?

Mr. GELTZ. I would have to get the record, Mr. President; I can not tell that offhand.

Mr. JASPAN. I would like to know. You could hold the bill over temporarily until the gentleman gets the record.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I do not have the amount of the reduction but the estimate in the 1943-1945 budget is $12,500,000; that is on the basis of twenty mills, and this bill reduces that to fourteen mills, which is a reduction of six mills or six-twentieths, so if my colleague from Philadelphia wants to figure six-twentieths of $12,500,000, that will give him the answer.

Mr. JASPAN. Is that for the one year or for the biennium?

Mr. GELTZ. For the biennium, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Is it not true, Mr. President, that this reduction is for the benefit of the power companies?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, this reduction is one of the fulfillments of the Republican pledge to reduce taxes.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Allegheny think that the utilities need relief today, particularly the power companies?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I think everyone needs relief from taxation today, including myself.

Mr. JASPAN. I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Does not the gentleman from Allegheny realize that today the power companies are doing a bigger business than ever?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, this is a reduction of fifty per cent of the emergency millage which was assessed some few years ago.

Mr. JASPAN. Is it not a fact that it is for the benefit of the utilities? Are they being relieved to the extent of $6,000,000.

Mr. GELTZ. I believe, Mr. President, some utilities will be benefited under this reduction.

Mr. JASPAN. I thank the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. President and members of the Senate, if the architects of this bill had in contemplation a reduction in rates by its passage, I unhesitatingly would vote for it. However, before so voting I shall insist that it be earmarked solely for the purpose of reducing rates. Knowing utilities as I do, I am safe in saying that the money thus saved will be applied to the payment of higher salaries, increased dividends and probably to pay Federal taxes. Gentlemen, are we ready to make a gift to the utilities to help them pay either dividends, salaries and Federal taxes. Holding companies are today growing fast by reason of dividends received from the operating company—stockholders are getting theirs.

Payment of Federal taxes by the utilities has been charged against operating expense. Why has it not been taken out of gross profit? The answer is simple notwithstanding the fact that it was, and still is, the intent of Congress that the extra cost of war effort is to be distributed uniformly, and the tax should be borne as assessed—and not passed along.

I repeat again—and I challenge anyone in and out of the Senate to refute the statement that every utility in this state has charged payment of Federal taxes to operating expenses.

What does such conduct on the part of the utilities inevitably lead to—increase in rates or to say the least, forestalls rate reduction. It certainly is not patriotic. We pay our fiscal taxes. They should pay theirs out of gross profit. They have escaped their duty and responsibility by passing it on the consumer. Further, they are now using the legislature for their own selfish interests and escaping their just share of responsibilities in financing the war effort.

I stated quite often on this floor that the utilities are having very much their own way during this session, of course, at the expense of the rate-payer. You recall the Taylor Act limiting the term of office for a P. U. C. Commissioner. Now in the House there are two bills designed to emasculate the R. E. A. Acts. Further, the present Commission has been doing the bidding of the utilities. The overwhelming number—3-2 decisions in favor of the utilities convince me of that fact. When Beamish is definitely out, the situation will be further aggravated. He at least has been the watchdog of the rate-payers.

Moreover, do the utilities need relief to-day? The power companies, gas companies, telephone companies, railroad companies, are doing a land office business. I, therefore, see no earthly reason why the need for this bill, unless some provision is made to earmark the proposed savings for the benefit of the rate-payers. If we are to eliminate taxes, let's do it with a view to help the greatest number. In this case, it is the rate-payer, and not the stockholder or director.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment.

I might say, Mr. President, that last Thursday we offered amendments to this bill, one of which was to strike out line 18, page 2, but through some mistake the line was not stricken out and that is what this amendment is, a strike out amendment.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 23, page 2, line 18, by striking out all of said line.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing on final passage.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 556, on third reading, entitled:

An Act concerning the ascertainment of principal and income and the apportionment of receipts and expenses

among tenants and remaindermen, and to make uniform the law with reference thereto

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 557, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act, approved the seventeenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 507), entitled "An act to provide revenue for State and county purposes, and, in cities coextensive with counties, for city and county purposes; imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property; providing for the assessment and collection of the same; providing for the duties and compensation of prothonotaries and recorders in connection therewith and modifying existing legislation which provided for raising revenue for State purposes," by excluding from the provisions thereof personal property held in trust under the terms of a stock bonus, pension, annuity, or profit-sharing or deferred compensation plan, as herein defined, maintained by an employer for the exclusive benefit of his employes or their beneficiaries

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 570

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 570, entitled:

An Act relating to assessment for taxation in counties of the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth classes; designating the subjects, property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for county, borough, town, township, school, except in cities, and county institution district, purposes; and providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation thereof for such purposes; creating in each such county a board for the assessment and revision of taxes; defining the powers and duties of such boards; providing for the acceptance of this act by cities; regulating the office of ward, borough, town and township assessors; abolishing the offices of assistant assessor and assistant triennial assessor in townships of the first class; providing for the appointment of a chief assessor, assistant assessors and other employes; providing for their compensation payable by such counties; prescribing certain duties of and certain fees to be collected by the recorder of deeds; and eliminating the triennial assessment passed second reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I voted "aye".

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

The first, second, and third articles were separately read and agreed to.

The fourth article was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the article?

They were agreed to.

The article was agreed to as amended.

The fifth article was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the article?

Mr. MALLERY offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 501, page 13, line 29, by striking out the words "in the year one thousand nine hundred"; amend Sec. 501, page 14, line 1, by striking out the words "forty-three' and inserting in lieu thereof: "preceding the expiration of the term of any assessor now in office"; amend Sec. 501, page 14, lines 17 to 26, both inclusive, by striking out all of said lines.

They were agreed to.

The article was agreed to as amended.

The sixth article was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the article?

Mr. MALLERY offered the following amendments:

It was agreed to.

The article was agreed to as amended.

The seventh and eighth articles and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 573, entitled:

An Act to amend sections two and three of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of July one thousand nine hundred and forty-one (P. L. 490) entitled "An act relating to acknowledgments of written instruments and to make uniform the law with relation thereto" by authorizing deputy recorders of deeds to take acknowledgments and validating acknowledgments taken by them

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Sections two and three of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of July one thousand nine hundred and forty-one (P. L. 490) entitled "An act relating to acknowledgments of written instruments and to make uniform the law with relation thereto" are hereby amended to read as follows

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 595, entitled:

An Act to amend section twelve of the act approved the twenty-first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 626) entitled "An act providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of all subjects of taxation in counties of the second class, creating and prescribing the powers and duties of a Board of Property Assessments, Appeals and Review; imposing duties on certain county and city officers; abolishing the board for the assessment and revision of taxes in such counties; and prescribing penalties," conferring jurisdiction on the county court of Allegheny county in cases of appeals from the board of property assessment, appeals and review.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Gladly, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, what is the effective date when these appeals will be heard by the County Court, if this bill should be enacted.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, as I understand legislative procedure, the effective date of this bill would be September 1, 1943.

Mr. BARR. What effect would that have on all appeals before the Court of Common Pleas at the present time?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, as I understand the bill, on page 2, line 26, it reads: "it is the intention of this act that all appeals from the board of property assessment, appeals and review heretofore triable in the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, shall henceforth be exclusively triable in the County Court of Allegheny County regardless of the amount of money involved in the appeal."

Now, Mr. President, in order to answer directly the question of my colleague from Allegheny County, there are, as I understand it, several hundred appeals—and I say "several" because there is always room for argument—if I say sixteen hundred, the gentleman from Allegheny would say eighteen hundred, so then we would get into a discussion of irrelevant matters, and so I say several hundred—giving you my assumption, there are several hundred appeals before the Court of Common Pleas at the present time and there are a number of items that are collaterally involved in this discussion of property tax appeals.

There is pending at the present time contemplated legislation directly affecting the Board. There is also contemplated the appointment of a new board of property assessors, or new members, of this seven man board which was created by the Act of 1939. Appeals now pending before His Honor, Judge Ralph Smith, as has been related to me, have been temporarily postponed, awaiting determination of action by our Board of County Commissioners who are going to, as I understand it, appoint a new seven man board to take care of it.

The recommendation was made to me that if a new board was appointed by the County Commissioners, the appeals now before the Courts of Common Pleas would be tentatively returned to this new board to see whether or not any adjustments could be made. If any appeals are tried by the Court of Common Pleas, of course, they could not be re-tried by the County Court.

If this bill transfers jurisdiction of any appeals that are pending, according to the understanding I have of the law, they would be certified by the Court of Common Pleas to the County Court of Allegheny County, there to be disposed of under regular legal process. Have I sufficiently confused the gentleman from Allegheny?

Mr. BARR. The Senator has. Mr. President, the language of the bill is confusing and the discussion of my colleague, Senator Walker, is also confusing and I am afraid that if this bill passes, property owners of Allegheny County who make appeals would be more confused than any of us, so I am going to ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to make a couple of observations about a monopoly that is going on in our county courts.

In 1941 there was quite some discussion before this Senate relative to reducing the number of judges in the Allegheny County Court. In 1943 this became even more an issue, because of the fact that our Court of Common Pleas had caught up with all of their work and so had our County Court.

It is well known to the Bar Association of Allegheny that our County Court does not have sufficient work to do and a lot of judges over there are not kept reasonably busy because of lack of actual work to handle.

In this present Session of the legislature I introduced a bill to reduce the number of judges of the Allegheny County Court by two. There was a lot of strenuous objection to that bill, not only from the Bench but from the Bar of Allegheny County, because, after all, that is the only county affected by any of this legislation now before us.

I conferred with the Courts of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, and with our County Court and with officials of the Bar Association in order to try to determine some method that would best handle this situation, and I want to say, Mr. President, I never saw a more selfish attitude on the part of public officials than I have through handling this particular type of legislation. The judges of the Courts of Common Pleas of Allegheny County did not want to give up any jurisdiction over anything, because that would deprive their clerks of fees for handing down stenographic reports and that is where the crux of this situation arose.

Finally, after a lot of conferences, we decided that the County Court of Allegheny County should be given some additional jurisdiction. First, that they should be given appeals from these property tax assessments, second, they should be given appeals on workmen's compensation cases, and, third, they should be given appeals from the decisions of the Liquor Control Board.

All three of those items are now handled at the present time by the Courts of Common Pleas. For years we were pestered in Allegheny County by visiting judges—we have more visiting judges in Allegheny County than in any other county in the state.

In 1941 my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, and I sponsored a bill to increase the number of judges of the Courts of Common Pleas so that we would be able to eliminate outside judges, and at long last, due to the fact of that increase, and, further, due to the fact that through a pre trial court which was sponsored and fathered by Judge Ralph Smith, the Courts of Common Pleas at long last have caught up with their trial lists and they have their business practically up to date.

They did not want to give anything up until the County Court of Allegheny County said, "you have to give us something to do, if you do not give us something to do you will have to eliminate us," and it was determined we would try to give them some of what was called minor jurisdiction in order to give them something to do, and those three items were the three items determined upon.

No sooner was this bill introduced than every lawyer in Allegheny County, handling appeals from decisions of the Liquor Control Board, came to us and said, "you can not give the County Court those appeals they are not competent to handle them" and every lawyer in Allegheny County that handles workmen's compensation appeals came to us and said "you can not give appeals on workmen's compensation to the County Court, they are too intricate, the County Court Judges can not understand them," and every lawyer who handles appeals from these property assessments came in and said, "you can not give that work to the County Court, a complicated matter like that, because they will not understand it."

Here is something that the Bar Association of Allegheny County says they can handle, here is something that some Judges of the Courts of Common Pleas have told me that the County Court can handle. The thing that amazes me is that you can sit and talk to those judges of the Courts of Common Pleas, and off the record they will tell you it is all right, give it to them, but if you give it to them, do not mention their names, and then turn around and tell my associates in the Senate that they are not in favor of that, even though they told me that they were. That comes from all over our Common Pleas Bench, and I submit to my colleagues in the Senate that there is only one thing that can happen if we do not give those judges of the County Court something to do, you will have to take them off the backs of the taxpayers of Allegheny County, because we should not approve of paying judges ten thousand dollars a year to sit around and wait for one member of that five man board to try a case so that they will have an opportunity to continue their game of bridge, and that is what is happening in our County Court there. There is not enough work there to keep them busy. They do not have a trial list, they do not have anything to do, we are paying them ten thousand dollars a year, we are paying their clerks, we are paying their stenographers, and tipstaffs, with their room, light and heat, and we need those court rooms for something else.

I submit, if we do not give them something to do, we should bring that bill out of the Committee of the Judiciary General and knock them off the pay roll.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I subscribe to nearly everything my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Walker, has said. We all have the same pressure brought upon us about giving the County Court Judges the Liquor Control Board appeals and the Workmen's Compensation Board appeals, but I do think this is just a little different problem, it is a local problem, and I ask my colleague from Allegheny to allow this bill to go over in order and perhaps some of us can get together from Allegheny County and iron out the situation.

Mr. WALKER. I have no objection to the bill going over in order, Mr. President.

Mr. GELTZ. I did not intend to say anything in connection with this bill, Mr. President, since my colleague, Senator Walker, has made such an able argument, but I would like to point out to my colleagues that his able argument was made in behalf of a bill for the elimination of some of our County Court Judges and not for the extension of jurisdiction, as is being done in the bill just passed, Senate Bill No. 524, and in this bill which it is now suggested go over in order, Senate Bill No. 595.

The difficulty with these bills, Mr. President, in my opinion is this; the County Court has general jurisdiction up to $2,500. In the bill which we passed, Senate Bill No. 524, in connection with workmen's compensation cases, jurisdiction is increased in that bill up to possibly nine, ten or eleven thousand dollars, depending upon the amounts involved in the respective workmen's compensation cases.

In connection with this present bill, Senate Bill No. 595, these tax appeals are in connection in some instances with assessments running over a million dollars.

It seems to me, Mr. President, rather an incongruous position to limit this court generally to jurisdiction up to $2,500 and then give them jurisdiction in such important matters. Particularly, one county court at this time has no jurisdiction in real estate cases and Senate Bill No.

595 applies specifically to assessments on real estate as well as other property.

I think the suggestion of my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Walker, about bringing out the bill for the elimination of some of the judgeships is a very good one. That is his bill and I understand it is in his committee, and I would like to suggest to him that he have the Committee on Judiciary General meet and take action and report that bill out on the floor. I think that is the answer to this difficulty.

Mr. President, in connection with these property assessment cases, Judge Ellenbogen has been handed that assignment by the Board of Judges of the Common Pleas Courts. A single judge handles, I believe, some sixteen hundred, possibly eighteen hundred appeals, and the reason only one judge has been assigned instead of a greater numbr, so that they could have been cleared up faster, is because the Board of Judges thought it would be better to have one person sit on those cases so that they would all be settled or decided in an equitable manner. If that is true in so far as one or more judges in a particular Common Pleas Court is concerned, certainly it would make for greater confusion if we were now to have some of these appeals decided by the Common Pleas Courts and those which are to be filed hereafter decided in the County Court, because then we would not only have different judges but we would have an entirely different Court.

For those reasons, Mr. President, when this bill comes up for final passage I intend to vote against it, as I did on the other bill, and I ask my colleagues who agree with those principles to vote against it too.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, we have had some experience in this body eliminating judges. It is a very difficult thing to take a judge off the Bench. You can not take him off during the term for which he is elected, and if you abolish two judges in Allegheny County, you have to pay them for the full term to which they were elected. If you have to pay them, I think we ought to make them work, and these are matters that they can handle just as good as the Judges of the Courts of Common Pleas.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I just want to say in connection with the argument of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, that two of the judges of the County Court are up for reelection this year, so that if ever that Court is to be reduced, this is an excellent time to do it.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Gladly, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I voted against the first bill because I felt that by passing a bill giving jurisdiction to a Court in cases involving anywhere from $5,000 to $15,000, when their jurisdiction is now limited to $2,500, would not accomplish anything. The same objection applies to the second bill. How can you, without amending the jurisdictional clause of the Act creating the Court, give jurisdiction of cases beyond the jurisdictional amount fixed by the statute?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, may I respectfully suggest that that particular question was presented to the Legislative Reference Bureau, and they explained very carefully that this present bill, which is about to go over in order, would take care of that jurisdictional feature and that they could have it, and that the question of the limitation of jurisdiction was not involved.

We specifically attempted to take care of that with regard to workmen's compensation cases, which bill the gentleman from Philadelphia voted against, and if he voted against that bill, then the question he has raised with regard to this bill is immaterial, because he would vote against it anyway.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 595, on third reading go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 684, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 364), entitled "An act relating to business corporations; defining and providing for the organization, merger, consolidation, reorganization, winding up and dissolution of such corporations; conferring certain rights, powers, duties, and immunities upon them and their officers and shareholders; prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers; providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the second class within the provisions of this act; prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign business corporations may be admitted, or may continue, to do business within the Commonwealth; conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; authorizing certain State departments, boards, commissions, or officers to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act; imposing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations," by authorizing the certain officers of dissolved business corporations to execute and deliver deeds, conveyances, agreements, assignments or other instruments necessary to perfect or complete transfers of real property or rights therein intended to have been completed or perfected by such corporations prior to dissolution

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1056, entitled:

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, everybody knows what this bill is about. I would just like to make a record of the fact that I suggest, within a few months after this bill is passed and becomes a law, that all over the state in the various counties there will be mercantile taxes collected by virtue of ordinance of council. This bill is not going to save anybody any money. There is no clamor for this bill. Obviously this is only another method, in polite language, in legal form, to eliminate four or five hundred jobs now under the control of the Democrats, which the Republicans would like to control—they do not use the word "ripper"—they abolish the tax and tell these taxpayers they are going to save a great deal of money. I have not heard a word from anybody against the tax, and within the next six months the tax will be paid by assessments by the local authorities, and the jobs will be back again in the hands of the Republicans.

There are a lot of local councils, like in Philadelphia, where there will be a very early return of the mercantile taxes.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, there is a Greek phrase "ovcon thanaton," which means in Greek, "beautiful death," meaning death with a kiss.

I want to pay tribute to the Republican leadership for being so skillful in ripping. We were ripping in 1937, but we were mere school boys compared to this piece of work. I want to compliment the Republican leadership upon the finesse of the work.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I was going to vote for this bill anyway, but I am under obligation to the Senator from Philadelphia for his beautiful thought that possibly this tax will be taken off, and that some of the municipalities will put some mercantile tax on and take some off real estate, which is what I am interested in. Real estate pays a great deal more taxes than its share. This legislature is going to take off taxes on personal property. They can not keep their tears back when they think of people with stocks and securities paying eight mills, when the home owner and the farmer and the man bringing up children is paying forty to sixty mills on his home, and if the municipalities will put some of this tax on that will not come to the state of Pennsylvania, and the municipalities will then take something off real estate I will be very much pleased.

Mr. President, I only want to say one more thing, and that is that the country districts, the townships have nothing more that they can put taxes on, so that at least part of this tax will go off permanently. It is quite interesting to hear the Democratic Party cry for tax reduction and then get up and talk against it and vote against it. It is very interesting to me and every man on this side of the Senate.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, this bill is designed to eliminate the mercantile tax. Mercantile taxes have been paid by the rich in this state for approximately 90 years. At first blush it appears that the little storekeeper is the chief beneficiary under this bill. You will note that every revenue bill thus far acted upon benefits solely industry, and the utilities—and as a sop for the little business man, this bill is thrown in.

Are we so naive and gullible as to be preyed upon by the subtle. Are we to be deluded into the belief that this bill helps the little fellow in a large measure? It is merely a subtle subterfuge. The little business is given very little aid. His mercantile taxes amount to next to nothing. He has little to complain as to the payment of it.

However, this bill does in a large measure help the big man, the department stores, the chain stores, and the like. Today they are doing more business than ever. They are in short reaping a harvest. Why eliminate the tax especially now when they are best able to pay.

Do you recall that in 1941 an amendment was introduced under the guise of charifying the law, when in fact it sought to exempt oil companies, manufacturers, coal companies, department stores, mail order houses and the like from payment of any mercantile tax, if and when they sold at retail at storehouses and warehouses apart from the plant. When the scheme was exposed, the jokers in the bill were eliminated. The manufacturers, the department stores, the chain stores realizing the make-up of both Houses, are now eager to press their advantage and obtain exemptions for stores, coal yards, filling stations and so forth.

This bill undoubtedly serves a dual purpose. In addition to the help it gives the rich, it eliminates jobs now held by the Democratic Party. I say it helps the Republican leaders and the powers behind the throne. When I speak of the powers behind the throne, I mean these invisible powers who hold the purse strings and guide the destinies of the Republican Party.

This tax has been treated as a permanent tax. Why eliminate it now? It is not an emergency tax. Let it remain on the books and give its proceeds to the underpaid school teachers and state workers.

Mr. WOODWARD. I merely want to say, Mr. President, that my objection to the mercantile tax as administered in Philadelphia is that whenever a man has been a faithful party producer and they do not know what to do with him, they make him a mercantile appraiser and the result of that political infiltration is shown by the amount of money required to administer this tax. I have figures on my desk which show that other taxes in Philadelphia cost about one percent to collect, but in order to collect this mercantile appraiser's tax, it costs anywhere from ten to twenty-five per cent. It is a snug harbor for worn-out politicians and I am against it.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I was just about to remark, when I see somebody very earnestly looking down on a piece of paper and reading what he is about to say, I am reminded of the story of the fellow who went to his parson and said, "Parson, if you can not remember it long enough to tell us about it, how do you expect us to remember it long enough for it to do us any good?"

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, in answer to my friend, Doctor Carr, the Legislative Journal speaks for itself. I believe you all remember the words of Al Smith, "The record speaks for itself." Look at it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Becker,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Tyler,

L. 861) entitled "An act to create a uniform and exclusive system for the administration of parole in this Commonwealth establishing the 'Pennsylvania Board of Parole' conferring and defining its jurisdiction duties powers and functions including the supervision of persons placed upon probation in certain designated cases providing for the method of appointment of its members regulating the appointment removal and discharge of its officers clerks and employes dividing the Commonwealth into administrative districts for purposes of parole fixing the salaries of members of the board and of certain other officers and employes thereof making violations of certain provisions of this act misdemeanors providing penalties therefor and for other cognate purposes and making an appropriation" by reducing the membership of said board further conferring revising and defining its jurisdiction duties powers and functions changing the appointment removal and discharge of certain officers decreasing the salaries of members of the board and fixing the salaries of certain officers and employes.

The first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth sections were separately read and agreed to.

The thirteenth section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. JONES. I offer amendments, Mr. President, and ask their immediate adoption.

Mr. COX. If it is not out of order, Mr. President—what I am about to do may be an informal way of doing it—I would like to request that the amendment be read so that we have a full understanding of the amendment before we vote on any section of the bill. Amendments to one section might so change the context of the bill that a section that we might presently be in accord with, we would not agree with after the amendments are offered.

The PRESIDENT. This amendment does not have that effect.

Mr. COX. I have no way of knowing that, Mr. President.

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, I merely ask adoption of the amendment, and then intend to ask that the bill go over in order after the adoption of the amendment.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, this same thing has happened every time amendments have been introduced to an important bill in this Senate.

Here we have a bill, the bill stands on its context, every member of the Senate has had opportunity to read this bill because it is printed and is on his desk, and now amendments are offered on the floor of the Senate to change the context of the bill, they are read orally, we have nothing before us in writing, we have no way of determining the value of these amendments, and yet we are supposed to vote on amendments which may change the context of the bill.

I repeatedly have requested that when amendments are offered that we have some knowledge of the context of those amendments before we vote on them. In this particular instance the gentleman has offered amendments, he has asked their immediate adoption, and then says he intends to ask that the bill go over in order, but in the event that the amendments are adopted and the bill goes over in order, then the bill has the amendments in it, the amendments have been accepted, and so tomorrow when the bill comes back the amendments are already in it and a part of the bill.

I want to be fair about this thing. Friends of the parole system of Pennsylvania are not all Democrats, there are a great many of them who are Republicans, and when this bill is passed, if it is passed, it will be because there were friends on both sides of this Senate.

The request I am making perhaps is informal but under our rules we can do almost anything, if we are in complete harmony on what we are trying to do. I have asked that the amendments be read. We have the bill here, and if the amendments are not too lengthy, we will have some idea of what will happen when the amendments are read again for the purpose of adoption. I do not see why anyone should object to that request. I think it is a very fair request.

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, the amendment merely is to correct a clerical error, to change the word "three" to the word "two".

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, is it not true, even in short form, that amendments are always read?

The PRESIDENT. That is right.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I do not know of any time when proposed amendments have not been read.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I do not suggest that the amendments were not read. I say they are read, but the difficulty is that while the amendments are read it is impossible to consider them, we have not any time to consider whether we want the amendments or not.

The PRESIDENT. As the Chair understands the situation, the gentleman from Luzerne, Senator Jones, has stated he is not going to ask that this bill pass second reading tonight.

Mr. JONES. That is right, Mr. President.

The CHAIR. Therefore the gentleman from Allegheny will have ample opportunity to study the bill, with the amendment, particularly as it involves a change of only one word.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, it might be that in this particular case the acceptance of a one word amendment does not amount to anything, but the same principal is involved every time amendments are offered on the floor of this Senate. We sit here and can not follow the amendments as they are read, we accept amendments completely changing bills, and there are not two people in this Senate who know what the amendments are, or what the effect of them may be. You change the bill, and when the bill comes up the next day, containing the amendments, we are put in the position where perhaps we have to vote against a bill which without the amendments, we might vote in favor of.

As I understand, Mr. President, this amendment does not change the context of this bill; is that correct?

The PRESIDENT. That is the understanding of the Chair.

Mr. COX. The Chair has already advised me as to what the amendment does, and that is what I wanted. Thank you.

Mr. EALY. The purpose of the procedure in adopting amendments is to have the amendments incorporated in the bill, to be printed, after which the bill may go over in order for second reading tomorrow; the amendments must be adopted first as otherwise we have no authority to have the amendments included in the bill.

Mr. COX. That is absolutely true, Mr. President, that is our procedure, but it seems to me that there should be some way so that if anyone has amendments they want to present at the time a bill is on second or any other reading, they can have the amendments typed or mimeographed or in any other way prepared so that they may be put on the desks of all the members of the Senate. I realize it is not in accordance with legislative procedure but certainly it would make for much better legislation.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section as read?

Mr. JONES offered the following amendment:

Amend page 14, Section 13, line 13, by striking out with bold face brackets, after the word "exceeds" and before the word "years" the word: "(three)," and inserting in lieu thereof, the word: "two".

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The fourteenth and fifteenth section and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, as amended,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 554, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Butler will proceed.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, does the action of the Senate as just taken mean that Senate Bill No. 554 has gone over in order without having passed second reading?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 567 on second reading, entitled:

An Act to add subsection E to section two hundred two of the act, approved the fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 364), entitled "An act relating to business corporations; defining and providing for the organization, merger, consolidation, reorganization, winding up and dissolution of such corporations; conferring certain rights, powers, duties and immunities upon them and their officers and shareholders; prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers; providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the second class within the provisions of this act; prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign business corporations may be admitted, or may continue, to do business within the Commonwealth; conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas, and certain State departments, commissions, and officers; authorizing certain State departments, boards, commission, or officers to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act; imposing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations," prohibiting domestic and foreign business corporations from doing business, entering into contracts or advertising under any but its corporate name; and prescribing penalties be recommitted to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I am glad to second this motion because in the words of my learned colleague, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Doctor Woodward, I think this a very poor bill and I am sorry that I introduced it. This bill is not my brain child. I attempted earlier in the session to correct a situation which existed in the state of Pennsylvania, which I think is a very serious one and to which I would invite the attention of the members of the Senate. A great many businesses operate in the state of Pennsylvania under assumed names, businesses the ownership of which the people in the community do not know, the personnel of which they have no knowledge of and in many instances those corporations doing business in our communities incur liabilities, they incur contractual or negligent liabilities and the people in our communities, the people of the state of Pennsylvania, are in many instances without recourse or without proper remedy because of their inability to know who is conducting these businesses.

It was for that reason that I originally introduced Senate Bill No. 234, Printer's Number 113. Senate Bill No. 234 has a very interesting history. It managed to pass third reading and then was recommitted, and it was recommitted, I think, in fairness to the members of this Senate, because of a lack of understanding of the purpose of this bill.

Senate Bill No. 234 would amend the Fictitious Names Act of the state of Pennsylvania, the Act of 1917, the act which to this time permits individuals who deal under other than their own names to register with the prothonotary and with the Secretary of Sate, and thereby to operate under fictitious names, and it seems to me that if that opportunity is available to individuals it should likewise be available to corporations, so that if corporations do want to deal under fictitious names—and I understand and comprehend and appreciate that there are many instances in which corporations are justifiably entitled to deal under fictitious names—then it seems to me, in fairness to the people in the state of Pennsylvania, that those corporations ought to be obligated to register with the prothonotary and with the Secretary of State, so that the people of our state know who those people are, who is doing business, where the principal address is, so that when they have rights against those particular corporations they can exercise their rights.

Senate Bill No. 234 merely provides that the benefits of the Fictitious Names Act shall be extended to corporations. It provides that those corporations which want to deal under fictitious names shall file with the prothonotary and with the Secretary of State, the name of the corporation, the principal address of the corporation, and while I join in this motion to recommit Senate Bill No. 567, I do invite the attention of the Committee on Judiciary General, the Chairman of that Committee and the membership of the Committee, and the membership of the Senate, to give some real study and consideration to Senate Bill No. 234, because I think the people of the state of Pennsylvania are entitled to the enactment of the type of law or type of remedy that is afforded under Senate Bill No. 234.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 571, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections twenty-six and thirty-five of the act, approved the eleventh day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (P. L. 522), entitled as amended "An act relating to dogs, and the protection of live stock, poultry, and game birds raised in captivity from damage by dogs; providing for the licensing of dogs by the Secretary of Agriculture; providing for the enumeration of dogs by assessors; regulating the keeping of dogs, and authorizing their destruction in certain cases; providing for the protection of licensed dogs, and for dogs temporarily imported for trial, show, and breeding purposes; prescribing certain privileges for hunting dogs and dogs owned or used by the Board of Game Commissioners; providing for the assessment of damages done to live stock, poultry, and game birds by dogs, and for live stock killed by, or dying from, rabies and for the illegal killing of licensed dogs, payment of such damages by the Commonwealth; imposing powers and duties on certain State, county, city, borough, town, and township officers and employes, directing the payment of all moneys collected into the State Treasury; and providing penalties," providing for payment by the Commonwealth for the Pasteur treatment against rabies; and fixing the Commonwealth's liability for enforcement of said act.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 574, on second reading, entitled:

An Act abating unpaid tax penalties and interest on certain city and school taxes heretofore levied by cities of the first class and school districts of the first class against real estate owned by certain institutions of purely public charity and giving such taxing authorities the right to reject the provisions of the act be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, before this bill is voted upon, I would like to make a few remarks.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection the gentleman from Allegheny may proceed.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, my vote on the motion to recommit will be "no" for two reasons. The first reason is that this will make money, which has been contributed for charitable purposes, available to be used for that purpose. Secondly, there now rests in committee another bill involving the same principles of abatement of penalties, interest and costs, which passed the House, came over to the Senate, came out of committee, appeared on the Calendar and then was recommitted.

I have been very hopeful, since that bill was recommitted, that the Majority Party would change its attitude with regard to tax abatement.

Mr. President, the members of the Senate represent different types of districts. There are members of this Senate who reflect directly the attitude of their districts when they vote against tax abatement, because in those districts tax abatement is not needed, but there are districts, such as my own, which is the greatest industrial section of Pennsylvania, a district so impoverished during the depression that there were very few people who had any opportunity of paying their taxes, and as a result the only people who could take advantage of the previous Tax Abatement Act were banks, building and loan associations and people who had money invested in real estate and had sufficient reserve funds to pay their taxes under the Tax Abatement Act.

I have made a careful survey through my entire Senatorial District, which is the second largest in the state, if not the largest, I have talked to members of boards of township commissioners, I have talked with members of councils of boroughs, to members of councils of third class cities in my Senatorial District, I have talked to tax collecting officials, as well as members of the board of county commissioners of Allegheny County, the city of Pittsburgh, and there is almost a unamity of opinion in Allegheny County that a Tax Abatement Act would do some good, first because it would assist people who have not been assisted before, because they did not have the funds with which to take advantage of a Tax Abatement Act and, secondly, because it would result in a tremendous increase in revenues.

I feel, under all the circumstances, that the members of this Senate are so fair having presented the matter to them in this light, that tomorrow they will hasten and call a meeting of the Committee on Judiciary Special, to which a previous tax abatement bill has been committed, and report that bill out.

The bill is not a mandatory bill, as there is not any community in Pennsylvania that has to give tax abatements. That is a matter for the local municipal authorities to decide whether or not that particular district needs it.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Heyburn.

Mr. PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Delaware tell me whether the recommital of this bill is for the reason that all bills dealing with abatement are going to be left without any action.

Mr. HEYBURN. I do not so understand it, Mr. President. There was serious objection lodged against this bill in the Caucus as I understand it.

I was at the time in a harmony meeting, or whatever you call it, together with the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, and also the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis.

Mr. STIEFEL. I thank the gentleman from Delaware. At this time, when a bill is recommitted, that is tantamount to strangulation, as we can not hope that the bill will come out again in good shape, and I just want to state that the reason which impelled me to introduce this bill was because of a very peculiar situation in Philadelphia. Many charitable institutions have parcels of real estate which do not come within the purview of activities which exempt those parcels from taxation and yet these parcels of real estate do not yield any income but are being taxed. For many years taxes, penalties and interest have accumulated to such an extent that sometimes the penalties and interest exceed the principal of the tax

The city authorities are reluctant to proceed with execution of their liens, so this taxing procedure goes on indefinitely without any action on the part of the city authorities. These parcels of real estate remain inactive and they are not marketable.

The reason I introduced this bill was to solve this situation so as to make these pieces of property marketable and open new sources of revenue to the city of Philadelphia. Eventually you will have to do something.

I introduced another bill, which I told was ab initio. I said that something would have to be done in Philadelphia to solve this situation. That bill was sent to the Committee on Municipal Government where it has remained without any action. The time will come when the Legislature will have to adopt some measure whereby this anomolous situation in Philadelphia will be solved once and for all.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I am sorry to have to disagree with my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, but I regard this as a very bad bill. It is all right for Senator Cox, who lives in Allegheny county, to tell you what is a good bill for Philadelphia, because this bill only applies to the city of Philadelphia, cities of the first class, and this bill does not have any place on the Calendar. This bill would be very disastrous to the city of Philadelphia and I think the right place for it is back in committee.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I agree with what my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Cox, has said with regard to a tax abatement bill for Allegheny county. I feel that it is very unfair for Senators from other parts of this state to deny second class counties legislation that they feel they need. I feel quite certain that the members on both sides of the Senate, and in the House also, desire an abatement bill for Allegheny county. As my colleague from Allegheny county, Senator Cox, has stated, previous abatement bills were taken advantage of by banks, building and loan associations, trust companies and large and wealthy real estate owners.

People who could not take advantage of those abatement acts in the past—and I am sure there are a lot of them in Philadelphia as well as in Allegheny county—are now making good money; workmen that have been out of work for years are now making good money and could take advantage of a tax abatement act and save their homes. Why the rest of the state should object to Allegheny county having an abatement bill when we want it, when all of our representatives want it, and it does not interfere with any other part of the state, why you will not let Allegheny county have an abatement act—or Philadelphia if they want it, when it does not affect any other county—and we in that county who represent the people of our county want it, I can not see why you deny that to us.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. STIEFEL. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, if he has any reason for thinking there is any constitutional authority for abating taxes on charitable institutions and levying taxes on other people.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I will be glad to answer the inquiry of the gentleman from McKean. This is not an abatement of the tax, it is only an abatement of penalties and interest.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Then, Mr. President, I will confine my question to abatement of principal and interest for charitable institutions.

Mr. STIEFEL. I did not understand the question, Mr. President.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I desire to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, whether in his opinion abatement of principal and interest can be made to charitable institutions and not to others, or whether there must be a general abatement.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, abatements were made in the past, but charitable institutions did not avail themselves of those abatements merely because of indecision on the part of the taxing authorities of the city of Philadelphia. Due to this indecision, due to this lack of exact laws which are now on the statute books, an anomalous condition was created whereby the city does not do anything and the charitable institutions are lulled into a sense of false security, but now the time has arrived when something has to be done about it.

Embracing this opportunity, Mr. President, I would like to answer the statement of my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell. If you were to ask the taxing authorities of the city of Philadelphia to proceed with execution of liens against charitable institutions, they would not do it, so why have the law on the books? Of course, Mr. President, something tells me that there might be the suspicion that once you help these institutions you will help the Bellevue-Stratford and the Walton and other hotels in Philadelphia which are termed white elephants, but my suggestion is to limit it only to charitable institutions.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I would like to get this thing fixed in my mind, Mr. President—of course, the gentleman from Philadelphia does not have to answer—but I am asking whether the gentleman from Philadelphia thinks under the authority of the Constitution of Pennsylvania there is any provision which requires that taxes not be uniform, to abate principal and interest to charitable institutions and not abate them to others?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I repeat again that the bill does not provide for abatement of principal; it provides only for interest and penalties.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Well, Mr. President, as to interest and penalties, is there any constitutional authority for abating interest and penalties to charitable institutions and not to others.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, ever since I have been a member of the Senate of Pennsylvania there has been an annual or biennial appearance of an abatement bill. Such a bill has been passed time and time again. Now, by virtue of the same authority the Senate used in passing those bills, I availed myself of that in introducing this bill.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, apparently I can not get an answer to my question. I am asking the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, whether he thinks there is any authority under the constitution or any legislation to abate interest and penalties to charitable institutions and not a general abatement act..

Mr. STIEFEL. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. I am sorry, Mr. President, but I differ with the gentleman from Philadelphia.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion to recommit Senate Bill No. 574?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SHAPIRO and were as follows, viz:

Becker,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Tyler,
Bowers,	Geltz,	Scarlett,	Wade,
Carr,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Walker,

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 836, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend the title and sections four, six, seven and eight of the act approved the nineteenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 6) entitled "An act relating to national and State defense, providing for the establishment of a State Council of Defense and of local and district councils of defense, prescribing the powers and duties thereof, and making an appropriation therefor," by conferring certain powers and duties upon the State Council of Defense, local and district councils of defense; eliminating certain provisions no longer in effect; and providing penalties

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 844, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant-Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" by providing that under war time conditions the Department of Property and Supplies may make certain purchases and may authorize any department board or commission to make certain purchases without advertising or competitive bidding further providing as to the supervision of the Department of Property and Supplies over the construction and alteration of buildings and over the plans and specifications therefor relieving the Department of Property and Supplies from the duty of supervising the operation of mechanical and electrical equipment used in connection with the operation of State institutions or other State buildings and authorizing departments boards and commissions to make certain purchases of repair parts to contract for public utility services to rent machinery and equipment to employ labor on a temporary basis under certain conditions to subscribe to certain publications and to take memberships in certain organizations and societies.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 849, entitled:

An Act relating to child care centers; conferring certain powers and duties upon the State Council of Defense, local and district councils of defense and political subdivisions; providing for the adoption of rules and regulations for the maintenance, operation and conduct thereof; authorizing appropriations by political subdivisions and providing penalties.

The first section was read and agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. STIEFEL offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 2, page 2, line 14, by inserting after the word "established" the following: "maintained, operated and conducted."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The third section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. KEPHART offered the following amendment:

Amend Bill, Section 3, page 2, line 24 by inserting after the word "industries" and before the word "for" the following: "or in the armed forces of the United States or directly connected therewith."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Kephart.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KEPHART. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Philadelphia explain the effect of this amendment?

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, the effect of this amendment is to let children of parents who are in the armed forces be taken care of in these child care centers, as well as children of parents who are doing war work. I do not know whether that makes it clear to the gentleman from Philadelphia or not.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I would like to know, Mr. President, whether the gentleman from Philadelphia has figured out the cost involved by this amendment?

Mr. KEPHART. I have not, Mr. President. There is no appropriation in this bill and I do not know how much is being appropriated for these child care centers.

Mr. SHAPIRO. That is the trouble with this bill. There is not only no appropriation in the bill but also there is no provision as to how the work shall be done.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and naye were required by Mr. DiSILVESTRO and were as follows, viz:

DiSilvestro,	Haluska,	Kephart,	McQuiddy,
Gourley,	Jaspan,	McGinnis,	Woodring,

Barr,	Ealy,	Jones,	Stevenson,
Becker,	Farrell,	Letzler,	Stiefel,
Bowers,	Geltz,	Mallery,	Tallman,
Carr,	Heyburn,	Ruth,	Thomas,
Chapman,	Holland,	Scarlett,	Wade,
Crider,	Homsher,	Shapiro,	Wilson, H. I.,
Crowe,	James,	Snowden,	Wilson, T. B.,
Deitrick,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. STIEFEL offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 20, by inserting after the word "establish" the following: "maintain, operate and conduct;" Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 24, by striking out the words "engaged in war industries" and inserting in lieu thereof: "gainfully employed or engaged in volunteer war time activities;" Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 24, 25 and 26, by striking out the following: "for periods of more" in line 24, all of line 25, and the word "day" in line 26; Amend Sec. 3, page 3, line 8, by inserting after the word "established" the following: "maintained, operated and conducted;" Amend Sec. 3, page 3, line 9, by inserting after the word "established" the following: "maintained, operated and conducted."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I would like to have some one explain what these amendments do. Will some one tell me, in a word, what they do?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, the amendment simply elucidates the wording. The word "establish" is not sufficient—if you establish something you have to state whether you are going to maintain and provide for it. The purpose of the amendment is to clarify further the word "establish" and also to insert the words "maintained, operated and conducted."

Mr. President, I want to explain the reason for the amendment. It is not an amendment which has been prompted by partisanship, but simply an amendment to remove ambiguous language. If you will first examine the bill as it came from the House you will notice many amendments.

I abhor amendments because sometimes amendments vitiate the contents of the bill. It is like some one has said, he sends out in the morning a thing which is as white as a dove and at night it comes back black as a raven.

Now, Mr. President, all these amendments, which you will notice were adopted in the House, created so many ambiguities that unless we remove them the bill will be completely innocuous.

You state "to establish centers." Who is going to conduct and maintain the centers? That is not clear. Next comes the definition of the word "parents". Parents under this bill are regarded as father and mother. What would be the situation if only a mother is occupied in a war industry and the father is not, or vice versa? That has to be clarified.

Finally, Mr. President, I think the worst ambiguity is contained in the wording "for periods of more than four and less than twenty-four hours." It is not clear whether that applies to the period of operation of the center or the period of time during which an individual child may receive care?

These things all have to be clarified and that is the reason why I have introduced the amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The fourth section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Section?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to offer amendments.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, inasmuch as the amendments so far offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, have been defeated, there seems no point in having read further amendments because if they should be adopted they would be ineffectual anyhow and would disturb rather than help the situation.

I therefore suggest to Senator Stiefel that he withdraw further amendments.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I think the advice of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, is proper. I am very regretful that the amendments went down to defeat as in my opinion they were constructive. In order to have time I will withdraw the balance of the amendments. I believe the record is now clear that we have tried to do everything in our power and paraphrasing the words of Shakespeare I will say, "The Moor has done his duty; the Moor may go."

On the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth sections and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, in the goodness of our hearts we are trying to pass a child care bill. I believe the Senate does not really realize that this bill as it now stands will not do the job that we would like to have it do.

I heard the gentleman from McKean, Senator Wilson, a moment ago speak about helping out the little real estate owners. This bill, which is now on second reading, has in it a provision for appropriation by political subdivisions. Appropriation by political subdivisions means only one thing, Mr. President, that the real estate owner back home will have to have his taxes raised if the right type of child center is to be maintained. I do not think this Senate means to put through a fake bill. I do not think the Senators in this Senate intend to go before the public and say, "we passed a child care bill but it is not a child care bill."

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, in view of these facts, I am about to move that House Bill No. 849, Printer's Number 332, be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations so that proper moneys will be appropriated to carry out the purposes of this bill, and not place the cost of child care on the mothers and fathers of the boys who are now fighting.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. HOLLAND, Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 849, on second reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HOLLAND and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—14

Barr,	Gourley,	McGinnis,	Shapiro,
Chapman,	Haluska,	McQuiddy,	Stiefel,
Cox,	Holland,	Ruth,	Woodring,
DiSilvestro,	Jaspan,

NAYS—23

Becker,	Farrell,	Kephart,	Thomas,
Bowers,	Geltz,	Letzler,	Wade,
Carr,	Heyburn,	Mallery,	Walker,
Crider,	Homsher,	Scarlett,	Wilson, H. I.,
Deitrick,	James,	Snowden,	Wilson, T. B.,
Ealy,	Jones,	Tallman,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 895, entitled:

An Act to further reenact and amend the title and the act approved the twenty-eighth day of March one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 86) entitled as amended "An act relating to the grading and sale of grapes and potatoes in this Commonwealth providing penalties for violations and imposing certain duties upon the Department of Agriculture" by extending the provisions to apples and peaches and permitting the grading classifying and packing of grapes potatoes apples and peaches other than those packed or repacked within this State.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanmious consent that House Bill No. 917, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to promote interestate cooperation for the use, conservation; protection and equitable diversion of the water resources of the Delaware River Basin between and among the States of Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey, for the purpose of meeting prospective needs for domestic and municipal water supply; regulating and limiting the use of the waters of the Delaware River and its tributaries and prescribing rules and standards; requiring permits from and providing for hearings by, the Water and Power Resources Board and for appeals from its decisions; vesting power in the Water and Power Resources Board to vary or modify the rules and standards under certain conditions and to adopt rules and regulations, and further defining its powers and duties; requiring notice to the States of New York and New Jersey of all applications for water diversion; providing for the filing of stipulations by the Attorney General with the United States Supreme Court and obtaining its approval of water diversions

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 993, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (g) of section two hundred four of the act, approved the twenty-second day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 853), "An act relating to taxation; designating the subjects, property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for all local purposes; providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of persons, property and subjects of taxation for county purposes, and for the use of those municipal and quasi-municipal corporation which levy their taxes on county assessments and valuations; amending, revising and consolidating the law relating thereto; and repealing existing laws," by providing that the exemption from local taxation afforded to certain public property shall not extend to property, otherwise taxable, which is owned or held by an agency of the Government of the United States

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

HOUSE BILL No. 403, PRINTER'S No. 531, CALLED UP

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I call up at this time House Bill No. 403, Printer's No. 531, on page 5 of the Third Reading Calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 403, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 208) entitled "An act to regulate the practice of pharmacy and sale of poisons and drugs and providing penalties for the violation thereof defining the words 'drug' and 'poison' and providing for the appointment of a board which shall have in charge the enforcement of said law and the power to make rules and regulations for the enforcement of said law and providing for the purchase of samples of drugs for determining their quality strength and purity" by requiring a copy of the latest edition of the Year Book of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association to be kept in every pharmacy

Section 1 Section seven of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 208) entitled "An act to regulate the practice of pharmacy and sale of poisons and drugs and providing penalties for the violation thereof defining the words 'drug' and 'poison' and providing for the appointment of a board which shall have in charge the enforcement of said law and the power to make rules and regulations for the enforcement of said law and providing for the purchase of samples of drugs for determining their quality strength and purity" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 7 That there shall be kept in every pharmacy a copy of the latest revision of the United States Pharmacopoeia [and] the latest edition of the National Formulary and the latest edition of the Year Book of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association in which Year Book shall be kept a record of all exempt narcotic sales and sales of poisons and if homeopathic remedies are compounded and dispensed a copy of the latest revision of the American Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia or the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States which books must be open to the inspection of the Pennsylvania Board of Pharmacy or the agents thereof Any person violating this section of this act of Assembly shall upon conviction be sentenced to pay a fine of ten dollars ($10.00) and the costs of prosecution

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments, which have been discussed with gentleman who are interested in this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WADE. I object, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I do not want to move to reconsider the vote by which this bill passed second reading. The purpose of the amendments I offer is merely to confine the bill to the stated purposes of the bill.

In other words, Mr. President, we were told that the purpose of this bill was merely to compel druggists to keep records separately of all narcotic drugs mentioned in the bill. I have conferred with people interested in the bill and have proposed amendments so that there shall be kept a separate record in the form to be prescribed by the Director of the Bureau of Narcotics in the Department of Public Health, in which shall be recorded the sales of those narcotics.

If the gentleman from Cumberland insists on his objection to granting unanimous consent, I shall be obliged to move that the vote by which this bill passed second reading be reconsidered at this time.

Possibly the gentleman from Cumberland did not understand the purpose of the amendments.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. President, in order to give the gentleman from Cumberland an opportunity to study these amendments, I now withdraw them.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 403, on third reading go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HOMSHER. I object, Mr. President.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, what has happened here? One day last week one of the lawyers in this Senate —and it is not the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro—passed the word around that this bill would create graft. Is the legal profession the only profession that is honest? I think that pharmacists conduct their pharmacies in the highest degree. Is that the only defense when someone is not in accord with a bill, to say that it will create graft, or that it is dishonest? If it is dishonest, let us prove that, but under the circumstances, I think there was a little bit of confusion last week, some of the fellows did not see eye to eye on this bill.

Now, Mr. President, if we adjourn next week I am afraid on account of adjournment this bill might be killed, just a slow treatment, you know. I am not behind this bill, I am not the author. This bill was introduced in the House but from the first moment I read the bill I thought it was a good bill.

We have heard the word "graft" and that there is somebody behind this and somebody behind that but I have always believed that our colleagues in this Senate are honest; I always start out with the idea that a man presents a bill because he honestly and conscientiously feels that the bill is being presented to do some good for some people in the state or for all the people in the state.

Mr. President, I do not see why my friend from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, wants to delay passage of this bill. I understand that amendments were offered but the Senate will not grant unanimous consent, so what is the bill going to do, die? If you want it to die I will give it an injection of some kind of medicine and I will kill it myself. I do think it is bad to keep this bill on the Calend: in such a fashion.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia object?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. No, Mr. President, I do not object. If someone else objects, that is O.K.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection to House Bill No. 403 going over in order?

Mr. DEITRICK. I object, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have no interest in this bill. I have examined it merely from the point of view of legislation, but as this bill is now prepared, those druggists who are anxious to get a bill in which shall be recorded the sale of narcotics may be compelled to buy advertisements in this book. The book may be used for that very purpose. The expressed intention of the sponsor of the bill was to provide a register in which the sale of narcotics shall be separately recorded.

One of the gentlemen who is sponsoring this bill suggested the reason they did not put that in it was that they wanted to compile a number of laws dealing with narcotics and put them in that book and sell this book on that basis.

I suggested to him that the thing we were basically interested in was narcotic supervision and the amendment I prepared would cover it.

As far as I am concerned, you con vote "aye" or "no" on this bill—I am not asking any one to vote one way or the other on the bill, but in the interest of good legislation if this bill is intended for a specific purpose, I think it ought to be confined to that purpose, so that it can not be used for business purposes rather than medical, and if this bill is voted on now in its present shape, compelling druggists to buy these year books—no one knows what the year book means, nobody knows what the year book shall contain, or that it will contain a list of narcotics which are sold, and I think that is silly.

Now you can suit yourselves on it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—35

Barr,	Farrell,	Jones,	Stevenson,
Becker,	Geltz,	Kephart,	Stiefel,
Bowers,	Gourley,	Letzler,	Tallman,
Carr,	Haluska,	Mallery,	Thomas,
Chapman,	Heyburn,	McGinnis,	Wade,
Cox,	Holland,	McQuiddy,	Walker,
Crider,	Homsher,	Ruth,	Wilson, H. I.,
Deitrick,	James,	Scarlett,	Wilson, T. B.,
DiSilvestro,	Jaspan,	Snowden,

NAYS—3

Ealy, Shapiro, Woodring,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

MONDAY, April 26, 1943

The House met at 9 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Thou who art the giver of every good and perfect gift, accept our thanks for the many undeserved blessings lavished upon us. Deliver us from all sin, we pray in contrite sprit, for the nation and all her people. Give unto those in the armed forces of our country an ever increasing awareness of their great need of Thee. May they experience the sufficiency of Thy grace for every trial and task. Grant that every Legislator may sense the seriousness of our times and do their utmost by precept and example to hasten the coming of Thy kingdom in the lives of men and nations. When the world is at its worst, grant that each one of us may be at our best, for Thy name's sake, we pray. Amen.

EDWARD MARTIN

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, two weeks ago tonight, as the result of what this side of the House considered a real grievance against the non-accomplishment of real legislation by this House, I requested that all bills on the calendar be read at length, and each succeeding night and each day thereafter the same request was made.

The purpose of this action, Mr. Speaker, was two-fold. First, to focus the attention of the people on the intent of the Republican party, and in order to accomplish that to pass such legislation as they deem necessary, and in doing this we considered they were striking a blow at the democratic processes. It was important in our opinion therefore to expose this effort.

Second, we hoped that by making this matter public property the Republican party by the force of public opinion might be compelled to desist. Accordingly we suggested the appointment of a joint committee of Democrats and Republicans from both sides of the House. As is well known a committee representing the Democratic members on both Houses called upon the Governor and requested the formation of a joint committee, and as has been stated on the floor before, after a long discussion with the Governor he accepted our suggestion and directed that a committee be appointed to confer on matters of legislation. Since that time, Mr. Speaker, I know that I have used every effort possible, and my colleagues on this side have done likewise, to have a meeting with our colleagues on the other side. We were unable to have this meeting until finally today, and after waiting at the office of the Majority Leader of the Senate for well over an hour, we finally met at five minutes past three this afternoon. That meeting was attended by most of the members of the committee on both sides of the House.

The result of that meeting, I believe, was that we were pretty well told that the eleven point program we suggested could not be adopted. It was put this way by Senator Heyburn, that of those eleven proposals most of them were either in the law already, or already passed by this House or were to be acted upon by this House, and the others on which no action was taken, were matters for Federal regulation.

I take it, Mr. Speaker, that he meant to infer to us that there was no point for real discussion on any of these items. However, I feel and my Democratic colleagues agree with me, that our purpose has been accomplished. We have exposed to the light of day, not only in Pennsylvania but in the nation at large, that a gerrymandering of congressional districts is attempted on purely political lines, thereby making it almost impossible to reelect Democratic congressmen in some districts who had voted one hundred per cent with the President on all war measures. We have exposed the attempt to destroy the principle of civil service in Pennsylvania to such an extent that even the Republicans rebelled against the plan. We have exposed to light the attempt to destroy the parole system in Pennsylvania; we have exposed the attempt in the Senate to deprive the war workers of the right to register and vote, and finally we have focused the attention of the citizens of the state, particularly with reference to those who believe in our democratic form of government, to the vicious attack made on labor unions, as is set forth in Senate Bill 46. I am serving notice now that we further propose to focus public attention on this bill. I understand that action will be taken in the Senate tonight to recommit that bill. If the bill is not to be recommitted, and if it passes and comes over here then on the Republican party will be placed all the responsibility of legislation so vicious in nature. These are but a few of the bills that follow a general pattern which we contend has the approval of the Republican party. I have mentioned only the highlights. I had hoped that the committee which met with the Governor might have a accomplished some real results. However, I feel the real intent has been exposed. Our purposes have been accomplished with no additional cost to the Commonwealth for printing or otherwise. That, gentlemen, I feel is a great benefit to the people of Pennsylvania.

For this reason, Mr. Speaker, with the authority of the Democratic members, I shall no longer request that bills, in accordance with the constitution, be read at length.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am very happy to learn of another purpose for the filibuster which we have endured during the past two weeks, but I am rather inclined to believe the gentleman from Allegheny who spoke two weeks ago on the floor of this House when he said that the purpose for instigating the tactics used upon the floor of this House was for the purpose of delay. We have also been told Mr. Speaker that the reason for the actions of the minority was to focus attention upon the actions of the present session of the legislature, to focus attention upon the type and kind of legislation that we of the majority party were passing.

If that was the purpose I want to agree with the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare, who upon the floor of this House a week ago brought to the attention of every Member of this House the public reaction to the methods that were being used for the purposes of delay, in the various editorials that were taken from many newspapers in Pennsylvania, as to their belief in the purpose of using those particular tactics.

Then, I was very happy, Mr. Speaker, to learn the reactions upon the minority as far as the meeting held this afternoon was concerned. I want to inform the entire membership of this House that I went to Senator Heyburn's office at about 3:00 o'clock. The only member on the minority side that was present was the Minority Floor Leader of the House. That meeting started with three members of the majority party and one member of the minority party. I will say that the statement he made that he felt after a brief discussion we were not going to get very far because of the stand of the majority is correct, and I want to state here and now, after all we are engaged in a war today, fighting to maintain our democratic form of government. I believe all of us must agree that a democratic form of government is a government by a majority. We believe in the rights of a minority, we believe in good, strong opposition, we believe opposition from the minority is essential and important in a democratic form of government, but as stated on the floor of this House last week we do not feel on this side of the House that we must necessarily meet the demands of the minority upon the majority in setting up a legislative program. We on the majority side of this House have advocated a program which has been severely criticized by the minority, but we have repeatedly stated that we are willing to carry the responsibility as the majority party of Pennsylvania for that particular program—that we are willing to go before the people of Pennsylvania and let them be the judge of the legislative program put forth in this particular session. Yes, I say, Mr. Speaker, we believe in minority rights. We welcome their debate and their opposition, but we do not believe that they should at any time now or in the future try to dictate the legislative program of the majority party.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I feel that what the gentleman from Philadelphia has stated was true regarding the actions of this committee, that it definitely was useless to try and foist upon the majority the wishes and the will of the minority in their eleven point program, because as far as we are concerned on this side of the House, most of those points have been covered by legislation or are now in process of being covered either in the House or in the Senate.

I might also add that the thing that rather disgusted me, representing the majority party at that particular meeting was when the Senator, representative of the minority party and the Senator representing the majority party, started to debate the merits of a bill on the Senate calendar. I believe the Minority Floor Leader will agree with me that that was not our purpose in getting together. I am glad, Mr. Speaker, that the minority party has seen the light, and that they realize now that the delay caused in this session of the legislature to the extent of the days which will be added to this particular session will be their responsibility.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Amend Section 1 (Section 4), page 5, by striking out in lines 4, 5, and 6 the following: "and no corporation now exercising or hereafter authorized to exercise such powers shall" and insert in lieu thereof "or".

Amend Section 1 (Section 4), page 5, lines 8 and 9, by striking out the word "existing".

Amend Section 1 (Section 4), page 5, line 13 by striking out the word "new".

Amend Section 1 (Section 4), page 5, line 14 by striking out the word "existing".

Amend Section 1 (Section 4), page 5, line 16, by striking out the words "served or".

Amend Section 1 (Section 4), page 5, line 19, by striking out the following: "in the case of a corporation hereafter created".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I introduced House Bill 809 on March 15, and in due course it passed first reading and was prepared for second reading. At that point the bill caused considerable criticism on the part of electrical co-ops, who found in its provisions some very objectionable features.

The bill has been now on second reading for a very considerable length of time in order that those electrical co-ops and the regulated utilities might have an opportunity to study and discuss the provisions of the bill, with a view of ironing out the differences and providing amendments which would be satisfactory to both groups. I have been approached on this bill from time to time by Members of the House who in turn have been approached by the rural people, who benefit by the operation of electrical co-ops, and in many cases I have indicated an effort was made to reach an agreement, and the adding of amendments would be a signal that an agreement had been reached.

I am offering amendments, Mr. Speaker, but I do not wish to leave any Member of this House under a misapprehension. The amendments that I am offering are the amendments that were provided presumably to take out the objectionable features but insofar as the rural co-ops are concerned I cannot truthfully say that an agreement has been reached.

I am, therefore, making the suggestion Mr. Speaker, when I offer these amendments that they be passed and included in the bill, and that the bill be then discussed and considered upon its merits.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1033), page 3, line 23, by striking out the following: "[forty-four] forty-six" and inserting in lieu thereof: "forty-four."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1033), page 4, line 5, by striking out the following: "[forty-four] forty-six" and inserting in lieu thereof: "forty-four."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments,

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. AUKER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the amendments as read, I have no copy before me, they will negative the intent of this bill, is that correct?

Mr. AUKER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. I believe, therefore, Mr. Speaker, that it will mean if we pass this bill on to third reading that we will be legislating on nothing, is that correct?

Mr. AUKER. Correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, might I ask the gentleman whether or not the better way to handle this proposition would not be to have a motion to recommit this bill, since we are going to go into a useless amount of expense in printing a bill that means nothing?

Mr. AUKER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, much has been said during this session about the war effort. I have a rather limited knowledge of the use of the so-called car carriers on the highways of Pennsylvania, but it seems to me that today when we know for a fact that the motor companies, all the big truck manufacturers are not permitted to and are not manufacturing these car carriers the amendments that are offered to this bill would make it impossible to use this equipment in Pennsylvania. I have seen some of these car carriers recently. I have seen them hauling used cars which are being taken out of Pennsylvania to war cities where they are much in demand. I have seen these car carriers even carrying some war equipment. I wonder whether the Members of the House will care to jump on the transportation facilities, when we know that our transportation facilities are so sorely needed. I suggest that the amendments can not be wholehearted because if the gentleman is anxious to kill the bill then he ought to move tc recommit it. If the gentleman is anxious to kill the bill and what it stands for definitely he should let it go to third reading just as it is and kill it on third reading. I think the gentleman is simply wasting the time of the House, he is wasting the time of the printer, he is wasting space on the calendar by amending the bill in a way that makes it no bill at all. I, therefore, suggest that the members of the House vote down these amendments.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I ask the membership of the House to vote down the amendments.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, when I offered these amendments I expected to be accused of being unpatriotic.

Nevertheless, to go back, I was first a member of the House in 1939. We were told at that time that an extension for these carriers would only be for two years. In 1941 a similar bill was put in and again the promise was forthcoming that another two years was all that was asked for. Now, we are in again under the same proposition, the same old cry, another two years. If I recall correctly a bill went through the House, authorizing the Governor to suspend the operation of any law in the Commonwealth when requested by the President or the War and Navy Departments, in the case where any law would interfere in any way whatsoever with the war effort in Pennsylvania. Under that bill we do not need this bill so far as the carriers are concerned. They are working in war industries, nobody is stopping them now and nobody will stop them from doing that work.

What I object to is these people coming in and waving the flag and asking for another two years. You can accuse me of being patriotic or unpatriotic or anything else, but I say the people of Pennsylvania are accusing these people of being unpatriotic, when there is no excuse for coming in now and asking for an extension for these carriers of two years at this time, as they have done for the last four years.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I don't know whether this is the proper way of killing this bill but I think it ought to be killed. It has been the same old story ever since I have been a Member of this House. Each two years we are told there is going to be a change. What happens? Those who are interested in the bill go back in the campaign and try to elect a new House to support their bill. Then they come back and ask the House for an extension. I think it is about time that we flag those people finally.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I am not convinced that we have gotten to the point where as a legislative body we are willing to accede to an executive order. I think the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, will agree with that. It is true that there has been a history connected with this bill. In 1939 we revised this bill considerably and got it into a position where we felt it would save transportation. In 1941 it was reenacted under those same regulations and those same restrictions. I am of the opinion that this is good legislation. The amendments can be voted down and the bill enacted, because the car carriers are an actual necessity to the business interests of this Commonwealth.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

The section was agreed to.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker I withdraw my amendment to the title.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 26, as follows:

An Act authorizing all counties boroughs incorporated towns townships and institution districts to place their respective officers and employes in the State Employes' Retirement Association prescribing the procedure to be followed and authorizing a special tax to pay the expenses incident thereto placing certain duties upon the State Treasurer and the fiscal officers of the said municipal units prohibiting the future establishment of local pension or retirement systems and providing in certain cases for the discontinuance of existing ones

Section 1 The term "municipal unit" as used in this act shall mean any county borough incorporated town township and institution district within this Commonwealth

Section 2 The county commissioners of any county the council of any borough incorporated town or the governing body of any institution district and the commissioners or supervisors of any township may by proper ordinance or resolution accept the benefits of this act and authorize the employes thereof to participate in and become members of the State Employes' Retirement Association

When such action has been taken by any such municipal units all officers and employes thereof except such officers and employes as may at the time be eligible to participate in any retirement system wholly or in part maintained by the State shall be entitled to membership in the State Employes' Retirement Association

Section 3 Any municipal officer or employe in service at the time of such municipal action may join the State Employes' Retirement Association before the end of the calendar year in which the municipal authority is given or if such period is less than six months then at any time before the end of the next succeeding calendar year each such member shall be classed as an original member and shall be entitled to a certificate covering prior services either as employe of the State or any county borough incorporated town township or institution district in the same manner as other original members of the State Employes' Retirement Association

Section 4 Any municipal officer or employe not joining within the time designated in section three may join at any time and become an original member under the provisions hereof upon paying into the retirement association a sum equal to all back payments which such person would have made had he or she become a member of the retirement association when the retirement system was established Such back payments may be spread over a period of years by having such regular payroll deduction of such person increased by not less than one-third of the amount thereof which deduction increase shall be credited to such back payments owing and shall be continued until the amount thereof shall be paid in full unless such member is retired under the provisions of this act before such back payments have been completed Any such deduction increase may be anticipated in full by the member at any time and shall be anticipated in full at the time of retirement before a retirement allowance is granted and if not so anticipated then the member's annuity shall be calculated on the total accumulated deductions standing to his credit and his State annuity shall be reduced by an amount equivalent to the reduction which occurs in the member's annuity due to the amount of the back payments not so anticipated

All officers and employes of any such municipal unit except per diem employes not desiring to qualify as original members shall join the State Employes' Retirement Association and shall be classified as new members

Section 5 If three-fourths of all the members of any annuity or pension association of any such municipal unit hereafter referred to as a local pension association shall express their desire to become members of the State Employes' Retirement Association by signing a petition to that effect the cash and securities of such local pension association shall at once be transferred to the State Employes' Retirement Association and the operation of such local association shall be discontinued The trustees or administrative head of such local pension association shall certify the proportion if any of the funds of the association that represents the accumulated contributions of the members and the relative shares of the members as of that date

Such individual shares shall be credited to the respective members annuity saving fund account in the State Employes' Retirement Association The balance of the funds transferred to the State Employes' Retirement Association shall be offset against the accrued liabilities before determining the contributions to be paid by the municipal unit

Section 6 The existing pensioners of such local pension association who are being paid pensions at the time the funds of such local association are transferred to the State Employes' Retirement Association shall be continued and paid at their existing rates by the State Employes' Retirement Association the liability on this account shall be included in the computation of the accrued liability to determine the contributions to be paid by the municipal unit

Section 7 The chief fiscal officer of any municipal unit accepting the benefits of this act shall submit such information and perform the duties relative to employes thereof who may become members of the State Employes' Retirement Association corresponding to the information furnished and duties performed by the head of a department in the State service relative to the employes of his department

Section 8 Each municipal unit which accepts the benefits of this act shall be liable to the Commonwealth for and shall pay into the State Treasury the following

(a) All the contributions and payments on account of the officers and employes thereof becoming members of the State Employes' Retirement Association which the State would make if such members were employes of the State The contributions to be paid on account of original members under this act shall be computed in the same manner as the State contributions have been computed on account of the original members who were State employes

(b) The pro rata share of the cost of administration of the State Employes' Retirement Association based upon the respective payrolls

(c) The cost of making the actuarial valuation of the accrued liability on account of the officers and employes of such municipal unit who become original members of the State Employes' Retirement Association

Section 9 The officers and employes of a municipal unit who become members of the State Employes' Retirement Association under the provisions of this act shall make the same contributions thereto and shall be entitled to the same benefits therefrom as they would if they were employes of the State

The contributions of all such members which shall be deducted from their compensation shall be paid to the State Treasurer by the treasurer of such municipal unit

Section 10 The actuary of the State Employes' Retirement Association shall compute the rates of contributions payable by members who are officers or employes of a municipal unit and shall compute the contributions payable by each municipal unit on account of the members who are officers or employes thereof

Section 11 The State Treasurer shall certify to the treasurer of each municipal unit accepting the benefits of this act the amount of all the contributions and expenses for which it is liable to the Commonwealth under this act and all the contributions due from the members of the State Employes' Retirement Association who are officers or employes of such municipal unit

Section 12 All the money paid into the State Treasury under the provisions of this act shall be credited to the proper funds of the State Employes' Retirement Association

Section 13 All costs contributions and expenses which any county borough incorporated town township or institution district is required to pay under the provisions of this act may be levied and collected as a special tax in the same manner as other taxes are levied and collected

Section 14 No county borough incorporated town township or institution district shall hereafter establish or permit to be established any pension or retirement system for the officers or employes thereof except as in this act provided

Section 15 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the questions was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 578, as follows:

An Act relating to chattel mortgages on livestock poultry farm machinery farm equipment and crops grown growing or to be grown designating the operation and effect of the lien of such mortgages providing for the filing indexing and docketing of such mortgages and related instruments in prothonotaries's offices and prescribing prothonotaries' fees providing for the filing in Pennsylvania of similar lien instruments originally filed or recorded in other states regulating the assignment release satisfaction and extension of the lien of such mortgages prescribing methods of foreclosure defining defaults and violations and fixing penalties

Section 1 Any person association partnership or corporation may give as security for any funds borrowed or to be borrowed or any pre-existing indebtedness a bond or note with or without a confession of judgment clause secured by a chattel mortgage upon livestock poultry farm machinery farm equipment and crops including annual or perennial crops and other plant products either grown or growing at the time of the execution of such chattel mortgage or to be planted or grown within one year thereafter For the purposes of this act all such chattels and crops shall be deemed to be personal property and mortgageable as such No such chattel mortgage may secure any indebtedness which shall bear interest in excess of the rate of six per centum (6%) per annum

Section 2 Any mortgage executed under and pursuant to this act shall be in writing and signed by the mortgagor or his agent duly authorized and constituted but such mortgage need not be acknowledged witnessed or sealed The property covered or to become covered by any such chattel mortgage may be described at all that property of a specified class so identified by reference to location brands marks numbers or otherwise as to distinguish it from other property of the same class or such property may be described in any other manner permitted or authorized by law

Section 3 Any mortgage executed under and pursuant to this act may validly include livestock poultry farm machinery or farm equipment of the same class as that described in the mortgage acquired by the mortgagor subsequent to the execution of the chattel mortgage and prior to its extinguishment and any such mortgage also may validly include replacements of any of the mortgaged property therein described and all increase issue progeny and produce of animals and livestock of all kinds and the issue increase progeny and produce of any and all property mortgageable under the terms and provisions of this act including the increase issue progeny and produce of any original increase issue or progeny A mortgage of sheep or goats shall be held to include the wool or mohair which may be clipped therefrom

Section 4 Any chattel mortgage executed under and pursuant to this act may secure a pre-existing debt advances currently made or contracted for and future advances whether obligatory or optional to be made by the mortgagee within a period of three years from the date of the execution of such mortgage but not to exceed in the aggregate an amount stated in the mortgage Such a chattel mortgage may also secure advances and expenditures of the mortgagee for taxes levies insurance and repairs to or maintenance of the property described in the chattel mortgage together with interest on such advances and expenditures at the rate fixed therefor by the terms of the mortgage or if no rate therefor is specified at the rate provided in the mortgage for the principal indebtedness secured thereby All future advances made within the terms of such chattel mortgage shall be secured to the same extent and shall have the same priority as if made at the time of the execution of the mortgage

Section 5 Any mortgage executed pursuant to this act shall be a lien upon the property therein described which lien shall be good and valid against and superior to all rights of subsequent purchasers subsequent mortgagees and other subsequent lienors and encumbrancers and all persons subsequently dealing with the mortgaged property or subsequently acquiring an interest therein from the time of filing of the mortgage as provided in section eight of this act The lien of any chattel mortgage on crops executed pursuant to this act shall be superior to any mortgages deeds of trust or judgments or other liens upon the land upon which any such crop has been or is to be seeded or may be growing and any sale made under any mortgage deed of trust or judgment on such land or otherwise before said crops have been severed shall be made subject to the lien on the crops as provided for in this act

Section 6 Any of the property covered by a chattel mortgage executed pursuant to this act which may be removed without the written consent of the mortgagee from the county in which it was located at the time of the execution of the mortgage or from the county in which the mortgage is filed shall remain subject to the lien of the mortgage

Any of such property which may be removed with the written consent of the mortgagee from the county in which it was located at the time of the execution of the mortgage or from the county in which the mortgage is filed shall remain subject to the lien of the mortgage Provided however That the lien of any such mortgage shall remain valid as against subsequent purchasers subsequent mortgagees and other subsequent lienors and subsequent encumbrancers without actual notice of the chattel mortgage for a period of only sixty days from the date of removal unless within such period a true copy of the mortgage is filed in the office of the prothonotary in the county to which the property is removed

Any property covered by a chattel mortgage which may be sold by the mortgagor shall remain subject to the lien of the mortgage unless the mortgagee expressly consents in writing to such sale free and acquit of the mortgage lien and the consent of the mortgagee to the sale of a part of the property shall not invalidate or impair the lien of the mortgage as to other property covered by the mortgage

If the mortgagor with or without the written consent of the mortgagee shall make sale of the mortgaged property or any part thereof the proceeds realized through such sale shall be subject to the lien of said mortgage and the mortgagee at his option may enforce said lien against said chattels or against said proceeds Provided however That said mortgagee shall receive only one full satisfaction of the debt secured by said mortgage and provided further that the mortgagee in consenting in writing to sale of the mortgaged property or a part thereof may authorize and permit the mortgagor to sell such mortgaged chattels free and acquit of the mortgage lien upon condition that the proceeds of sale be paid to the mortgagee and if consent to sale is given on such terms and conditions any purchaser or grantee of said mortgaged chattels shall acquire title to said chattels free and acquit of said lien but the lien shall remain attached to the proceeds realized through sale until payment thereof to the mortgagee

A chattel mortgage conveying livestock or poultry and hay grain or other foodstuffs or crops shall not be invalid in any particular because provision is contained therein or the mortgagee agrees that the mortgagor may use and consume any such hay grain food forage fodder or crops in preserving or preparing for market the livestock or poultry covered by the mortgage

Section 7 If the mortgagor without the consent of the mortgagee shall substantially injure the chattel or chattels subject to the mortgage or conceal or purport to sell or otherwise dispose of them or any substantial part of them under claim of full ownership or otherwise by his wilful act or neglect substantially impair the value of the agreed security save in so far as is consistent with a reasonable use of the chattel or chattels such action shall constitute a default under the chattel mortgage Provided however That unless otherwise stipulated in the instrument the injury or destruction of the chattel or chattels without fault of the mortgagor shall not constitute a default and such injury or destruction incurred before final sale or foreclosure shall not discharge the mortgagor for any obligation secured for which he is personally liable

Section 8 Any chattel mortgage executed pursuant to this act may be filed in the office of the prothonotary for each county in which the chattels or any portion of the chattels are located at the time of filing such chattel mortgage and when so filed such chattel mortgage shall constitute a lien on the property described therein and conveyed thereby from the time of such filing which lien shall be good and valid as hereinbefore provided Provided however That in the case of more than one chattel mortgage the first filed shall have priority and be first paid out of the proceeds of the sale of the mortgaged chattels The prothonotary shall maintain a book to be known as the "Chattel Mortgage Book" in which he shall docket each instrument presented to him for filing pursuant to this act and in said docket he shall set forth the date and the hour of filing the name of the mortgagor the name of the mortgagee the amount advanced and the limit thereof and a brief description of the chattels described in the instrument and the premises upon which such chattels and crops are located and he shall retain the instrument in his office for future public inspection The prothonotary shall likewise maintain a book to be known as a "Chattel Mortgage Index" in which he shall index alphabetically under the names of the mortgagor or mortgagors or a mortgagee or mortgagees all chattel mortgages filed pursuant to this act and on which the date of filing such instrument shall be noted

Any instrument affecting the lien of a chattel mortgage or its ownership may be filed in each office in which the chattel mortgage is filed and from the date of filing thereof each such instrument shall be good and valid as against subsequent purchasers subsequent mortgagees or other subsequent lienors and subsequent encumbrancers with or without notice thereof and the fact and date of filing of each such instrument shall be noted by the prothonotary on the margin of the page on which the chattel mortgage is docketed

Section 9 The prothonotary shall be entitled to charge and receive for services rendered hereunder the following fees

(1) For filing indexing and docketing each chattel mortgage seventy-five cents (75c)

(2) For filing indexing and noting each assignment seventy-five cents (75c)

(3) For filing and noting each partial release satisfaction extension or subordination by written instrument twenty-five cents (25c)

(4) For attesting the entry of a marginal satisfaction and noting the satisfaction on the index twenty-five cents (25c)

(5) For indexing and attesting the entry of a marginal assignment fifty cents (50c)

(6) For a certified copy of a chattel mortgage filed

hereunder the sum of twenty-five cents (25) if a copy of the instrument is furnished at the time the same is filed If no copy is furnished the charge shall be the same as provided by law for similar service

Section 10 When chattels are brought into this State subject to a chattel mortgage or other chattel lien filed or recorded in another state such chattel mortgage or other chattel lien instrument or a copy thereof certified by the officer in whose office it was filed or recorded may be filed as chattel mortgages provided for herein are filed and when so filed any such instrument shall be indexed and docketed upon an affidavit of the mortgagee setting forth a brief description of the lands and premises upon which said chattels are located in this State and upon such filing such chattel lien instrument shall have the same force and effect and be subject to all the terms and conditions of this act to the same extent and in the same manner as though executed and filed in this State pursuant to this act

Section 11 Any chattel mortgage executed under and pursuant to this act may be assigned by an instrument in writing signed by the mortgagee or assignee and setting forth the amount of the debt as of the date of the assignment and upon presentation of such assignment to the prothonotary the prothonotary shall file the same and note on the margin of the page in which the chattel mortgage is docketed the fact of the assignment the date of the notation the name of the assignor the name of the assignee the address of each the date of the assignment and the amount of the debt as of the date of the assignment and such assignment shall except as to the parties thereto take effect and be valid only from the time of the marginal notation as herein provided Provided however Any such chattel mortgage may be assigned by an assignment stating the amount of the debt as of the date of the assignment and executed by the mortgagee or assignee on the margin of the page where such chattel mortgage is docketed which assignment shall be attested by the prothonotary

Section 12 Any such chattel mortgage may be satisfied by an instrument in writing signed by the mortgagee or assignee or the duly authorized attorney for such mortgagee or assignee and upon presentation of such instrument to the prothonotary the prothonotary shall file the same and note the fact of such satisfaction and the date thereof on the margin of the page of the book where the chattel mortgage is docketed and when so noted such satisfaction shall fully and effectually release the lien of such mortgage Provided however That any such chattel mortgage may be satisfied by the mortgagee or assignee on the margin of the page where such chattel mortgage is docketed which satisfaction shall be attested by the prothonotary Each satisfaction of a chattel mortgage lien shall be noted by the prothonotary on the line of the page on which the chattel mortgage is indexed

Section 13 Such chattel mortgages shall except between the parties thereto take effect and be valid only from the time of filing as herein provided Such mortgage shall remain a lien on the property mortgaged as between the parties thereto until paid but as to third parties shall not remain a lien for a longer period than five (5) years unless the lien thereof is extended by filing prior to the expiration of the said lien with the prothonotary an affidavit of the mortgagee or his assignee stating the amount then secured by the lien in which case the said mortgage shall remain a lien for an additional period of five (5) years from the date of the filing of such affidavit The lien of any mortgage may be further extended with like effect by the filing of successive like affidavits The prothonotary shall note each extension of a chattel mortgage lien and date of filing the same on the margin of the page of the book where the chattel mortgage is docketed The prothonotary shall likewise index each such extension in the "Chattel Mortgage Index" in the same manner as is herein provided for the indexing of chattel mortgages originally filed

Section 14 Upon default in any of the terms and covenants of any chattel mortgage or bond executed in accordance with the provisions of this act the mortgagee assignee or duly authorized attorney or agent of such mortgagee or assignee shall have the right without process of law immediately to take possession of the mortgaged property and to do all things necessary to preserve the same and any expense incurred in conjunction therewith shall be included in and secured by the lien of said chattel mortgage And this right shall be in addition to any and all other rights inuring to the benefit of the mortgagee or assignee

Section 15 Upon default by the mortgagor in the payment of the mortgaged debt either as to principal or interest or upon default in the performance of any covenant contained in the chattel mortgage or bond or note the chattel mortgage may be foreclosed by any of the methods authorized by law for the foreclosure of a mortgage including the entry of judgment on the bond or note secured by the chattel mortgage The lien of any levy which may be made upon the mortgaged property by virtue of any execution based upon a judgment entered upon such bond or note shall relate back to the date of the filing of the chattel mortgage In such foreclosure proceedings the mortgaged chattels may be sold in the same manner as authorized by the laws of this Commonwealth in the case of personal property sold under execution

Section 16 This act shall not be construed to adversely affect or impair the lien of or rights under any existing chattel mortgage nor shall this act be construed to repeal or affect any act relating to chattel mortgages not herein expressly repealed

Section 17 The act approved the second day of March one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 6) entitled "An act to enable persons associations partnerships and corporations engaged in farming and raising breeding fattening and marketing livestock to borrow money and secure the repayment thereof by the execution and recordation of chattel mortgages on livestock farm machinery farm equipment and corps and designating the operation and effect of the lien of such mortgages" as amended by an act approved the eighteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (P. L. 38) and as amended by an act approved the twenty-fourth day of July one thousand nine hundred and forty-one (P. L. 439) are hereby repealed

Section 6 This act shall become effective on the first day of April one thousand nine hundred forty-three

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, this is a peculiar sort of a bill. I have been told that Mr. Eastman, Director of Transportation, has requested legislation that would enable the transportation companies of Pennsylvania to use, I think, seventy-five hundred new bus bodies that could be put on whatever available equipment there is in stock now, since chasses for buses are not permitted to be manufactured. I have no objection if it is necessary for war purposes to transport war workers, to having these new bus bodies put on old truck chasses or old car carrier chasses or any sort of chassis that has a wheel on it or a motor to it to make it go, but, Mr. Speaker, we have protested before in this House, and we protest again against a reduction in fees for certain types of vehicles without a corresponding reduction for all the motor licensed taxpayers.

For this reason, principally we oppose this bill. We have no objection if we can get better transportation, but we certainly do have objection if it is going to permit the use of this large sized equipment without a corresponding increase in fees.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. Tate, Petrosky and Samuel Rose requested a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 665, as follows:

An Act to amend section three hundred sixteen of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 682) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" by extending the provisions to include officers and employees

Section 1 Section three hundred sixteen of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 682) entitled "An act relating to insurance amending revising and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation supervision and protection of home and foreign insurance companies Lloyds associations reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges and fire insurance rating bureaus and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies associations and exchanges including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund providing penalties and repealing existing laws" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 316 Pensions [for Employees] Any stock or mutual insurance company may out of the earnings of said company grant allowances or pensions to officers and employees for faithful and long continued service who have in such service become old infirm or disabled The provisions of this section shall not apply to any director [or officer of any such company] who is not an officer or employee of said company

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, we have a lot of stock in mutual insurance companies in Pennsylvania. I am particularly concerned about the mutual insurance companies that represent a copartnership of many people who put their money together for the purpose of insuring each other for any loss of property by accident, fire or other calamities. Among these mutual companies there are many men who receive handsome salaries as officers of these companies. Of course, there are many other employes who like ordinary individuals work for their salaries and earn their money. There is no argument about the men who earn normal office salaries being permitted under plans adopted by these mutual organizations to have bonuses and pensions at a time when they have given long and meritorious service to these mutual companies, and when they reach the time when they must retire because of age or otherwise. The officers of these companies who get these big salaries are the ones who are going to benefit under this bill, to the detriment of mutual stockholders who expect dividends back on the money they paid in on their policies each year. I cannot go along on any sort of legislation that gives them another special privilege, the privilege of eating into the resources of the stockholders of these mutual companies the right to be voted bonuses, which I presume will be based in proportion to the amount of salary earned, and thereby take away from the mutual stockholders of these companies, the returns that they ought to get which they have not been getting up to this time. This represents another step for special privilege for a special few For that reason we must vote against this bill.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, this bill amends the act of May 17, 1921, P. L. 682, which act provided that stock insurance companies and mutual insurance companies may provide for pensions for those employes who have had long continuous service and who have become aged and infirm. This bill amends that particular act to include officers of those companies. Many of these officers have risen from the ranks of employes and many of these officers are not men in the higher brackets as suggested by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen. I believe that men who have served long periods of time, whether they are employes or officers, are entitled to some recognition when they become old, aged and infirm and unable to carry on the duties of their office. I ask all the Members of the House to vote "aye" on this bill.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 717, Printer's No. 433, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 740, entitled:

An Act placing corporations operating cemeteries and burial grounds under the control of the Department of Banking authorizing said Department to make examinations of the affairs of such corporations at the cost of such corporations and in certain cases with the approval of the Department of Justice to take over and operate the same and imposing certain duties on the court of common pleas

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on State Government for the purpose of further study.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 944, Printer's No. 359, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 281, as follows:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand eight hundred ninety three (P. L. 42) entitled "An act to authorize corporations organized for profit under the laws of Pennsylvania to make allowances or pensions to employes for faithful and long continued service who in such service have become old infirm or disabled" authorizing certain corporations to make allowances or pensions to officers or employes

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand eight hundred ninety-three (P. L. 42) entitled "An act to authorize corporations organized for profit under the laws of Pennsylvania to make allowances or pensions to employes for faithful and long continued service who in such service have become old infirm or disabled" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 That [from and after the passage of this act] corporations organized for profit under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and subject to the provisions of this act may out of the earnings of said corporation grant allowances or pensions to officers or employes for faithful and long continued service who have in such service become old infirm or disabled

Provided that the provisions of this act shall not apply to any director [or officer] of any such [company or] corporation who is not an officer or employe of said corporation

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, just awhile ago a bill similar to this applying to mutual insurance companies was passed by this House. Senate Bill 281 is similar in that it makes provision for officers of profit making corporations in Pennsylvania. Most everything that was said against the other bill can be said against this bill. It is another measure to take care of the special privileged few, who if during the years that they were making big incomes as officers of these corporations cannot find time to save enough for their old age, and they ought not to be considered to the detriment of the little stockholder of these corporations. The policy of this Administration ought not to place too much emphasis on those away up but should save a little for those away down. For that reason we certainly are opposed to this bill and are asking all the Members to vote against it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

L. 293) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 4 Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board Created (a) There is hereby created a departmental administrative board in the department to be known as the "Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board" (hereinafter referred to as the "Board") which shall be composed of three members who shall be appointed by the Governor but with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate Each member of the board at the time of his appointment shall be a citizen of the United States and a resident of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and shall have been a qualified elector in the Commonwealth for a period of at least one year next preceding his appointment No member of the board during his period of service as such shall hold any other office under the law of this Commonwealth or of the United States [nor shall he engage in any business or commercial enterprise of any kind nor be an officer in any labor organization or be engaged in any political activities] One of the original members shall be appointed for a term of two years one for a term of four years and one for a term of six years but their successors shall be appointed for terms of six years each except that any individual chosen to fill a vacancy shall be appointed only for the unexpired term of the member whom he is to succeed The Governor shall designate one member to serve as chairman of the board

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, back in 1937 the first Labor Relations Act was passed and became law. It sought to set up the proper machinery for the handling of labor disputes, to try to avoid unnecessary disputes and long drawn out disputes. By and large the act has worked out very well.

In the 1937 act it was our thought that on the Labor Relations Board there should be representatives of labor and industry, but before the commission really had a chance to get together so that we might know how that provision would work, the 1939 session came along, and as I remember history the administration then felt that because certain labor representatives on the Labor Relations Board were obnoxious to the administration and to the party it represents, that law was amended to provide that persons with a labor affiliation, one who received a salary from a labor organization, I suppose, could not properly be a member of this board, presumably because he may be biased in his opinions on labor matters, and on disputes involving labor unions.

That purpose was consummated in the 1939 session and we still have no black marks against the Labor Relations Board. We come now to the point where we find that a labor man would not be obnoxious because they've got to find room for a labor faker. Everybody knows what the purpose of this bill is. Everybody knows that there is nothing in the bill which says who is going to be the man on the board, but you cannot find everything in the history of a bill. You've got to go to a history to find out the whys and wherefors. This time we find history as follows: a certain gentleman who has been in the labor movement for years suddenly decides to go against the will of the majority of the labor leaders and labor people in Pennsylvania in their political battling, and because he could not have his way he picked up his marbles and would not play, and decided that he was going other ways. That is a man's right. A man can vote any way he pleases. That is what makes a democracy so swell. The way a man votes is his own business, and one of the great things about democracy is that we all agree to let a man choose his own way to vote and we all ought to respect his opinion. Well, I respect the gentleman's opinion. He can vote as he pleases, but, Mr. Speaker, this bill smacks to me of being part of a deal, and that deal seems to be "If I support you, Mr. Martin, will you put me on the Labor Board"? So the administration is keeping its promise to a labor faker.

In 1939 we thought we were wrong, we thought that a labor man ought not be on the board, and so we decide now we are going to have one in order to make room for this great labor faker; we are going to have a labor man on the board now by providing that being a labor man is no cause for disability and no reason for his not being on the labor board. Because in 1939 the best thought was that there should be no labor men on the board is no reason why he should not be on the board now. It is about time to recognize the fact that we ought to adopt a definite opinion or a definite way of thinking on matters of this kind instead of each legislative session paying off election promises, and if we must keep on amending the law then I think we have come to a sad point in our legislative duties. I agreed in 1937 that there should be a labor representative. I disagreed in 1939 that they should take a man off the board merely because he was a labor man. If there were no ugly history behind this bill I probably would not complain, but I know and everybody else knows, no matter how vigorously you deny it, that the administration is paying off a promise to a labor faker, and wants to put him on the State Labor Relations Board. The purpose of the bill, Mr. Speaker, is disgusting to us, to say the least. I cannot vote for it and neither can anyone else on this side of the House, I believe.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I vividly recall the sessions of 1935 and 1937, and I believe in those particular sessions of the legislature there were many bills introduced in the House and Senate that would take care of men who were actively engaged in the campaign in those particular years for the Democratic party.

All this bill does, Mr. Speaker, is to put it back where it was as passed in 1937. In 1939 we amended this bill because we felt that there was good reason to amend the bill, and we are here to frankly admit that we feel that those particular reasons and objections have not been removed. We frankly admit that the amendments inserted in 1939 are not necessary today, therefore we feel that the deletion of the amendments which were inserted in 1939 are not particularly necessary to this piece of legislation. Therefore, we are trying to enact back into the law the original Labor Relations Act.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, legislative debate has reached a new high. Both sides admit that the purpose of the bill is what it really is. I am glad that the gentleman from Lehigh admits that I am right. I think he is very frank about it and very sincere too. He knows that I am right but still thinks he is right. When we can get to being very frank and honest on this bill, and can agree on its real disgusting purpose, I am satisfied we have reached a new high in legislative debate.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendment on Senate Bill 202 because I am definitely opposed to one man holding more than one job. If the members on the labor board did not receive any salaries but were holding only voluntary positions somebody would have to have another job to serve on that board. In this case the man gets $7,000 a year. A man who accepts the appointment as a member of the State Labor Relations Board must of course in my opinion realize the responsibility that goes with that job. The position requires the man to be ready and willing to give every minute of his service to the board, to the end that labor disputes may be settled without the stoppage of work.

I ask the members of this House, if a member of a manufacturers' association or a member of organized labor on the payroll can give his full time to such an important position as this, and still look after the affairs of his other position? That is an imposition on the workers of this state; it is an imposition on the state itself to have a man serve in such an important capacity holding another job, and I repeat how can he give the services necessary to prevent a sudden shutdown? If the man is on the job as he should be, with nothing else to interfere, and trouble appears he is right there on the job to give his service with nothing else to interfere with his duties.

Last week I believe, Mr. Speaker, the members of this House used the Pittsburgh Press to further their arguments in favor of a measure that was before the House. I desire to take the same liberty and I want to quote the Pittsburgh Press of April 19, 1943 editorially.

> Despite the odor, the Republican leadership in the State Legislature seems bent on passing the Abernathy Bill.
> This is a piece of special legislation being jammed through the Legislature for the single purpose of permitting Leo A. Abernathy to hold his job as president of the billposters' union and head of a billposting company after appointment as a member of the State Labor Relations Board.
> Present law wouldn't prevent Governor Edward Martin from appointing Mr. Abernathy to the Labor Board, but it does prohibit any Labor Board member from holding a position in either a corporation or a labor union.
> The law is sound and should be retained on its merits. Some of the same Republicans who now are voting to repeal this law four years ago voted for it—at a time when Pat Fagan was a member of the board and also district president of the United Mine Workers.
> Special legislation always is suspect on principle. This piece of special legislation is doubly so. For it is designed solely to pay off a political debt, and a debt to a politician who hasn't earned payment.
> What did Mr. Abernathy do for Governor Martin? He made a couple of speeches, gave out a statement and headed a so-called "labor" campaign committee. The Pittsburgh Central Labor Union, of which he was president at the time, voted 134 to 39 to endorse Mr. Martin's opponent.
> For this, the Governor and the Legislature are willing to repeal a sound law and turn over a $7000 semi-judicial job to a labor politician who has been repudiated at the polls by the voters of Allegheny County.

Consistency, thou art a jewel. The law does not prohibit the Governor from appointing this gentleman that the editorial refers to right now, or any other member of organized labor, providing the appointee accepts the law as it is and resigns his job. I again insist that the law should compel a man to give his full time on an important job like that. With that statement I ask you to consider it from that viewpoint, and vote accordingly, and if Mr. Martin the Governor wants to appoint this gentleman, let the gentleman resign his present position.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I really do not think we are so much concerned with who is appointed on the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board. I was a Member of this House since 1939 and I voted against the repeal of the act which would take out labor's representative on this particular board. I cannot conceive how any mental gymnastics might change the minds of any of the men on the other side of the House. I maintained in 1939 and I maintain now that labor in the state of Pennsylvania has a right to be on the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board. I do not think that you have any right to resort again to name calling for the simple reason that some man who belongs to a labor organization and differed with you in opinion in the last election and saw fit to support a Republican of this state, I can see no reason why he should be called a labor faker. Had he supported the Democratic nominee he would have been a fine, high type of outstanding labor leader, but because he had the manhood to assert his own individual initiative, then he is a faker. Gentlemen, there is no consistency in you putting through the Act of 1937 and now voting against your very act on the floor of this House tonight. If you really believe that labor should be represented as I did in 1939, on the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board, you are compelled to vote for this bill.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Lehigh know the present Labor Relations Board?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know the names of the men who serve on the present Labor Relations Board?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know the affiliations of those men who serve on the Labor Relations Board?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Does the gentleman know whether or not the present Labor Relations Board is doing a good job?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I believe it is, Mr. Speaker. I have never heard any complaints.

Mr. LOVETT. Does the gentleman know who appointed the present Labor Relations Board?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman think two wrongs make a right?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. At times, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. That is all.

Mr. Speaker, from the interrogation of the leader on the Republican side he admits that he does not know very much about the Labor Relations Board, that is, the present Labor Relations Board.

I was very much interested in the remarks of my good friend, Mr. Gates, in regard to this particular bill. I don't know that I recall in 1939 whether I voted for or against these amendments to the present bill that we are now considering, but I want to admit here frankly that if I did not vote for the amendments in 1939 I think I was wrong. I do not see anything in the present bill that prohibits any labor leader, that is, any labor man, who is not serving in the capacity of a labor leader, to serve on the board. I cannot see any necessity whatever for amending the present act. I think that the present Labor Relations Board in the state of Pennsylvania is all right. I have heard no complaint. The Majority Floor Leader says he has not heard any complaint. I question whether any man on the other side of the House has heard any complaint about the present Labor Relations Board. So if that be true and there are no complaints, and I have heard none from labor organizations, there is no necessity whatever for amending the present act. I think labor men can be appointed. My good friend, Mr. Leonard, said that the Governor of this state could appoint Mr. Abernathy. I think that is true. So I say, as my good friend Mr. Stank said, "Let's be fair," and say that in 1939, even though I may have voted against it, the Republicans were right, and if they were right in 1939 then they are certainly wrong tonight. Let's be fair and defeat this present bill and let the Labor Relations Board remain as it now is under the present law.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I think we ought to talk about this bill with our gloves off. This bill has been named by the press the "Abernathy Bill." They have not properly named the bill. This bill is the Martin Double Somersault Payoff Abernathy Bill. I have reached the point in this House I think that when I speak for a bill I kill it. When I speak against it I probably pass it. Under the circumstances I am rather happy about that.

This bill is entitled to all the adjectives that were hurled around this floor today. It is dirty, it is vicious, it is special. It is a bill in which the Governor of the Commonwealth comes to the majority party of the House and says, "I have got another debt I want you to pay off for me." And this is the payoff.

I called it a double somersault bill because in 1939 the Republican Party took its first somersault and tonight it takes its second. I called it a payoff bill because it is one of a long series. We have seen the majority of the House paying off the public utilities, paying off the vested interests, paying off the corporations, and tonight we see a real anomaly, we see them paying off what they are trying to convince us or that the man who is being paid off is trying to convince us is a payoff of labor. The Democratic party stands for representation of labor on the State Labor Relations Board. We on this side of the House need to make no apologies nor explanations to labor as to where we stand. Our record speaks for that. We feel that labor should have a man on this board, but let him go on there in a proper manner. Let him sever his affiliations before he goes on there. Is that done in this case? It is just the opposite. The bill is designed to allow a man to keep his affiliations. Nothing wrong with that, but if he takes a quasi-judicial position how can he judge? Would a judge in any court of this Commonwealth sit on a case in which his law firm was involved? That answers itself. Would a Member of this House vote on a bill in which he has a personal interest? If he does he violates the Constitution. And yet we are going to have Mr. Abernathy sit on the Labor Relations Board, passing on labor questions. How will he sit? Will he sit as a member of the board? Will he sit as the President of the Bill Posters' Union?—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Blair will state his point of order.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not discussing the merits of the bill.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I certainly am discussing the merits of the bill and the man who is going to be appointed under it.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, there are no names mentioned in this bill. When the gentleman mentions names he is certainly not speaking on the merits of the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has allowed wide latitude. Will the gentleman please confine himself to the merits of the bill? The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, will the appointee sit as a member of the Labor Relations Board or will he sit perchance as President of the Billposters Union, or will he perchance even sit as a member or as the proprietor of a one-man club? The gentleman cannot do justice to the state, to labor, to industry or to the people if he is permitted to take his place on the board under the conditions that this bill will allow.

I said the other night that there were many things that occurred in this House that convince me that the Republican party was not interested in winning the war. This bill conclusively proves I was wrong. Here is a bill designed to put an end to the war. We have taken up a good deal of time both in the House and Senate on this bill. As a war measure I suppose it is justified, so the members on the other side of the House ought to get together and give it the good resounding majority that they have given to all the rest of these payoff bills. Get together and get a good fast count. The Governor pays off a debt and you have a man on the labor relations board that never should be there.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Gates.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GATES. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Armstrong contend that a bona fide labor representative cannot serve on the board now?

Mr. GATES. No, Mr. Speaker, I believe he can.

Mr. LEONARD. Did the gentleman say he can?

Mr. GATES. Absolutely, and he did, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEONARD. Then why is the gentleman talking for this bill?

Mr. GATES. Because I want a labor man on this board; I don't care who he is.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, the appointment does not mean a thing to me, because I wouldn't have anything to do with it anyhow, but the point I am trying to make is that the gentleman from Armstrong argues in favor of the bill and he just answered a question of mine to the effect that any labor man can serve on this board.

Mr. GATES. I tell you, Mr. Speaker, in 1939 when the bill was presented in the House which repealed the act of 1937, a representative of labor acted on the board. I was a Member of this House, and voted against the deletion of a labor man serving on that board. Now, this bill reenacts the 1937 law to permit this labor man to be on this Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board, and therefore, I am for this bill.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman contending that a labor representative cannot be on this board now without this bill?

Mr. GATES. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEONARD. The only thing that this House Bill 202 is doing, Mr. Speaker, is removing the words "to hold other position." That's all it is doing.

Mr. GATES. What is the difference, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. LEONARD. All the difference in the world, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GATES. Not a bit of difference, Mr. Speaker; the gentleman is trying to legislate—

The SPEAKER. The Chair is endeavoring to ascertain who is doing the interrogating? Does the gentleman wish to interrogate further?

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, what I want to know is this from the gentleman from Armstrong or the Speaker of the House, does the present law prohibit the appointment of a labor representative on that board? Will Mr. Gates answer that?

Mr. GATES. With the reservation, Mr. Speaker, that he shall not have any other position.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LOVETT. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I would like to inquire, Mr. Speaker, if Mr. Lovett could inform me as to any criticism of the action of the labor board, the way they have handled affairs before the board after their appointment in 1937?

Mr. LOVETT. Offhand, Mr. Speaker, I don't recall that there was any criticism.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the argument on the other side as far as the person serving on this board and doing a job, and also being affiliated and holding a job with some labor organization is concerned. As I recall, there was a member of this board, in fact I believe the chairman of the board appointed at that time was affiliated and holding a position in a labor union. Therefore, I feel that the argument would fall as far as a person serving on this board giving its time and doing the job and at the same time being affiliated as an officer of a union.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. Moran, Goodwin and Heatherington asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

An Act to further amend section two hundred fifty-four of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 448) entitled "An act relating to fish and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth" by authorizing the Board of Fish Commissioners to close streams or parts thereof for a certain period after stocking the same

Section 1 Section two hundred fifty-four of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 448) entitled "An act relating to fish and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth" as amended by the act approved the tenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 290) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 254 Streams and Lakes to Be Free for Fishing Exception Any natural stream or lake in this Commonwealth which has been or may be stocked with fish furnished by the Commonwealth or the board shall be open to the public for the purpose of lawful fishing but nothing in this section shall be so construed as to free any person trespassing on the lands of any person in this Commonwealth from liability for any damage he may do to said lands or the improvement thereon or to any crops or livestock or poultry thereon

Notwithstanding the provisions of this section whenever any stream is stocked with trout during the open season for trout the Board of Fish Commissioners may close such stream or any part thereof to fishing for a period of any number of days not exceeding five days after the same has been stocked Whenever any stream or part of a stream is closed to fishing under the provisions of this section the portion thereof that has been closed shall be posted with signs giving notice of such closing together with the date of stocking and the date when such stream or part thereof will again be open to fishing A statement of the stocking of such stream giving the number of cans of trout planted the fact that the stream or part thereof has been closed and the dates of the stocking and reopening of the stream shall be given to at least one newspaper published in the vicinity of such stream with the request that the same be published as a news item nothing in this act contained shall authorize the Board of Fish Commissioners to close any stream or part thereof which is owned or held by any individual association or corporation and which has not been stocked with fish furnished by the Commonwealth or the board

Any person fishing in any stream or part of a stream during the period the same has been closed to fishing under the provisions of this section shall on conviction as provided in chapter fourteen of this act be subject to a penalty of twenty-five dollars

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 37, as follows:

An Act to amend section five hundred forty of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" further regulating the adjustment of indebtedness where part of a township is annexed to a city of the third class

Section 1 Section five hundred forty of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 540 Adjustment of Indebtedness When Part of Township is Annexed Where any part of any township or outlying lots are annexed to any city the township officers of that part of the said township not annexed and the city council of the said city shall make a just and proper adjustment and apportionment of all public property owned by the said township at the time of said annexation both real and personal including funds as well as indebtedness if any to and between the said township and the city In making such adjustment and apportionment of the property and indebtedness the township and the city shall be entitled respectively to share in a division of he property and indebtedness in the proportion that the assessed valuation of the land remaining in the township bears to the assessed valuation of the land annexed Provided however That where indebtedness was incurred by the township for an improvement located wholly within the annexed part of the township the whole of such indebtedness shall be assumed by the city and where more than fifty per centum of any such improvement is located within the annexed part of the township the part of such indebtedness representing the part of the improvement located within the territory annexed shall be assumed by the city and the adjustment and apportionment of any remaining debt and the public property of the township shall be made as above provided The adjustment and apportionment as made shall be reduced to writing and duly executed and acknowledged by the proper officials and filed in the office of the clerk of the court of quarter sessions of the county in which said city is located

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having vo in the affirmative, the question was determined in affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Sen for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consid ation of House Bill No. 341, entitled:

An Act abating the penalties and interest on cert unpaid delinquent county city borough town towns school district poor district and county institution dist taxes and on municipal liens and provding for the pu cation at the cost of the county of a notice of the pro sions of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrog the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Kitchen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Northamp permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KITCHEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. I desire to ask the gentleman whet Mr. Cook had anything to do with this bill?

Mr. KITCHEN. Mr. Cook is in another part of House. I am the kitchen.

Mr. READINGER. I desire to ask the gentleman what way this bill differs from a similar bill which House passed about a month ago?

Mr. KITCHEN. Well, the other bill provides for a s of final installment, this bill does not.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, it is not true t under the Cordier bill, I believe it was, relating to tax penalty effacement, the entire amount could be p in one lump sum and all penalties evaded?

Mr. KITCHEN. It could be, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask whether this bill is m datory on the taxing units? Must they accept this?

Mr. KITCHEN. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Is it necessary for them to reject this bill?

Mr. KITCHEN. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. In what way does this become operative if it should pass the House and Senate and be signed by the Governor?

Mr. KITCHEN. Well, those who want it can accept, and those who do not want it can reject it thirty days after the enactment of the bill, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. What I would like to know, Mr. Speaker, is whether it is necessary for the County Commissioners, if they wanted to evade penalties, to notify the county treasurer that they accept this; is that right?

Mr. KITCHEN. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Is it not necessary for them to notify anybody that they reject it?

Mr. KITCHEN. No, it is not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. That is all. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I do not remember all the details of the act similar to this one that we passed some time ago, but inasmuch as under that bill it is possible for an individual to obtain penalty and interest abatement by paying all of his delinquent taxes in a lump sum it seems to me that there is absolutely no need for this bill. This does not add anything to what is already passed, and I therefore think the Members should vote against it.

Mr. KITCHEN. Mr. Speaker, I took this up with our county commissioners, and we have a lot of property in our county that we have had to put up for sale. A lot of the boys when they come out of the war started to buy these properties. Of course things went bad and they went back in their payments. We are trying to help these boys out. They are now working and they can afford to pay off the debt on this property if we allow them to drop the interest and penalties. If the properties are sold the county doesn't get nearly as much money out of it and the boys will lose their properties. So we are trying to help the boys out. I ask the whole membership of the House to vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Kitchen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Northampton permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KITCHEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman whether or not in his opinion this bill would clarify the provisions of the bill we passed before allowing payments to be made in installments?

Mr. KITCHEN. No, that other bill has not passed yet, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. The bill has passed the House, has it not?

Mr. KITCHEN. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. And if it passes in the Senate would that not provide that individual would have to pay all his taxes at one time to get the abatement?

Mr. KITCHEN. No, he has the privilege of taking either course.

Mr. READINGER. Would the gentleman have any objecton to this bill being passed over until tomorrow?

Mr. KITCHEN. No, Mr. Speaker, no objection, if that is all the time it takes. Sure we will pass it over.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. KITCHEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL PASSED OVER

Section 1 Sections one two three and five of the act approved the eleventh day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 326) entitled "An act relating to counties of the first class defining deceased service persons providing for contributions by the county to the funeral expenses for such persons and their wdows providing for the erection and care of markers headstones and flags and for the compilation of war records" are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted &c [That "Deceased Service Persons" Defined] Definition The term "deceased service persons" as used in this act shall be defined and construed to mean and include [any soldier sailor marine yeoman (f) of either service or member of the enlisted nurse corps having a legal resdence within any county within this Commonwealth who has died or shall hereafter die anywhere within or without the United States while in the service of the United States in the military naval or other branch of the combative forces of said United States during any war or campaign in which the United States has been or shall hereafter be engaged or where a state or condition of war has existed or shall hereafter exist in which the United States was or shall be a participant according to the records of the War or Naval Departments of the Federal Government or of any soldier sailor marine yeoman (f) of either service or member of the enlisted nurse corps who served or who shall hereafter serve in any such combative force of the United States during any war or campaign in which the United States has been or shall hereafter be engaged or who has served or shall hereafter serve in any such combative force of the United States where a state or condition of war existed or shall hereafter exist in which the United States was or shall be a participant according to the records of the War or Naval Departments of the Federal Government whose separation from such active service was honorable whether by discharge or otherwise who has died or may hereafter die in any county of this Commonwealth or]

(1) Any deceased person who at the time of his or her death was serving (whether or not in a combat zone) in the Army Navy Marine Corps or Coast Guard during any war in which the United States has been is now or shall hereafter be engaged or who at the time of his or her death was serving in a zone where a campaign or state or condition of war then existed in which the United States was is or shall be a participant The existence of a campaign or state or condition of war and the participation of the United States therein as well as the fact that the deceased person served in a zone where such campaign or state or condition of war existed shall in each case be established by the records of the War or Naval Departments of the Federal Government or

(2) Any deceased person who had so served at any time during his or her life and whose separation from such service was honorable whether by discharge or otherwise or who at the time of his or her death was continuing in such service after the cessation of the war campaign or state or condition of war during or in which he or she served or

(3) Any deceased person who was in active service in the militia of the State of Pennsylvania under and in pursuance of any proclamation issued by the Governor during the Civil War and not duly mustered into the service of the United States and has been honorably discharged or relieved from such service [and who shall have a legal residence in any county of this Commonwealth and shall hereafter die either within or without the county of his legal residence]

The term "legal residence" as used in this act shall be construed as synonymous with "domicile" and is hereby defined as actual residence coupled with intention that it shall be permanent or a residence presently fixed with no definite intention of changing it or of returning to a former residence at some future period Legal residence is to be determined by abode of person and his or her intention to abandon his or her former domicile and establish a new one The legal residence of a deceased service person shall be prima facie in the county where he or she made his or her abode at the time of his or her death

Section 2 Sum to Be Spent The county commissioners of any county of the first class of this State [within which a deceased service person as hereinabove defined had a legal residence at the date of his death or the county commissioners of such county within which a deceased service person died in case he or she had no legal residence in any county of this Commonwealth upon notice in writing by any organization of veterans that the body is unclaimed by relatives or friends and who upon investigation shall find such condition to exist are hereby authorized and directed to contribute the sum of seventy-five dollars ($75.00) toward the funeral expenses of such deceased service person] are hereby authorized and directed to contribute the sum of seventy-five dollars ($75.00) towards the funeral expenses of each deceased service person in the cases enumerated below where in each case application therefor is made within one year after the date of his or her death and where the total expenses of the funeral does not exceed four hundred dollars ($400.00) Provided That in the case of any deceased service person who died while in the service application need not be made within one year after the date of his or her death but may be made at any time thereafter if the reason for the delay is satisfactory to the county commissioners Payment shall be made under the following circumstances

(1) Where the deceased service person at the time of his or her death had his or her legal residence in the county whether or not he or she died in the county and whether or not he or she was buried in the county It is hereby declared to be the intent of the General Assembly that every deceased service person having a lgal residence in any county of the first class in this Commonwealth at the time of his or her death shall be entitled to the benefits of this section regardless of where he or she may have died or where he or she may be buried and that the liability therefore shall be on the county where such deceased service person shall have had his or her legal residence at the time of his or her death

(2) Where the deceased service person died and was buried in the county but at the time of his death did not have a legal residence within this Commonwealth if the county commissioners of the county where he shall be notified in writing by any organization of erans that the body is unclaimed by relatives or fr and upon investigation shall find such condition to

(3) When a deceased service person has died a member of the Pennsylvania Soldiers' and S Home at Erie Pennsylvania and such home incur funeral expenses and buries such person in a cem in the city of Erie Pennsylvania or the home furn clothing casket and shipping case and ships the bo the county from which he was admitted to the the county from which he was admitted shall reim and pay to the Pennsylvania Soldiers' and Sailors' the amount of seventy-five dollars ($75.00) or so thereof as was actually expended by such home vided however That such county commissioners not contribute any moneys toward the funeral exp of such deceased service person where the total exp of his or her funeral shall exceed four hundred d ($400.00) nor unless application for the payment of moneys shall be made within one year after the of the death of such deceased service man]

Section 3 Burial of Widows of Deceased Service sons [The] Upon due application and proof the c commissioners of such county are hereby authorized directed to contribute the sum of seventy-five d ($75.00) from the county funds towards the funera penses of any widow of any male deceased service upon due application and proof] person who at the of her death had a legal residence in the county wh or not she died in the county and whether or no was buried in the county Provided however That county commissioners shall not contribute any m toward the funeral expenses of any such widow of ceased service person who had remarried after the of such deceased service person nor where the tota pense of any such funeral shall exceed four hun dollars ($400.00) nor unless application for the pay of such moneys shall be made within one year afte date of the death of such widow of a deceased se person

Section 5 Markers for Graves Headstones The c commissioners of any such county of this State shall time to time as is considered expedient by the com sioners procure appropriate markers for the [gra each and every deceased service person buried w the limits of such county] graves of deceased se persons Such markers shall be of cast bronze term shall mean a proper composition of the follo metals in the following proportions Copper eight per centum tin five per centum zinc five per centum lead five per centum Provided however That no of commissioners shall be required to discard any ers of other materials already purchased by such missioners whether or not already installed but no markers shall in the future be purchased of metal than cast bronze as herein defined except that d periods of national emergency so proclaimed by President of the United States when all available is required for war materials suitable non-metal stitutes for cast bronze may be used

[Upon the petition of any five reputable freeh of the county a marker shall be placed upon the of such deceased service person for the purpose of manently marking and designating such grave for morial purposes] The county commissioners of county of the first class are hereby authorized an rected to place a marker upon the grave of eac ceased service person who at the time of his o death had his or her legal residence in the c whether or not he or she died in the county and wh or not he or she was buried in the county and upo grave of each deceased service person buried i county who at the time of his or her death did not a legal residence within this Commonwealth When deceased service person shall have been a veter any war for which the Government of the United issued discharge buttons the markers designated for graves shall include a facsimile of said discharge b [The county commissioners may upon the petition o

ction 2 Said act is hereby amended by adding imiately after section five thereof a new section to read llows

ction 5.1 Proof of Service Et Cetera In each case re application is made for a contribution towards the ral expenses of a deceased service person or the w of a deceased service person or for a headstone oncrete base or lettering or bronze memorial tablet county commissioners shall before expending any ey therefor require proof of the following facts

) The service of the decreased service person which les him or his widow to the benefits of this act h proof shall be by the production of an honorable harge or other official record showing service during war in which the United States is or was engaged by the records of the War or Naval Departments he Federal Government or by copies thereof filed in Department of Military Affairs showing the existence campaign or state or condition of war the paration of the United States therein and the service he deceased service person in a zone where such paign or state or condition of war existed

(2) The death of the deceased service person

(3) In the case of the burial of the widow of a deceased service person the death of such widow and the fact that she was married to the deceased service person at the time of his death and that she has not since remarried The proofs required by clause (1) and (2) of this section shall also be required in such cases

(4) Except in cases where persons not having a legal residence within this Commonwealth are entitled to any of the benefits of this act the legal residence within the county of the deceased service person or of the widow of a deceased service person as the case may be

Death shall in all cases be proved by death certificate where the same is procurable otherwise by affidavit of one or more persons personally acquainted with the deceased and the fact of his or her death or by proof of the record of death kept by the attending physician or the record of burial kept by the undertaker by whom he or she was buried or by the church burial association or cemetery company maintaining the graveyard burial ground or cemetery in which he or she was buried

Where any proof required by this section has been furnished to the county commissioners no further proof of the same facts shall be required in order to obtain any other benefit under the provisions of this act

Section 3 The last paragraph of section eight of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 8 Compilation of War Records

* * * * *

For the purpose of locating the burial places of deceased service persons the Grand Army of the Republic the United Spanish War Veterans the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States the American Legion and the Disabled American Veterans [of the World War] through their local camps posts and branches in this State are authorized without expense to the county to collect the required data and prepare and file with the county commissioners certificates embodying the information provided for in this section For the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this section the county commissioners shall appoint a [veterans' grave registrar] director of veterans' affairs who shall receive such compensation as the salary board may fix

Section 4 The provisions of this act shall become effective ten days after its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 57, as follows:

An Act to amend section three hundred ten of the act approved the twenty second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1987) entitled "An act to preserve and improve the purity of the waters of the Commonwealth for the protection of public health animal and aquatic life and for industrial consumption and recreation empowering and directing the creation of indebtedness or the issuing of non-debt revenue bonds by political sub-divisions to provide works to abate pollution providing protection of water supply providing for the jurisdiction of courts magistrates aldermen and justices of the peace in the enforcement thereof and providing additional remedies for abating pollution of waters imposing certain penalties and repealing certain acts" by including the drainage of silt in the provisions of article three thereof and suspending the enforcement of the act in certain cases

Section 1 Section three hundred ten of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1987) entitled "An act to preserve and improve the purity of the waters of the Commonwealth for the protection of public health animal and aquatic life and for industrial consumption and recreation empowering and directing the creation of indebtedness or the issuing of non-debt revenue bonds by political subdivisions to provide works to abate pollution providing protection of water supply providing for the jurisdiction of courts magistrates aldermen and justices of the peace in the enforcement thereof and providing additional remedies for abating pollution of waters imposing certain penalties and repealing certain acts" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 310 Acid Mine Drainage [and Silt] The provisions of this article shall not apply to acid mine drainage [and silt] from coal mines until such time as in the opinion of the Sanitary Water Board practical means for the removal of the polluting properties of such drainage shall become known Provided That for the duration of the war no prosecution nor any action to abate the discharge of unclarified mine silt drainage shall be maintained in any case where the United States District Engineer of the district in which mine breaker or washery discharging the same is located shall certify that adequate means to abate such discharge cannot be construed or erected because of war conditions

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill is a very important bill for the city for Philadelphia, and I ask permission to read a communication from the Director of Public Works who has sent this communication at the instance of Mayor Samuel of Philadelphia. I want to read this communication in support of this bill. The communication reads as follows: "

City of Philadelphia,
Department of Public Works,
Office of the Director, April 24, 1943.

Samuel W. Salus, Esq.,
Heymann Building, "
213 S. Broad St.,
Philadelphia.

The amendment to House Bill No. 57, which was reported out by the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation on March 30, is, I understand, on the House calendar.

So that you may have the provision immediately before you, I am quoting it:

"PROVIDED that for the duration of the war no prosecution, nor any action to abate the discharge of unclarified mine silt drainage shall be maintained in any case where the United States District Engineer of the District in which mine, breaker or washery discharging the same is located, shall certify that adequate means to abate such discharge cannot be constructed or erected because of war conditions."

For twenty years and longer the mine owners and operators have been discharging unclarified mine silt drainage directly into the Schuylkill River and its tributaries. Since the mining of the smaller sizes of coal has been found to be commercially profitable by the operators, the discharge of silt has become intensified, with the result that a conservative estimate places the figure of discharge at 1,000,000 tons annually. Checks by the Engineers, U. S. District Engineer's Office, War Department, Philadelphia, at Fairmount Dam, verify this estimate. There are 12,000,000 tons of silt in the Schuylkill River between Norristown and Fairmount Dam, most of it concentrated in the river as it flows through Philadelphia.

The menace to Philadelphia's water supply from the Schuylkill River, as a result of accumulations in front of our intake at Belmont, Queen Lane and Shawmont Pumping Stations, cannot be too seriously stressed. We are constantly threatened with a shut-off of our raw water supply at these sources and we are compelled to keep dredges cutting the channel open to the intake at a cost to the taxpayers that is prohibitive and should be unnecessary. Since 1935, the City has maintained a WPA project, furnishing all equipment, materials and supplies, at a cost of over $500,000., with the Federal Government contributing the labor—or the equivalent of at least an additional $2,000,000. All WPA projects were ordered terminated as of April 1, and the full expense of removal of this silt will fall upon the City. The tonnage that can be removed annually is almost infinitesimal as compared with the new tonnage of silt in the river.

In addition to this, it is going to cost approximately $200,000 a year to keep our sand filter beds at Belmont and at Queen Lane in such condition as to insure a safe supply of water for domestic, commercial and industrial uses, solely because of the intrusion of silt. After the raw water settles in the sedimentation basin it is diverted to the sand filter bed, still carrying in suspension black silt. It congeals in these beds and huge quantities of it must be removed and the polluted sand replaced by new, clean sand. The City of Philadelphia should not be compelled to bear the dual cost solely because the mine operators have consistently refused to control the discharge of unclarified mine silt drainage at the source. They have declined to take the steps that are necessary to protect this city's water supply and to prevent the destruction of the Schuylkill River for all purposes, and the inclusion of this amendment in the Pure Streams Act is the only recourse the City of Philadelphia can have to safeguard the interests of two million people.

From the engineering standpoint, I can assure you that the cross section of the Schuylkill River has already been so seriously reduced by these accumulated deposits as to threaten its complete closing unless these discharges are immediately stopped. In other words, the islands which now are built up above water, in many places, will shortly become a solid mass from the East to the West River banks. That day is not remote. When it occurs, the water from up-State, which must find an outlet, will unquestionably overflow the river banks, putting our raw water pumping plant out of commission and otherwise causing hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of damage to structures along both banks of the river. Such a catastrophe, imperilling the lives of the people of this city, must not be permitted to occur—and I repeat that the passage of this amendment by the House and the Senate is imperative to prevent its occurrence.

No project of Public Works, either in engineering design or construction, could be erected on the Schuylkill River at Philadelphia to control the constant flow of silt deposit. That can be done only at the source—at the mine—and this has been repeatedly pointed out both to the operators and the State Sanitary Water Board, notably in the 1937 Report of the U. S. Army Engineers. This report is complete in detail down to estimates of the cost, step by step, to completion. The preliminary stages of the work, consisting of impounding and sedimentation basins at the mine site, were to be followed by other heavier construction for assuming control in the river. It is fair to state that a few of the operators have accepted their responsibility and have endeavored to set up impounding basins on their properties, but the majority, by far, have done nothing.

To further emphasize the seriousness of the situation, there remains the problem of removal of twenty-four million tons of silt and mine waste in the Schuylkill River, even if the discharges were completely stopped today. The removal of this silt, and the restoration of the river to its proper cross section, would cost not less than $15,000,000, by the most economical devices and practices known to the engineering profession. Any kind of shovel dredging operation requires double handling and costly transportation charges to fill sites far removed. There are none available along the banks of the Schuylkill River above Fairmount Dam. Hydraulic dredging operations would likewise be costly because of double handling. This material would have to be deposited downstream and again removed from the channels of the Schuylkill River, which is a navigable stream below Fairmount Dam and subject to the jurisdiction of the U. S. War Department. And who is to bear this expense? Certainly, the people of Philadelphia do not intend to be saddled with exorbitant costs for neglect not of their own making.

The recreational facilities of the Schuylkill River, to which our people have had the right of enjoyment a century and longer, are virtually non-existent today. The aesthetic value of the river as it flows through Philadelphia down to Fairmount Dam has been lost. This river, which has been the scene of National and International Boat Races for years, faces extinction for these purposes. Numerous Inter-Collegiate Regattas which are scheduled this year, and the National Championship, may have to be abandoned because of lack of sufficient depth of water along the famous Henley Course.

The Schuylkill River today is a mass of islands projecting above the surface of the water and covered with a jungle growth in summer. This hardly needs factual demonstration; it is obvious to anyone who will walk along the banks of the river. The people of Philadelphia are greatly concerned with the condition of the river; its menace to their lives through the threatened cut-off of their water supply; the destruction of their properties by freshets and floods; destruction of aesthetic value, and the virtual elimination of the recreational facilities of the river.

It cannot be too strongly impressed on the members of the House and of the Senate that this amendment to House Bill No. 57 of the Pure Streams Act is the only protective measure that the people of this city can look forward to, to insure at least a semblance of security to life and property.

Sincerely,

JOHN H. NEESON, Director

This has been a long letter, and I appreciate your patience.

I think it is a very important measure insofar as the people of Philadelphia are concerned. We have for many years had a condition in the Schuylkill River whereby it has been impossible to supply the citizens of Philadelphia with pure water, and that is the condition to this day. It is now becoming impossible for the water department of the city of Philadelphia to remove this silt. It is also hampering the war effort, and unless something is done these defense plants will not be able to operate. The citizens will not be able to get pure water, and it is high time that something be done to benefit the health of the people of the city of Philadelphia. I am appealing to the Members to support this bill for the health and well-being of both Republicans and Democrats.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, as sponsor of this measure I listened with great interest and in complete agreement to the remarks read into the record by the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Salus. Of course I realize that this is a nonpartisan matter. I realize that everybody but the President and Mr. Salus has been in Harrisburg against it, for it in a few instances, but in all seriousness this is a problem that not only faces the city of Philadelphia but numerous other large industrial centers, residential centers and recreational centers throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It so happens that we who reside in the Schuylkill river valley, after forty years are making greater and greater efforts to combat the ravages of this foreign silt in the Schuylkill river and its bad effects on the citizens. It is now for the first time in the history of this legislature in position on third reading calendar for final passage before this House.

I realize that there are some who will argue that this measure will put the coal mines out of business. At the public hearing held on this measure the United States District Engineer, Colonel Boyne, the only man who testified at that hearing from a nonpartisan standpoint, testified that such a measure would not put the coal mines out of business, but the silt could be taken out of the wash water at the mines. He is a man who has made a study of this problem for years.

I would like the membership of this House to realize just how serious this silt has been to the localities along the Schuylkill River and other rivers in this state. It may interest you to know that in the Schuylkill River alone there are thirty million tons of this stuff, and that there are many industries along the banks of this river from Reading all the way down to Philadelphia that are doing a tremendous job in the interest of our national effort and are being deprived of water at times because their intake valves cannot get it into the plant because of the silt. There are others, because the Schuylkill River valley bed has been filled up by this culm, that have been flooded by mere rainstorms which the river formerly took away with safety.

I think I would be remiss were I not to tell you that last summer some of the citizens of Norristown, myself included, were called to a waterfront mill after a day's heavy rain, to go down into the cellar of the mill manufacturing army equipment, and as a result of the individual efforts of those people, the raw material was carried up to the second and third floors of the factory just in time to avoid being ruined by the water which came in the windows and raised rapidly to the ceiling in that cellar.

I need not go further than tell you of an instance at the new National Veterans' Hospital at Phoenixville which now has some eighteen beds which are occupied now by men being brought from various fronts. The borough manager of Phoenixville appeared before the committee at the public hearing and informed us in no uncertain terms that the Borough of Phoenixville, drawing some million and a half gallons from the Schuylkill River every day of the week was perilously close to being denied water in any event from the Schuylkill River due to this silt, and he stressed to the committee the importance of what would happen were this water to be denied citizens of the Borough of Phoenixville and the hospital patients.

From any way you look at it, Members of the House, this a calamity to those who enjoy the streams of Pennsylvania. The Schuylkill River in its present state is nothing more than a trough of filth. No self-respecting fish will even swim in it. We who drink the water more or less put up with it, but many people have spring water brought into their homes in five gallon jugs and pay for the privilege of drinking something other than Schuylkill River water. Recreational facilities are gone, there is no more boating and no more bathing. This House passed a bill over a month ago whereby fifteen hundred acres were laid out for a part in Norristown. Where is it? And for what reason? Because the Borough of Norristown intends to build a swimming pool at considerable expense. Why? Because, as I said before, no one can swim in the river because it is a pool of filth.

You may not agree with me on this measure; it is natural that you will not, but you will have to realize that the day is not far off when this legislation will be enacted in this state. The people who are behind a measure of this type are the sportsmen, anti-pollutionists, conservationists and Mr. John Q. Public. They are not represented by any powerful interests; they are represented here by the peoples' representatives who listen to them. I ask the membership of this House to support this measure.

Mr. PAUL L. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, I had not intended to speak on this bill since it has been declared noncontroversial, but there has been considerable harangue about it under the circumstances. I have gone through my file and I have some material here on which I would like to speak about an hour or two, but I will confine it to ten or twelve minutes, if you will give me your attention for that length of time.

About the only thing that the gentleman from Montgomery and I have in common on it are that we use the same microphone. I have heard this discussion start with the effect that it has, and the great importance of it to the people of Philadelphia.

Particularly I remember forty or fifty occasions when the people of Philadelphia became alarmed about the pollution and about their health, but we have heard the wolf cry so often that we have looked back to see how important those complaints were, and we sometimes wondered how the people could be living if the conditions were that bad.

This bill is important to us in the anthracite region, important enough that we are willing to oppose it without being drafted by any vested interests, but simply in the interests of our neighbors and families and friends who realize what it would mean if this bill were passed.

In the first place, the bill pretends to do nothing at all but add to the things that we consider the polluting factors in the stream, the acid mine drainage, and then it goes on to make provision that this silt not be removed, provided the United States engineers say there is any way to stop it, during the war.

If it is not going to mean anything, why waste the time to pass it? If it is going to mean something, then it is likely going to affect eighty thousand people in a depressed industry, which has already shrunk from one hundred sixty thousand people, and it is going to put them out of employment. It is going to destroy the coal field for all practical purposes, and when I say that, I mean it, because the anthracite coal companies have spent hundreds of thousands more dollars than the city of Philadelphia in an effort to keep as far as possible this silt from their mines out of the streams. They are paying increased amounts every day, they are spending money for this purpose, they are trying to keep this thing at its very minimum.

I know the story that has been told about silt and about fish and about swimming. I know that the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. McSurdy, has caught some pretty good sized fish, and I know that you can swim in these waters, because I have done it once or twice as a boy, but I say that even if there were some way of keeping the silt out of the river it would be impossible to keep the water in which you want to swim from seeking its own level, and you are going to say to the miners that they must keep sulphur water from seeking its own level. There is no way anybody can tell me, no way I could find out that you can keep out silt and no way that you can keep the water discharged from anthracite breakers from being black. There are other things that cause a sediment or deposit in the rivers, but yet a lot of people are led to believe that something is silt that is not silt at all. It is nice to go fishing, but it is essential to mine coal, and I am reminded, in thinking of the sportsmen and fishermen, of a saying of Marie Antoinette, "If they don't have bread let them eat cake." I would paraphrase that "If they can't work let them eat fish." That is what they would probably have to do if this saying were carried out to its fullest extent.

If the United States engineers were to decide it is not necessary to enforce this bill for the time being, then of course nothing has been accomplished. The United States engineers are no more considerate of the anthracite region than the Federal government has been all during these years when powerful influences and both political parties have been striving diligently to destroy an industry that is so important to the other parts of the nation.

I have seen a lot about this bill in the Philadelphia Inquirer. I won't read more than a paragraph or two of it. I have in my hand the Philadelphia Inquirer of the tenth of January, 1943, and I am quoting this to substantiate my claim that a lot of this sediment is not silt that has been colored by mine water. The Philadelphia Inquirer says:

> "If the fertile topsoil of Bucks county farm land had not been washing away with every hard rain for the past 25 years, the taypayers of Philadelphia would not be called on now to spend a quarter of a million dollars at the Torresdale water plant in preparation for next summer's contemplated record demand for water. So say technical men who test the secrets of soil and water for the United States Department of Agriculture. So says Martin McLoughlin, chief of the Philadelphia water bureau, and Fred Bidlingmaier, superintendent of the Torresdale water plant on the Delaware.

Further on in the article it goes on to say,

> For proof, they point out that most of the land drained by the Schuylkill is farmland, not coal country. If soil and water conservation methods were universally adopted on farmlands there, they say, there would not only be less silt washed downstream but more important, there would be a more even flow of water in the Schuylkill.

It says further on:

> Erosion has cut the useful life of over 20 per cent of the water supply reservoirs in the United States to less than 50 years. Another 25 per cent will be lost in 50 to 100 years.

Inasmuch as the Anthracite coal is mined in just a few counties of the state, surely you are not going to blame this condition which existed throughout the length and breadth of the land upon the particular industry upon which we depend for our livelihood. We believe that because the water discharged from anthracite breakers is black and discolors material eroded from other sources, the casual observer has an exaggerated impression of the amount of coal in our river beds.

I would like to say this, lest the idea get out that there is no concern in Schuylkill, Luzerne, Carbon and Lackawanna counties, about this matter, I would like to read you something which will indicate just how much progress has been made on the removal of this so-called silt which, of course, must come from coal. In sizes smaller than barley, back in 1939, not to take you too far back in history, there were mined 135,000 tons of sizes smaller than barley; in 1940, 151,000 tons, in 1941, 197,000 tons and in 1942, 275,000 tons. All of this has been done because of the cooperation between the Sanitary Water Board and the operators of the Anthracite mines. In the most prosperous years, particularly in the southern field, the mines have never enjoyed a profit margin of more than a few cents per ton. The closing of these mines has reduced the number of men employed in the industry from 160,000 to 80,000.

The Legislature of 1937 very wisely provided that mine silt should not be considered a polluting property until such time as practical means for its removal should become available. We now know more about how to remove it than we did in 1937, and considerable progress has been made since then in reducing the quantities discharged into the streams there. There is, however, no practical method known to the industry of completely removing all of the solids from the water. We expect that further progress will be made. In fact, certain new plants now under construction will substantially alleviate the condition complained of.

At a time when the Government is crying for more coal, when the hard coal region has just emerged from a very, very serious and devastating depression, and when the miners and operators have recently amended their wage agreement to permit operation of the mines six days per week, I wish you would stop and consider that if you pass this bill, and these requirements are carried out the time is not far distant when it will not be possible for the Anthracite mines to operate at all.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to clarify one of the statements made by the gentleman from Schuylkill. This is an unusual bill in one respect. The gentle- has complained and rightfully complained that Philadelphia legislation is always with us, and every sort of adjective has been used in describing Philadelphia legislation, like the newspaper referred to in its article on the pollution of streams.

Something new has happened today. Mr. Speaker, we want something clean in Philadelphia for a change, and even the Republican organization in Philadelphia can agree on that. The problem is, are two million three hundred thousand people going to get clean water? Are they going to get the water they need to run the war industries? Are they going to have water that they can fish and swim in? That is what concerns me. We have what we call in Philadelphia Schuylkill sludge.

I remember reading an article in 1941 and a cartoon on the floor of this House that appeared in 1898 in the Philadelphia Inquirer. We had Schuylkill sludge then and we have it now, more than ever, two hundred thousand tons additional each year. It is coming to the point, Mr. Speaker, that we will have to stop buying coal upstate, but will go down to the river and take it out by the bucketful.

I can join with the gentleman in his remarks about the hardships of the coal industry. Let me go back to the year 1941 and recall that in that year there was a lot of legislation that the coal people said affected them, and I remember attending four different public hearings in successive weeks. The first public hearing was on a bill which I do not remember now, but the representative of the coal companies came down and said "You can't pass this bill because if you pass this bill you are going to wreck our business." Then the next week the same representatives came before another meeting of the committee and said "We have managed to get along up until now, but if you pass this bill we are going to be put out of business." And then the following week we had another meeting and another public hearing, and the same representatives of the coal operators came down and said "For God's sake, do everything else, but don't pass this bill. This bill is going to break our backs." I notice that their backs have not been broken yet.

I believe with the gentleman from Schuylkill that they are in a bad economic condition, but I think that those people who own the coal properties owe a duty to everybody else in the Commonwealth to so regulate their efforts and their business and so put their house in order that in the use of these God-given resources which they take out of the ground and give to the rest of the country, that they do it in such a way that they do not hurt anybody else. The man who owns a piece of land on a stream or river should not put anything in the river that will kill the cows. The mere fact that you have a pawn shop where you sell guns doesn't mean that you can take them out and shoot promiscuously. I believe the gentleman is off base, because you have got to use what you have without hurting anybody else. We are trying to take care of one river at a time; we want clean water. Is that asking too much? We want water that we can drink, we want water to bathe in that is not too dirty to bathe in. Is that asking too much? I would ask the Members of the House to come to Philadelphia where they can enjoy one of our Schuylkill cocktails, as we call them. I would ask them to come into our homes there and get all the water you want to drink, but ask you not to spit it out on the rug because while we don't want to penalize anybody we don't want to be penalized ourselves any more. All we want is that you use what you have upstate so that it won't hurt us downstate. We want our water fresh and sparkling; we don't want it out of the bottle. We want it to come into our intake pipes. We want to do a decent job of living respectfully with clean water. Now all that we have got, running through Philadelphia and through Norristown and the other cities and towns along the river, is a mud puddle. We have got to muddle, so please don't piddle in our puddle. Give us a break and pass this bill, and we won't complain about a lot of other things.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, I have listened with interest to both sides of this particular question. This is perhaps a question that comes up in every session of the legislature in some form or other regarding the Schuylkill bed. I want to ask the people of Philadelphia whether they know any other large city that has the facilities to get good fresh water from other streams that are not somewhat like the Schuylkill river. I have examined the Schuylkill river on different occasions. It is not all silt coming down there. As my colleague from Schuylkill has said, the engineers have examined the water far beyond the Schuylkill region, and they found impurities right and left, and I of course would not be one to bathe in the water down there. I have come to this comprehension of the Schuylkill river, that it is no longer a river; not fit to be called a river, and I don't think this bill can cure the proposition. I think that any city or any locality has a right to clean the stream, but I think they start out on the wrong angle when they try to make a pure stream out of a river that has received all this refuse, if you must call it so, for centuries.

We in Schuylkill County depend entirely on one business, the business of mining anthracite coal. We have made some arrangements to get rid of the silt, but how can we make any arrangement if you stop our industry? Therefore, I just want to add to the words of my colleague, Mr. Wagner, who explained this proposition in a very able manner. This bill means as I said before, and as Mr. Cohen has said, that we need the help of Philadelphia for the anthracite region, and we need that help more than ever before. We too are in the war industries and we are going to do the best we can under the conditions in the anthracite field. I tell you gentlemen of the House you are doing us an injustice in the anthracite field by voting for this bill. Therefore I say at this particular time above all others during war time, vote against this bill.

Mr. FLACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FLACK. Mr. Speaker, how long has this silt or refuse from the anthracite region been rolling down the Schuylkill river?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Flack, I inquired of a man on Sunday who has resided along the Schuylkill river for over sixty years in the vicinity of Norristown, and he informed me that about forty years ago the banks on both sides of the Schuylkill river at Norristown, which I would say is between a half and a quarter of a mile in width at least, began to be lined by this silt. However, I might add, if I may, that there is an island called Barbadoes Island, and at the other end of that island there was a sandy beach where I, not too long ago, some twenty years ago, was able to walk at least a half mile from shore on a gradually inclined beach until the water got around my shoulders, and it afforded recreational facilities to even the youngest child. That has gone long since, and for the past fifteen years no one can put his foot in that stuff without going up over his knees.

Mr. FLACK. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that the anthracite operators are endeavoring to remove this silt and the smaller sizes of coal that run into the Schuylkill and various other tributaries? What percentage of that goes into the river today?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I am not an expert on the subject, but I quite recently took a trip up to Schuylkill county and Carbon county and was shown a device whereby the people who are using it intend to take out of the water the silt. As to what percentage goes into the river I am unable to tell you because the various operators differ in their efforts to remove this pollution. I do believe though that the army engineers as the result of two and a half years of tests, estimated that the silt coming over the dam at Flat Rock near Philadelphia the content, I believe, was forty-five per cent, as well as I can remember.

Mr. FLACK. Mr. Speaker, was not the statement made in the hearing within the past two weeks that approximately twenty per cent was coming down now compared to what it was prior to this time?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I don't want to be unfair to the gentleman, but I am unable to give a true answer to that, therefore, I would ask to be excused.

Mr. FLACK. Furthermore, Mr. Speaker, if the coal companies stop their operations in the upper field, how long is it going to be before you get clear water in the lower tributaries?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Some years ago, Mr. Speaker, the United States engineers compiled a solution for that, and the solution was this: the first step was to eliminate the sources, mainly by eliminating it from the wash water. There was also a dam project called an elimination project whereby erosion would be prevented. If that had been accomplished a dam would be erected at Auburn, where the river makes a long meandering turn. It is estimated that if no silt was introduced into the stream, that the silt in the bed above would wash down and fill up the large U and it would act as a huge settling basin. When that U was filled up the river would be by-passed and allowed to flow down past this U. At that time the Federal government was willing to come in at Norristown with dredges and dredge on up the Schuylkill river, and it was contemplated that the further they dredged up the river, the more silt would run downstream and eventually out to sea.

Mr. FLACK. Does the gentleman really believe that by this elimination you can clear up the water in the next fifty years, with the freshets from year to year?

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Rose, to preside.

MR. WALTER E. ROSE IN THE CHAIR

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. I do, Mr. Speaker, and what is more I certainly hope so.

Mr. FLACK. Does not the gentleman think it might be possible to take some of this sales tax that you get in Philadelphia to help us eliminate that?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I don't know whether the gentleman is trying to prejudice me about a tax with which I do not agree, but I refuse to answer.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I admit the hour is late and I regret taking any more time at this late hour. However, the city of Reading is vitally interested in the passage of this bill, and it certainly is my duty to speak briefly on the measure. When I was a boy I swam in this Schuylkill River that we talked about, and the water was nice and clean, clean enough to swim in. It is not important that I cannot swim in it any longer, it is not important that my children will not be able to swim in it, but it is important to Reading, and it has nothing to do with drinking water, that is the matter of floods that we have had costing millions of dollars to the city of Reading. Oh, I know we all have floods, all of us who live along streams, but this coal dirt has so filled up the bed of the river that when we have floods it flows out and covers more ground than it should. The river bed is no longer free to run the water away and Reading has suffeerd a loss of millions of dollars.

I attended a public hearing that was held a while ago on this measure, and I heard it said, and I don't believe it can be disputed, that the people of the coal industry themselves, their own engineers have admitted that they can remove eighty percent of this coal silt, but we know that they haven't done so. We know that it will cost money to do so.

In regard to one of the arguments that Mr. Wagner made about the great cost of this thing, I would like to say that if the coal operators cannot afford it now, how are they going to afford it later on when their revenues are curtailed? We don't want to put the coal region out of business, nor do we want the people of Reading to pay millions of dollars to have it eliminated, but we certainly intend to see that it is eliminated as far as it can be done. The bill in its original form before the last amendment was put in probably would cost the coal companies a great deal, but with that amendment that the United States engineers can certify that the means of eliminating the silt are not available I don't think it is going to hurt the coal region. I certainly hope the House will pass this bill tonight and eliminate an evil, not only an evil that has been growing year after year, not only taking drinking water from Reading and Phoenixville for many years, but causing all the river towns and villages a great deal of damage.

Mr. FIGLOCK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER Pro Tempore. Will the gentleman from hiladelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COHEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FIGLOCK. Mr. Speaker, is it not so that a few years ago the city of Philadelphia had an opportunity to get what I consider the finest water in the world, and they turned it down?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker. I think the gentleman is referring, if I am not mistaken, to a proposed plan that was suggested by the late Mayor Samuel Davis Wilson, who suggested a possible expenditure of some eighty to ninety million dollars to go up into the Pocono area and tap the mountain water there for a supply for the City of Philadelphia. That is true. The plan was opposed by many people who frankly I consider shortsighted, because my first love in the world was the Poconos and its clean water. I spent my summers there for the past eighteen years. However, it was opposed as an excessive expenditure of money and it was turned down by the persons in power because they believed that eighty million dollars was a prohibitive cost.

Mr. FIGLOCK. Mr. Speaker, we have heard a lot about the silt coming into the river, but it is a well known fact that we receive in the anthracite field from up in New York floating and other refuse that comes down our river and goes to Philadelphia. This condition can hardly be remedied, due to the sulphur water and the culm banks that we have had in the past few years, and the floods that we cannot control.

I spoke to a coal operator, and I am not holding up for the coal operators, but they are doing their utmost to remedy this situation, because there is a market for it and it has a profitable sale. I want to say further, gentlemen, that this problem will not be eradicated by any legislation here. It will take a hundred years before the silt can be cleaned out and eliminated from these rivers.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to take up a lot of the time of the House, but I have listened to this argument, and I come from the coal fields myself. I would ask the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Cohen and also the gentleman from Montgomery Mr. Brunner about the purity of their water down at Philadelphia. The only mistake I think the gentlemen make is this, they attack us in the coal fields where we give employment to thousands of people. It is their lifeline. They talk about impurities in the water, but they don't say anything about taking out the other debris from the river. Up in the mountains where I come from we have streams going down through outcroppings of five feet of coal, some of the mountains being so steep that you have to go up almost on your hands and knees. The water is ice cold, and you see plenty of people stopping to take a drink. Regardless of how fatigued you were you would pass it up if you were going to die, and at this time I don't think it is a good time to bring up this solution. We had a little case up home four or five years ago during the depression, the only thing we have in our county is the little mines, employing all told six hundred men. The sportsmen came into our county and they had state representatives from Harrisburg coming to us who said our mines were polluting the stream. It employed six hundred men. You know how coal miners are, they are honest-to-God men. They aren't hard, they live right, that is most of the time, they have large families, and at the hearing there were five or six so-called sportsmen said that the main stream in our county was being polluted by coal dust, and they petitioned the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to close down this mine and shut off the bread and butter of possibly two thousand people. At the hearing it finally developed that there hadn't been any trout in the stream for years. We have the finest trout streams in the state in our county, but the so-called sportsmen said they would have to park their automobiles and walk four or five miles to get to a stream where they could find fish. So the bill was ditched, and eventually everybody was happy. So at this time I ask every Member of this House to vote against this bill.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to take up too much time of the Members of the House. I think this subject has been pretty well covered. The paramount issue on this piece of legislation is the fact that the anthracite industry in Pennsylvania will be hurt pretty seriously, and many of the men will be put out of work. The tonnage mined in the anthracite field that has been used to spur the war effort will be reduced, and that is the paramount question that should be considered on this legislation. I know that the bill has an amendment which provides that the United States district engineers can decide whether or not this can be done during the war effort, but if the decision of those gentlemen is no different than it has been in the anthracite area, particularly in the city of Scranton on the flood condition, then we can look with fear in the passage of this legislation on the decision of those engineers. The same district engineers made a recommendation for the appropriation of seventy-five thousand dollars to clear the river bed of the Lackawanna river, and when the opportunity and the time came to spend this seventy-five thousand dollars the honorable W. P. A. workers came along and the money was withdrawn. We had a flood and many thousands of dollars of damage was done to the homes of the citizens of Scranton. So I say even with the amendments we in the anthracite field must look with suspicion upon any of the decisions of the United States engineers. The most impelling thought on this piece of legislation should be that you have in your hands an opportunity to save an industry and to save a section of this Commonwealth which the Lord knows has been very badly hit during the past decade.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner.

The SEEAKER Pro Temport. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether this amendment to the act would affect the entire state in regard to its proposed intent?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. In my opinion it would, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PETROSKY. I would like to know from the gentleman his interpretation of the word "silt," whether it would be just confined to the discussion that we had here on the floor or whether it would include other refuse as well, such as perhaps Philadelphia has in this measure.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. I believe it would include any foreign substance other than coal, as well as coal.

Mr. PETROSKY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I rise at this time to oppose this measure, inasmuch as it will certainly affect the coal properties throughout the state of Pennsylvania. This bill contains the fanatical ideas of certain proponents who desire the passage of this measure for recreational purposes, as well as all the purposes which can possibly be created in some other manner. I say to you that this can affect even Farmer Brown in regard to certain portions of his property being washed into the stream, so I feel that inasmuch as the scope and the object is so broad and the effect upon our industries would be so great as to multiply the claim for benefits that this bill proposes, I ask the members to vote down this measure.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate Bill No. 48, Printer's No. 342;

Senate Bill No. 49, Printer's No. 164 and House Bill No. 839, Printer's No. 253,

were passed over at the request of Mr. LICHTENWALTER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 926, as follows:

An Act creating a commission to make a study of juvenile delinquency directing such commission to make a report and recommendations to the General Assembly conferring certain powers upon such commission including the power to issue subpoenas administer oaths and affirmations retain employes and expend funds and making an appropriation

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 There is hereby created a commission which shall be composed of three members of the Senate to be appointed by the President pro tempore thereof and three members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker thereof to be known as the Commission for Investigation of Juvenile Delinquency

It shall be the duty of such commissions

(1) To investigate the alarming increase in juvenile delinquency throughout the Commonwealth since the outbreak of the present war

(2) To confer with agencies in other states concerned with the problem of juvenile delinquency

(3) To engage in research directed toward the development of a plan or plans to reduce and control juvenile delinquency

(4) To make appropriate recommendations to the General Assembly as to legislation which appears necessary in order to deal effectively with the problems of juvenile delinquency in Pennsylvania

The commission shall if possible make a preliminary report to the General Assembly during the present session It shall file its final report with the General Assembly not later than the first day of February one thousand nine hundred forty-five

Section 2 The persons appointed as members of said commission shall meet immediately after appointment and select one of their members to act as chairman of the commission The commission may employ and fix the compensation of a secretary and such counsel experts clerks stenographers and investigators as they deem necessary to perform the duties imposed by this act The members of the commission shall receive no compensation for their services but shall be reimbursed for living and traveling expenses necessarily incurred in the performance of their duties

Section 3 The said commission shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the commission and to produce such books papers records and documents as the commission may deem necessary Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth Each member of said commission shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the commission Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said commission or to produce any books papers records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases

Section 4 The sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to the commission for the payment of the expenses of its members in connection with the work required hereby and for the payment of the compensation and expenses of the secretary counsel experts clerks stenographers and investigators for postage telegraph and telephone charges for witness fees allowed by the commission for supplies and printing and for all other expenses deemed necessary and proper by the commission

Section 5 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

SENATE

TUESDAY, April 27, 1943.

The Senate met at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time. The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D.D. offered the following prayer:

To Thee, O God, the author of our being and the giver of every good and perfect gift, we come at this time to offer our thanks, and to renew our allegiance. Each of us in this assembly can bear testimony to the goodness of God. We are the benficiaries of Thy providence. Life, with all that sustains it, is Thy gift to us. May we value the gift, recognize it as God's investment in us, and so employ it that it will return to Thee Thy due.

Today we pray that wisdom and grace be given us to magnify Thy name, and faithfully represent the people and interests of our Commonwealth. May the laws here enacted by Thy servants harmonize with God's eternal laws of righteousness.

We pray for our nation, that the Lord of Hosts may lead our armies to victory and peace. We pray for all soldiers on the battle front, and for all those preparing to go. We pray for all those in the home-land, working to produce arms and food for those giving their lives for freedom and justice.

May the day be hastened when men shall learn war no more, the day when the Prince of Peace shall reign over all the earth. In His Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. FARRELL, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SHAPIRO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in connection with the Calendar, I ask unanimous consent to make a brief statement, in order to ask my colleagues to look at the Calendar for today, on the first page. I want to take advantage of this opportunity of saying to my colleagues that finally there has been public acknowledgment of a fact, which should have been acknowledged previously—I have been wondering, when I see this Calendar—

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the request of the Senator from Philadelphia to address the Senate.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cumberland will state his point of order.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I submit that the gentleman, Senator Shapiro, is out of order. The next order of business is leaves of absence.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I requested unanimous consent to address the Senate and I thought the Chair had advised me to proceed.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, asked unanimous consent to make a brief statement concerning the Calendar.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I would like to ask for leaves of absence for some members of the Senate who are unable to be here today, and we are now under that order of business.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I will not take up so much time that the gentleman from Cumberland will not be able to make application for leaves of absence.

Mr. WADE. I object, Mr. President, because the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, is out of order, in my opinion.

The PRESIDENT. There being objection, the next order of business is leaves of absence.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. EDMONDS, who is ill.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. ZIESENHEIM, who is in the United States Army.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. SCARLETT.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SHAPIRO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in connection with the Calendar for today, I was wondering what all these bills are doing on the Calendar in this year of our Lord 1943. I have found that I was wrong, that is not according to the Calendar for today, the year of our Lord 1943, but it is the year of our Lord 1493, one year after the discovery of America by Columbus.

HOUSE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

RECALLING SENATE BILL NO. 272

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, last week there were placed on the desks of the Senators copies of the final report filed by the Pennsylvania State Temporary Commission on the Condition of the Urban Colored Population. I have examined over the weekend the contents of this bulky report and discovered a few omissions which in my opinion are very important and I think they ought to be called to the attention of the Senate and those members of the Senate who served on this Commission.

Page 294 of this report deals with boy offenders and, inter alia, concerns the boys in the twentieth ward of the city of Philadelphia, which is part of my senatorial district. What I am surprised about is the fact that while the members of the Commission have listed the darker side of the situation, they have omitted referring to one of the finest institutions which has been established in the city of Philadelphia and which has been very effective in the fight against delinquency. I refer to the institution known as the Youth City, which has been organized along the lines of Father Flannigan's Boys City.

At the present time, Mr. President, this unique institution has accomplished wonders and reduced considerably the number of delinquents under the leadership of a young educator by the name of Samuel Ellis; they have succeeded in gaining a membership of about three thousand people and at the present time at 717 North 12th Street they have a model Youth City.

I would appreciate if the membership of the Senate, as well as those Senators who served on this Committee, would give this matter their attention and help to foster institutions of this kind throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. This, in my opinion, is a proper step in ameliorating conditions of the kind described on page 294 of the report.

RESOLUTION

TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE ON ELECTIONS

Mr. HOLLAND offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

Resolved, That the Committee on Election be discharged from further consideration of Senate Bill No. 122 entitled "An act to add section sixteen hundred fourteen to the act approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled 'An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of the county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, courts, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of act relating to elections,' requiring reports as to how money to pay off indebtedness of political parties was raised," said bill having been in the hands of said committee more than ten calendar days from the date of its reference thereto.

SUSPENSION OF RULE 39

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

Which was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. HOLLAND. On February 9, Mr. President, I introduced Senate Bill No. 122 to amend the election laws so that all parties, whether they be Democrat or Republican would be compelled to give an accounting of how they received donations or contributions to pay off political debts. Unfortunately, in the election laws there has been the loophole by which the intent concerning contributions has not been carried out.

I believe that the people of Pennsylvania have a right to know whether or not a political party pays off any debt which is incurred before an election.

Yesterday this Senate passed a bill and in the course of the discussion some members of the Senate brought out the fact that back in 1936, the United Mine Workers loaned to the Democratic party the sum of $500,000, and many political orators since 1936 have stated on public platforms as it was stated in this Senate, that this debt was not paid off.

I agree with those orators that there should be an accounting to the people of any debt, whether it be incurred by my party or by the Republican party. I believe the people have a right to know whether or not any political party is in hock or out of hock. I believe that the people of Pennsylvania should know how this money was collected to pay off a political debt, who were the contributors, and whether or not the debt was paid off in full.

There always has been in the minds of people a doubt in government when either party accepts a large loan and then does not account for that loan. People begin to think that the loan so made was paid off not in actual money but paid of by legislative acts or by political favors. I think it is fair that a bill of this type should be passed so that there should be no doubt in the minds of any people how a party stands when acts are passed whether in this Senate or in the Congress of the United States.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HOLLAND and were as follows, viz:

TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE ON CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES

Mr. COLEMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, April 27, 1943.

Resolved, That the Committee on Constitutional Changes be discharged from further consideration of Senate Bill No. 19 entitled "A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article eight, section one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, reducing the age limit of electors," said bill having been in the hands of said committee more than ten calendar days from the date of its reference thereto.

SUSPENSION OF RULE 39

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

Which was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, last Saturday morning I stood on the platform of the Laurel Line Railroad Station in the city of Scranton, as I have on many mornings, watching a train on its sad departure, taking friends and neighbors of mine to far off places to defend the security of their country and its sacred honor. None of the consequences of war are more tragically portrayed than the scenes that meet the eye as the train pulls out and the all-aboard signal is given. The band strikes up a martial air and little family groups that have gathered around the son or the father or the brother, begin to break up. The lonliness that creeps up into the hearts of the father and mother will never again be duplicated. The father walks away and the mother begins to cry; one can even discern tears on the cheeks of the father, tears that are not a sign of weakness but rather they are the marks of power, even when seen on the cheeks of a strong man. The only word uttered is spoken through the raised window as the train pulls away when the youngster says, "take good care of Mom, Dad"—words that speak more eloquently than any oratory, because they come from the heart, the fountain of unbounded love.

My motion to discharge this committee, Mr. President, comes as the result of events that led up to the scenes I have just described.

Last year when you and every other man and woman in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania walked into the polling booth and exercised your right of franchise, you were not alone, one of those boys was standing at your side; he may have been in the fox-holes of Guadalcanal, he may have been zoning through the clouds, the treacherous clouds, in search of an equally treacherous enemy, he may have been riding the seas where lurks danger, but he was there, nevertheless, and now he is asking the men in the Senate of Pennsylvania to give him the right to vote.

Mr. President, E. Ray Scott, the president of the March of Youth, Incorporated, in Washington, D. C., has sent a letter to all the governors of the states of America, including our own Governor Martin, pleading for the passage of this constitutional amendment. I would like to read brief extracts from this particular letter, I quote:

"Our boys of 18, 19, and 20 are fighting beside more mature brothers in the decisive battles which will end the world's greatest and most tragic war.

"Youth has become Atlas, sturdily assisting in upholding the whole globe on broad and uncomplaining shoulders.

"The Nation should and must grant suffrage to the boys and girls of 18, 19 and 20 who are working and fighting for their country and to the thousands and millions as they become 18 tomorrow and in the future. If they are old enough to fight and die for democracy, to fly combat planes and fortress bombers, to parachute from the skies and dive in submarines beneath the seas, to sustain gruelling marches and bloody campaigns in the freezing temperatures of the north or the sweltering, merciless heat of the tropics, to work day and night manufacturing guns, tanks and planes and ships, to till the soil and bring in the harvests—they also are old enough to have a voice in the affairs of state and national government.

"The boy and girl of 18 today are far more mature than the teen-agers of the passing generation. Their college education has been compressed into three years. Their high school years have been accelerated and intensified by night training courses and practical experience in producing armaments, goods and farm produce.

"Every state should at once change the age of suffrage from 21 to 18 in token of its appreciation for the service and sacrifice being made today in behalf of a better world tomorrow."

Mr. President, these young men of today are the builders of the world and the conservers of civilization tomorrow. I honestly and sincerely believe that when the framers of the Constitution of America met back in the old days, little did they realize when they established the voting age that a boy of eighteen of today would be the mental equal of a boy of twenty-one.

I ask my colleagues to join in this tribute to these men who have given their fresh strength to the ranks of freedom and who in the final analysis will, I think, be responsible for the preservation of democracy.

Mr. HOLLAND. I just want to add a very brief statement to what has been said. The Secretary of War has just given out statistics of the ages of the boys who won that glorious victory for us at Guadalcanal; the average age was nineteen plus. I believe the greatest tribute we could pay to those boys would be at least to start the ball rolling to permit them to vote.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I do not know whether boys eighteen years old are entitled to vote—I think maybe they are, if we have advanced far enough to believe they are entitled to fight or should fight.

I am going to vote for this resolution irrespective of the answer to that question, for one definite reason. This is an amendment to the Constitution; it is not a law to be enacted by this Legislature giving these boys the right to vote. This is a bill which will permit all of the people in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to decide that question. After all, it is the people who decide whether those boys should go to war, and it is the people who ought to decide whether they should be entitled to vote. This bill, if it is enacted into law, will then be presented to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for them to say whether or not these boys are entitled to vote. It can then become the subject of debate in public forum, so that the question may be aired and discussed and voted upon in an intelligent manner.

To keep this bill in committee, and not allow the people to vote on it, is to say to the people that we, the fifty men of this Senate, are the ones who will decide that question, that we are so all-powerful, so all-wise, that we can say that there shall be no such law.

It is because I feel that the passage of this bill will bring about a discussion of this question, so that it may be properly considered and properly decided, and it is because I feel that we fifty men have no right to confine the decision on the question to ourselves, that I think the bill ought to be brought out on the floor to be discussed, and it ought to be a matter for the public to discuss, and, therefore, I shall vote "aye" on this motion.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, as Chairman of the Committee on Constitutional Changes, I simply want to call to the attention of the Senate the fact that this bill was considered by the Committee on Constitutional Changes and by vote of the members of that committee was postponed indefinitely. I say this in order to alleviate any thought that might be in the minds of any one that the Committee on Constitutional Changes has been sitting on this bill. We have not.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. COLEMAN and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—16

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATKINS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in this Senate I have been accustomed to find on my desk long before the close of the Session, a list of nominations which the Governor makes in connection with all boards and commissions. I have not found such nominations on my desk this session and I want to inquire of the gentleman from Schuylkill whether the Governor has made such nominations, generally, as yet?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, all nominations which have been received in the Committee on Executive Nominations are now either confirmed or laid on the table.

SENATE BILL No. 361, PRINTER'S NO. 145, CALLED UP

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I call up from the Final Passage Postponed Calendar at this time Senate Bill No. 361, Printer's No. 145.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 361, entitled:

An Act regulating commercial strip mining imposing requirements to engage therein including the planting or sowing of certain lands giving powers and duties to the Secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters including issuing permits providing for appeals to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County and prescribing penalties

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 This act shall be deemed to be an exercise of the police powers of the Commonwealth for the protection of the property and for the general welfare of the people of the Commonwealth by providing for the conservation and improvement of areas of land subjected to "strip mining" to aid thereby in the protection of game birds and wildlife to enhance the value of such land for taxation to decrease soil erosion and the pollution of lakes and streams and generally to restore the use and enjoyment of such lands

Section 2. The following terms shall be construed in this act to have the following meanings except in those instances where the context clearly indicates otherwise

"Strip mining" shall mean the mining or recovery of coal by removing the material or overburden which is above the coal deposits or seams.

"Commercial strip mining" shall mean the practice of strip mining for the purpose of producing or selling the coal removed by strip mining but shall not include any operation carried on by one who produces or intends to produce and recover less than two hundred fifty tons of coal in any period of twelve successive calendar months

"Operator" shall mean a person firm corporation or partnership engaged in carrying on commercial strip mining

"Strip pit" shall mean a tract of land from which the material or overburned above the coal has been removed or is being removed or is proposed to be removed by mechanical means for the recovery of the coal

"Secretary" shall mean the Secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters

Section 3 It shall hereafter, be unlawful for any operator to engage in commercial strip mining as defined in this act without first obtaining from the Secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters a permit to do so in the form hereinafter provided and complying thereafter with all the other requirements of this act

Section 4 Any operator desiring to engage in commercial strip mining shall make written application to the Secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters for a separate permit for each strip pit wherein such operator proposes so to engage Application for the permit shall be made in such form as shall be prescribed by the secretary which form shall require a statement showing the township and county or other municipal subdivision in which the strip pit is located the approximate number of acres of coal that it is proposed to recover annually and the approximate date upon which strip mining shall commence Such application shall be accompanied by an annual fee which shall be payable to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as follows For less than twenty-five acres of land to be operated by strip mining in one year an annual fee of one hundred dollars ($100.00) for more than twenty-five acres but less than fifty acres to be operated by strip mining in one year an annual fee of two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00) for fifty acres and over to be operated by strip mining in one year an annual fee of five hundred dollars ($500.00) These fees shall be placed in a special fund to be used by the secretary to rehabilitate strip pit lands which were in this condition prior to this act Such application together with the proper fee shall also be accompanied by a bond provided for in section seven of this act Upon receipt of such application fee and bond the secretary shall issue a permit to the applicant beginning either the first day of January or the first day of July of each year which shall entitle the operator to engage for one year thereafter in commercial strip mining at the general location of the strip pit described in said permit Such permit shall be renewed annually by the secretary upon receipt by him of the required annual fee so long as the operator complies with the provisions of this act

The permit aforesaid when issued shall remain in effect until revoked by the secretary because of failure of the operator to perform any of the secretary's requirements or because of violation by the operator of any of the provisions of the act or because of failure of the operator to pay the proper annual renewal fee within thirty days after written notice and demand therefor by the secretary

Section 5 Said operator shall annually submit to the secretary on or before the first day of September duplicate copies of a map in form approved by the secretary setting forth the location by township and county or other municipal subdivision with such other description as will identify the land from which the operator removed coal by the strip mining method during the preceding permit year with a legend upon such map showing the number of acres affected by such mining operations and said operator shall annually submit to the secretary on or before the first day of September duplicate copies of a map in form approved by the secretary setting forth the location by township and county or other municipal subdivision with such other description as will identify the land whereon operator's strip pits were located prior to the effective date of this act, which land the operator is required to plant in the amount and at such time as in this act provided The accuracy of the acreage shown upon the map may be checked by the secretary and if found to be erroneous it shall be corrected by the operator and a new map furnished as required by the secretary

Section 6 (a) Said operator shall sow set out or plant upon such land described in said map first described in section five or upon an equal number of acres of other land previously strip mined by the operator and approved by the secretary the quantity of seed plants tree seedlings shrubs or grasses which shall be recommended or approved in writing by the secretary In addition to planting lands herein above described said operator shall annually sow set out or plant any unplanted strip pit land owned or held under lease by the operator and strip mined by such operator prior to the effective date of this act the number of acres equal to ten per centum of the number of acres that said operator strip mined as indicated by said map first described in section five In making such recommendations as to the planting the secretary shall consult the advice of foresters of the Department of Forests and Waters to the end that the land may be in part covered by forests and in part provide shelter and ground cover for wildlife Where forest planting is recommended the operator may elect the purposes for which the forest is to be planted whether the forest is to be hard-wood or conifers and whether its future use is to be for lumber pulp wood or otherwise In making his recommendation to the operator the secretary shall indicate the approximate number of trees to be planted per acre basing his requirements on the standard practices used in forestry for the production of commercial forests He shall not include the use of trees which are not ordinarily used in commercial forest practice nor shall the trees be required to be greater in size or age than are planted generally in commercial forest projects

(b) All planting required by the secretary shall be done in the following planting season and shall be prosecuted by the operator to completion with reasonable diligence

(c) All plantings of seedling trees or shrubs under this act may be made with planting stock furnished by the State nurseries in proper size for commercial planting and at standard prices promulgated for the general public However the opportunity shall be given to the operator to purchase or secure suitable trees plants or shrubs from commercial nurseries or elsewhere if the operator so elects The secretary or his accredited representatives may enter upon the lands of the operator at all times for the purpose of inspection to determine whether the provisions of this act have been complied with

(d) In the event that any operator for causes beyond his control or if any operator is unable to acquire sufficient planting stock from the State nurseries or from private nurseries at a price equal to or less than the price charged by the State nurseries the secretary may grant an extension of time to plant such land from year to year

Section 7 Contemporaneously with and as a condition precedent to the issuance of the permit there shall be filed by the operator with the secretary a bond payable to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania conditioned that the operator shall faithfully perform all requirements of the secretary in accordance with the provisions of this act Such bond shall have a corporate or individual surety approved by the secretary Such bond shall not be for less than one hundred twenty-five dollars ($125.00) and such additional amount as will equal twenty-five dollars ($25.00) for each acre or portion thereof of land in excess of five acres proposed thereafter by the operator to be subjected to commercial strip mining for the ensuing year The bond shall from time to time be increased or reduced by the secretary in accordance with the number of acres added to the land for strip mining operations or in accordance with the operator's withdrawal of acreage or by reason of his performance of his obligations subsequent to the issuance of the permit Any operator may execute the bond without surety if he shall deposit with the secretary cash in the amount of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) for each acre of land proposed by him to be strip mined within the period covered by the permit or the renewal thereof Such bond or deposit shall be retained by the secretary as a guarantee by the operator for faithful performance by the operator Should the operator fail to carry out the requirements the secretary may proceed against the bond and the money recovered therefrom shall be placed in a special fund to be used by the secretary to rehabilitate strip pit lands in accordance with the provisions of this act The secretary shall release any bond and shall repay any deposits no longer necessary to be maintained for the purpose of this act upon showing by operator that the necessary provisions of this act have been complied with

Section 8 Any unexpired permit shall be effective so long only as the operator shall possess the legal right or estate to recover coal from the land described in said permit All right of the secretary to require improvements shall terminate within six years after the end of the permit year in which strip mining was completed upon said land unless he shall before the end of said period have served upon the operator written directions to make such improvements The secretary shall release from the effect of this act either by reason of compliance or limitation of time all or any part of the land affected by this act by filing with the recorder of deeds of the county in which the land is located a written release in form prepared by the secretary

Section 9 The secretary shall have authority to grant refuse modify revoke or cancel permits in accordance with the provisions of this act and generally shall have power and authority to carry out and administer the provisions of this act

Section 10 No permit shall be refused cancelled or revoked by the secretary until after a hearing on written charges has been had before the secretary after not less than fifteen days written notice fixing date and place of such hearing has been given to such operator

All testimony taken at any hearing before the secretary shall be reported stenographically and a full and complete record shall be kept of all proceedings before the secretary of any hearing and shall be available to the parties in interest

All decisions of the secretary shall be in writing and shall fully state the grounds therefor

Section 11 Any operator aggrieved by any decision of the secretary may file within thirty days thereafter in the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County a petition alleging therein the action or decision of the secretary complained of and praying for a reversal thereof Every such petition shall specify the petitioner's objections to the action and decision of the secretary and no objection not so specified shall be considered by the court The court shall thereupon issue a rule on the secretary to show cause why his action or decision should not be set aside Upon service of the rule upon the secretary returnable within ten days from its date the secretary shall on or before the return day file an answer in which he shall set forth the grounds for his decision He shall also on or before the return day of such rule certify to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County the record of the proceedings to which the petition refers Such record shall include the testimony taken therein the findings of fact if any of the secretary based upon such testimony a copy of all orders made by the secretary in the proceedings and a copy of the action or decision of the secretary which the petition calls upon the court to reverse

Upon filing of the secretary's answer the case before the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County shall be heard

The case shall be heard upon the record certified to the court by the secretary Additional testimony shall not be taken before the court but the court may in proper cases remit the record to the secretary for the taking of further testimony

From the decision of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County an appeal may be taken by either party to the Superior Court of Pennsylvania as in other cases

A judgment sustaining the refusal of the secretary to grant or renew a permit shall not bar after one year a new application by the plaintiff for a permit nor shall a judgment in favor of the plaintiff prevent the secretary from thereafter revoking or refusing to renew such permit for any proper cause which may thereafter accrue or be discovered The court shall have full power to dispose of all costs

Section 12 The secretary may require by subpoena or summons issued by him the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of any books accounts records papers and correspondence relating to any matter which the secretary has authority under this act to consider or investigate and for this purpose he may sign subpoenas administer oaths and affirmations examine witnesses and receive evidence

Section 13 The secretary is hereby given authority to draft and promulgate rules and regulations respecting the administration of this act and such rules shall set forth the duties of operators applying for permits under this act

Section 14 Any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be fined not less than two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00) nor more than five thousand dollars ($5,000.00)

Section 15 The provisions of this act shall be severable and if any of the provisions shall be held to be unconstitutional such decision shall not affect the validity of any of the remaining provisions of this act It is hereby declared as the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provision not been included therein

Section 16 The act approved the eighteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred forty-one (Pamphlet Laws 133) entitled "An act relating to coal stripping operations providing for the health and safety of persons employed therein and for the inspection and regulation of such operations by the Department of Mines requiring certain information and reports and prescribing penalties" in so far as inconsistent herewith is hereby repealed

All other acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

Section 17 This act shall become effective sixty days after final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. President, before this bill is voted on I would like to have the attention of the Senate for a few minutes. I will endeavor to be as brief as I can under the circumstances.

I wish to say this, that I have to vote against this bill and I want to give my reasons for it. There are so many things in consideration of it that prove to me that while these young gentlemen who are behind it are, of course, anxious to put it across from their viewpoint, I am thinking that perhaps the Senator from Westmoreland is pretty close to some other state line and perhaps operators get over into Pennsylvania to the detriment of some of the people there, including the deep coal operators.

I may also assume that perhaps the Senators from up in the hard coal region might reap some benefit from the taxes paid in the license fees that would be paid in, in their region, for damages done for the last hundred years.

I want to call attention to the fact that this is a mining bill. This bill pertains to bituminous coal mining and it is what is known as a strip-mining bill. The words pretty nearly describe it and in the course of my remarks you will all understand what strip-mining means and you will wonder why this bill happened to be referred to the Forestry Committee.

Here is a bill that relates almost entirely to mining, regulates mininm, and touches forestry incidentally. I want to say here that I have been familiar with the Forestry Department and its workings since its creation. I was initimately acquainted with the first commissioner, who served for a length of time and then retired, but he served for many years.

I want to also say that it has made a very splendid record, and I believe, up to date, it is about the only department which has more than paid its way. I believe that to put it in the mining business and have it receive the criticism of many people who are against such bills as this and who would be adversely affected by this regulation, and put the responsibility on the Department of Forests and Waters would be unfair to that Department.

I want also to call to your attention, of course, that the bill is class legislation. The title does not give notice that it repeals the act which regulates strip-mining.

Do you know that Act No. 71, passed in the year 1941, regulates strip-mining and that this bill will repeal it and the title gives no notice that this repeal will take place?

I also want to say, too, just look at the bill and you will see that in section one it declares that "This Act shall be deemed to be an exercise of the police powers of the Commonwealth for the protection of the property and for the general welfare of the people of the Commonwealth, by providing for the conservation and improvement of areas of land subjected to 'strip-mining', to aid thereby in the protection of game birds and wild life, to enhance the value of such land for taxation, to decrease soil erosion and the pollution of lakes and streams and generally to restore the use and enjoyment of such lands."

Now it goes on and gives you the definition of various things, for instance, in section two, it tells you what strip mining is and then commercial strip mining, where you sell coal from strip mining, and it will only take place, however, and apply if you mine more than 250 tons of coal in any period of twelve successive calendar months.

It further states that "operator" shall mean a person, firm, corporation or partnership engaged in carrying on commercial trip mining, so if an individual owns land, his own land, or if an operator owned land or he had paid the farmer or the owner of the land for damages and had the right to take it out, why, he would still be regulated by this billl.

The bill also states that "strip pit" shall mean a tract of land, from which the material or overburn above the coal has been removed or is being removed or is proposed to be removed by mechanical means for the recovery of the coal.

Now, I am asking if this is not class legislation, when you consider what they do with limestone, when you consider what they do in tile works, when you consider what they have done to land in every direction, the bituminous mines, the deep mines, and the anthracite mines. For years and years now the anthracite mines have thrown coal into the river, ever since I can remember.

The bill further states the the word "secretary" shall mean the Secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters—get that—and I ask why not the Secretary of Mines and Mining, the same as the 1941 Act, which regulates it and which they do not tell you they repeal in the title.

Now then, why should anybody want to say that the Secretary of Forests and Waters should have this to do? Why not the Secretary of Agriculture, if it relates to land? You are asking that every piece of land in which this kind of mining is being done should go back to the Department of Forests and Waters and nothing else—it may be out in a meadow, it may be in a pasture field, it may be where you have anything else, but immediately you have to do the things that they tell you to do.

Now, what do you do? You have to go ahead and straighten that out and you can not do it at all unless you go in and apply for a license to do it.

Now then, if less than twenty-five acres of land be operated by strip mining, in one year the annual fee is one hundred dollars. For more than twenty-five acres but less than fifty acres to be operated by strip mining, $250 a year. For fifty acres and over to be operated by strip-mining in one year the annual fee shall be $500 and these fees shall be placed in a special fund. Where? To be used by the Secretary to rehabilitate strip pit lands which were in this condition prior to this act. Get that. They are going to charge these fees, which are prohibitive, they are going to charge these fees every year in accordance with the way you apply for it and they are going to take the money and they are going to rehabilitate stripped lands that they have mined before.

There are same sections in the state where strip-mining has taken place for years and years but in the Senatorial District where I stay they are just nicely getting started. There is not much chance of this money coming back and even if there were what right would they have to apply it and what degree of efficiency has the Secretary of Forests and Waters over and above anybody else?

Now then, upon receipt of such application, fee and bond —you have to give a bond, buy a bond as provided in section 7 of this bill—the bill states that the Secretary shall issue a permit to the applicant beginning either the first day of January or the first day of July, and if I am too late in getting it in, so I can not get it the first day of January, several months of actual necessary work will be held up and I will have to wait until the first day of July.

Now then, Mr. President, this bill says "the permit aforesaid when issued shall remain in effect until revoked by the Secretary because of failure of the operator to perform any of the Secretary's requirements." Think of the power that is being given to the Secretary—any of the Secretary's requirements—the Secretary of the Department of Forests and Waters, without any previous experience or training in the mines, will be permitted to make an order "because of violation by the operator of any of the provisions of the act or because of failure of the operator to pay the proper annual renewal fee within thirty days after written notice and demand therefor by the Secretary."

If there is a dispute, where is there a chance for the operator? All of those things and many more are in this bill and I want to say to you that in my judgment it is not the thing to do.

I must take the time to tell you what some other people have said about this bill. One man said, "The bill imposes a serious burden upon the coal industry and it will cripple, if not wipe out, the open pit method of mining." I can not help but believe that the intention of this bill is to wipe out that particular industry and as for the reasons, you can get them for yourselves. This man also says "the open pit method of mining is becoming more and more important each year. The bill puts the open pit miners at the mercy of the Secretary of Forests and Waters in that it requires a permit before such operations can begin. The Secretary can refuse the permit and the operator must then appeal to the Dauphin County Court."

Now, why must he appeal to the Dauphin County Court, when his business is in the district where he proposes to mine? Who would be most likely to be able to handle this question? Where would you get your witnesses and where would you get your engineers and the people and all that sort of thing who are interested, if it would not be in the local courts where they have been hearing things about coal mining for year?

Now this man also says, "The permit fee required is excessive—$100 per year up to twenty-five acres; $250 up to fifty acres; and $500 up. This is not only an annual fee, but must be paid for each separate tract as a separate application must be made for each tract."

Now, Mr. President, in this western water shed, there are lots of hills, projections which make up small tracts. Maybe one man will own a thousand acres and he has several places that must be opened and he can not open any more than one without getting another right to do it, another license.

This letter goes on and says "The bill is unconstitutional in that it requires one person to improve the property of another; it compels one to plant and provide forests for others. The next step would be to require the farmer to plant trees in order to provide hunting for sportsmen or cover for game or beauty for tourists, and so on, who have no interest in the land and do not contribute to the cost; it is an unconstitutional discrimination between the open pit miner of coal and the open pit miner of clay, limestone, shale, and so on, as none of these are required to meet the terms of the bill; by compelling the open pit miner of coal to trespass upon land already stripped, which belongs to others, for the purpose of planting trees."

As an example, suppose a farmer does not want this done now—and I will suppose that he does not want it at all, and suppose he was well paid for this coal and he wants to use it for something else, some other purpose, he does not want a forest, there, he does not want the rabbits and the wild game and the birds and all that to run over it? What chance has he got, or what farmer, paying something or another, some taxes on the rest of his farm, wants his farm improved by levelling it off, for the purposes of raising his taxes? I am just asking.

Why, if a man is paid for that very right, he has sold something, he has given it over to an operator, maybe, and if he has been paid for it, why should not he be the man that should be required, because he always get extra for the damage that is done.

The letter states further, "This bill would deprive the farmer of a source of income. The stripping industry pays off more farm mortgages and judgments and pays up more delinquent farm taxes than any other industry." The letter also says: "If the burden is imposed on the miner, the farmer's royalty will have to be cut and most of the older people will be dead before the trees mature. Many times the farmer gets enough money from a few acres of strip land to pay off the mortgage, buy stock, furniture and machinery. From the nature of coal seam croppings, most of the land stripped is subnormal and used only for pasture, and so on. Nearly always the poorest acres of the farm. From twenty per cent up of all coal is now mined in our district by this process. Then the letter says, to cripple that fraction of the coal supply will endanger the fuel supply of the nation. This is no time for niceties and esthetic ideals. We have a war to win. The coal mined by the open pit process is such that can not be recovered by deep mining as it has no roof and is near the crop. If it is not recovered by this process, it will be lost forever. The open pit mining branch of the industry is purely a boom baby, as it can not compete with deep mined coal in other times due to the quality. However, just now we need increased tonnage and the open pit method where machinery can be used can meet the demand. When the boom is over the shovels will go back building highways along with the bulldozers and the deep mines will supply the fuel needed. Open pit mining is a war industry and, therefore, must not be crippled now. When we have won the war we can afford to consider esthetic problems."

I have to say if it is not recovered during the time you have a demand for it, this particular coal, and if it is not recovered during the time when so much is needed as now, when under the heavens are you going to recover it?

And now, further, I say I wish you would look at the bill—I will not take the time to read it—but I say that by this bill you are repealing and leaving without regulation the strip-mining that was in charge of the Department of Mines and Mining.

And now, Mr. President, here is another man who says:

"One of the main objections I have at this time is the cost and uselessness of leveling off, as I have had some experience in this work.

"Two years ago, on a certain property, one of the conditions of my lease called for the leveling off of the spoil between the first and last cuts; this with the idea that trees would be planted by the property owner. This has been done, two years ago, and at this writing, not a weed is growing on this leveled piece, and it is doubtful if anything even trees will grow there. It can be seen, if my word is doubted.

"On another property, which happens to be within a borough limit, and right next to a cemetery and a school, one of the conditions of our lease was leveling and the filling of the last cut. This has been done, at a tremendous cost, and with labor and equipment that should have been used in the production of coal that is so vitally needed. Had we spent the same time in uncovering coal for market, that has been spent in leveling and backfilling the last cut, we can safely state that we would have produced at least 10,000 tons of coal that was sorely needed the past year.

"With manpower critical, and with machinery scarce and hard to get, it seems a shame, at this time, to waste both labor and machines on a sentimental bill of this kind.

"We recently had to go to Washington for authority to get new equipment, and if the War Production Board knew that machines of this kind, which are needed by the Army, Navy and Lend-Lease were to be used for such a thing as levelling off and backfilling last cuts, they would not grant any priorities for critical materials, such as iron and steel repair parts for these machines.

"By all means, this bill should be killed at this time."

Now, then, Mr. President, it is important to know what you are doing with strip-mining. Anything that is worth doing is worth doing well. I should like to read to you the following:

"In 1942 there were approximately 230 bituminous coal stripping operations in Pennsylvania having an approximate production of 10,190,000 tons, which is approximately seven per cent of the entire bituminous production of 144,678,000 tons. There are 103 of these operations located in Western Pennsylvania with a production of approximately 600,121,000 tons in 1942, and 127 located in Central Pennsylvania with a production of approximately 400,069,000 tons in 1942. About 545,000 tons were produced by the stripping method of mining in Indiana and Jefferson counties in 1942."

Many of these are in my Senatorial District and in my particular county itself, too. Previously we had those who lived on the coal business and when the coal business when out at least 10,000 population went out, as to what there was fifty years ago when I went there.

"Much of the land presently being stripped is submarignal for cultivation. Substantial areas have never been cultivated and consist of more or less barren top soil while other large areas consist of cut-over timber lands, which constitute a definite fire hazard.

"The surface land upon which these strip mines are located is, in most cases, owned by parties other than those owning the mineral or mining rights. When the mineral rights are leased by the strip operator, the royalties therefore cover any surface damage resulting from or coincident with the removal of the coal. Such royalties are much higher (in cases as much as 150%) than royalties for deep mined coal. The stripping operator thus has no jurisdiction over the surface land.

"In many cases, strip-mining is second mining. That is, the greater part of the coal has previously been removed by deep mining and all that remains is the coal along the crop line which, because of shallow cover and subsequent poor roof conditions, cannot be recovered by other than the stripping method. Otherwise substantial quantities of coal would be irreparably lost were it not for this method of recovery.

"Because of the nature of the overburden it consists of being chiefly shale and rock, a period of approximately 3 years must elapse before such soil would support natural, or permit artificial reforestration.

"Shortage of manpower at the mines would preclude any degree of reforestration at the present time without taking workmen from the mines, thus further curtailing production of coal at a time when the Coordinator for Solid Fuels for War is requesting an increase of 5,000,000 tons from Pennsylvania in 1943."

Now, Mr. President, I want to say just a few words in conclusion. Shortage of man power at the mines would preclude any degree of reforestration at the present time without taking workmen from the mines, thus further curtailing production of coal at a time when the Coordinator for Solid Fuels for War is requesting an increase of five million tons from Pennsylvania in 1943.

You know I am concerned in this matter. I feel it is not right. I feel if you plan to put this bill through and put it in the hands of the Department of Forests and Waters, this forestration, you will be doing an injury to his business, you will be doing an injustice to the entire bituminous coal district and particulary the Senatorial districts I represent.

I want to say this, that while I desire the Senators who are concerned in this matter to have full opportunity of discussion and give their reasons for it, I want to move here that this bill be re-referred to Committee on Mines and Mining so that they can read the law we already have and I want to say that the Act of 1941 protects the lives of the people and tells how this strip-mining shall be done with reference to the people who are doing it—they are laborers and surely these gentlemen, and particularly, the gentleman from Westmoreland—is concerned that any one who is engaged in mining should be protected.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 361, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—37

Barr,	Dent,	James,	Stiefel,
Becker,	DiSilvestro,	Jaspan,	Tallman,
Bowers,	Ealy,	Jones,	Taylor,
Carr,	Farrell,	Kephart,	Tyler,

NAYS—8

Heyburn,	Mallery,	Snowden,	Wilson, H. I.,
Letzler,	McQuiddy,	Thomas,	Wilson, T. B.,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RECESS

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess in order that committee meetings may be held.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am on four of the committees which are about to hold meetings, and I am wondering how I am going to be able to attend them all, if they are all going to be held simultaneously.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now return to the order of business of Reports of Committees at this time.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. FARRELL, from the Committee on Public Health reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 594, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twelfth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 133) entitled "An act to regulate the sale and possession of sulfanilamide and its derivatives in the interest of public health" by excepting sulfathiazole-impregnated finger or small adhesive gauze bandages.

Mr. CHAPMAN, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 236, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the twelfth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. Mr. WALKER, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 182, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Medical School of the University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

He also, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, House Bill No. 735, entitled:

An Act to amend sections eleven and seventeen of the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 626) entitled "An act providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of all subjects of taxation in counties of the second class creating and prescribing the powers and duties of a Board of Property Assessment Appeals and Review imposing duties on certain county and city officers abolishing the board for the assessment and revision of taxes in such counties and prescribing penalties" further regulating appeals from assessments and exonerations and refunds of taxes effected thereby validating appeals heretofore taken and imposing additional duties upon the said board.

He also, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 598, entitled:

An Act to aid the Federal Government in the enforcement of its allocation and rationing program; making it unlawful to sell or buy commodities rationed by Federal authority without receiving or giving the required coupons, stamps, certificates, ration checks or other ration documents, or giving such documents that have been unlawfully obtained; empowering the Governor to designate commodities hereafter rationed to be subject to this act; and prescribing penalties.

He also, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 597, entitled:

An Act to add Section 699-7 to the act, approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 872), entitled "An act to consolidate, amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth," prohibiting the buying or selling of Federal ration stamps, coupons or other indicia or tokens necessary for the purchase of food, clothes, footwear, fuel or other commodities or articles; prohibiting the acceptance of such stamps, coupons or other indicia or tokens with knowledge that they have been bought or sold; and providing penalties.

He also, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 289, entitled:

An Act limiting the extent to which liability may be made retroactive in cases in which, upon the basis of court decision or administrative ruling, a liability to the Commonwealth for taxes or other moneys is asserted which had not theretofore been claimed.

He also, from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as amended, House Bill No. 476, entitled:

An Act to further amend section nine of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 207) entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior acts of Assembly" making additional provision for and fixing the compensation for the filing and collecting of tax claims.

He also, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, House Bill No. 607, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections four hundred twenty-six and four hundred twenty-seven of the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 736) entitled as amended "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties" conferring exclusive jurisdiction on the county court of Allegheny County in cases of appeals from the Workmen's Compensation Board.

He also, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, House Bill No. 641, entitled:

An Act providing for the validation and amendment of defective tax liens heretofore or hereafter entered of record repealing inconsistent legislation.

He also, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, House Bill No. 726, entitled:

An Act to amend section twelve of the act approved the twelfth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 603) entitled "An act concerning conditional sales and to make uniform the law relating thereto" making further provision for the satisfaction of conditional sales contracts filed in the office of the prothonotary.

He also, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, House Bill No. 596, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections four hundred four and four hundred ten of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of November one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 15 1933-34) entitled as amended "An act to regulate and restrain the sale manufacturing possession transportation importation traffic in and use of alcohol and alcoholic and malt or brewed beverages conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board and its agents the Department of Public Instruction other officers of the State government courts and district attorneys authorizing the establishment and operation of State stores for the sale of such beverages not for consumption on the premises and the granting of licenses subject to local option to sell such beverages for consumption on and off the premises forbidding importation or bringing of such beverages into the State except as herein provided prohibiting certain sales or practices in connection with and transactions in such beverages by licensees and others providing for the forfeiture of certain property making disposition of the receipts from State stores and of fees and imposing penalties" conferring jurisdiction on the county court of Allegheny County in cases of appeals from the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board.

He also, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, House Bill No. 742, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the fifteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 346) entitled "An act to promote uniformity in the assessment and taxation of properties and persons within the territorial limits of cities of the second class by providing that city taxes within such territorial limits shall be assessed levied and collected upon the basis of the county assessments imposing duties on county assessing authorities abolishing the department of assessors in cities of the second class and transferring certain property to county taxing authorities" by defining the effect upon appeals of the certification of tax duplicates to cities of the second class and to school districts coterminous therewith and providing for exonerations and refunds of taxes assessed against properties affected by such appeals.

He also, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, House Bill No. 609, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections seven and thirteen of the act approved the third day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 252) entitled as amended "An act to regulate and restrain the traffic in malt and brewed beverages as herein defined providing for the licensing of the manufacture transportation sale and distribution of such beverages imposing license and permit fees and providing for collection and distribution thereof restricting ownership and interest in licensed places permitting municipalities and townships by vote of the electors to prevent the licensing therein of places where such beverages may be sold for consumption on the premises and regulating elections for this purpose imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board quarter sessions courts district attorneys the Department of Justice proper authorities of political subdivisions of the State and election officers providing penalties and repealing existing acts" conferring jurisdiction on the county court of Allegheny County in cases of appeals from the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board.

He also, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 356, entitled:

An Act to amend sections twelve and seventeen of the act, approved the twenty-first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 626), entitled "An act providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of all subjects of taxation in counties of the second class; creating and prescribing the powers and duties of a Board of Property Assessment, Appeals and Review; imposing duties on certain county and city officers; abolishing the board for the assessment and revision of taxes in such counties; and prescribing penalties," by providing for appeals from the judgment order or decrees of the court of common pleas to the Supreme or Superior Court, and for exoneration and refund of taxes when any assessment has been reduced by the Board of Property Assessment, Appeals and Review or by any court.

He also, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as amended, House Bill No. 92, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 872) entitled "An act to consolidate amend and revise the penal laws of the Commonwealth" changing and revising sections of said act relating to obstructing an officer in the execution of process fornication and bastardy lotteries firearms receiving stolen property trespass on posted property cheating by fraudulent pretenses principals in the second degree and accessories aiders and abettors and repealing certain sections relating to larceny and certain existing acts.

He also, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, House Bill No. 750, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection (a) of section twenty-five of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 447) entitled as amended "An act relating to the administration and distribution of the estates of decedents and of minors and of trust estates including the appointment bonds rights powers duties liabilities accounts discharge and removal of executors administrators guardians and trustees herein designated as fiduciaries the administration and distribution of the estates of presumed decedents widow's and children's exemptions debts of decedents rents of real estate as assets for payment thereof the lien thereof sales and mortgages of real estate for the payment thereof judgments and executions therefor and the discharge of real estate from the lien thereof contracts of decedents for the sale or purchase of real estate legacies including legacies charged on land the discharge of residuary estates and of real estate from the lien of legacies and other charges the appraisement of real estate devised at a valuation the ascertainment of the curtilage of dwelling houses or other buildings devised the abatement and survival of actions and the substitution of executors and administrators therein the survival of causes of action and suits thereupon by or against fiduciaries investments by fiduciaries the organization of corporations to carry on the business of decedents the audit and review of accounts of fiduciaries refunding bonds transcripts to the court of common pleas of balances due by fiduciaries the rights powers and liabilities of nonresident and foreign fiduciaries the appointment bonds rights powers duties and liabilities of trustees durante absentia the recording and registration of decrees reports and other proceedings and the fees therefor appeals in certain cases and also generally dealing with the jurisdiction powers and procedure of the orphans' court in all matters relating to fiduciaries concerned with the estates of decedents" by providing for the filing of petitions for the enforcement of payment of legacies charged upon real estate by executors administrators cum testamento annexo and administrators de bonis non cum testamento annexo.

SENATE BILL No. 46, PRINTER'S No. 323 CALLED UP

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I call up at this time Senate Bill No. 46, Printer's No. 323, on the Second Reading Calendar, page 19.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 46, on second reading, entitled:

An Act relating to labor organizations protecting the rights of members thereof imposing certain responsibilities and duties upon the officers of labor organizations requiring the registration of foreign labor organizations, and prohibiting gifts by labor organizations to political organizations or candidates for election or nominations, and regulating the making of loans; conferring certain powers and duties upon the Secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry of this Commonwealth and of said department and prescribing penalties be recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. MALLERY. I ask that the roll be called Mr. President.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I also would like the privilege of seconding this motion.

Mr. MALLERY. I wish to be a third seconder and I also ask that the roll be called.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, may I inquire what is the attitude of the sponsor of this bill? Inasmuch as the gentleman from Philadelphia introduced the bill, is he in accord with the proposition to send this bill back to the Committee on Labor and Industry?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Oh certainly, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Jaspan, will proceed.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to know whether the Senator from Philadelphia, Doctor Woodward, the sponsor of this bill, is agreeable to having it sent back to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. WOODWARD. No, Mr. President, I am disagreeable to it.

Mr. JASPAN. Why, Mr. President?

Mr. WOODWARD. Well, Mr. President, there are circumstances sometimes that can not be avoided.

Mr. JASPAN. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Doctor Woodward, please answer the question?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Philadelphia repeat his question?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I ask whether the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward, is agreeable to having Senate Bill No. 46 sent back to the Committee on Labor and Industry, and if so, why?

Mr. WOODWARD. I told the gentleman that it is not agreeable to me.

Mr. JASPAN. Why is it not agreeable to the gentleman from Philadelphia? I would like to know why?

Mr. WOODWARD. I do not mind telling the gentleman from Philadelphia that this bill, well, it might have friends and also foes.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I did not quite hear the gentleman from Philadelphia. Will he speak a little louder?

Mr. WOODWARD. I do not want to make a speech.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I withdraw the question. I can understand why. Thank you.

Mr. WOODWARD. Thank you.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. MALLERY. I had requested that the roll be called, Mr. President. I hope the Chair will recall that I asked for a roll call on the motion to recommit Senate Bill No. 46.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair did not hear the request of the gentleman from Blair that the roll be called. If there is no objection, the roll will be called on the motion to recommit Senate Bill No. 46 to the Committee on Labor and Industry. Apparently the gentleman from Blair, Senator Mallery requested a roll call which request the Chair did not hear.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from McKean will proceed.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, what is the present legislative situation? Has Senate Bill No. 46 been recommitted or has it not?

The PRESIDENT. It has.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. What is the purpose of a roll call, Mr. President, if the bill has been recommitted?

The PRESIDENT. Does the Senator have objection? The Senator from Blair stated that the Chair has deprived him of one of his privileges and, naturally, the Chair wants to restore that privilege.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I withdraw my objection if the Chair feels that he overlooked something the Senator from Blair asked for. I do not wish to be technical.

REQUEST WITHDRAWN

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I withdraw my request that the roll be called. I want to be on record as voting against this bill, and in favor of the motion to recommit.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Blair will be so recorded. The Senator from Blair was one of the seconders of the motion to recommit the bill, and the Senator from Blair will be so recorded on that basis.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HEYBURN on behalf of Mr. WALKER, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as committed, House Bill No. 536, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 280) entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands and prescribing interest charges on nonpayment thereof requiring the receivers and collectors of county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes and providing for the lien thereof authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances" providing that all liens in favor of the Commonwealth other than tax liens charged against real estate heretofore or hereafter sold for taxes by the county treasurers are divested by such sales.

RECESS

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 9:30 o'clock p. m. Eastern War Time.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Charles H. Ealy) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 517, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section ten of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five (P. L. 29) entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of natural gas companies," providing that natural gas companies shall have the right of eminent domain for the storage of natural gas and manufactured fuel gas beneath the surface of any lands situate within the territory of production, pipe lines, or of supply of such corporation be recommitted to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 556, on third reading, entitled:

An Act concerning the ascertainment of principal and income and the apportionment of receipts and expenses among tenants and remaindermen, and to make uniform the law with reference thereto

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 557, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the seventeenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 507), entitled "An act to provide revenue for State and county purposes, and, in cities coextensive with counties, for city and county purposes; imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property; providing for the assessment and collection of the same; providing for the duties and compensation of prothonotaries and recorders in connection therewith and modifying existing legislation which provided for raising revenue for State purposes" by excluding from the provisions thereof personal property held in trust under the terms of a stock bonus, pension, annuity, or profit-sharing or deferred compensation plan, as herein defined, maintained by an employer for the exclusive benefit of his employes or their beneficiaries.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, this is a bad bill. It exempts from taxation a certain group of people just because they put money in a trust company, but it does not exempt from taxation other people such as widows and orphans who likewise put money in a trust company, and the reason for the exemption is no different in either case and I am against this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—14

Becker,	Snowden,	Thomas,	Watkins,
Bowers,	Stevenson,	Wade,	Wilson, T. B.,

Farrell,	Jaspan,	McQuiddy,	Woodward,
Gourley,	Jones,

Less than a Constitutional majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the negative.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 570, entitled:

An Act relating to assessment for taxation in counties of the fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes designating the subjects property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for county borough town township school except in cities and county institution

Walker,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 583, entitled:

An Act to further amend section fourteen of article four and section one of article five of the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 756) entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith" further regulating lamps to be carried by shot-firers and fire bosses

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section fourteen of article four of the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 756) entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith" as amended by the act approved the first day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2486) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 14 In such portions of a mine where explosive gas is being generated in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp and in which approved lamps are used the mine foreman shall employ a sufficient number of competent and legally qualified persons who are able to speak the English language to act as shot-firers whose duty shall be to charge tamp and fire all holes properly placed by the miners and to refuse to charge any holes not properly placed No holes shall be fired by any person other than a shot-firer They shall use none but incombustible material for tamping which the mine foreman shall see is provided for them at convenient places inside the mine Under no condition shall the shot-firer use coal dust or any other combustible material for tamping All such holes shall be fired by an approved electric apparatus and no person other than the shot-firer shall connect the wires of or operate said apparatus Each shot-firer shall keep a record of and report to the mine foreman every hole that he has refused to charge every blown-out shot and every hole that has misfired. It shall be the duty of shot-firers and miners who are permitted by this act to fire their own shots to visit and examine the places where shots have been fired before leaving the mine to see that there is no fire or any other danger existing

In all mines in which coal is blasted from the solid all holes shall be fired when all the workmen are out of the mine except shot-firers and persons delegated by the mine foreman to safeguard property

No shot-firer or any other person shall fire a shot in any working place or at any point in any mine if his safety lamp indicates explosive gas and he shall not be in possession of any other lamp than an approved safety lamp except he may have in addition an officials' electric flash light or flash lamp approved by the Secretary of Mines while performing the duties of a shot-firer This provision is not intended to prohibit blasting in entries going into the solid coal wherein explosive gas is escaping from the coal conditioned it is carried off rapidly rendered harmless and diluted below the point of detection on the flame of an approved safety lamp In gaseous mines in which approved safety lamps are used he shall fire no holes unless the entries and rooms which are dry and dusty are so thoroughly wetted as to prevent the existence of any dry dust for a distance of not less than eighty feet from the hole to be fired unless the dust is rendered inert to explosibility by rock dust

Section 2 Section one of article five of said act as last amended by the act approved the first day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2486) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 In such portions of a mine wherein explosive gas has been generated within one year before the passage of this act or shall be generated after the passage of this act in sufficient quantities to be detected by an approved safety lamp the mine foreman shall employ a fire boss or fire bosses whose competency to act as such shall be evidenced by a certificate of qualification from the Department of Mines on the recommendation of the examining board as provided for in section six article twenty-four of this act It shall be the duty of the fire boss to examine carefully before each shift enters the mine every working place without exception all places adjacent to live workings every roadway and every unfenced road to abandoned workings and falls in the mine but before proceeding with the examination he shall see that the air current is traveling in its proper course In making the examination he shall use no light other than that enclosed in an approved safety lamp but he may carry in addition an officials' electric flash light or flash lamp approved by the Secretary of Mines The examination shall begin within three hours prior to the appointed time for each shift to enter the mine The fire boss shall examine for dangers in all portions of the mine under his charge and after each examination he shall leave at the face and side of every place examined the date of the examination as evidence that he has performed his duty He shall also examine the entrance or entrances to all worked-out and abandoned portions adjacent to the roadways and working places under his charge where explosive gas is likely to accumulate and he shall place a danger signal across each entrance to every working place and every other place where explosive gas is discovered or immediate danger is found to exist from any other cause and said signal shall be sufficient warning for persons not to enter The meaning of all danger signals shall be explained to the non-English speaking employes of the mine in their several languages by the mine foreman assistant mine foreman or fire boss through an interpreter

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 609, entitled:

An Act relating to the release reduction or limitation of powers of appointment

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Any power of appointment over real or personal property which is exercisable by deed by will by deed or will or otherwise whether general or special other than a power in trust which is imperative is releasable either with or without consideration by written instrument signed by the person possessing the power and delivered as hereinafter provided

Section 2 A power which is releasable may be released either absolutely or conditionally and may also be released with respect to the whole or any part of the property subject to such power and may also be released in such manner as to reduce or limit the persons or objects or classes of persons or objects in whose favor such power would otherwise be exercisable No release of a power shall be deemed to make imperative a power which was not imprative prior to such release unless the instrument of release expressly so provides

Section 3 Such release may be delivered to any of the following

(a) Any person specified for such purpose in the instrument creating the power

(b) Any trustee of the property to which the power relates

(c) Any person other than the person possessing the power who could be adversely affected by an exercise of the power

(d) The Recorder of Deeds of the county in which the person possessing the power resides or has a place of business or in which the deed will or other instrument creating the power is recorded or filed

Section 4 This act shall apply to releases heretofore and hereafter delivered

Section 5 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, in my opinion the title of this bill does not define the Act and, therefore, I vote "no".

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker.

THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Gladly, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. I desire to know what this bill actually does?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, under the Federal Income Tax Bill of 1942 there were certain provisions made with regard to imperative trusts—trusts that were imperative were removed from the Act of 1942 and trusts that were not imperative were also removed.

This is an opportunity to give to the taxpayers of Pennsylvania who are reporting trusts that are not imperative opportunity to take advantage of the Federal Income Tax Act of 1942. This is a bill which will provide opportunity for those who are not under imperative trusts to come in under the Act of 1942.

It is a good bill and the title is actually descriptive of the bill. I think it is a good bill and I think it should be passed by this Senate.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 678, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343) entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the law imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" by further regulating the procedure and the jurisdiction of the Board of Finance and Revenue relative to certain claims for refund clarifying certain provisions relating to extensions of time for filing tax reports or returns eliminating the provisions imposing interest on tax and bonus at any greater rate than six per centum per annum changing and restricting the right of the Commonwealth to impose interest on certain unpaid taxes and bonus when such taxes and bonus are not settled within a prescribed period of time providing for the automatic adjustment of interest liability so as to correspond to certain changes in tax or bonus liability and further regulating the procedure for filing petitions for resettlement petitions for review appeals to court and the security accompanying such appeals

Section 1 Clause (a) of section five hundred three of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343) entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" as last amended by the act approved the fifth day of August one thousand nine hundred and forty-one (P. L. 797) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 503 Refunds of State Taxes License Fees Et Cetera The Board of Finance and Revenue shall have the power and its duty shall be

(a) To hear and determine any petition for the refund of taxes license fees penalties fines bonus or other moneys paid to the Commonwealth and to which the Commonwealth is not rightfully or equitably entitled and upon the allowance of any such petition to refund such taxes license fees penalties fines bonus or other moneys out of any appropriation or appropriations made for the purpose or to credit the account of the person association corporation body politic or public officer entitled to the refund The jurisdiction of the Board of Finance and Revenue to hear and determine a petition for refund as aforesaid shall not be affected or limited by the fact that proceedings under Sections 1102 1103 or 1104 of this act involving the same tax or bonus and period for which a refund is sought are pending or have been closed provided such proceedings relate to other objections than those raised in the petition for refund All such petitions must be filed with the board within two years of the payment of which refund is requested or within two years of the settlement in the case of taxes or bonus whichever period last expires except

(1) Where a petition for refund filed by a domestic or foreign corporation involves the valuation of its capital stock or in case of a foreign corporation the valuation of its tangible property for bonus purposes or where a petition for refund filed by a bank title insurance or trust company involves the valuation of its shares of stock such petition must be filed with the board within one year of the payment of which refund is requested or within one year of the settlement of such taxes or bonus whichever period last expires

(2) When the estate upon which any transfer inheritance tax has been paid shall have consisted in whole or in part of a partnership or other interest of uncertain value or shall have been involved in litigation by reason whereof there shall have been an overvaluation of that portion of the estate on which the tax has been assessed and paid which overvaluation could not have been ascertained within said period of two years In such case the application for repayment shall be made to the Board of Finance and Revenue within one year from the termination of such litigation or ascertainment of such overvaluation

(3) When a court of record has adjudged a person to be legally dead and thereafter in the settlement of his or her estate a transfer inheritance tax shall have been paid on such estate and after such payment has been made such person shall reappear and the court shall rescind its order and adjudication In such case the petition to the board shall be filed within six months after the court shall have rescinded its order and adjudication

(4) When any tax or other money has been paid to the Commonwealth under a provision of an act of Assembly subsequently held by [the] final judgment of a court of [final] competent jurisdiction to be unconstitutional or under an interpretation of such provision subsequently held by such court to be erroneous In such case the petition to the board shall be filed within five years of the payment of which a refund is requested But the limitation of five years herein prescribed shall not be deemed to apply in the case of applications for refunds of taxes paid on liquid fuels by political subdivisions prior to the effective date of this amendment where by court decision it has been held that the collection of such tax was erroneous and without authority of law if application for such refunds shall be made within two years after the effective date of this amendment The aforesaid limitation of five years shall likewise not be deemed to apply in the case of applications for refunds of taxes paid on certain alcohol usable for beverage purposes under the provisions of the act approved the twenty-second day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 5 1933-34) entitled "An act imposing a State floor tax on alcohol usable for beverages purposes and certain alcoholic liquors in the Commonwealth between the date this act becomes effective and the date the Twenty-first Amendment to the Constitution of the United States is ratified describing the method and manner of collection of such tax conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments and certain individuals firms and corporations and imposing penalties" where by court decision it has been held that the imposition or collection of such tax was erroneous and without authority of law if application for such refunds shall be made within two years after the effective date of this amendment

Section 2 Sections seven hundred four and eight hundred six of said act as last amended by the act approved the second day of February one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 3) are hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 704 Extensions of Time The Department of Revenue may upon application made to it in such form as it shall prescribe on or prior to the last day for filing any tax report tax return or bonus return grant to the person association or corporation required to file such report or return an extension of not more than sixty days within which such report or return may be filed without penalty The department may also in its discretion extend generally for a period not exceeding fifteen days the time within which reports or return may be filed for any tax The provisions of this section shall not be construed to affect the provisions of any other act authorizing the department to grant extensions of time for filing corporate net income tax reports

Section 806 Interest on Taxes and Bonus Due the Commonwealth All tax and bonus due the Commonwealth as provided by law shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date they are due and payable until [sixty (60) days after settlement and thereafter at the rate of twelve (12) per centum per annum until paid except that any taxes or bonus due as a result of an appeal to the court of common pleas or any appellate court shall bear interest at the rate of six (6) per centum per annum from the date such tax is due and payable until] paid Provided That in the case of all taxes and bonus which other provisions of this act require taxpayers to compute and pay at the time of filing the report or return if a settlement is not made within two years after the date upon which the report or return was filed no interest whatsoever shall be imposed for the period between the end of such two years and the date of the approval of the settlement unless the taxpayer has filed a written waiver permitting interest to run after the end of said two years The payment of interest as aforesaid shall not relieve any person association or corporation from any of the penalties or commissions prescribed by law for neglect or refusal to furnish reports to the Department of Revenue or to pay any claim due to the Commonwealth from such person association or corporation

Whenever the tax or bonus liability of a taxpayer is so affected by any settlement or resettlement as to change the interest liability which has been settled against such taxpayer such interest liability shall be adjusted by the Department of Revenue and the Department of the Auditor General so as to correspond to the tax or bonus liability as changed without the necessity for the filing of any petition or request by the taxpayer or by said departments

Section 3 Section one thousand one hundred two of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1102 Petition for Resettlement Within ninety (90) days after the date upon which the copy of any settlement was mailed to the party with whom or with which the settlement was made such party may file with the department which made it a petition for resettlement

Every petition for resettlement shall fully state the reasons which the petitioner believes entitle him or it to such resettlement

It shall be the duty of the department with which the petition was filed within six (6) months after the date of any settlement to dispose of any petition for resettlement

In the case of petitions for resettlemnet filed with the Department of Revenue the disposition of the petition shall be subject to the approval of the department of the Auditor General as in the case of original settlements and if the two departments shall be unable to agree the case shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue by the Department of Revenue The Board of Finance and Revenue shall decide every such case within three (3) months from the date of the submission thereof and in case of its failure to reach a decision within such period the disposition of the Department of Revenue shall automatically become valid and the Board of Finance and Revenue shall immediately return to the Department of Revenue all of the papers appertaining to the case

In the case of petitions for resettlement filed with the Department of the Auditor General the petition shall be disposed of by the joint action of that department and of the Treasury Department as in the case of original settlements

Notice of the action taken upon any petition for a resettlement shall be given to the petitioner promptly after the date of resettlement by the department with which the petition was filed

Section 4 Section one thousand one hundred three of said act as amended by the act approved the sixth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 261) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1103 Petition to Board of Finance and Revenue for Review Within sixty days after the date of mailing of notice by the Department of Revenue or of the Auditor General of the action taken on any petition for a resettlement filed with it the party with whom the settlement was made may by petition request the Board of Finance and Revenue to review such action

Every petition for review filed hereunder shall state specifically the reasons upon which the petitioner relies The petition shall be supported by affidavit that it is not made for the purpose of delay and that the facts therein set forth are true If the petitioner be a corporation joint-stock association or limited partnership the affidavit must be made by one of the principal officers thereof

The Board of Finance and Revenue shall dispose of such petitions filed with it within ninety (90) days after they have been received and in the event of the failure of the Board of Finance and Revenue to dispose of any such petition within ninety (90) days the action taken upon the petition for resettlement shall be deemed sustained

The Board of Finance and Revenue may sustain the action taken on the petition for resettlement or it may resettle the account upon such basis as it shall deem according to law and equity

Notice of the action of the Board of Finance and Revenue shall be given by mail or otherwise to all departments involved and to the petitioner

Section 5 Section one thousand one hundred four of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1104 Appeal to Court Any person association corporation public officer or other debtor aggrieved by the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or by the board's failure to act upon his or its petition for review within ninety (90) days may within sixty (60) days appeal to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County from the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or from the decision of the Department of Revenue or of the Department of the Auditor General as the case may be The said sixty (60) day period shall begin to run (a) From the end of the ninety (90) day period where the board fails to act or (b) from the date of mailing of notice of the refusal of the petition for review or (c) from the date of mailing by the Department of Revenue of the certification of a resettlement where the board has made a resettlement Such appeal shall be in such form as shall be prescribed by the rules of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County All such appeals shall be lodged with the [Department of Justice which department shall transmit them to the clerk of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County and notify the appellant of the date of filing and the term and number of the appeal] prothonotary of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County and a conformed copy thereof indicating the date on which it was filed shall be forwarded immediately to the Department of Justice

Every such appeal shall be accompanied with a specification of objections to the settlement resettlement or other decision as the case may be and the party appealing shall enter sufficient security before one of the judges of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County within [ten(10)] sixty (60) days next after the filing of the appeal with the clerk to prosecute the appeal with effect to pay all costs and charges which the court shall award and any sum of money which shall appear by the judgment of the court to be due by such party to the Commonwealth

The party appealing shall file with every such appeal an affidavit containing the specification of objections and stating that the appeal is not taken for delay but because appellant believes injustice has been done by the settlement or resettlement or other decision appealed from and that the facts set forth therein are true to the best of affiant's knowledge and belief If a corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association is the party appellant such affidavit shall be taken by one of its chief officers

Appeals taken hereunder shall be hearings de novo but no facts shall be admitted in evidence that were not brought to the attention of the department making the settlement or in the application for resettlement or petition for review prior to the appeal and set forth in the specification of objections contained in the affidavit accompanying the appeal unless the court shall be satisfied that the appellant was unable by the exercise of reasonable diligence to have laid such evidence before the department making the settlement and the Board of Finance and Revenue and no questions shall be raised which are not included in the specification of objections filed as hereinbefore provided

From the judgment of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County an appeal may be taken by either party as in other cases

Section 6 The amendments hereinbefore made to section eight hundred six reducing the rate of interest on unpaid tax and bonus and changing and restricting the right of the Commonwealth to impose interest on certain unpaid tax and bonus when such tax and bonus are not settled within a prescribed period of time shall apply only to tax and bonus under reports filed for the calendar year one thousand nine hundred forty-two or for fiscal years or periods beginning in the calendar year one thousand nine hundred forty-two and for calendar and fiscal years or periods thereafter

All other provisions of this act shall become effective upon the first day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-three

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 844, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant-Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" by providing that under war time conditions the Department of Property and Supplies may make certain purchases and may authorize any department board or commission to make certain purchases without advertising or competitive bidding further providing as to the supervision of the Department of Property and Supplies over the construction and alteration of buildings and over the plans and specifications therefor relieving the Department of Property and Supplies from the duty of supervising the operation of mechanical and electrical equipment used in connection with the operation of State institutions or other State buildings and authorizing departments boards and commissions to make certain purchases of repair parts to contract for public utility services to rent machinery and equipment to employ labor on a temporary basis under certain conditions to subscribe to certain publications and to take memberships in certain organizations and societies

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I object.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I think the Republican leadership is a bit shortsighted in denying the Democrats a chance to look this bill over. I do not think they have enough votes here to pass the bill and our fellows are inclined to be for it, after learning more about one or two provisions of the bill, with which we are not quite familiar, and if you allow it to go over in order it is quite possible you will get enough votes from our side to pass it, but if you insist on a roll call at the present time it is likely to get licked.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, that House Bill No. 844 go over in order?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, if the members on the other side want to have another day in which to study this bill, I have no objection.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 849, entitled:

An Act relating to child care centers conferring certain powers and duties upon the State Council of Defense local and district councils of defense and political subdivisions providing for the adoption of rules and regulations for the maintenance operation and conduct thereof authorizing appropriations by political subdivisions and providing penalties

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Whereas the supreme emergency of the world wide war has resulted in conditions calling for the employment of all available man-power and woman-power in the industries engaged in war work

Section 1 This act shall be known and may be cited as the "Emergency Child Care Centers Act"

Section 2 The following words and phrases shall have the meanings ascribed to them in this section

"State Council of Defense" shall mean such council established under the provisions of the act approved the nineteenth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 6)

"Local and district councils of defense" shall mean such councils established under the provisions of the act approved the nineteenth day of March one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 6)

"Political subdivision" shall mean any county city borough incorporated town and township

"Emergency child care centers" shall mean only such emergency child care centers established by the State Council of Defense and local and district councils of defense under the provisions of this act

Section 3. The State Council of Defense shall during the continuance of the existing state of war between the United States and any foreign country have the power to establish emergency child care centers for the purpose of providing care and supervision for three or more children under fourteen (14) years of age in lieu of the care and supervision ordinarily provided by parents now or hereafter engaged in war industries for periods of more than four but less than twenty-four hours in any one day Provided however That this act shall apply only to emergency child care centers established under the provisions of this act which shall be established without any distinction whatever on account of or by reason of the race color or creed of any child

Section 4 In furtherance of this act the State Council of Defense shall have the power to adopt promulgate and enforce rules regulations and orders for the maintenance operation and conduct of emergency child care centers and such rules regulations and orders adopted by the State Council of Defense shall have the same force and effect as if they had formed a part of this act

In establishing standard requirements for the conduct of child care centers the State Council of Defense may avail itself of the services of the Department of Welfare and the Department of Health

Section 5 Any local or district council of defense may establish a child care center in the political subdivision in which such local or district council of defense is established or in which it exercises jurisdiction and may make such charge for the care and supervision of the children entrusted to it as it deems advisable but no charge shall be made in excess of the charges approved by the State Council of Defense

Section 6 In so far as applicable local and district councils of defense shall have the same powers and duties with respect to child care centers within their respective jurisdictions as are vested in the State Council of Defense but subject to any limitations herein contained

Section 7 Local and district councils of defense shall have the power to adopt promulgate and enforce rules regulations and orders not inconsistent with the rules regulations and orders adopted by the State Council of Defense with respect to child care centers Provided however That no rule regulation or order of any local or district council of defense shall become effective unless and until it shall have received the prior approval of the State Council of Defense Each local and district council of defense shall have available for inspection at its offices all rules regulations and orders adopted by the State Council of Defense and by such local or district council of defense

Section 8 Political subdivisions shall have the power to make appropriations in the manner provided by the act approved the seventeenth day of April one thousand nine hundred forty-two (P. L. 42) for the payment of expenses and local and district councils of defense in furtherance of this act

Section 9 Any person violating any of the provisions of this act or any of the rules regulations and orders adopted under this act by the State Council of Defense or any local or district council of defense shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars ($200) or imprisonment not exceeding ninety (90) days or both

Section 10. This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment and shall remain in effect so long as a state of war exists between the United States and any foreign country or until the State Council of Defense shall be dissolved by proclamation whichever first occurs

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, with reference to House Bill No. 849, Printer's No. 332, last evening the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, tried to offer amendments which were defeated by the majority side.

In my opinion this bill as written will not mean anything to local communities, other than substantial increase in their real estate taxes. I for one am very much in favor of adopting a bill for child care centers but I do think that should be a state problem and as the bill is drawn, without the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Stiefel, I am going to ask my colleagues to vote "no" as the bill is on third reading on our calendar.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I want to read to the members of the Senate a letter sent to me by the Allegheny County Council of Defense, signed by the Chairman of the Committee on Day Care. The letter is as follows:

"THE ALLEGHENY COUNTY COUNCIL OF DEFENSE
419 COUNTY OFFICE BUILDING

April 10, 1943.

"Honorable Elmer J. Holland,
2721 Shelly Street,
Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

"Dear Senator Holland:

"Following our recent telephone conversation, may I say that our committee is deeply concerned about the question of care of children of working parents, and is hoping that whatever legislation is approved will safeguard adequately the health and welfare of these children.

"In addition to the state and local Councils of Defense, many different groups, such as churches, settlements, labor unions, and industries, are interested in the establishment of child care centers. We believe, therefore, that in framing any new legislation, consideration should be given to the question of how the interests of all the children in all the different types of child care centers organized in the state can best be safeguarded.

"Under the law, the Department of Welfare has supervision over all types of agencies and institutions, including day nurseries, which give care to children. It is also empowered to recommend "standards and methods" for such agencies and institutions. We feel that it is important that uniform minimum standards for child care centers should be maintained throughout the state, and that all such centers receive adequate state supervision.

"We are hoping, therefore, that any new laws will clearly define the specific responsibilities of the various state departments, including the Departments of Welfare and Public Instruction, concerned with the care of children of working parents.

"May I thank you for your consideration of this matter and assure you of our continuing interest.

"Sincerely yours,
MRS. EMILY M. DIESCHER, Chairman
Committee on Day Care
Allegheny County Defense Council and Federation of Social Agencies."

I also have a letter here I should like to read to the members of the Senate from the Public Charities Association of Pennsylvania, which is as follows:

"PUBLIC CHARITIES ASSOCIATION OF PENNSYLVANIA

311 South Juniper Street
Philadelphia, Pa.

519 Smithfield Street
Pittsburgh, Pa.

"Hon. Elmer J. Holland,
2721 Shelly Street,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

"My dear Senator Holland:

"We are much disturbed about H. 849, which has passed the House and has been reported out by the Senate Committee on State Government. This bill relates to the establishment of day care centers for the children of working mothers.

"Day care centers should be developed by various kinds of responsible groups, including churches, settlements, children's institutions and other established groups that may be able to extend services they now have, with small additional cost, and with the use of the equipment they may have and the supervision they can furnish. The superintendent of one large children's institution here in Allegheny County, for example, tells me that many mothers are asking her to take children before and after school, until the mothers return from work. This would be a natural and beneficial arrangement. She cannot, however, take these children for care because the institution has no money to pay for the additional person or persons needed to look after the extra children. A small grant from the State on an emergency basis would make this possible.

"H. 849 makes no provisions for using the resources already available in many communities, and the plan of the State Council of Defense to pay for equipment only does not solve the most important problem, which is that of cost of staff. I have seen many a day nursery with nice equipment, where the children suffered from contagious skin diseases and other ills because there was no morning inspection by a doctor or nurse and no provision for treating such diseases. A child care center can go bad almost over night and be a real threat to children's health and welfare unless responsible people are in charge.

"We also believe that there shall be joint planning among the three departments involved, as suggested in the enclosed letter to Senator Tallman. It certainly would seem wasteful for staff members from two state departments to go into the same communities to investigate and supervise child care centers, especially since the Department of Welfare has the legal responsibility to investigate and supervise all institutions and agencies caring for children away from their own parents, and is already supervising 35 or 40 day nurseries. There is no difference whatever between day nurseries and emergency child care centers except in name.

"The plan we suggest is along the line that has worked well in New York where the State Council of Defense and the Department of Welfare work in complete unity to serve the children of the state. We do not believe that this bill would establish a basis for that kind of co-operative arrangement in Pennsylvania, since it relates only to centers established by local and district councils of defense. The clause in Sec. 3, whereby the State Council of Defense may avail itself of the services of the Department of Welfare and the Department of Health is permissive only.

"It seems highly important that the law under which centers will be developed in the next two years should be drafted on the basis of sound experience, and should make possible the care of all children who need it, across the state.

"Thanking you for consideration of this matter, I am

"Sincerely yours,
(Mrs.) HELEN GLENN TYSON,
Secretary,
Family and Child Welfare Division."

Mr. President, the city of New York thought child care centers were so important that the city appropriated $15,000,000 for child care centers. This bill is merely a camouflage bill. The bill we are voting upon will not establish child care centers. It means that we must go back to the municipalities and, as you know, all the municipalities today have closed their budgets and have no means of appropriating the necessary moneys to take care of the children of the mothers who are working in defense industries.

I feel, Mr. President, that if this bill is passed, especially after this Senate the last few days has reduced taxes on the large interests of Pennsylvania who are at the present time enjoying the most successful years they ever had, and placing the cost of caring for these poor children upon the backs of home owners of our municipalities, is very unfair, and I also believe, Mr. President, that practically all the municipalities in the state of Pennsylvania are not financially equipped to do this.

This bill would be merely a mockery if we were to pass it.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I pointed out yesterday, when I proposed to introduce amendments to this bill, certain difficulties in the bill which need elucidation and clarification. That was not prompted by any partisan consideration. I simply maintain that the draftsmanship of the bill is poor.

For instance, Mr. President, I pointed out that the word "establish" does not necessarily mean maintain and conduct.

Soon this Session will be over, we will adjourn and there will be questions directed to the State Council and they will be limited by the language of this bill. The bill as it is now drafted will to a certain degree fail or may frustrate efforts to help child care.

We do not know how long this war is going to last, but in the meantime a part of our child population will not get adequate attention because of the poor draftsmanship of the bill, and I am appealing to the leadership of the Majority Party to send it back to committee for the necessary corrections, and if they fail to yield to this request, I appeal to my colleagues and to all those members of the Senate who put the welfare of the children above partisan considerations to vote against this bill.

Mr. McCREESH. In my district back home in Philadelphia, Mr. President, we have plenty of day nurseries to take care of our children so far, and a mother who wants to look after her children will always find some little money to support them.

I am not in favor of women turning their children over to the state and running away and leaving them. I think it is up to a mother to take care of her children. I am going to vote against this bill.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. STIEFEL, Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 849 on third reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. STIEFEL and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—12.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 895, entitled:

An Act to further reenact and amend the title and the act approved the twenty-eighth day of March one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 86) entitled as amended "An act relating to the grading and sale of grapes and potatoes in this Commonwealth providing penalties for violations and imposing certain duties upon the Department of Agriculture" by extending the provisions to apples and peaches and permitting the grading classifying and packing of grapes potatoes apples and peaches other than those packed or repacked within this State.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment. This amendment is made with the knowledge and approval of the sponsor, and it merely corrects a typographical error.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 3, page 3, line 20, by placing quotation marks before and after the word unclassified in that line.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing on final passage.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 151, entitled:

An Act to amend Sections 203 and 204 and to further amend Section 205 of and to add Sections 205.1 205.2 205.3 205.4 205.5 205.6 205.7 205.8 205.9 205.10 and 205.11 to the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thou-

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. HOLLAND offered the following amendments:

Amend sec. 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out the word "Clause" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "Section two hundred one and clause"; Amend sec. 1, page 2, line 12, by striking out the word "is" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "are"; Amend sec. 1, page 2, by inserting between lines 13 and 14 the following:

Section 201. Subjects of Taxation Enumerated—The following subjects and property shall as hereinafter provided be valued and assessed and subject to taxation for all county, city, borough, town, township, school and poor purposes at the annual rate:

(a) All real estate to wit: Houses, land, lots of ground and ground rents, mills and manufactories of all kinds, furnaces, forges, bloomeries, distilleries, sugar houses, malt houses, breweries, tan yards, fisheries and ferries, wharves and all real estate owned or possessed by any public service company, except the superstructure of the roads of railroads and street railway companies and the rights of way upon which the same are located and except the lines and pipes of companies used for the transmission of water, electric power, messages, oil or natural or artificial gas, and the rights of way upon which the same are located, and all other real estate not exempt by law from taxation.

(b) All salaries and emoluments of office, all offices and posts of profit, professions, trades and occupations, except the occupation of farmer and all persons over the age of twenty-one years who do not follow any occupation or calling as well of unnaturalized foreign-born persons who shall have resided within this Commonwealth for one whole year as of citizens of this Commonwealth. Provided, That whenever a person other than a Federal employe not taxable under the provisions of this clause is disfranchised from voting because he cannot be lawfully assessed for a county or State tax, it shall be lawful for the county commissioners to assess the occupation of such persons for county taxation purposes in the manner provided by this act for such assessment. The provisions of this clause shall not apply to counties of the second and third class or to cities of the second and second-A class, or to school districts.

(c) All other things and persons now taxable by the laws of this Commonwealth for county, city and school purposes.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments:

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, the amendments that I have just offered correct an injustice that has existed in the state of Pennsylvania for many years. Pennsylvania is the only state of the forty-eight states where real estate of the utilities is not taxed locally. Every state in the United States not only taxes real estate of the utilities but they permit the local taxing authorities to also charge a franchise tax. My amendments do not go that far.

The amendments that I offer merely tax the real estate. I have never seen any reason why real estate of the utilities is not subject to the same taxation as real estate of the man who has a little home. They enjoy all the special privileges such as fire protection the use of our streets and police protection, but do not pay one cent of tax and the taxes that they do not pay naturally must be placed upon the small home owner.

It seems strange that Pennsylvania is the only state—and I want to impress upon the minds of the Senators that Pennsylvania is the only state in the United States—where the utilities do not pay a local real estate tax.

Of course, some of you will say that in the state of Pennsylvania they pay a gross receipts tax but I want to point out to you that in other states they also pay a gross receipts tax. For instance, in the state of Ohio, in the city of Cincinnati, which has been pointed out time and time again as one of the model towns on taxation, the utilities pay taxes on their real estate. Their franchise tax is estimated on a good-will basis and that money is also placed in the real estate column.

In addition to that, the Covington Railway, which comes into the city of Cincinnati pays $5,000 per mile of track for the privilege of entering the city of Cincinnati, and in addition to this tax, the light company in Cincinnati pays a gross receipts tax.

In our neighboring state of New Jersey, although the utilities own one-fifth of the value of the utilities of Pennsylvania, they pay four times more taxes in the state of New Jersey than they do in the state of Pennsylvania and strange to say, rates are lower in New Jersey than in Pennsylvania.

All of us in our political campaigns have shed salty tears for the over-burdened home owners, but session after session nothing is done to relieve the home owner. We have just passed a bill placing the cost of child care centers—on the backs of the home owners. We have also passed a bill cutting the gross receipts tax on the utilities.

I think it is only fair that the utilities should assume their share of the expenses of local government and not force the poor home owner to pay not only his share, but also the share of the utility at the same time.

For instance, in the county of Allegheny, public utilities own $117,000,000 worth of real estate and do not pay one cent of taxes for the upkeep of our local government. That is an injustice and I say to the members of this Senate this should be wiped out and I am asking the members of the Senate to vote for these amendments, if they are sincere in desiring to relieve the home owner of the heavy burden of real estate taxes today.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HOLLAND and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—13

Barr,	Gourley,	Jaspan,	Ruth,
Coleman,	Haluska,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,
Cox,	Holland,	McQuiddy,	Woodring,
DiSilvestro,

NAYS—27

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, I offer the following amendments:

Amend page 14, by inserting between lines 18 and 19, the following:

Section 15. This act and the act it amends shall be subject to the provisions of any act enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the session of one thousand nine hundred forty-three, suspending the provisions of civil service systems of this Commonwealth; Amend page 14, section 15, line 19, by striking out, with bold face brackets, after the word "Section" and before the word "this", the following: "[[14] 15];" and inserting in lieu thereof the figure: "16".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, the amendments suggested by the gentleman from Luzerne, Senator Jones, are amendments which would have the effect that any bill passed by the Legislature would suspend civil service.

Every member of this Senate understands my interest in this bill. I do not belong to the political party which appointed the members of the Parole Board, I do not belong to the political party responsible for the appointment of any employe of the Parole Board but I do belong to the membership of the Senate of Pennsylvania which fought vigorously in 1941 for the enactment of the parole act, and as I said yesterday, that was not an act partisan in nature, that was an act that was supported by members on both sides of the Senate, that was an act opposed by both parties in this Senate.

Mr. President, there is a tremendously broad principle involved in the parole act of 1941. We can resolve this entire matter into this small statement: Do you believe that people should be paroled from penal institutions, paroled in a manner which has no relationship to politics, but paroled because you feel that once you parole them, there should be a period in which you continue their rehabilitation by supervision? Secondly, do you believe that once people are paroled from penal institutions that their parole should be supervised?

After you have made your choice, after you have attempted to answer these two questions, you have to ask yourself this question: Do you think it is possible to parole people or supervise their parole if the people who parole them and supervise their parole are political appointees; people who owe their jobs and owe the continuance of their jobs to the people who appointed them?

My interest in this problem is strictly an impersonal thing, it comes from broad experience in the field of penology. As the clerk of the Criminal Court of Allegheny County, I am conversant with the fact that we are entering into a crime wave such as we have never known in America, because this is a crime wave of children and adolescents, and any person connected with the criminal courts of Pennsylvania will tell you today that the commission of crime by persons who are mature is diminishing very rapidly.

Yesterday, if you read the metropolitan papers, you will find that in almost every metropolitan area of Pennsylvania they have established curfew laws for children, because we have an unprecedented range of crime by young people in our country.

That, of course, is due to the war, it is due to the fact that the family is not as effective in controlling its members as it once was, because the family is broken up. In many instances the father is going to war and the mother is going into industry.

I am not going to debate the merits of this bill tonight—I would not insult the intelligence of the members of the Senate and I would not insult their sincerity. Both sides passed this bill in 1941, and both sides can be responsible in the Session of 1943 for the annihilation of proper parole supervision in Pennsylvania.

I thank the members of the Senate for being courteous enough to permit me to make these few remarks, which have no relationship to the amendments.

In discussing the amendments I might say that I do not think anyone in this Senate is going to agree to the amendment of a bill as important as this, a bill that I think flatters the Session of 1941 in Pennsylvania, by agreeing to amend it to determine the question of civil service by what might happen in the house of our Legislature, and that is exactly what you do .

There are many imperfections in this bill. I could turn to the very last page of the bill, and that is only one of them. The sponsor of the bill can not be proud of it because it is not the bill he presented, because the amendments which were put in this bill in committee absolutely are different from any fundamental ideas that the gentleman who presented the bill had when he presented it.

On the last page, which is extremely important because it determines a great part of the authority of the parole board, we find the greatest ambiguity that we could find in any bill, and if the gentleman can tell me what the word "juvenile" on page 14 of this bill means, he is better than any Philadelphia lawyer or Pittsburgh lawyer or any Berks County lawyer or any other lawyer of any county in the state.

The gentleman from Lehigh suggests that in order to flatter him I should include Lehigh County, and I can agree with that, but, Mr. President, the thing I am concerned with is this, I feel that the three years I have sat in this Senate were actually wasted, if this Senate would do anything to defeat parole supervision in Pennsylvania; I would even go so far as to say to you that you can grant paroles any way you want to, although I do not think that is right, provided you supervise paroles properly in Pennsylvania.

All of these amendments and all the horse play that has transpired since January have damaged one of the finest bills, one of the finest pieces of legislation the members of this Senate ever passed.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, there seems to be some question as to whether these amendments fit into the bill. I, therefore, would like to interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne, Senator Jones.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Luzerne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JONES. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I should like to inquire of the gentleman from Luzerne whether these amendments fit into the bill. There seems to be some question as to whether or not they do.

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, the proposed amendments which I have offered are to be inserted between lines 18 and 19. I have a recent Printer's Number, No. 554, and the last line in that print is No. 17 and, therefore, I suggest that the bill go over in its order until we check up on the amendments.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, I withdraw the amendments.

An the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 554, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, April 27, 1943

The House met at 1 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, in these dark days when men's souls are being tried everywhere, give unto our representatives and the people, the kind of devotion to Thee as voiced centuries ago by a great representative of all the people, in a time of tribulation.

"Though no fruit is on the vine,
Though the fields give us no food,
Though the folds have lost their flocks,
And in the stalls no cattle be;
Yet in the Eternal we will find our joy,
We will rejoice in the God who saves us,
The Lord, the Eternal, is our strength,
He makes our feet sure,
He helps us to keep our footing in the heights." Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Monday, April 26, 1943, when, on motion of Mr. WRIGHT, unanimously agreed to, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. LEYDIC and LOVETT.

RESOLUTION No. 65.

In the House of Representatives, April 26, 1943.

Whereas, It has been the policy of the General Assembly and also of the boards and the authorities having charge of the admission or qualification of persons to practice in the various professions in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to take into consideration the effects of war upon the plane and activities of persons planning to engage in such professions, and accordingly, to relax certain of the requirements in order to permit such persons to qualify for their chosen professions, in spite of the fact, that through no fault of their own they might be unable to meet the strict qualifications otherwise required; and

Whereas, It has also been the policy to afford certain qualified persons who were in actual military services during time of war, the right to practice various professions without requiring them to take or pass any examination; and

Whereas, The same reasons exist for adopting such a policy with respect to the professions of chiropractic or drugless therapy as exist in the case of other professions; therefore be it

Resolved, That the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure of the Department of Public Instruction be requested to so amend its rules and regulations governing the requirements for license to practice chiropractic or drugless therapy as to permit the granting of such licenses upon the payment of the regular fee, but without the necessity for taking any examination, to the following persons;

(a) Any resident of Pennsylvania who is a graduate of an approved school of chiropractic or drugless therapy, who was in military service during any war in which this country has been engaged, including World War II, and who has been honorably discharged from such service.

(b) Any person who was engaged in the practice of chiropractic or drugless therapy before World War I, who was in actual military service during that war, who was honorably discharged from such service and who has since engaged in the practice of chiropractic or drugless therapy, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure of the Department of Public Instruction.

Referred to the Committee on Professional Licensure.

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented for concurrence bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 164.

An Act creating a Safety Commission as an Independent Administrative Commission of the Commonwealth and defining its powers and duties.

Referred to the Committee on State Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SARGE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

On March 9, 1943, I introduced House Bill 554, a bill to create a commission to make a study of the introduction and printing of bills, the benefits to be gained by divided session of the General Assembly and the repeal of obsolete legislation.

This bill has not yet been reported out, and indications are that it will be consigned to the tongueless silence of the dreamless dust of the Pickling Vat, from which no bill ever returneth.

It has been my contention for some time that we should not keep our statutes cluttered up with obsolete laws. Laws which are no more effective or cannot be enforced or have not been enforced for some time, or never will, should be repealed.

Ever so often we are amazed to find that we are compelled to, or prohibited from performing an act, because someone has dusted off some obsolete law, and we find that we are hampered in our ordinary daily life. The minority party dusted off a Constitutional provision requiring the bills to be read at length. In some instances it is necessary to modernize to bring the same up to date.

A careful scrutiny should be made of all the laws to determine which should be repealed or abolished, and which should be amended. These obsolete laws cover subject after subject.

How would you like to pick up the paper some morning with the headline reading, "Representative of the General Assembly prosecuted for kissing his wife on a Sunday". Well, there might be such a law on the books.

I made a random search of some of our laws and discovered a wide variety that might be classified as such.

Under an Act of 1851, any dog caught worrying sheep may be shot. If a dog is found upon the public highway unleashed he may be shot. Is this still desired? (Title 3, P. S. Sec. 531, 1851-52 P. L. 710).

Under an Act of 1763, a person obtaining possession of a trespassing horse or other animal, must advertise in the Pennsylvania Gazette three times, or otherwise suffer the penalty of five pounds. I do not object to the advertisement, but I can't find the Pennsylvania Gazette, nor do I know what pounds of what, with which I will be penalized. Must I give up five pounds of the horse or the animal? (Title 3, P. S. Section 625, March 4, 1763, 1 Sm. L 257, Sec. 3).

Under a law passed in 1857, in York and Philadelphia Counties it is unlawful to erect a slaughter-house, a manure, bone dust or soap factory, or distillery within 200 yards of an incorporated cemetery. If this is undesirable for York and Philadelphia counties, it must be undesirable for other counties, but why restrict it to an incorporated cemetery. If it is objectionable to a cemetery does it make any difference if it is incorporated or not? What is the objection to having a slaughter house near a cemetery or what is the objection to a bone dust factory? Certainly those occupying the cemetery won't object. (Title 9, P. S. Section 9, 1857 P. L. 144).

Under a law passed in 1835, an infant in consequence of vagrancy or incorrigible or vicious conduct may be a subject for guardianship of the managers of the house of refuge. It is possible that we still can conceive of an infant being a vagrant or a vicious infant and of vicious conduct beyond the control of a parent or guardian, requiring committment to a house of refuge? If we mean children why doesn't the act say so, or do we still believe that some vicious spell by some witch has obtained control of the infant. I thought we had become more civilized and that witchery finds its place only on Halloween day. (Title 11 P. S. Sec. 493, 1835, P. L. 133)

Under a law passed in 1725, a person cannot be arrested in a civil case if he is a freeholder, having 50 acres of land well seated and 12 acres well cleared and improved, or a dwelling house worth fifty pounds, cleared estate or unimproved land to the value of fifty pounds, unless it be in the King's Case and so forth. I am sure that there would be hardly a lawyer of the many thousands in Pennsylvania who could tell me what a King's Case is.

But why restrict the value of his estate to fifty pounds or to pounds at all. Certainly no one will contend that we still find it necessary to continue in our laws reference to the King of England or to English currency. After more than 150 years we certainly can amend our laws to bring them in conformity with American terms. Even when the above freeholder exempted from arrest is taken into custody, he shall be entitled to collect 30 shillings cost. Were such claim made today the courts would have to engage foreign exchange experts to calculate from day to day the conversion value of shillings into American money. (Title 12, P. S. Sec. 25, March 20, 1725, I Sm. L. 164, Sec. 1) (Title 12, Sec. 253, March 20, 1725 I Sm. L. 164, Sec. 3)

Where lawyers or justices, clerks of the courts, lawfully proceed against such a freeholder, the Supreme Court of this Province, and note that the law says province, not state, may place a fine of not exceeding ten pounds. Need I say further that this law requires overhauling if not repeal, and a new one enacted. (Title 12, P. S. Sec. 254, March 20, 1725, I Sm. L. 164, Sec. 4)

Under a law passed in 1842, it is unlawful to grant a tavern license to a sheriff or to a house occupied by a sheriff, unless situated in the county town, but the restriction is not to apply to the counties of Carbon, Clearfield, Juniata, Indiana, Luzerne, Mifflin and Montgomery. Of course this law would be obsolete by virtue of the enactment of the Liquor Laws, but why continue this law in effect? (Title 37 P. S. Sec. 1, 1842, P. L. 192)

Under a law passed in 1730, a sheriff or under-sheriff or keeper of the jail cannot conduct a tavern and is also prohibited from selling any liquor, cider or punch. (Title 37 P. S. Sec. 2, Feb. 14, 1730, I Sm. L. 181, Sec. 19.)

Under a law passed in 1834, under penalty of $5, an inn-keeper is compelled to provide good entertainment for a man and a horse. We know of many ways a man be entertained, but what about the horse? To entertain a horse imposes quite a problem on any inn-keeper. We can probably engage Tom Sawyer's Band for a horse, but then horses have all kinds of tastes too. (Title 37, P. S. Sec. 31, 1834, P. L. 117.)

Under an act passed in 1705, beer and ale are required to be sold by wine measure if the persons drink it in the ale-house or tavern, but by beer measure if carried off the premises, with a penalty of ten shillings for violation. Many of us who remember how beer was sold in the old days can understand that this means the old "growler", but try and get it in these quantities today. It may taste better but why kid ourselves with this law in our statute book. (Title 37 P. S. Sec. 32, 1705 I Sm. L. 43, Sec. 1.)

Under a law passed in 1731, "Bake Houses in the city of Philadelphia to be of brick, and so forth. No person, after the time aforesaid within the said city, shall occupy the trade of a biscuit or soft bread baker, but in a bake-house built of brick or stone, and arched over with brick, if the place will admit thereof, or otherwise to be well ceiled with plastering, the floor of the said bake-house paved with brick or stone; the crown of the oven to be secured by carrying up the foundation walls square and filling the same with gravel or sand at least six inches higher than the top of the oven; and the chimney to be arched in the said bake-house, without any timber in or near adjoining to the same." I imagine that the biscuits taste better when baked in such an establishment. (Title 43 P. S. Sec. 341, Feb. 6, 1731, I Sm. L. 194, Sec. 1.)

Do not make the mistake in believing that every later law repeals any prior law with which it is in conflict, or that a law which has not been referred to for many years, has become automatically obsolete. It is necessary that some action be taken to be sure that obsolete laws are wiped off the statute books by specific repeal, or declared obsolete.

In conclusion, it is interesting to observe that in 1777 the General Assembly declared that they were not bound by the laws that came down through the King or by virtue of the English statutes, but it became necessary in 1807 for a law to be enacted requiring the judges of the Supreme Court to determine which laws were still in effect.

There are too many laws on our statute books now. Some state legislatures have already passed legislation to remove obsolete laws now may be the proper time to undertake the thorough investigation which will determine what statutes are obsolete and of no value or might require some revision so that we may not wake up tomorrow and find some old statutes being dusted off to tell us how we must live. We read of such instances day after day.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JAMES asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, as Chairman of the committee having custody of the bill which Mr. Sarge has just referred to, I would like to say that some time ago I reached down in the very bottom of the old pickle barrel, and I didn't consign this bill to the place he supposes probably it might have been consigned to. I consigned it to the ethereal fastnesses where the ancient gods of our pagan forefather keep eternal watch in the corridors of time. I think that some of the purposes of the bill will be more interesting to those who have nothing more to do than look into the sins of the earth man. I should think, however, that it might be proper to inform the House of the real reason why the bill referred to has not had greater attention. The bill provides for so many things beyond those which Mr. Sarge has taken the time to tell us about that we simply need to refer to the appropriation provision. The bill call for an appropriation of ten thousand dollars to do two hundred thousand dollars worth of work, and the committee has felt, I think, that if Mr. Sarge had called for an appropriation of from a quarter to a half million dollars that we might have then felt that this bill should be reported out.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. STONIER from the Committee on Elections, reported as committed, House Bill No. 267, entitled:

An Act to add section nine hundred seventy-eight and one-tenth to the act aproved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. An employe who is employed on a shift continuing through midnight, shall be deemed to have been employed only on the day beginning before midnight with respect to such shift."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALSPACH. I would like to know from the gentleman what is the purport of these amendments that comprise possibly twenty typewritten pages?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, with the permission of the Members of the House and of the gentleman from Lancaster, amendments were offered to various sections of the bill, and I believe we can dispose of the entire subject by discussing all the amendments and in that way save the time of the House. If there is no objection, I should like to do that.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to discuss all the amendments at the same time? The Chair hears no objection. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman I will say that the proposed amendments have two definite aims, two definite purposes. One is to put into effect the principle of payments for partial employment, which is incidentally directly requested for the alleviation of the unemployment situation in the mining areas of Pennsylvania. The other portion of the amendments is to raise the amount of the benefit weeks to twenty and to raise the benefit payments to ten minimum and twenty maximum, and reduce the waiting period to one week,—and certain other amendments.

For instance, one is further to strengthen the existing provision of the law to take into the law all persons under the act who pay the contribution rather than those employing persons twenty days in twenty weeks, to make it any two days in any week. The purpose of this is to get a lot of these fly-by-night industries that come into the state and last no longer than twenty weeks in the state, and therefore, make no contribution to the fund whatsoever.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, is that the answer?

Mr. COHEN. Briefly, if the gentleman wants any particular phase of it, I will be glad to discuss it.

Mr. ALSPACH. Do I understand that this amendment simply provides for partial unemployment compensation?

Mr. COHEN. That is one of the purposes, Mr. Speaker, that is right.

Mr. ALSPACH. Does the gentleman know how many states of the union have partial unemployment compensation insurance?

Mr. COHEN. I do not know the exact number, but I will take the gentleman's statement on it.

Mr. ALSPACH. Does the gentleman know how many states have a maximum of twenty dollars a week benefit?

Mr. COHEN. No, Mr. Speaker. My recollection is that various states have various maximums. I believe—I am not certain,—the gentleman has a chart,—I believe that there are twenty states that have twenty dollars a week. I believe there are some states that have more, but I am not certain.

Mr. ALSPACH. For the information of the House, Mr. Speaker, since the question has been raised as to how many states do have a twenty dollar maximum benefit I would like to state that there are exactly three in the entire forty-eight that have maximum benefits of twenty dollars, and there are, I should say ten that have as high as we have and the balance of them have a maximum of fifteen dollars weekly benefit.

I don't propose particularly to debate the merits of this bill on second reading, but the proposed amendments as presented are simply to try to introduce into this bill the principle of partial unemployment compensation benefits. It is not proposed by this bill that this should be introduced into our unemployment compensation law at the present time. The purpose of this bill is simply in a very few words to more or less streamline the procedure by which these reports are processed in our department, and to liberalize the benefits payable, especially in the lower brackets.

You will notice we allow seven weeks compensation instead of the present minimum of three, which I think you must concede is a liberal basis. Furthermore, this particular bill provides that reports or returns shall be filed with the department yearly instead of quarterly as at the present time. At the present time we have approximately three hundred five thousand more or less persons for whom returns are being made by employers throughout the state. This means that four times a year the employer must make up a sworn statement of the wages to the Department of Labor and Industry in Harrisburg. They must be processed and filed. This particular bill seeks to amend the present act to provide that, instead of three million five hundred thousand being processed quarterly, that many shall be processed annually, and it provides for calling for reports should the occasion require and necessity demand.

I think the Members of the House will appreciate the tremendous saving that will be made to the Department and personnel in time and trouble, especially since the Department will be required to process just one-fourth as many reports because this is set up on an annual basis instead of a quarterly basis as at the present time.

I am asking you to vote down these amendments. I would like to call your attention first to the fact that this is a bill to simplify the procedure and payment of unemployment compensation benefits, and in so doing it also raises the amount payable in the lower brackets. Furthermore it is not the intent of the sponsors of this bill to provide for partial unemployment compensation benefits at this time. I understand the person who introduced these amendments has a bill which is at the present time in committee, providing for partial benefits. I understand there was another bill to accomplish the same purpose, and it was the opinion of the committee to which this bill was referred that these bills should not be brought out at this time, and therefore, I ask the Members of the House unanimously to vote down these amendments which seek to put into the present bill something that manifestly is not intended to be in the bill, and not germane to the question at issue.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Alspach.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALSPACH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman stated that the committee that considered the bills which would accomplish the purpose for which these amendments are introduced decided not to bring the bills out. Am I to understand then that it is the committee's action or the Administration's policy and decision not to permit increases of benefits and not to permit partial payments?

Mr. ALSPACH. No. Mr. Speaker, I stated just the opposite. I do not want to give the impression that the committee is refusing to bring the bill out. I simply stated that the committee has not brought these bills out.

Mr. COHEN. Will the gentleman tell me, Mr. Speaker, whether the committee has considered them?

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I don't know that that would be proper at the present time. I don't know whether the gentleman is a member of the Workmen's Compensation Committee which considered those bills. I would suggest that he contact various Members of his own party who are members of that committee and to inquire of them. I do not propose to state on the floor of the House what the discussion was in committee on these bills.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman stated that the committee decided not to report the bill out, and I would ask whether or not in coming to that decision not to report the bill out whether they discussed the bill prior to deciding not to report it out? If the gentleman could give us that information I think he could give us the rest.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, that would just be dragging the thing in by the other method. I do not propose to state what went on in committee. I think that answers itself.

Mr. COHEN. Then I ask the gentleman whether he offered the bill to the committee for discussion?

Mr. ALSPACH. All I can state, Mr. Speaker, is that I happen to be a member of the committee and I don't know a thing that went on in that committee so far as the floor of the House is concerned.

Mr. COHEN. Will the gentleman state to what extent the amount payable in the lower brackets is raised?

Mr. ALSPACH. By providing instead of the present three weeks it goes on to seven weeks. You will note that.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, is there any difference in the minimum of the eight dollars per week?

Mr. ALSPACH. There is no listing of the minimum, no, but it will be payable for a greater number of weeks.

Mr. COHEN. Will the gentleman tell us how many persons will possibly be benefitted by this raise to seven weeks?

Mr. ALSPACH. That would be a mere guess, pure conjecture. The gentleman who asked the question does not know and I do not know the answer, and I do not know anybody who knows the answer. I do not think it is possible to estimate.

Mr. COHEN. Has the gentleman inquired of the Department how many persons in the past year came into that category?

Mr. ALSPACH. The gentleman has not.

Mr. COHEN. Does the gentleman think that a simple inquiry of the Department will develop that information?

Mr. ALSPACH. Is the gentleman inquiring whether I should or whether I will inquire of the department?

Mr. COHEN. I inquired if the gentleman does not think that it could be found out quickly? By making a call?

Mr. ALSPACH. I wouldn't say that it could be done quickly, but I would say that I do not see why we would have to go to the Department to find out how many people received payments in certain categories in the past year. If the Legislature in its wisdom desires to increase the benefits I do not think it is of particular moment to the Department.

Mr. COHEN. Will the gentleman admit that by increasing the number of weeks from three up to seven, more money will be spent out of the fund?

Mr. ALSPACH. I would concede that would be a very logical conclusion.

Mr. COHEN. But the gentleman says that the committee in its wisdom is making changes based upon no facts at all as to how much money will be spent out of the fund.

Mr. ALSPACH. Let me interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALSPACH. The gentleman asked me just how much money will be spent by increasing benefits. I will ask the gentleman whether he has inquired from the Department how much more money will be required for partial payments such as he has provided for in these amendments of today?

Mr. COHEN. About this time one year ago, based upon experience up to that time, I inquired as to the amount of money that would be spent to give the greatest possible rating and the amount that would be spent under these amendments offered. We found at the outside five million dollars a year would be paid in benefits for the ensuing year, taking, of course, the proper proportion, considering the decreasing rate generally, and based on the experience of the past year I would say approximately three or three and a half million dollars further burden might be added.

Mr. ALSPACH. I would ask further of the gentleman whether he proposes liberalization or—

Mr. COHEN. I do not propose liberalization, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALSPACH. In other words, the gentleman is in favor of that particular provision of this bill?

Mr. COHEN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, but I would like to know what it will cost. That is right. I want the workman's kind of liberalization, and that is precisely the point I raised. I don't want Arthur James' kind of liberalization. Is the gentleman through?

Mr. ALSPACH. I am, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. May I go back to the other question that I propounded before?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. ALSPACH. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Does the gentleman know or has the gentleman inquired or can the gentleman tell us how much additional money his so-called liberalization may require; based on this year's experience, how much this will cost the fund?

Mr. ALSPACH. Might I answer as I did before, Mr. Speaker, that I do not know, and I cannot estimate; I defy anybody to estimate. At the present time we are in what we might call an abnormal economic condition, and I do not think that I can tell any more than Mr. Cohen can tell how many people will be unemployed tomorrow, how many people will be unemployed one-quarter of a year from now, how many people will be unemployed one year from now. I think an inquiry to the Department would result in a mere guess, and would be in the realm of mere conjecture.

Mr. COHEN. Does not the gentleman think, Mr. Speaker, that by intelligent inquiry of the Department we might be supplied with the facts and the knowledge concerning the past experience of the department in this matter, and then put to that our wisdom in arriving at a decision on the provisions of the bill?

Mr. ALSPACH. I might say, Mr. Speaker, in normal times that might be desirable, but under these abnormal conditions we have no way of determining what will happen in the future.

Mr. COHEN. Will the gentleman admit that employment in Pennsylvania is more stable than it has been in the past and possibly will be for the coming years?

Mr. ALSPACH. That is a question of what the gentleman means? Does the gentleman mean the unemployment rolls or the labor turnover or what does he mean?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, let me put it this way, does the gentleman mean there is less unemployment and will be less unemployment in the coming year—and less unemployment in the past year than in previous years?

Mr. ALSPACH. I might say in answer to the gentleman that I remember the clerk in the Department referring to the amount of unemployment, particularly in the western part of the state. I suggest that the gentleman inquire of him. My opinion is that we have quite a few persons in this state presently employed.

Mr. COHEN. Presently employed?

Mr. ALSPACH. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, it must be admitted that these amendments are seeking to do indirectly what I have proposed to do directly when I offered my bills to establish the partial payment plan in Pennsylvania and also to increase benefits.

The bill that I introduced early in the session, as has been said, has quietly reposed in the Committee on Workmen's Compensation, and as far as I can find out or am able to determine, has not been considered and has not been presented to the membership of this House for a vote. Since we cannot get any discussion on the bill that I introduced and since this is an amendment to the Unemployment Compensation Act which my bill sought to amend, and since there is an increase in the payments to be made, I think I am entirely within my rights when I say that the amendments I offered are not repugnant to the purpose of this bill.

The history of this particular situation and the history of the Unemployment Compensation Act does not have too nice an odor in Pennsylvania. I say that because of this Administration's promise of liberalization of unemployment benefits, when that was refused in the 1941 Session, and it was made a part of the special call for the 1942 Special Session, at which time bills were again offered to liberalize unemployment benefit payments. The 1942 Special Session did not accomplish any real liberalization of unemployment benefits. Now, either we have got to take the stand that persons who must go on the unemployment compensation roll are entitled to proper recognition in the way of benefits, or they are not. We have got to take the position that we must be liberal in our attitude toward our people or not. If these amendments are turned down, then it will be an expression of this House again, and I charge that it is the expression of this Administration that the people who are thrown out of employment and are qualified under the act shall not be permitted any additional benefits when they all know that since a year ago the cost of living has increased.

I will quote a Member on the other side and use his figures only:

"the cost of living has increased sixteen percent."

The benefits that are asked for are an increase from eighteen to twenty dollars, just a matter of ten percent. In asking for the additional four weeks of benefits, or six weeks, it will make a total raise which the person receives under the act of twenty-two percent.

I know that the various labor organizations in Pennsylvania, because of pressure from the bottom up and because of their own far-seeing policy, have requested that these changes be made. They asked that they be made in 1942 and asked that they be made in 1941 because Arthur James promised a liberalization of the unemployment compensation benefits, and that is all we are asking now.

To substantiate my argument, Mr. Speaker, I would say to you that if these amendments are adopted, that in the next year and maybe in the next two years the fund will be expended possibly an additional six or seven million dollars. The gentleman says he is liberalizing the payments in certain cases, but cannot tell us how much money is going to be spent. Well, if you are going to spend any more money at all, why don't you say how much it is, and if you are ashamed to say so, then throw your amendments out entirely and say you are sticking to your position that the people are not entitled to any further benefits or any additional benefits. That is the issue, and that is what I say. Don't put in some very meager benefit raises and then go out to the public and be able to say without too much insincerity, "We increased the benefits of unemployment compensation." That is the issue, and that is why I want it on the record.

The gentleman, I know, is in a peculiar position; he has asked for an increase of some benefits in the lower brackets, and he is therefore going to insure himself and trying to assuage the conscience of the Republican party that they are doing something that they promised to do. If that is the idea then let them say so, and I will be just as frank on my side and say that that accomplishes the purpose, and that purpose is equally insincere if you are to say in your next campaign that you liberalized the benefits of the Workmen's Compensation in Pennsylvania.

On the other point, the coal industry,—and we heard last night rather eloquently about that, and I agree it is one of the industries of Pennsylvania that we must handle with considerable care, and listen to their demands very, very carefully. The main purpose of having a partial payment plan in Pennsylvania is to take care of the coal mining industry, because as a whole, as an industry there is more substantial partial employment in the coal region all over the state than in any other industry.

Right now they are working six days a week, and I hope that might be able to continue forever, but the gentleman knows and we know that the moment the demand for coal as fuel begins to recede, as soon as the war is over the coal industry will go back into a chaotic condition. What we want to do first is liberalize the payments to begin with, and secondly we want to supplement this by increased partial payments each week. We want to liberalize the payments by taking that money out of this fund, because that is what this fund is for, to help unemployment and to relieve the bad results of unemployment.

To my way of thinking it makes no difference whether a person is unemployed entirely or because of the condition of the industry to which he is assigned he is only employed a part of the week, if we take the broad social view that we must take care of persons unemployed, then there must be no distinction between a person unemployed a part of the week and a person unemployed the whole week. If you are not going to take this money out of the fund, then you say that when you go back to two days or one day per week, in the coal region your schools are going to be shut down again, we are going to be compelled to provide more money for aid to the school districts; there is going to be more unemployment—

QUESTION OF INQUIRY

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of legislative inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of inquiry.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know whether we are on interrogation or in debate.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is debating the amendments. That is not interrogation. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. JAMES. That satisfies my inquiry, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the coal miner leaving his home in the morning with his pick in his hand and his lunch box on his way to work, he doesn't know whether he is going to work that day or whether he is going to work that week, but back in his mind he is wondering whether he is going to work one or two days a week. He is the fellow that we are particularly interested in now, and he is the fellow who is interested in these amendments by which we are attempting to set up a partial system, because he is the fellow that has got to buy the goods in the stores in the coal region. He is the fellow whose money is then translated into taxes which goes into the support of school districts of the municipalities. His is the money that is further translated into giving the people the essential services required to give decent living conditions in those regions. He is the fellow that I am worrying about, because if you are going to put money enough through our economic system the way it should be put through, you have to put it there through the workers themselves. If you don't, then you are going to raise your hands in horror at paying out money for the support of W. P. A. We want that money that is set aside solely to help over the rough spots in our economic system, to be spent when it should be spent and when it is called for to be spent, and if you are going to turn down that question on the theory of partial unemployment compensation payments, you are closing the door in the faces of the people of Pennsylvania, of the coal miners of Pennsylvania and of the coal operators of Pennsylvania, and in the face of the people of the coal regions, because if the people are not contented you are going to have difficulty.

That is the basic issue. If the Republican party wants to take the position that this is no time to do it, then I say that they are misleading them as to their purposes in the future. If my amendments are to be voted down, then let them vote them down, let each answer to his name and say that these amendments are proper amendments or not proper amendments.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALSPACH. One question, please, assuming that these amendments the gentleman is offering are not agreed to by the Members of the House, does the gentleman intend to vote for this bill on final passage?

Mr. COHEN. I cannot tell you. I didn't want to debate this bill, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALSPACH. I will appreciate an answer "yes" or "no," Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I will debate the merits of this bill, but I certainly will not vote for this bill in its present form. I would if these amendments were in it, because I would take some bad for a lot of good.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I think the debate has very thoroughly brought to the attention of the Members of the House the reasons, or rather should I say the purpose behind these amendments which were offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia. I would like to oppose, and I would like to ask the Members on this side of the House as well as the entire House to oppose these amendments. The present bill, as I said before, does two things chiefly; it liberalizes in the lower brackets the amount of payments to those entitled to receive payments, and second it simplifies the procedure which the department must go through in order to process the records and file the various reports the employers make. For those reasons I ask the House to vote down the amendments.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the question that was asked preceding the remarks of the gentleman and the remarks following, I trust were not inferentially interpreted that I was trying to cripple this bill merely because I couldn't have what I wanted. That is not the case. If that inference was made, then I should resolve every possible doubt by stating definitely that that is not so. This bill has its defects and must stand on its own legs. I did not want to discuss the bill, I wanted to stick to the rules of the House and discuss the amendments. That discussion has been full and complete, but the bill on its merits will be debated tomorrow. It has good points, but it has other points that definitely are not good, and it will be debated properly tomorrow.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Baker and Mr. Lovett.

Messrs. Lovett, Baker, and Petrosky asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read and agreed to.

Third section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. COHEN offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 3, page 23, line 15, by inserting after the word "Sections" the following: "303".

"Section 303. Period and Termination of Contributions. (a) Any employer who or which becomes subject to this act during any calendar year, shall be subject to, and shall pay the contributions required, by this act during the whole of such calendar year.

(b) Any employer subject to this act shall cease to be so subject only upon written application to the department and finding by the department that he has not, during the previous calendar year [neither (1) during the previous calendar year, nor (2) during that part of the current calendar year which precedes the date on which such application was filed has he] employed any employe (whether or not the same employe) in employment subject to this act for some portion of each of some [twenty] two (2) days each day being in a different week, whether or not such weeks are consecutive, and that he has not, during the part of the current calendar year preceding the filing of his application, employed any employe (whether or not the same employe) in employment subject to this act for some portion of each of some two (2) days, each day being in a different week, whether or not such weeks are consecutive. An employer shall be relieved of the payment of contributions for any calendar year in which the department, upon application by such employer, or upon its own motion, shall find that such employer has failed to employ any employe (whether or not the same employe) in employment subject to this act for some portion of each of some two (2) days, each day being in a different week, whether or not such weeks are consecutive."

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 401), page 25, line 5, by inserting a light-faced bracket before the word "two" and after the word "weeks".

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 401), page 25, line 5, by inserting after the word "weeks" the following: "one week."

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 401), page 25, line 6, by inserting a light-faced bracket before the word "The".

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 401), page 25, line 7, by inserting a light-faced bracket at the end of said line.

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 401), page 25, line 12, by inserting a light-faced bracket before the word "two" and after the word "weeks".

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 401), page 25, line 12, by inserting after the word "weeks" the following: "week".

Amend Sec. 3, page 25, by inserting between lines 27 and 28, the following:

"Section 402. Ineligibility for Compensation. An employe shall be ineligible for compensation for any week or accumulation of four effective days, or waiting period credit for any week.

(a) In which his unemployment is due to failure without good cause, either to apply for suitable work at such time and in such manner as the department may prescribe or by his previous employer. In determining whether or not any work is suitable for an individual, the department shall consider the degree of risk involved to his health, safety and morals, his physical fitness and prior training and experience, and the distance of the available work from his residence.

(b) In which his unemployment is due to voluntarily leaving work without good cause: Provided, That no employe shall be deemed to be ineligible under this section where, as a condition of continuing in employment, such employe would be required to join or remain a member of a company union, or to resign from or refrain from joining any bona fide labor organization, or to accept wages, hours or conditions of employment not desired by a majority of the employes in the establishment, or the occupation or would be denied the right of collective bargaining under generally prevailing conditions.

(c) With respect to which or a part of which he has received or is seeking unemployment benefits under an unemployment compensation law of any other state or of the United States: Provided, That if the appropriate agency of such other state or of the United States finally determines that he is not entitled to such unemployment benefits, the disqualification shall not apply.

(d) In which the employe's total unemployment is due to a voluntary suspension of work resulting from an industrial dispute, but this disqualification shall apply only to the week in which the suspension occurred, and for the three consecutive weeks of total unemployment which immediately follow such week."

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 404), page 26, line 1, by striking out the light-faced bracket before the word "July".

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 404), page 26, line 2, by striking out the light-faced bracket after the word "forty-two".

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 404), page 26, lines 2 and 3, by striking out the words "June first one thousand nine hundred and forty-three".

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 404), page 26, line 6, by striking out the light-faced bracket before the word "June".

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 404), page 26, line 7, by striking out the light-faced bracket after the word "forty-two".

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 404), page 26, lines 7 and 8, by striking out the words "May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and forty-three".

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 404), page 26, line 9, by inserting a light-faced bracket before and after the word "weekly".

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 404), page 26, line 10, by inserting after the word "weeks" the following: "or accumulations of four effective days".

"Section 501. Initial Determination of Compensation: Appeals. The department shall promptly examine any application for benefits or claim filed, and on the basis of the facts found by it, shall determine whether or not the application for benefits or claim is valid. The determination of any application for benefits shall include the determination of the first day of the benefit year, the [weekly] benefit rate, and the number of benefit weeks, or accumulations of four effective days, payable. The claimant and other affected parties shall be promptly notified of the decision and the reasons therefor in writing, except that no notification shall be necessary when the department shall approve a claim for a week of total unemployment. Unless the claimant or other affected parties files an appeal from such decision with the board within ten calendar days after such notification was delivered to him personally or was mailed to his last known post office address and applies for a hearing, such decision of the department shall be final and compensation shall be paid or denied in accordance therewith. In the event that an appeal is filed with the board, the payment of any contested amount of compensation shall be withheld pending determination of the claim, but any uncontested amount of compensation allowed in any decision shall be paid, notwithstanding any appeal which may thereafter be taken: Provided, That when a referee or the board affirms a decision of the department allowing compensation, such compensation shall be paid, notwithstanding any further appeal.

Section 504. Powers of Board Over Claims. The board shall have power on its own motion or on appeal to remove, transfer or review any claim pending before or decided by a referee, and, in any such case, and in cases where a further appeal is allowed by the board from the decision of a referee, may affirm, modify or reverse the determination or revised determination, as the case may be of the department or referee on the basis of the evidence previously submitted in the case or direct the taking of additional evidence. When any claim pending before a referee is removed or transferred to the board, the board shall afford the claimant person designated by him, and all other affected parties reasonable opportunity for a fair hearing. The parties shall be duly notified of the board's final decision and the reasons therefor. A complete record shall be kept of each case heard before the board. All testimony at any hearing before the board, whether on appeal or otherwise, shall be taken by a reporter, but need not be transcribed unless the disputed claim is further appealed.

Section 505. Rules of Procedure. The manner in which appeals shall be taken, the reports thereon required from the department, the claimant and employers, and the conduct of hearings and appeals, shall be in accordance with rules of procedure prescribed by the board, whether or not such rules conform to common law or statutory rules of evidence, and other technical rules of procedure.

When the same, or substantially similar evidence is relevant, and material to the matter in issue in applications and claims filed by more than one individual or in multiple applications and claims filed by a single individual, the same time and place for considering each such application and claim may be fixed, hearings thereon jointly conducted, a single record of the proceedings made, and evidence introduced with respect to any application or claim considered as introduced with respect to all of such applications or claims: Provided, That in the judgment of the board or referee having jurisdiction of the proceedings, such consideration will not be prejudicial to any party: And provided further, That the board shall afford the claimant person designated by him, and all other affected parties, a reasonable opportunity for a fair hearing, which shall be public, and wherein all evidence shall be taken under oath or affirmation."

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The third section was read and agreed to.

The fourth section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 4, page 4, line 19 by striking out with boldface brackets the following: "[Dauphin County]"; and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "the county wherein said hearing was held."

Amend Sec. 4, page 4, line 16, by striking out the word "to" where it appears the first time in said line, and inserting in lieu thereof: "of."

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The fifth and sixth sections were separately read and agreed to.

The seventh section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 7, page 6, line 10, by striking out the word "uncertified" and inserting in lieu thereof: "uncertificated."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The eighth section was read and agreed to.

The ninth section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. PETROSKY offered the following amendments:

Amend the bill, page 6, by inserting between lines 23 and 24 the following:

"Sec. 9. The provisions of this act shall not be so construed as to prohibit or prevent any mine foreman, assistant mine foreman or fire boss, or any other supervisory employe from joining any labor union or engaging in collective bargaining with his employer, nor in any wise to affect any right of any such person guaranteed to them by the National Labor Relations Act, or any other act protecting the rights of labor."

Amend Sec. 9, Page 6, line 24 by striking out the figure "9" and inserting in lieu thereof the figure, "10."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding that there is nothing in the bill at the present time that would prohibit men affected by this particular piece of legislation to organize or join any union that they might desire to join. Therefore, I think that the amendments are not necessary.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, the Majority Leader was able to scrutinize the amendments so very hurriedly and find out that there was nothing in this bill which will thwart the efforts of the amendments as offered by myself to section nine.

Mr. Speaker, there is no doubt in my mind that in going through the bill and reading the same, it is absolutely the intent of the act and the amendments are offered to eliminate that purpose. There is no question in my mind but what the amendments that I have offered do nothing more than to eliminate the possibility of discrimination upon the membership of union locals or upon the membership of mine workers from being discriminated against by certain individuals acting under the provisions of this act. I am asking the membership of this House, both sides of the House, to support the amendments, in fairness to those who earn their wages by the sweat of their brows and toil in the bowels of the earth, and eliminate discrimination against those who earn their living in the manner which is befitting those who desire to work and earn such a living.

This amendment is not so wide in its scope and yet it means so much to that person who is engaged in this type of work. I feel it is time to pass some legislation of this sort. By casual observance I notice that many times there are discriminatory methods against people who are active within their own ranks in order to better their welfare, in order to make progress in social matters of working conditions for those whom they have represented. This is a measure which will absolutely deprive him of the right to go out and bargain collectively and deprive him of the right to go out and bargain for a decent honest-to-God standard of American way of living. I say to the Members of the House that in fairness to those who are employed in this production program in which we are engaged in the present war, in fairness to them and their families, should be no discrimination against the persons who would want to further their ambitions and further the welfare of their fellow workers. Let us not discriminate against them. Let us pass the amendments which will eliminate those provisions under this act and guarantee to them fair play by fair legislation.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, may I again repeat, as I have in the past, there is nothing that we want to do upon this side of the House that would jeopardize the rights of organized labor to organize or individuals to become members of a labor organization of their choice. I do not find anywhere in this bill that we are preventing men from becoming affiliated with any labor organization; I do not find any clause in this bill that will prevent them from doing that. I believe these men today are organized, they belong to labor organizations, and I certainly do not find anywhere in the bill that it would prohibit them from continuing to join labor organizations in the future. Therefore, I feel that the amendments are unnecessary and I ask the House to vote down the amendments.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, does not this act in section 1 make an officer of the Commonwealth out of the mine foreman, the assistant mine foreman or the fire boss?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. That is right, Mr. Speaker, and I believe that the court decisions have held definitely that they are employes of the Commonwealth.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, in section 4 of the act, does it not give the power to the Secretary of Mines to suspend or revoke certificates?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Only after proper hearing has been held, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PETROSKY. What reasons, Mr. Speaker, will determinte why a hearing should be held; what reasons determine the necessity for a hearing?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I believe if a mine inspector finds that injury has been caused to a particular miner or group of miners, that the mine inspector might feel was the result of negligence upon the part of the mine boss or fire boss, he could instigate proceedings for a hearing, at which time the facts would have to be set forth and be proven that there was negligence upon the part of the mine boss or the fire boss before any further action could be taken, as far as suspension or revocation of his certificate is concerned.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, can not this be done today under the provisions of the present act?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I thought we were talking about the amendments.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, the subject matter of my discussion is relevant to the amendments, and I feel that the question is in order. Of course, if the Majority Leader does not wish to answer, that will be satisfactory to me.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I will be very happy to discuss that on final passage, but right now we are discussing the amendments. I do not think the interrogation has anything to do with the amendments.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I further want to know from the Majority Floor Leader whether in his opinion he does not feel that it would be fair to put into this act a provision which would guarantee to those persons affected that no discrimination would be possible against various persons in the event that they decided to join a labor organization.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I think I have repeated several times that I feel the amendment is very unnecessary because in reading the bill there is nothing in the bill to prevent these men from organizing just as they are organized today as members of a labor organization.

There is nothing in the bill anywhere that I can see that would prevent him from doing that. Therefore, I cannot see that the amendments are necessary.

Mr. PETROSKY. When was this bill sponsored? What was the date of the proposal of this measure in the Senate?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. March 31st, according to the bill I have before me.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, was not that approximately the time when it was made public that the United Mine Workers of America had been accosted by mine supervisory officials with respect to joining organized labor, and establishing a unit of the United Mine Workers of America?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I am sorry, Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer the gentleman. I did not read anything about that.

Mr. PETROSKY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I can say that the amendments that I have proposed to section 9 are very necessary to this measure, inasmuch as on interrogation it has pointedly been shown that it is actually and absolutely an act to counteract the minds of the mine supervisory employes, such as mine foremen, assistant mine foremen, fire bosses, and so on, inasmuch as those points on interrogation have shown to you that the data in regard to the time when they have asked for enlistment in the United Mine Workers of America and the date of sponsorship are one and the same. There is nothing particularly in the act which we have before us, and the motive definitely behind it is just what I am trying to correct by the amendments that I have offered, and I would like every Member on both sides of the House to vote for my amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Petrosky and Mr. Weiss.

Messrs. Lane, Petrosky and Burns asked for a verification of the roll.

Section 4 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

Section 5 The provisions of this act except as herein otherwise provided in Sections 2.1 and 2.4 shall become effective immediately upon final enactment.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been on the calendar for some time and amended on several occasions, yet only this morning one of the Members made inquiry with regard to the bill which led me to believe that perhaps the intent or purport of the bill was not understood.

First of all, I want to tell you that this is not a licensing bill, it is a certification bill. The difference between a licensing and a certification bill is simply this, that in those provisions where we license, a board is established by examination and qualification to determine the individual's qualifications to practice in some profession or business. Then we grant that individual a license and say to the balance of the world, "You may not practice this profession under penalty." In certification, all we do is determine the eligibility of the individual or his qualifications, and then we set our stamp of approval upon that individual. We do not say to the balance of the world, "You cannot practice in that particular profession." There is quite a difference. Remarks have been made that if this bill were to be passed an individual could not go out and audit a set of books for his lodge or his church or perhaps for his particular municipality, unless he happened to be a certified public accountant.

Now, this bill has nothing to do with that. In other words, anything that a certified public accountant can do from an auditing standpoint can be done by an individual who does not have certification in the state of Pennsylvania. So this bill is not a licensing bill; it is purely and simply a certification bill. Since 1899, or for forty-three years the State Board of Accountancy has been granting certificates to accountants in Pennsylvania. That has been done by rules of the board. They have established the extent and the scope of the examination. They have established the prerequisites, that is the educational qualifications to take that examination. Up until September 11, 1942, the Pennsylvania Board of Accountancy have been establishing those rules. They have changed from time to time, but for about the last fifteen years they have been somewhat standard, mainly a high school education and five years of practical experience in the practice of accountancy.

On September 11, 1942 the Department of Justice upon inquiry as to whether the Board has the right to establish by rule such regulations, ruled adversely, so that we find ourselves in the peculiar paradox today of trying to conduct an examination for the practice of accountancy and the board having no right to establish or to set up requirements or even the extent or scope of the examination. So what we are attempting to do in this bill is to establish by statute practically what the State Board practiced by rule in the preceeding years. We are liberalizing it a little bit. In place of saying just "a high school education," we are saying "a high school education or its equivalent." That is quite a difference. That means that if an individual has not graduated from a high school he may be able by attendance at night school or by an examination before the State Board get the equivalent of a high school standing. We are saying from a practical standpoint he shall have three years experience in place of five. I submit to the Members of the House that five years of an individual's time to get the practical experience after his education has been completed is quite a long time. I don't know of any profession in the state of Pennsylvania requiring five years practical experience. We don't require it of our doctors. I will grant you that their educational requirements are higher, but five years are a long time. So we have amended the bill to three years. I believe this bill is fair. Many an individual has been taken from his training or from his profession in the past year, he is going to return a year or two years hence, and I think that we ought to provide so that he will know exactly what the qualifications or requirements will be. I ask you all to vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. STONIER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose House Bill 558, Printer's No. 523. This bill has been on the postponed calendar for many weeks and has been amended many times, and I believe that the sponsor of the bill will fail to recognize his own brain child. Many of the amendments, I doubt whether a Philadelphia lawyer can figure them out and figure out what the intent of this bill is. I have been requested by the Certified Public Accountants of the state of Pennsylvania to oppose this measure because they feel it would lower the standards of their profession. I, therefore, request the Members of the House to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Stonier.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STONIER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, what are the present qualifications for a certified public accountant?

Mr. STONIER. Mr. Speaker, I understand by rule five years.

Mr. KRISE. And education, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. STONIER. I don't know, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, how would this bill lower the standards of certified public accountants?

Mr. STONIER. Mr. Speaker, it would reduce if from five years to three years.

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman think that five years are necessary for practical experience to become a certified public accountant?

Mr. STONIER. Mr. Speaker, the profession says "yes."

Mr. KRISE. The gentleman does not know that himself, does he?

Mr. STONIER. No, Mr. Speaker, I do not.

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is opposing this only because the certified public accountants asked him to, is that correct?

Mr. STONIER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, in view of the difference of opinion between the gentleman from Lackawanna and my friend from Clearfield county, as a practical accountant, I feel that I ought to say a word in behalf of House Bill 558.

It is a step forward in liberalizing the present rigid rules of the State Board of Accountancy. It reduces the high school requirements by allowing the board to recognize an equivalent business education. It reduces the number of years from five to three and makes two examinations a year instead of one examination. In view of the fact that almost every certified public accountant who is not connected with a large firm of accountants, who has had an opportunity to see this bill and study it, is in favor of this bill, I ask the members of this House to vote "aye."

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, as long as the gentleman has suggested that a Philadelphia lawyer explain the bill, I am voluntarily offering to give the gentleman the benefit of my legal knowledge and experience and because he is a colleague of mine I shall not send him a bill. I have read this bill which is now before the House and I have given it some thought. I think the bill is clear and I think it is good and proper legislation and I would urge the gentleman who requested the advice to go along with it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, there are a couple of questions that I want to ask the sponsor. May I interrogate the sponsor of the bill, the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Krise?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Clearfield permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KRISE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the gentleman to say that the courts have ruled that the Board now has no right to make rules and regulations in regard to public accountants?

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, no, not the courts, the Attorney-General suggested that the bill be amended, that they did not now have the power to establish rules or set up requirements prerequisite to examination.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman how long this Board has been setting up these rules and regulations?

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, forty-three years, since 1899.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman this, at the present date there are no qualifications whatever?

Mr. KRISE. No, Mr. Speaker, I wouldn't say that that is exactly true. There have been no examinations held since that time, and those individuals that were in of course came in under the old rulings previous to the decision of the Attorney-General.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, when was the decision of the Attorney-General?

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, September 11, 1942.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that there has not been any examination or any qualification since that time?

Mr. KRISE. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman what advantage the man has who passes the examination and is certified by the Board?

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, he has the right to use the degree or title of certified public accountant, and that might be somewhat debatable. If I were to employ an accountant I might feel that the individual that was certified, there would be no question with regard to his ability as an accountant, so I might prefer to hire him rather than an individual unknown to me. The individual certified might not be any better than the other individual but he has that certificate which comes as the result of an examination.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if this bill sets up anything in regard to examinations?

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, it does not.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if he thinks that it would be unfair then to give those men who qualified on the present examination or present rules an advantage over those men who did not take the examination and are not certified?

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, I do not quite get the question. Will the gentleman please repeat it?

Mr. LOVETT. In other words, Mr. Speaker, there is nothing compelling a man to take an examination?

Mr. KRISE. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Or be certified, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. KRISE. That is correct.

Mr. LOVETT. The gentleman feels that if he does take the examination and is certified he then has disadvantage over the man who does not?

Mr. KRISE. He dose not have a disadvantage. He probably has a little advantage inasmuch as he may be picked out as an individual upon whom the state has put its stamp of approval.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I as one who have always condemned the right on the part of boards to make rules and regulations and set up examinations now find that the Attorney-General and some more of us here agree that they should not have those rights. The gentleman says that this has been going on for forty-three years in the state of Pennsylvania. We find out that for forty-three years we have been doing the thing wrong. I feel under this present bill it does not set up the examination and give the board the right to set up the examination. I think at a later date we will find the Attorney-General will possibly rule that the Board had no right to set up such an examination. I, therefore, think that unless the law itself sets up the examination and qualifies these things and gives to each individual the right to take that examination set up by the law of the state, that we should not pass this kind of legislation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Messrs. Stonier, Cordier and Flack requested a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

REASON FOR VOTE

Mr. BENTLEY offered the following reasons for his vote:

In my opinion protection to the public requires that safeguards and rigid standards should surround the several professions. I have thus invariably voted for a strengthening of such safeguards and a rigid application of all educational, character, experience, and similar prerequisites.

However, in this period of wartime, with its consequent shortage of manpower, in all fields, including the professions, this House has consistently refused to increase standards, thus depleting already shorthanded professions.

To be consistent, I must vote "no" on this bill at this time.

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL

Mr. YESTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the time on House Bill No. 709, Printer's No. 224, entitled:

An Act authorizing the secretary of the board of health in the various cities of the third class throughout the Commonwealth during the continuation of the present war and for six months thereafter to search and issue certified copies of birth and death records maintained by such cities after the State-wide system for registering vital statistics was established requiring that such birth and death records be made availabe to the secretary of the board of health for the purposes of this act and authorizing the respective city councils to prescribe fees for such services on page 45 of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed, be extended five days.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 717, as follows:

An Act providing that when any city county school district or other political subdivision of this Commonwealth shall in the exercise of the power of eminent domain acquire real estate by appropriation and condemnation the title thereto which shall vest in such city county school district or other political subdivision shall be a title in fee simple unless otherwise provided in the ordinance or resolution authorizing the appropriation and condemnation thereof

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 When any city county school district or other political subdivision of this Commonwealth shall hereafter in the exercise of the power of eminent domain acquire by appropriation and condemnation any real estate the title thereto which shall vest in such city county school district or other political subdivision shall be a title in fee simple unless otherwise provided in the ordinance or resolution authorizing the appropriation and condemnation thereof

Section 2 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 904, Printer's No. 485, was passed over at the request of Mr. LICHTENWALTER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 931, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation out of the Motor License Fund to the Department of Highways for allocation to and expenditure in the second class townships of the Commonwealth for maintenance construction reconstruction resurfacing or improvement of township roads and bridges during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-four and one thousand nine hundred forty-five permitting the use of the funds for maintenance and repair to township roads and bridges under certain conditions and providing for the method of payment to townships

Section 1 The sum of eight million five hundred thousand dollars ($8,500,000) is hereby appropriated to the Department of Highways for the two calendar years beginning January first one thousand nine hundred forty-four out of the Motor License Fund for allocation to and expenditures in the townships of the second class of the Commonwealth in the amounts upon the terms in the manner and for the purposes hereinafter set forth in this act Provided however That the Secretary of Highways shall withhold payment out of said appropriation to townships of the second class in an amount equal to the total amount of money paid to all townships of the second class out of the Highway Aid Fund during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred forty-four and one thousand nine hundred forty-five

Section 2 The moneys hereby appropriated shall be allocated and apportioned among the second class townships of this Commonwealth in the ratio which the mileage of township roads in each township of the second class bears to the total mileage of township roads in all of the townships of the second class in the Commonwealth as of January first one thousand nine hundred forty-four

The funds so appropriated shall be expended by the supervisors of each township but only after consultation with the Department of Highways as to the most beneficial and efficient manner of making such expenditures and shall be used for the maintenance construction reconstruction resurfacing and improvement of township roads and the maintenance construction and reconstruction of township bridges in townships of the second class excepting that in townships which do not have sufficient funds from other sources for the maintenance and repair of all the roads and bridges under their jurisdiction the allocation to such townships shall be used in whole or in part for such maintenance and repair purposes

Section 3 Nothing in this act shall be construed to relieve any of the second class townships from any obligation they may have incurred under any contract or agreement entered into prior to January first one thousand nine hundred forty-four for the construction or repair of any highway or structure now under their jurisdiction

Section 4 The supervisors of each township shall appoint a foreman who may be a member of the board of supervisors to supervise the work to be done under the provisions of this act and in the event more than one foreman is required the Department of Highways may authorize the supervisors to appoint one or more additional foremen The Secretary of Highways shall have the right to remove any foreman so appointed for incompetency Said supervisors shall also employ any laborers required for said work and fix their wages

Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent work under the act being done by contact let by the township supervisors

Section 5 No payment shall be made from moneys allocated under this act to the townships of the second class except on warrants drawn by the Auditor General upon the State Treasurer as provided by the act of Assembly to the treasurer of the board of supervisors and such payment if approved by the Secretary of Highways shall be made in four equal installments payable the first day of March the first day of June the first day of September and the first day of December of each year

There shall be submitted to the Department of Highways by the board of township supervisors a report on the last days of May and November of each year showing the cost of the work done under the provisions of this act in such detail as may be required by the Department of Highways In case any records or reports required by law are not made in the manner or at the time required no further funds shall be approved for payment by the Secretary of Highways to such township until such reports have been made and approved

Nothing in this act shall be construed to permit the funds appropriated by the act to be paid for other than labor rental or equipment payrolls material purchases including repair parts necessary for the maintenance of equipment small tools road drags and snow fence on road and bridge work performed by the townships under the provisions of this act

Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the use of any of the funds allocated under this act for Federal projects sponsored by the townships or for county-aid work relating to the improvement of roads and bridges

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 266, as follows:

An Act to provide for the publication of the reports of the decisions of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and of the Superior Court in bound volumes and in advance sheets regulating the basis upon which bids shall be submitted and provisions of the contract for publication of such reports conferring powers and imposing duties on the State Reporter the Department of Property and Supplies and the Secretary of the Commonwealth providing for the custody and disposition of plates used in the printing of the bound volumes of such reports and of the advance sheets thereof and repealing certain acts and parts of acts

Section 1 The decisions of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and of the Superior Court shall be published under the supervision of the State Reporter in accordance with the terms of a contract to be entered into by the State Reporter with the responsible and capable person or persons who shall agree to publish and sell the bound volumes of reports of the Supreme Court and of the Superior Court and the advance sheets thereof at the lowest total price as hereinafter provided in this act The State Reporter shall have no pecuniary interest in such contract

Each bidder for the said contract shall designate the total price at which he will sell and deliver prepaid anywhere within the Commonwealth to any person one copy of each bound volume of reports of the Supreme Court and one copy of each bound volume of reports of the Superior Court and one subscription to the advance sheets of said bound volumes or the current equivalent thereof Upon award of the contract the contractor shall be entitled to charge for one bound volume of the reports of the Supreme Court and of the Superior Court and one subscription to the advance sheets of said bound volumes or the current equivalent thereof the price bid by him He shall also be entitled to charge for a single bound volume of reports of the Supreme Court or of the Superior Court or for a single subscription to the advance sheets of reports of the said courts or of either of them or for any combination of such services designated by the State Reporter the price or prices determined by the State Reporter as hereinafter provided

A bidder who proposes to subcontract any part of the work to be done under the terms of the contract shall state that fact in his bid and shall attach the name and address of each proposed subcontractor and a statement of his qualifications and no part of the contract if awarded to such bidder shall be otherwise subcontracted without the prior approval of the State Reporter

Section 2 The contract shall be for a term of five years and shall (a) specify the total price for which the contractor agrees to sell the combination service of the bound volumes of the reports of the Supreme and Superior Courts and their advance sheets as stated in his bid (b) specify the price or prices expressed in percentages of the total price bid for which a single bound volume of the reports of each court or the advance sheets thereof or any combination of such services shall be sold (c) provide that the contractor shall furnish the State Librarian free of charge for library and exchange fifty copies of each bound volume of the reports of the said courts and of the advance sheets thereof and shall furnish the State Reporter free of charge three copies of each said bound volume and eight copies of said advance sheets (d) provide that the said bound volumes of reports and advance sheets shall be printed and published in this Commonwealth (e) provide that the contractor directly or under a written contract or contracts shall maintain in this Commonwealth for the term of the contract the plant facilities and place of business for printing and publishing the said bound volumes of reports and the advance sheets (f) provide that all bound volumes of reports of the said courts and of the advance sheets published under such contract shall be kept by the contractor at his place of business within this Commonwealth or at the direction of the State Reporter at some other convenient place within this Commonwealth to be designated by the State Reporter for sale to all persons at prices established in conformity with the provisions of section 1 of this act during the term of the said contract and (g) provide that the bound volumes of said reports shall be so kept for sale for five years thereafter

Section 3 The State Reporter shall have full power to formulate and prescribe terms and specifications of the contract for the printing and publication of the said bound volumes and of the advance sheets in addition to those enumerated in this act including but not limited to (a) the power to determine what part or parts of said contract may be subcontracted and the terms and conditions upon which part or parts or all of the said contract may be subcontracted (b) the form and the terms of the contract including penalty provisions deemed necessary or desirable by him to assure proper performance by the contractor and (c) the respective percentages of the total price bid for which a single bound volume of the reports of each court or the advance sheets thereof or any combination of such services shall be sold Provided That the total of the prices authorized for the component individual services or combinations thereof shall not exceed 135% of the contract price The State Reporter shall also have the power to reject any and every bid which he in his sole discretion deems unfavorable or disadvantagous to the State and to the public

Section 4 The said reports in the bound volumes shall (a) be printed lithographed or otherwise reproduced on first-class book paper (b) be bound in buckram airplane duck or any other first-class material or materials for binding of books in style and quality not inferior to volume 344 Pennsylvania State Reports (c) be in form and manner of execution similar thereto (d) contain not less than seven hundred pages of printed matter in each volume including an index and table of cases which shall be prepared and furnished by the State Reporter and including any other material directed to be published therein by the State Reporter with the approval of the Supreme Court or of the Superior Court as the case may be

There shall be printed on the back of the reports the matter specified by the State Reporter

The advance sheets of the said reports shall conform as nearly as may be practicable to the bound volumes in type style paging content and manner of execution and shall be published weekly or at such other intervals as the State Reporter may prescribe

Section 5 If the State Reporter in the exercise of his discretion shall determine that the bound volumes of reports shall be electrotyped or stereotyped the plates thereof shall (a) be preserved by the contractor (b) kept within the Commonwealth and (c) delivered to the Secretary of the Commonwealth as the property of the State within three years after the expiration of the contract Upon the receipt of such plates under any presently existing contract or any contract executed hereafter the Secretary of the Commonwealth may in his discretion dispose of them as unserviceable property in the manner provided by law

Section 6 Before the State Reporter awards any contract as provided by this act the Department of Property and Supplies on behalf of and under the supervision and direction of the State Reporter shall give notice of the time and place of awarding the contract and of the terms and specifications upon which sealed bids or proposals will be received by the State Reporter by advertisement in one daily newspaper of general circulation in each of the cities of Harrisburg Philadelphia and Pittsburgh once a week for six consecutive weeks immediately preceding the awarding of such contract

Section 7 Copyright of the advance sheets and of each bound volume of reports shall be obtained in the name of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by and at the expense of the contractor

Section 8 The person to whom any contract shall be awarded under this act shall at the time of executing such contract give bond to the Commonwealth with sufficient surety to be approved by the Department of Property and Supplies in the sum of $30,000 conditioned for the faithful performance of said contract

Section 9 Nothing in this act shall be construed to affect or change the rights duties and liabilities of the parties to presently existing contracts for the publication of reports of the Supreme Court or of the Superior Court or the advance sheets thereof

Section 10 The following acts and parts of acts are hereby specifically repealed

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection Senate Bill No. 310, Printer's No. 197, was passed over at the request of Mr. LICHTENWALTER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 312, as follows:

An Act to further amend section one thousand four hundred and thirty-nine of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by providing for payment for education of blind children out of appropriations made to the Department of Public Instruction for such purposes and conforming said section to existing law

Section 1 Section one thousand four hundred and thirty-nine of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as last amended by the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 206) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1439 The State [Board] Council of Education is authorized to educate blind children residing in this Commonwealth under the age of eight years whenever from any cause the parent or parents thereof may be unable to properly educate them With the written consent of the proper parents parent or nearest relative if there be no parents or the [poor] local authorities of the proper [poor] institution district if there be neither parents nor relatives the [board] State Council of Education may contract with any non-sectarian institution in this State or elsewhere established for the education of the blind whereby any such child may at a cost not exceeding one dollar and fifty cents per day to be paid [out of the State school fund] by the Commonwealth out of funds appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction for the education of blind children be educated until it shall reach the age of eight years Provided That such education may be continued beyond the age of eight years when for physical mental or other proper reasons such child or children need special care for a longer period The contract may be cancelled and the child or children removed at any time by the [board] State Council of Education This act shall not repeal or modify any existing act relative to the education of the blind

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

An Act to enable tax collectors and receivers of taxes in counties of the sixth class to make return to the county commissioners of unpaid taxes assessed on seated lands for certain years and validating the liens of such taxes

Section 1 Whenever any tax collector or receiver of taxes in any county of the sixth class shall have failed or neglected to make return to the county commissioners of taxes assessed and levied against seated lands for the years one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine or one thousand nine hundred and forty within the time required by law the tax collector or receiver may legally and validly make return of such taxes in the manner provided by law for such return at any time within six months after this act takes effect and the liens of any taxes for said years so returned under the authority of this act shall be valid and are hereby ratified and confirmed and a county treasurer's sale is held or on any day to which said sale may be adjourned or readjourned in the manner provided by existing law Provided however That the return of any tax under this act shall not revive or re-establish any tax lien against real estate which was transferred to any bona fide purchaser during the time when any such lien was lost nor shall such return effect the priority of the lien of any mortgage or other lien which was entered prior to the tax lien or which gained priority because of the failure of the collector to return the tax at the regular time

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

Section 3 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and consent is granted.

Will the gentleman from Montgomery County permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, is it true that I appointed a special select committee composed of the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Wood, and the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Winner, to investigate the doings of the Senate of Pennsylvania?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I will have to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia to repeat that question.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, is it true that I appointed a special sub-committee composed of the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Wood, and the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Winner, to investigate the doings of the Senate of Pennsylvania?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, has that committee carried out its duties?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. It has, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Does the gentleman have a report to make at this time?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may we have the report?

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, the report is as follows: The committee comprised of Mr. Winner and myself in our travels today ventured into the Senate chamber to discover that they over there are just emerging from the Renaissance. In fact their minds' eyes have wandered back to the era of the Genovese Christopher Columbus, that great navigator. Mr. Winner remarked that if this would have been October 12 we would have been celebrating the first anniversary of that famous kiss that Columbus gave to the soil in San Salvador. As a matter of fact, your committee wishes to report that the Senate calendar today is printed under the date of April 27, 1493.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to make fun of the Senate but we in the House know that they have always been that far behind and we should not rub it in today.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 54

Mr. WALLIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 54, Printer's No. 583.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 6, 1943.

The House of Representatives of the General Assembly on Thursday, April 1st, unanimously passed House Bill No. 816 granting a much deserved pay increase to school teachers throughout the Commonwealth.

There are other employes of the various school districts of the Commonwealth however who are salaried and who by reason of the increased cost of living have found themselves financially embarrassed.

These persons are the non-professional employes, the janitors, caretakers, clerks, secretaries and stenographers whose labor contributes also to the successful operation of the school system.

An attempt was made to amend House Bill No. 816 by including therein an increas of fifteen per centum of present salaries for those employes but the plan failed due to the added burden it placed upon the Commonwealth, which would probably have caused the final defeat of the increase for the professional employes.

The Commonwealth having decided to increase the salaries of the teachers it seems eminently fair that the local boards of school directors should assume the burden of providing a living wage for those other employes of the school districts; therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the General Assembly, That while it recognizes the need of the non-professional employes of the school districts throughout the Commonwealth of an increase in salary of at least fifteen per centum of existing salaries in order to maintain a proper living standard, it feels that the local authorities should assume this added cost of administering the system; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House shall forward a copy of this resolution to each board of school directors within the Commonwealth.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 49

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 49, Printer's No. 529.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 49, entitled: "An act to amend the title and sections one to twelve both inclusive, of the act approved the nineteenth day of March, one thousand nine hundred forty-one, (P. COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1943. 135th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 27. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 28, 1943. No. 50.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, April 28, 1943.

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

We believe in Thee, O God, as the "great Architect of the universe," for we see Thy handiwork. May our belief be strengthened as we recognize Thy providence in our lives. The world without us reveals Thy power and glory; the world within us reveals Thy constant and loving care. We believe that "no good thing is withheld from those who walk uprightly," and that "all things work together for good to those who love Thee." Therefore, may our walk be upright and our love sincere.

Give to each of us that strength of character that will enable us to consecrate our talents to the work Thou hast given us to do, for in so doing we become co-workers with Thee, the highest position any human can hold.

Remember with Thy healing mercy the senators who are sick. Comfort the hearts of those who have been bereaved. Lead us all to the "green pastures by the still waters" and when we are called to "walk through the valley of the shadow," be Thou our guide.

In the name of the Good Shepherd. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. BECKER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. COLEMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, during this Session, one of the very few war sessions in the history of the Commonwealth, we have paid tribute to individuals, organizations, various groups for their contribution to an all-out war effort in Pennsylvania.

I would like this afternoon to pay special tribute to one other agency for the great work they are doing in immeasurably intensifying our determination to win and to strengthen the morale of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I refer to the motion picture theaters of this state. I am one of seven and a half million people in the Commonwealth who visits some one of the fifteen hundred theaters, and I have seen portrayed on the screen actual battle scenes that have given me a pretty clear idea of my responsibility in this great crisis.

So, this afternoon, Mr. President, in order to conserve the time of the Senate, I am going to ask unanimous consent to have inserted in the Legislative Journal my tribute to this great instrumentality of publicity and education in the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have inserted in the record without the necessity of reading it, my tribute to this great agency.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. COLEMAN. In discussing the all-out war effort in Pennsylvania I am pleased to call special attention to one of the great agencies of our state and commend its wonderful work in this relation. I refer to the motion picture theatre. We have approximately 1,500 active theatres in the state and on the screen of each of these many phases of the war are clearly depicted every day.

It is estimated that about 7,500,000 attend the motion picture theatres in Pennsylvania every week. This vast audience has every feature of the war vividly illustrated to them in a way which would be impossible under any other form of presentation. It immeasurably intensifies their determination to win and strengthens their morale.

From the President, Cabinet Officers, Governor and other distinguished officials and other persons prominent in war activities frequently come personal messages on the great conflict. The scenes of actual combat are clearly portrayed and every element associated with mobilization, troop formation, preparation and our great war industries are clearly presented with photographic accuracy. Our naval maneuvers and other shipping scenes are brought directly home to all Pennsylvanians through the motion picture theatre. Flying formations and all field activities, Red Cross and other lines of action and the manifold affairs of war work are brought to the attention of the people in such a way that war becomes the intimate daily knowledge of millions. This enables them to fit into the situation their varying abilities and constructive service in definitely progressive fashion.

No other agency has contributed more in informing the people of Pennsylvania and the nation on our war work than the motion picture theatre and all of this deserves the careful consideration of the officialdom of our state so that maximum use can always be made of this great instrumentality of publicity and education in advancing the interests of the Commonwealth.

The Motion Picture Theatre Screen is in reality and practice the screen press of America, entirely capable in the most comprehensive way in shaping and directing American public opinion along progressive and constructive lines.

Pennsylvania is the cradle of the motion picture theatre. It has always been at the service of the state and plans are under way now for a greater and more extended line of theatre screen service to the government agencies in Pennsylvania. Being a part of the American press—the visualized and oral division—its merging with the newspapers, magazines and radio in bringing the people of Pennsylvania in closer union with the affairs of their government is being demonstrated in many ways.

It is one of the most practical and useful disseminators of news that has ever been devised. It carries the message of our government to the people in a clear and concise way and actually brings to view, in an audible manner, any subject it assays to handle. In no other way could the men and women in martial array in all of the varying actions of this strife be brought so understandingly to the millions at home who need this information to further stimulate their war action.

All of this far-reaching service is gratuitous. It is no expense to the national or state governments. It has behind it the genius and directing power of one of the world's greatest armies of technicians—the energizing forces of motion picture studios and theatres. As one commentator recently said: "The motion picture accompanies the flag everywhere and is our most convincing ambassador."

President Commends the Screen. In a recent communication to Walter Wanger, president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, President Roosevelt commends the activities of the motion picture theatres in Pennsylvania and elsewhere in this brief and pointed way: (Quote) "It is a matter of deep satisfaction to me, as it must be to you, that we have succeeded in turning the tremendous power of the motion picture into an effective war instrument. Without the slightest resort to the totalitarian methods of our enemies, we have preserved and shall continue to preserve, the right of free expression which is so distinctly the mark of our democratic way of life. We are able to do this by voluntary cooperation of the motion picture industry and the government because all of us have a common goal of our own free choice.

"In the months to come world conditions may cause the motion picture industry to play an even larger part in the war against Axis tyranny. I know that the responsibility this presents will be cheerfully and completely fulfilled, because no one has a greater stake in victory than you whose profession is so bound up with the maintenance of the American tradition of free communications (Unquote)

In "Movies at War", magazine of the Motion Picture Industry, many interesting facts are given of the activities of the motion picture theatre in Pennsylvania and other parts of the United States. I quote just a few. "Among the Victory Films are screen messages covering a wide range of war subjects. These include appeals by cabinet officers and bureau heads. Each is released to serve some definite war purpose. The agreed proceedure for 1943 calls for the delivery and exhibition of 677 prints for release on odd Thursdays and the "America Speaks" series are released on even Thursdays, thus covering the entire year. The five newsreel companies and the March of Time release this year 544 graphic, pictorial reels bringing to the many-million weekly screen audience the story of the American fight for freedom."

In Pennsylvania we take special pride in the fact that here the motion picture theatre first became an institution. Pennsylvania's lead in this direction has been successfully followed by other states until now this great medium of expression, the theatre screen, holds an envious place among the great public opinion developers and coordinators of the nation. I indeed appreciate this opportunity to pay this deserved tribute to the motion picture theatres of this state and applaud the great war efforts of the patriotic men and women directing these energies. It is my hope that the nation, state and community service of the theatres will continue to expand and always meet up with every publicity and information need of our people.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. EDMONDS, on account of illness.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. ZIESENHEIM, on account of service in the United States Army.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. COX asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I do not profess to be the poet laureate of the Senate, and I do not want you to think the little piece of poetry which I am going to read is any attempt on my part to take the laurels away from the shoulders of Senator Carr.

This is a very simple little ditty and arrangements could be made so that it could be sung or played on the bass viol:

"While the Education Committee of the Senate is sitting, sitting, sitting
The school teachers are quitting, quitting, quitting."

I have in my hands a copy of the Pittsburgh Post Gazette of this date which contains a picture of four very charming young women and above the picture are these words: "Add to school board's headaches." The school board has a headache because those four young women are joining the armed forces of our country.

Then we find this headline "Teacher shortage hits city and county schools. Staff members shifted about in class rooms due to inroads of army and war industry."

The substance of the article, of course, is to explain a condition which is happening all over our state, that our school system is being wrecked because of the fact that the persons who teach in it are being driven into private industry because of the small salaries, of the small compensation which is being paid to them. I wrote this masterful poem which I read to you and which I think is true as an ode to those school teachers.

We have been in session for four months. Before this Legislature ever met, as a matter of fact before the last gubernatorial campaign, both parties, in order to secure the votes of the school teachers, were very vehement in their protestations of affection and desire to assist them to help meet the economic conditions which they now face.

The election is over. This Session of the Senate is almost over; only five more days and this Session of the Legislature will be in limbo and there still rests in the Committee on Education this long-promised bill to aid the school teachers. We can not excuse ourselves for our inactivity, our delay, and the effect of the failure of the Committee on Education to put that bill out is this, that when the bill comes out we have got to take what the Committee on Education hands us. A delay of one day in an attempt by the members of this Senate to amend that bill would result in the Legislature of Pennsylvania passing no bill. This situation is destructive of one of the most important institutions in our state, the institution of public schools. The public schools of this state are a bulwark against all the "isms" that have ever been created in the world, and if you destroy the public school system by taking out of it the competent people who now man our schools, you can expect anything to happen in the future.

We are living in a rapidly changing world and after this war is over we are going to meet problems that today we can not attempt to anticipate, and if we are going to meet them we can only meet them through our public school system.

If the members of this Senate believe in the public school system, then they are going to preserve that system by paying adequate compensation to the men and women who are teaching there. In five days, possibly, this Session of Legislature will end and in five days possibly, my career as a member of the Senate of Pennsylvania will end, and when that time is over I have got to look back on the things that I have tried to do, I have got to look back on the things that I failed to do, and I will tell you very frankly, Senator Heyburn, that my experience in this Senate from the standpoint of accomplishment in the last four years has not been an experience which will make me happy for the rest of my life, and I will tell you frankly, Senator Heyburn, that this "do nothing" session of the Legislature, probably the worst in the history of the Legislature, is a thing to make us all ashamed when the Legislature adjourns.

When I think of the things that have been attacked, institutions that make for democracy, institutions such as civil service, institutions such as the scientific supervision of parole, when I think of all those things being destroyed or at least attempts being made to destroy them—we idly prate about democracy, about our love for it, about our willingness to die for it, but the trouble is, it seems, that we are not willing to legislate for it.

I certainly hope, Senator Homsher, that you have a meeting of the Committee on Education today. Certainly by this time the Committee ought to know what it is going to do to increase the salaries of teachers and if the Committee on Education can not make its mind up, I am satisfied that on both sides of this Senate are members sufficiently interested in the welfare of the teachers, who can produce a bill which will be acceptable, and I might say by way of advice that I sincerely hope when your bill comes out that it does not further restrict and limit the amount of money that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is going to give to the teachers.

Last Sunday I picked up one of the local papers and there was a story—it seems to me that in order to find out what happens in our Senate committees we have to go back home—there was a story under a Harrisburg date line that the Senate Committee on Education was going to further cut the amount of compensation which is going to be paid to the school teachers. I hope that is not correct and I certainly hope, Senator Homsher, that the Committee on Education amends that bill, not only to increase the compensation to higher levels, but also to include many employes of school districts which are not included in the bill at the present time and, of course, I am now speaking of the school secretaries, the school nurses and the other employes who, too, have to live and who, too, are important cogs in our educational system.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HEYBURN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, there is going to be a meeting of the Committee on Education this afternoon, I understand, just as soon as they can get it. As the members of the Senate know, unfortunately the activity of that Committee has been held up a little bit due to a certain unfortunate situation which developed here a week or two ago, but there will be a meeting of the Committee on Education this afternoon.

Mr. CHAPMAN from the Committee on Federal Relations to which was referred on April 14, 1943, the following resolution from the House of Representatives reported the same without amendment as follows, viz:

CONGRESS MEMORIALIZED TO FURNISH TRANSPORTATION TO PHILIPPINES AFTER CESSATION OF HOSTILITIES TO MEN WHO FORMED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE

In the House of Representatives, March 17, 1943.

After the discovery of the Philippine Archipelago four hundred years ago by Ferdinand Magellan and until 1898 the islands were held and ruled by Spain.

Following the sinking of the Maine in February, 1898, the declaration of war against Spain and the taking of Manila by Admiral Dewey, the Spanish Government ceased therein and was succeeded by United States Military Rule.

In June, 1898, the Filipinos proclaimed their independence with Auginaldo as President, and within less than a year which was marked by increased hostility toward the United States, the Melolos Consitution was proclaimed declaring the Philippines a Republic.

On the night of February 4th, 1899, the inevitable conflict between the Americans and the Filipinos was precipitated and Auginaldo declared war on the United States resulting in a struggle which was not terminated until the capture of Auginaldo by General Frederick Funston, two years later.

Many of the American soldiers who participated in quelling the Philippine insurrection and bringing peace to the islands and their inhabitants and delivering them from starvation, are alive today and are deeply interested in the freedom of the natives and their full and complete independence, which under the terms of the Tydings-McDuffie Act is scheduled to occur in 1945.

The seizure of the islands of Japan will not interfere with the realization of that dream by the Filipinos, for before the day fixed in 1945 for their independence the Japs will have been driven from the Islands and the loyal natives will be better equipped than before to take their place among the free peoples of the world.

Nothing could better serve to mark this epochal event than to have the men who delivered those islands from slavery in 1899 return as Ambassadors of Good Will to the new nation for whose existence they will in great measure have been responsible; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to take such measures as may be necessary to furnish free transportation on United States warships or other vessels to and from the Philippines as soon after the cessation of present hostilities as is possible to all those men who formed a part of the expeditionary force that made possible the freedom of the Filipinos and the creation of the new Republic of the Philippines; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the President of the United States, the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States which was laid on the table.

Mr. KEPHART, from the Committee on Judiciary Special re-reported as amended, Senate Bill No. 419, entitled:

An Act giving the consent of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the acquisition by the United States of America of approximately twenty-one thousand acres of land in the County of Franklin, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, known as the Letterkenny Ordnance Depot, and ceding jurisdiction to the United States.

RESOLUTION

RECOMMENDING THAT THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION MAKE A STUDY OF RE-APPORTIONMENT

Mr. WALKER offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, April 28, 1943.

Whereas, The Constitution of this Commonwealth requires that the State be divided into senatorial and representative districts following each United States decennial census; and

Whereas, No valid general reapportionment of the Commonwealth into senatorial or representative districts has been adopted by the General Assembly since the Session of 1921; and

Whereas, It is apparent that no such reapportionment can be adopted at the present session; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate hereby recommends to the Joint State Government Commission that it make a study of the general subject of dividing the State into senatorial districts and into representative districts, and report its findings and recommendations, together with drafts of appropriate bills for introduction, to the regular session of the General Assembly in 1945.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

RESOLUTION LAID ON TABLE

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the resolution which I just presented to the Senate be laid on the table.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this resolution in my opinion has — — —

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, a motion to lay on the table is not debatable.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny is correct.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I was going to state that perhaps some of the Senators did not hear this resolution read and I would like to have it read for the second time.

Mr. WALKER. Excuse me, Senator Shapiro.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia desire to have the resolution read again?

Mr. SHAPIRO. I am not surprised, Mr. President; the Republicans vote on everything now without ever hearing it.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution was read by the Clerk. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia wish to have the resolution again read?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Yes, Mr. President.

(The resolution was again read by the Clerk)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree that the resolution be laid on the table?

It was agreed to.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. LETZLER, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 28, 1943.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday afternoon, May 3, 1943, at three o'clock; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday afternoon, May 3, 1943, at three o'clock.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. GELTZ from the Committee on Military Affairs to which was referred on April 21, 1943, the following resolution from the House of Representatives reported the same without amendment as follows, viz:

AMERICANISM DAY

In the House of Representatives, April 15, 1943.

For many years this country and the world at large has observed May first as May Day and at different places the observance has been marked by various kinds of celebrations

At times these celebrations have resulted in demonstrations against organized government

In 1932 the American Legion in Fayette County inaugurated a new kind of observance of the day by staging a parade of Americanism which has grown each year into an event of first importance

The participation in the celebration of this day by patriotic societies veterans' organizations and other organizations cannot help but make it throughout the Commonwealth a day to awaken new pride in our American institutions therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urges the setting aside of May first as Americanism Day and urges upon all patriotic veteran fraternal and civic organizations the planning of its celebration in such a manner as will bring to the people of the Commonwealth a full realization of the benefits and privileges and blessings that come to them through the continuance of our American form of government and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor of the Commonwealth is hereby urged to issue his proclamation further urging the people of the Commonwealth to join in a real American celebration of Americanism Day.

Which was laid on the table.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, last Monday night I believe I voiced my objection to this bill and I do not intend to discuss it at length any further, but I do want to bring this thought home, that if this bill were designed, or at least if the proposed savings under this bill would result in a reduction of rates to the consumers, I would unhesitatingly vote for it. However, I am inclined to believe that this bill is designed to further enrich the already overloaded coffers of the power companies and, therefore, I intend to vote against it and I also ask my Democratic colleagues on this side to vote against it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN, Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 151, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend Sections 203 and 204 and to further amend Section 205 of and to add Sections 205.1 205.2 205.3 205.4 205.5 205.6 205.7 205.8 205.9 205.10 and 205.11 to the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" providing for the election of school directors in school districts of the second third and fourth classes by nonpartisan ballots at special elections be recommitted to the Committee on Elections.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 156, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section three hundred two of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1225) entitled "An act concerning game and other wild birds and wild animals and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" exempting for the duration of the present war any persons in the armed forces from the payment of a fee to the Commonwealth for resident hunting licenses

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN, Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 291, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section forty-nine of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 447) entitled as amended "An act relating to the administration and distribution of the estates of decedents and of minors and of trust estates including the appointment bonds rights powers duties liabilities accounts discharge and removal of executors administrators guardians and trustees herein designated as fiduciaries the administration and distribution of the estates of presumed decedents widow's and children's exemptions debts of decedents rents of real estate as assets for payment thereof the lien thereof sales and mortgages of real estate for the payment thereof judgments and executions therefor and the discharge of real estate from the lien thereof contracts of decedents for the sale or purchase of real estate legacies including legacies charged on land the discharge of residuary estates and of real estate from the lien of legacies and other charges the appraisement of real estate devised at a valuation the ascertainment of the curtilage of dwelling houses or other buildings devised the abatement and survival of actions and the substitution of executors and administrators therein the survival of causes of action and suits thereupon by or against fiduciaries investments by fiduciaries the organization of corporations to carry on the business of decedents the audit and review of accounts of fiduciaries refunding bonds transcripts to the court of common pleas of balances due by fiduciaries the rights powers and liabilities of nonresident and foreign fiduciaries the appointment bonds rights powers duties and liabilities of trustees durante absentia the recording and registration of decrees reports and other proceedings and the fees therefor appeals in certain cases and also generally dealing with the jurisdiction powers and procedure of the orphans' court in all matters relating to fiduciaries concerned with the estates of decedents" by changing the provisions of subsection (b) thereof which authorize executors or administrators to make distribution and pay or deliver legacies without the audit of their accounts be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of further study.

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, at this time, when a bill is recommitted to committee, it is tantamount to execution being fully aware of that, I am constrained to oppose the motion made by the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Heyburn.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise on a parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, what must this side do in order to carry a "no" vote?

The PRESIDENT. It would be necessary to have a majority. The Senator can always appeal from a ruling of the Chair.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I will have to appeal to the public to give us more Senators, that is all.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 417, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor and the Board of Trustees of Pennhurst State School to acquire a certain tract of land for the use of the State Institution for the Feeble-Minded and Epileptic of Eastern Pennsylvania at Pennhurst and making an appropriation therefor

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The Department of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor and the Board of Trustees of Pennhurst School is hereby authorized to purchase in the name of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a certain tract of land of approximately 100 acres known as the Reck property situated in the Township of Limerick Montgomery County surrounded on three sides by property owned by the Commonwealth and so located that the entrance thereto must be over lands of said Institution said lands having been rented by the Commonwealth for more than twenty years and presently constituting a valuable acreage for production of vegetables for Institutional use

Section 2 Said tract of land when purchased shall be added to the lands of the State Institution for the Feeble-Minded and Epileptic of Eastern Pennsylvania at Pennhurst The deeds of conveyance shall be deposited with the Secretary of Internal Affairs

Section 3 The said lands shall not be acquired until the titles thereto have been approved by the Department of Justice

Section 4 The sum of sixteen thousand dollars ($16,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated to the Department of Property and Supplies for the payment of the purchase price of said tract of land and the expenses incidental thereto including title searches

Section 5 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 433, entitled:

An Act relating to appointments reclassifications and promotions under the civil service systems of all political subdivisions of this Commonwealth that shall hereafter be made until a period after the cessation of hostilities making such appointments reclassifications and promotions of war duration providing for the establishment of new employment and promotion lists and suspending inconsistent laws

Section 1 It is the legislative purpose and intent of this act to give the men and women who are serving their country in the present war an equal opportunity with those who remain at home to compete for positions under any civil service system now in operation in any political subdivision of this Commonwealth or in any department or agency of any political subdivision so that they shall not be put to a disadvantage because of their service in the armed forces or in essential war industry or activities in securing employment under any of such civil service systems

Section 2 All persons appointed reclassified or promoted to any office or position in any political subdivision or in any department or agency thereof that is now subject to civil service requirements under any law of this Commonwealth after the effective date of this Act shall be appointed reclassified or promoted in accordance with the rules and regulations established by the appointing authority in any political subdivision of this Commonwealth or in any department or agency of any political subdivision Until appropriate eligible lists can be established subsequent to a date to be fixed by the Governor as hereinafter provided they shall continue in such appointment reclassification or promotion under and subject to all the provisions of the applicable civil service law until one year after the cessation of all hostilities of the war or wars in which the United States is now engaged Thereafter all such offices and positions shall be deemed to be vacant and all persons then holding any of them shall continue in their respective office or position as war duration employes until permanent appointments reclassifications or promotions can be made from employment and promotion lists established as the result of examinations given by the board or person required by law in each case to give civil service examinations on or after a date to be fixed by the Governor as hereinafter provided in the manner and subject to the provisions of the applicable civil service act

Section 3 Within one year after the cessation of hostilities the Governor shall issue a proclamation fixing a date not more than one year later upon which examinations shall be held by the board or person required by law in each case to give civil service examinations under the provisions of the applicable civil service act in order to establish eligible lists for all offices and positions to which this act applies and to which appointments reclassifica-tions or promotions shall have been made since the effective date of this act

Section 4 The provisions of every act or part of act inconsistent herewith are hereby suspended so long as this act shall remain in effect

Section 5 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, after looking over the original bill and looking over the amended bill, I believe it is only fair to the sponsor, that the least you can do with it, if you want to pass such a bill, is to introduce your own bill when you want to do something contrary to the wishes of the sponsor. I believe it is an unfair procedure to take a bill which was introduced with all good intentions and then make it suit your purposes, simply because a member has placed his name upon it. This bill now does not propose to do what the original sponsor wanted it to do.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. DENT. Therefore, Mr. President, in fairness to the sponsor of the bill, I move you that this bill be recommitted to whatever pickling committee you want to send it to; the Committee on Judiciary General, I think or the Committee on Judiciary Special, simply because the bill is not the same bill that went in.

It reminds me of the story of Senator Stiefel about the dove that went out in the morning and at night came home a raven.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I second the motion of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, for two reasons, for the first reason that he gave, that I think out of all courtesy to the Senator from Allegheny, Senator Barr, the Majority Party should introduce its own bill deleting civil service, and permit the rest of us to vote on the Barr bill as it was.

It seems to me that again we face another attempt to destroy civil service among the communities of our state and I think it is unwarranted. It is absolutely possible to have war duration civil service and that is the civil service that we should have.

Do not forget that this bill has the effect, after the date of signing of the act, if it should pass, of saying to all political sub-divisions of Pennsylvania, "any people you employ from here on do not have civil service, do not have the protection of civil service." I think that is a principle of government that we should be vitally interested in and concerned with; we should be very certain and very definite as to where we stand. We certainly should not under the guise of passing a war measure permit ourselves to destroy it.

I had hoped that the Wade-Taylor bill would be treated kindly in the Senate and sent back to its final repose to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish, and I certainly hope that you will vote to do the same thing with this bill.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this bill compels me to tell a story which I think is very apropos. I will not say that it is a story from the Talmad, but I will say that it is a story my father told me—I notice that the Republicans are not passing any bills introduced by Democrats and over in the House they will not do anything for the Democrats, they kill all the Democratic bills, but now the Senate is going to do something for us, and so I am reminded of the story that my father told me.

I do not know whether any of you gentlemen know it or not, but in the old days, in order to get out of Russia, it was necessary to sneak over the border. There were two Jewish gentlemen from Russia who were trying to sneak over the border and they kept on and on. Of course, they were hungry and thirsty and when they finally got near the border line they were resting, and while they were resting they smelled something good to eat that was being broiled and so they sneaked over to see what it was. By the time they got close enough they had exposed themslves and could not get away. It was a pig being broiled, and, of course, it was against their religion to eat a pig. These two Russians saw the two Jewish gentlemen and grabbed both of them and said "you eat; you have to eat." They compelled them to eat, and one of the Russians who had one of the Jewish men by the arm and was compelling him to eat, looked at the other Jewish fellow and he said to his compatriot, "Your Jew ate more than my Jew and I am going to punch him in the nose," and the other Russian said, "If you punch my Jew in the nose, I will punch your Jew twice," and the first Russian said, "If you punch my Jew twice, I will punch your Jew three times," Well, that went on for some time and those two Jewish men finally broke away and they ran for miles and, becoming exhausted, they sat down and one fellow said to the other, "You see, Abe, how wonderful and remarkable it is when a Christian sticks up for a Jew."

So I say, see how remarkable it is when Republicans are sticking up for Democrats. They are now passing a Democratic bill; this is Senator Barr's bill, the title is the same, the number is the same, the ostensible purpose is the same, and they have finally had the opportunity to do something for the Democrats.

When this bill goes out a a civil service measure, it will not go out as a bill of the Republican party, it will come out as a bill of the Democratic party. Beware when the Republicans stick up for the Democrats.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, we have had many attempts to becloud this issue, we have had many references to Senate Bill No. 311, which was sponsored by Senator Taylor and myself, but let us face the issue clearly.

In the first place, my very good friend, a gentleman I admire very deeply, the leader of the opposing side, rose to his feet in this Senate and gave us some very clear cut and distinct statements regarding the whole civil service question, and I refer to page 806 of the Legislative Journal, under date of March 15, in which he said in part:"

"I guarantee that there will not be a person on this floor but will admit that they get more courteous service, better service, more up to date service in the offices (of the Commonwealth) where they do not have civil service."

But, Mr. President, I am declouding the issue when I bring that in, because neither Senate Bill No. 311, nor the bill now before us do anything to permanent civil service. The issue before us is very clear. We on this side say that we believe permanent appointments should not be made during the time when some seven or eight hundred thousand boys are serving in the armed forces of the United States, and when that issue came before this Senate for a vote, twenty six Republican members said, every one of those Republicans said, in substance, we will protect the rights and the interests of those boys when they have no chance to participate in these examinations.

And then at another time, about the time when the Senator introduced these bills, he believed in that principle, but he had a very definite change of heart. Then again, at another moment in this Senate, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, who has spoken at various times against this bill, Senate Bill No. 311, and tried hard by making inferences that were supposed to be humorous, as the gentleman just has done, and by saying we should change an "if" to an "and" or make very minor changes in the bill, but after that he, too, had a change of heart and he voted, Mr. President and members of this Senate, and said to those boys and girls who, as the Senator from Luzerne said yesterday, are fighting the battles of America in the swamps of Australia, in the foxholes of Guadalcanal, in the sands of North Africa and all over the world, he said to them by his vote, and I repeat, with his colleagues, every one of them, every Democrat in this Senate that was present said to those boys—and I lower my voice in this quiet spring evening—they have said to those boys when they have asked for bread, they have said "we will give you a stone" and they have said to them when they asked for a drink, "we will give you vinegar," and they have said to them when they stood before them—perhaps one of them would hold his hand in supplication, hold out one hand because he had lost the other, had given it, had not lost it, gave it and was willing to give it—perhaps another one would hold a crutch in his hand because an empty trouser leg hung where the leg should be—and when they asked for an opportunity, nothing but an opportunity to take an examination in competition with the stay-at-homes, they said "no" and slammed the door with the votes in their faces.

Gentlemen, you can not hold a democracy and do that, and that is identically, that is exactly what these gentlemen have done. Every vote against that bill when it passed was a Democratic vote and every vote on the other hand, for the bill, was a Republican vote, just to give them a chance, just to say that we appreciate to some little extent the fact that they have fought the real battle of America, and shall have a chance, not a chance over and above anybody else, but a chance with the fellow that did not go.

Gentlemen, that is the issue. We can becloud it by humorous stories, we can becloud it by saying an "if" should be an "and," we can becloud it by introducing bills and then saying "you have changed it." We did not change it, we made it less mild than it was when it was introduced; we made changes that seemed to be necessary in order that we could hold the appropriation we get from the Federal Government, which is a tax against the people of Pennsylvania and only a return of their money, and that is the only reason we changed it.

I agree in substance with the leader of the Democratic party when he said—I shall not read his statement into the record—when he said, courteous service comes from those who do not enjoy this blanket but I am not ready to discuss that measure, that is not before us.

All the boys and girls want, when this is all over and I repeat, Mr. President and members of this Senate—all that they want when they hold out their hands in supplication, is the same opportunity which you give to those who stay at home.

Mr. TALLMAN. I do not like to take much time on this subject, but I think the history of civil service legislation in this Senate is something that bears a little bit of review, and I think it is most interesting, too, at this particular time, to review, in light of the remarks that have been made on the floor this afternoon, the history of the position of the gentlemen on the other side of the Senate Chamber with regard to civil service legislation.

In 1941, a great number of men who are sitting in this Chamber today, on the Democratic side of the Senate, voted against a civil service bill on the ground and the theory that it was not good civil service.

This year, in this Session, I called attention to the fact that the Minority Leader and other members of the Democratic party have risen to their feet in this Chamber and roundly condemned anything that smacked of civil service. I need not refer to the record to make that point clear, because I believe it is firmly in the minds of every member of this Senate who has heard those remarks from time to time.

Then came Senate Bill No. 311, and the members on the other side constantly arose, despite their remarks, despite all of the statements that they had made, and they said, "We are the defenders of civil service and we will not vote for this bill, because it will deprive people in civil service of rights that they have attained." And they said, "we will not hurt those people, we will rise up and defend civil service."

I say that the remarks that have been made this afternoon with regard to this bill have only been made by members on the other side of this Chamber in the hope that they might protect the very sad, the very peculiar position in which they find themselves today, because it seems that they forget in all of these remarks that they have been making on the floor that the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, had introduced a bill very similar in language to Senate Bill No. 311, they forget that Senator Barr had introduced this particular bill, and they felt, probably because of what had been happening here in this Senate, that the Committee on State Government might not worry about the bill introduced by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, and then suddenly they find themselves very much surprised to find this bill on the Calendar.

I suggest to them, too, that the very things that they argued about on the floor of this Senate, with regard to Senate Bill No. 311, have been accomplished by the amendments introduced by the committee when this bill was reported out of committee, in this particular bill.

I suggest to them, too, that this bill now meets a lot of objections that were raised by the policemen of the state of Pennsylvania with regard to Senator Barr's bill. I remember during the time I have been sitting in this Senate that the gentlemen on the other side have always risen stalwartly, to support the policemen of the state of Pennsylvania—and I suggest to them now that the remarks they have made on the floor of this Senate this afternoon would not very much please policemen under civil service in the communities of this state.

I believe that all of these things that I have mentioned here tonight warrant some consideration by the gentlemen on the other side, and I say to them that if they want to be honest in the position that they have taken, then certainly they ought not say the things they have said with regard to this bill I do think, too, that if they want to be honest in their position about civil service they ought not fool about it for political purposes.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, this bill as I originally introduced it and as it is now on the Calendar, we all know, is entirely different. The only thing that has not been changed is the fact that my name still appears as the author of the bill, that is the only thing that has not been changed. I only have just this much to say, when a new father goes into the maternity ward in a hospital they just show him any baby at all, because they all look alike and he does not know his own baby.

I just deny being the father of this bill, the way it is written.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I will not take too long to answer the remarks of the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade. Senator Wade put the same victrola record on, got the same flag out and did the same parading. The gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, knows that his bill, Senate Bill No. 311, which we discussed, had three distinct features. It made this situation possible, and that was the reason we could not be wholeheartedly with Senator Wade on that bill as it finally passed this Senate, it had one feature in it by which certain employes of this state had complete civil service, it had a second feature by which certain employes of the state had war duration civil service, and then it had a third feature which said after the bill had passed that those persons would have no civil service.

On the question of war duration civil service, I am absolutely in accord with the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade. If this bill were to give war duration civil service to all employees I certainly would vote for the bill, for this reason, war duration civil service would give everyone employed protection during the period of their employment and then, after the boys come home, it would be necessary for all employes to take an examination, a fair examination in open competition with the boys that came home, and everyone else.

It is an elementary principle in trial practice in a court that if you do not have a very good case, that you be very vehement and use much and loud verbiage, and I think that members of both parties have indulged in that questionable practice. It is not necessary to be hysterical in discussing the effects of both of these bills. We certainly can sit down and measure them objectively by what they do or what they do not do, and very honestly that is the thing I have tried to do, that is the thing that my colleagues have tried to do, and I know that you will agree with me that certainly it is fair to the people of Pennsylvania that we should measure things in that objective manner.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I appreciate the position of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, because I have been in mean situations before and tried to wiggle out of them the best I could, and I have used these small things that do not mean much in arguments one way or the other, but so that we do not becloud the issue I am going to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, how he would answer these letters, and I submit, Mr. President and members of the Senate, these are a few letters I have received from boys in the armed services on this very question. The first letter is from a boy located in Alaska and his letter in part is as follows:

"I am a former employe of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I am now a staff sergeant in the United States Army, stationed in Alaska. My former position is about to be put on a civil service status. It is not very gratifying to a soldier to learn that while he is trying to do all he can for his country and government during this grave period, that this same government is taking away his past and future employment. There are many soldiers in the same position as I am. I take this opportunity to urge you as my Senator and leader of this great Commonwealth to do all that is within your power to see that this bill is passed."

Mr. President, I also have here a second letter which was written from a camp in New Mexico and which is as follows:

"I have recently learned that you and Senator Taylor are the co-sponsors of Senate Bill No. 311, which is intended to provide certain protection for civil service workers who are now in the armed forces. I wish to take this opportunity to urge you to do your utmost to have this bill passed and I want to thank you and commend you in behalf of myself and many of my fellow workers who are also in the armed forces but who may not have, as yet, learned of your interest in their welfare. It was pleasant news when we heard that you and Senator Taylor and others other were interested in adjusting the obvious unfairness in giving civil service examinations, while the majority of the original employees of our department were not in a position where they could take these examinations. Several of us made requests to be allowed to take these examinations under the supervision of federal civil service authorities throughout the United States but this permission was refused. Our only other alternative was to take furloughs and leaves of absence and in most cases this was impossible."

I could continue reading on down through this file. Here is part of a third letter, Mr. President:

"I sincerely believe since these men and women are fighting so that we at home may be free to pursue our American way of life, the least we can do is to protect their rights until they return home. The continuation of civil service and the Civil Service Commission would take away their rights as all the better jobs would be gobbled up by the stay-at-homes," and so forth.

That is the thing that rankles. It is not the statements that are made in this Senate—I do not care about them—the gentleman on the other side can criticize any way they want, but still the issue recurs, are we going to continue to fill these jobs on a permanent basis and make promotions while they are away?

I wanted that bill to get every vote it could get, but I am pleased that our party stood as one and said that we would not stand for that unfairness. The opposing party can wiggle, or whatever they want to call it, try to get out any way they want to, but the whole issue will recur and will not be ended by our vote today; it will recur some day when it may be much more embarrassing.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, my original motion was only made in order that you fellows could put in any bill you wanted. If you do not like the intent of the bill introduced by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, introduce your own bill; you have a lot of time, there is nothing to prevent the passing of legislation, it is not difficult for the majority side to put in a bill if they want to do so, but I object strenuously to taking a piece of legislation put in by one man and then changing its contents and its intent.

. So far as the remarks of the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, are concerned, I once told a Senator on the floor of this Senate—and I repeat for his benefit—I told this Senator after he made a speech in which he had portrayed himself as the keeper of the light of liberty—Senator Wade's heart does not beat any stronger for the boys in the service than that of any man on this side, and every time he approaches the microphone he approaches it with the philosophy and belief that he and the Republican members are the caretakers of the welfare of the boys who are dying at Guadalcanal, dying in Tunicia and the far-flung battle fronts of this war.

I believe that if the Senator from Cumberland, Senator Wade, will look into it, he will find that there are even Democrats in the armed forces of our country, he will find that those men were not asked to what party they belonged when they entered the service, they are all Americans and the members of this Senate are all Americans, and whether the bill states the purpose for which it is intended or not, that has nothing to do with the remarks of the gentleman from Cumberland.

I do not believe any man in the Senate would vote to deliberately destroy any of the rights of the boys who are in the armed forces. I call particular attention of the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, to a Senate bill that has been in a committee for the past seven or eight weeks, which would do a whole lot more for the soldiers than any piece of civil service legislation, because this particular piece of legislation and the so-called Senate Bill No. 311 are fakes, definite fakes. If you want to be honest, make them retroactive to the day of the original passage of the first draft act. What is the difference between a soldier who was drafted under the original draft act and a soldier who goes into the army after this bill becomes effective? Only appointments after final passage and the signature of the Governor to this bill are affected by this bill.

Gentleman, I want to tell you that in a committee of this Senate is a bill that means more to the soldiers, because it means something to them in security—security if you please, because a soldier's chance of passing the fake civil service test that has been given in the state of Pennsylvania, a fake test, if you please, a soldier's chances of passing that test after he comes out of the hell fire of war are nil, he has not a chance in a million of passing the examination.

I agree with the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis. Ever since I have been here I have opposed civil service. I do not believe in permanency of positions in anything, especially in a democracy. Over in Europe they have permanency in positions, in government positions, and we do not like their type of government, we like our type of government. Pretty soon, gentlemen of the Senate, all jobs will be civil service, and do you think that will be for good government, do you believe that will obtain good government? It will not do any such thing. Men have to be interested in their jobs, men have to be interested in their positions.

So far as I am personally concerned I will state here and now that I voted against the Tallman bill, and I will state here now, and I think my memory is fairly accurate, I believe my colleague, for whom I have high esteem, Senator Taylor, also voted against it—I mean I do not think that is a criterion. I will vote today to repeal all civil service laws. If we had the power in Pennsylvania I would vote to repeal the Hatch Act; I would vote to repeal the Farrell bill, which takes away the right of labor unions to collectively participate in elections. I am a great believer in the rights of the individual, and one of the greatest freedoms is to participate in an election in any way he sees fit; if he wants to participate by financial contributions or if he wants to participate by physical action, that is his own business, that is his interest in government.

The next thing you will do will be to pass an act of the Legislature forbidding a civil service employe from participating in an election and after you have all the employes in the state on civil service and you forbid them from participating in elections, what type of government are you going to have? You are going back to the idea of Alexander Hamilton, when he said that only a certain class are fit to rule, only certain people have a right to participate in the active management of government.

Gentlemen, I, myself submit to Thomas Jefferson's philosophy that the least amongst us is privileged to vote, privileged to participate at the polling places, or wherever he so desires, in an election, and he has the right to try to influence the outcome of that election, he has every American right. If you want a bill with the contents that you have now placed in the bill sponsored by Senator Barr, present a bill and vote for it, vote for it all you want, and if you want to do something for the soldiers, Senator Wade, all I ask you to do is to help me and my Democratic colleagues get a bill out of committee that will give them full unemployment compensation payments when they come home, give them that, increase the number of weeks that they will be entitled to unemployment compensation when they come home, during the time when we are changing over from war production to piece time production.

If you want to help the soldiers, do not hold out this sop to them and say "Do you know what we are doing"—and you said it yourselves—"we, the Republicans are doing this for you, we are fixing it so that you can take a civil service examination."

Well, Mr. President, this young-blooded group of soldiers wants to come home and go to work; they do not want to come home and get political jobs by being ward healers, they want to come home and work in the factories, the mills, and mines of this country, they want an opportunity to work, and while they are waiting for that opportunity to be presented, because of the change over in our method of production and the things we produce, I think they ought to be put on full time unemployment compensation pay.

In conclusion, Mr. President, I might warn you now do not pass a House Bill that is coming over to us from the House, which says in substance that if the Federal Government gives a bonus or gives money to soldiers, that that amount shall be deducted from the unemployment compensation pay that they would receive from the state of Pennsylvania.

I ask you is that taking care of the boy that has bled and died and suffered as Senator Wade said? Is that taking care of him? No. All you are interested in is that after this bill becomes effective, nobody can get a permanent civil service job, because some soldier wants to be a policeman.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, we have listened to some very beautiful phrases here since the first day of the Session about the returning soldier, but the soldier is not going to live on those beautiful phrases when he comes home. I believe we should have some beautiful action, and less beautiful phrases.

I also want to point out to the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, and also the gentleman from Lehigh, Senator Tallman, that there is an awful lot of inconsistency in this Senate. On March 15 we passed Senate Bill No. 67, giving permanent civil service to sixty county policemen. Nothing was in that bill to amend it to permit a boy coming back to compete for these jobs. We froze them, or tried to freeze them, but even the Republican House revolted and would not go along and amended the bill so that they did not freeze those sixty policemen into civil service jobs at this time. Mr. Tallman voted for that bill, Mr. Wade voted for that bill, Mr. Heyburn voted for that bill, Mr. Homsher voted for that bill, Mr. Walker voted for that bill, in fact every Republican member of this Senate voted for that bill.

Mr. President, it is very amusing when you get on the floor of this Senate and hear the wisecracks from all sides. We talk about the war, the seriousness of it, but when any member of the Democratic party gets up it seems to be the tendency of the Senate, especially the Republican leader of the Senate, Mr. Heyburn, to immediately start to heckle.

I do not think, Mr. President, that it is fair for the leader of the Majority Party to use the same method used in the worst meeting that could be held, where hecklers go in and heckle—and, Mr. Watkins, we have listened even to you talking without heckling you.

But, Mr. President, I think the time has come when we should become serious in this Senate. I have seen more flag wavers in this Senate than there is in any other body in the United States. I have listened to the Senator from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, get up and wave the flag, and I listened to him vote last night for a fake child care bill.

We have in committee a lot of bills to help soldiers, but nothing is done about them, and today we hear the gentleman from Cumberland get up and wave the flag, and I have also heard some other men wave the flag in this Senate, Mr. President, that should be in the army. If it were not for their being elected to this Senate they would be in the draft. I think it is about time that this Senate should quit waving the flag and do something for the soldiers. You have not done anything for them, you refused them the right to vote at eighteen, you have refused them the right to continue their education by guaranteeing them that they will have that money when they come back, you have not done anything to increase farm production in Pennsylvania.

You want to sit back and criticize the Federal Government if they try to do anything for farm production but you sit back and do nothing. Your party is a party of "do nothings."

Your party reminds me of the old saying about the man who marched his army up the hill and then marched them down again. That is all you have done since this Session started.

Yes, Mr. President, I say to the members of this Senate that they can laugh and they can kid, but you are not going to kid these kids coming back. The Republican Party is going to have a lot to answer for when they come back. You say you worry about the soldiers. You were more interested in getting bills on the floor of this Senate against the fathers of those soldiers, who are laboring in the mills and factories of this State, you were more interested in getting those bills passed than you are in helping the poor people of Pennsylvania; you are more interested in serving your masters, and I say this again and I say it again and again, that in Germany the rise of Hitler came through an unholy alliance with the German Manufacturers Association to destroy labor, and I say to you that you today are following the same lines of Fascist Germany; most of you are proving yourselves by your attacks on labor to be native fascists.

Yes, Mr. President, and I repeat again that there is an unholy alliance between the head of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association and the National Association of Manufacturers, and the Republican party to destroy labor—the fathers, yes, the fathers—because you will find more sons of laborers in the fighting lines than from any other families of American, and you are trying to destroy the rights of those fathers now while their sons are fighting to save this American way of life, which in your estimation is to let the rich get richer and the poor get poorer.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I treated this bill facetiously, and I did so deliberately, because I am afraid that if I treated it seriously I would probably get personal about it and give it more credit than it is entitled to. Since questions have been raised, I should like to amend the statement of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, concerning the attitude of the gentleman from Cumberland, by saying that not only does he repeat the record but I think the record is broken because it seems every time this bill comes up the statement is made "you are unpatriotic, you are unpatriotic, you are unpatriotic," but that does not prove anything.

I should like to say to the gentleman from Lehigh, Senator Tallman—for whom I have a great deal of respect, and whose attitude on and belief in civil service I know and am familiar with—that I voted against the last civil service bill, and I voted against it because of the provision that the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania could have the right to discharge anybody that he pleased, and I said that was not civil service.

I heard the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, say that he is against civil service. I say frankly that the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, is against civil service because he has been a politician so long that it is very difficult for him to separate his political attitude from his statesman attitude. I say that in all kindness—I hope he hears me and I am sure he understands what I mean—because it is difficult for a man who has to deal with jobs and, being Chairman of a county committee, to have much feeling of affection for civil service. I am fortunately one of those politicians, shall I say, who does not have to give jobs and who does not bother with them.

I am not a statesman—I may hope to be considered one some day—but not by this Senate. I think this Senate would find difficulty in recognizing a statesman. Like my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Holland, I can stand heckling, it never disturbs my thoughts but only delays their expression.

I want to say to the gentleman from Lehigh, Senator Tallman, that while he has discussed the history of civil service in this Senate, I would like to discuss the history of this bill, and I think in the discussion of the history of this bill we can take away patriotism without much difficulty and prove that there is nothing patriotic back of the bill. Look at the bill.

That bill came out born and conceived with the idea to destroy civil service, not to save soldiers jobs. My friend, Harvey Taylor, has the conviction—and I respect him for it, but disagree with his conviction—that civil service is wrong—that is his privilege—but let me say that when he presents a bill to abolish the civil service system I recognize that as the expression of his view on civil service and I do not classify that with any patriotism, and if he were asked the question on the floor, I am quite sure he would be honest and frank enough to say that the idea did not arise out of any feeling of patriotism, because the bill denies such a proposition.

The bill says that the civil service commission is hereby abolished; the bill says that all people appointed after December 1, 1941, are no longer under civil service. If the bill was patriotic all it would have to do would be to do what the Barr bill did in the first instance; it said that anybody appointed from now on is under civil service, but when those boys for whom you all seem to be concerned about so much come back, everybody under civil service and anybody else can take examinations which these boys tried to take when they got into the army and wrote letters such as you heard read here today by the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The civil service bill was born and conceived in politics. Senate Bill No. 311 is a political bill to place in the hands of the party in power, whether it be Democrat or Republican, the appointments of all jobs—honesty compels that admission.

That is why I never treated it as a serious proposition concerning patriotism. Nobody will believe any one else who says otherwise, if they read the bill.

Since that bill was so conceived, I have no worry about the boys who come back. When they come back, if I am obliged to give an explanation, I will have no difficulty, and I accept the challenge of the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, and I say to him now, give me or put on record the names and addresses of the gentlemen whose letters the gentleman from Cumberland read, and I will write to those men and say, "this is the situation; the bill which you talked about not only will give you an opportunity to take an examination when you come back but it will put in jeopardy the positions of ybody else—everybody else who has taken an examination and has passed that examination, even while you may have been here—are you, who are fighting for democracy, anxious to destroy the democratic principle th in competition fairly had, the winner should become the loser," and I am willing to say when the real facts are put before that boy—and I will submit a copy of the letter I send to that boy to the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, and I will say to him the bill which we propose is as follows, we say it will give you the same protection without destroying the principles of democracy; do you object, and I will be able to read the answer from that boy which will bring to a focus what I am talking about.

If these gentlemen want the bill that they are talking about they do not have to use Mr. Barr's name to do it. If these gentlemen wanted to protect the soldiers all they had to do was to pass a bill that would protect them without destroying civil service. What you must admit, what you can not deny, is the fact that our cry against this bill, and focusing public attention upon this bill, compels you to make amendment after amendment, until some of the very worst features were taken out of it, and you have by careful and clever wording gotten more out of it than you needed or should have, and the House by virtue of the fact that attention has been focused on it, has stopped you from doing many of the things you wanted to do, by putting in amendments which you have now incorporated in the bill introduced by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, and they provide that only after the passage of this bill shall appointments be without civil service, so that this cry of ours has been heard.

I have not received a single letter from any soldier objecting to the position which I took and I took the position which I did and which I do on this bill with the full knowledge of all the consequences and without fear of them, because those boys who are intelligent enough to write such letters are intelligent enough to understand the answer.

Another patriotic proposition advanced was that we were depriving the casualties of Pearl Harbor, of Africa and of Guadalcanal, from coming in and getting a job. How silly that is. There were 63,000 casualties, I think, until a week ago, and not one of them is protected by the Barr bill. The Barr bill would only have become effective upon final enactment.

Not one of the casualties up to yesterday are protected by this bill. Why talk about the positions for those boys who were injured, who lost arms or legs and had various other wounds? Such lurid details are certainly unnecessary so why talk about them? That is pure fake, there is no question about it, and that is the only name I can think of at the moment but I think it completely describes it. For any man to get up and say that we are opposed or that we are against protecting those who were not protected by the bill is utter nonense and fake.

The vice of this situation in my opinion is, first, that you gentlemen are willing to deny conception of the child which is yours, and secondly, that you are willing to fasten an illegitimate child upon some one who publicly disclaims it. This bill is not patriotic. It is not Senator Barr's bill and I would suggest that you on the other side offer to amend the bill and put the name of the real sponsor back of it on the bill, and that is that particular person in the Republican party who now says by this bill that in a county, for instance, Philadelphia county, every appointment from today on is a political appointment without civil service.

Let me say to Senator McGinnis, my colleague, and all of those Senators who talk against civil service, that the trouble is not with the persons who enjoy civil service but with the persons who are given the power to enforce and carry out the provisions of the civil service act. In Philadelphia we had a specific, a very clear example of it. We have civil service for policemen and when the civil service procedure was finally exposed to the public eye that resulted in the conviction of one of the civil service commissioners, it became public for once what has been going on privately for years.

There was never such a thing as real civil service in Philadelphia for years, even though the statute has been on the books for so many years, and there never will be so long as the politicians are able to control the appointment of those who are going to carry into effect the civil service statutes. So long as politicians will appoint politicians as civil service commissioners, so long you will have no civil service. The Philadelphia Council appoints the civil service commission, it appoints on the board those men who have been denied jobs, either by public election or who have been unable to get appointments otherwise, and so we have a group of Republicans as civil service commissioners, when they are in power, and I suppose that if the law remains in force, when the Democrats return to power you will have a Democratically controlled civil service commission.

So do not talk about civil service because there is no such thing in this state. Take the very civil service law which the gentleman from Lehigh, Senator Tallman, helped to pass. That bill provided that referees in workmen's compensation should pass a civil service examination. Not one of them in the four years that that law has been in effect has taken an examination. Do you call that civil service?

Maybe you people are meeting many of the other appointees who have been denied civil service. Maybe you are meeting the uncivil people, maybe you are meeting the ward committeemen or ward healers, and you think they are civil service appointees.

I saw some civil service appointees. I saw one of them at a meeting of the Committee of Judiciary General, the man who is today the head of the Parole Board, Giardini I think his name is. I read his record. He has been for fourteen years warden in one of the Pennsylvania state penal institutions, he is a soldier, and without the ten per cent that he is allowed by law he stood head and shoulders above everybody else. He is the soldier that the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, has talked about, and under the Jones bill which you are going to pass, you are going to wipe him out of office.

Under the original bill which Senators Wade and Taylor presented all of the soldiers in the first world war, about whom we all cried in 1918, and who came here and got us to pass this law giving them an extra percentage, all those soldiers were thrown out, and yet you say this bill is a patriotic bill.

Let me conclude where I began and say that I challenge a denial of it, an honest denial of it that this bill is a political bill and not a patriotic bill.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, at the expense of taking a lot of valuable time of this Senate, I feel that I want to make a few remarks further with regard to what has been said on the floor of the Senate with regard to this bill, and on this question of civil service generally.

I have a great deal of respect for the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro. I think that he is intellectually honest in his ideas about civil service, but I am not impressed, Mr. President, by his statement about writing letters to those men who wrote to Senator Wade, and I rather suspect that a statement of that kind coming from the gentleman from Philadelphia, comes with bad grace, because I do not think that these men know too much about this bill, and I think that anything that anybody might say to them in their absence, by merely writing letters to them, would not be of much moment.

I would like to point out this, however, Mr. President that there certainly is agreement on the floor of this Senate, and there have been expressions to that effect, that something ought to be done to protect these people who are in the service. With the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, in for once I find that I can agree with him.

I do object a great deal to all the flag waving that has been done, but let me say here and now that it not a one-sided proposition on the floor of this Senate, and I think the gentleman himself has been guilty of a great deal of it, if there is to be a charge placed against any one for doing it.

I want to say that I think, additionally that the charge leveled by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, that this bill was conceived in politics and that it is purely political is an unfair statement for him to make and I think he knows it.

When the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, says on the floor of this Senate that he is agreeable at any time to voting against civil service and throwing out of all of the departments of this Commonwealth, I do not believe that he means it. If he said it and meant it, I think he did so inadvertently, because the gentleman knows, I think, that in unemployment compensation, the very thing that he is most interested in, that a great deal, or all of the money, in fact, that pays the personnel in the unemployment compensation division comes from the Federal Government, and the Federal Government insists that there be civil service in the Department of Public Assistance, the Federal Government insists that there be civil service of a nature in the Department of Health and the Federal Government says, if you please, if we do not have civil service in Pennsylvania, in the Department of Unemployment Compensation, then all of the moneys that are paid into that fund automatically come under federal control, and they will take the money to Washington and do with it as they please, as they do in many other states, where they do not comply with the regulations of the Federal Government for civil service.

I do not believe that the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, would want to vote to throw civil service out of the Department of Unemployment Compensation and I do not believe that he means that he would willingly vote to destroy that and lose the right to control that fund in Pennsylvania.

I think that is the issue here. I think that these people on the floor of the Senate who talk about destruction of civil service in Pennsylvania have got to make up their minds about something; I think the gentlemen on the other side have got to make up their minds about something. For the last two weeks they have been talking about taxes and they say we are reducing the wrong kind of taxes; they say we ought to reduce other kinds of taxes, they say that there ought to be more tax reduction, and when they argue about this civil service matter, then they have to decide, because if we do not want civil service in Pennsylvania, then those same gentlemen will have to stand on the floor of this Senate and raise enough money to take care of all these things that the Federal Government is paying for, because it insists on having civil service.

Mr. President, I think we ought to face the issue clearly; I think we ought to face it fairly; I think with regard to this bill that we ought to say to ourselves, if it accomplishes something for the men who are in the service, that we ought to do it; I think if we want to say to ourselves we want to be fair to those people, then let us do it.

I decry all of this demagoguery and flag waving by these other gentlemen that has been going on on the floor of the Senate, and I think that we ought to meet this issue fairly. If the gentlemen on the other side want to put themselves on record as being against this bill, let them do so; if the gentlemen on the other side want to say at the same time they want to get rid of civil service, as they have been saying, let them vote that way, but let us be fair about it, and let us stop all the politics and vote on the bill for what it is worth.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I am going to vote against the Barr bill. I hesitate about it, I know Senator Barr is patriotic, he has four brothers in the army, and I feel sure that every man on this floor is a patriot, and loves his country.

I will admit, when I came to Harrisburg eight years ago, that I was an enthusiastic advocate of civil service, and I helped put half the employes of this state under civil service, but I have seen civil service work and I am convinced it is wrong. I am against this bill because it protects thousands and keeps them on the civil service pay roll here in this state, and when our boys come back from the front, broken in mind and body and see hordes of payrollees who sat here while they broke their minds and bodies down and laughed at them. I would love to see, when this war is over, our boys come back and be free Americans and be on equal footing with every other soul in Pennsylvania, not to meet a special privileged group that has been planted on pay rolls for life. You can not tear a civil service employe from the pay roll with a team of horses and we might as well admit it, and so I would rather see our boys come back and enter competition with free Americans, not with a special privileged group that has been planted there.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am going to vote against this bill because it does not go far enough, it does not abolish enough.

The gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, just spoke to me and said that he agreed with the statement of the gentleman from Lehigh, Senator Tallman, and that he perhaps would not go as far as to abolish civil service where the Federal Government requires it, in giving us grants and so forth. Perhaps, because the Federal Government forces us to do that, we might in those cases acquiesce, but in other cases, I will vote today to abolish every civil service job in Pennsylvania, and that is the reason I am going to vote against this bill here, because it protects and keeps hordes of employes that dry up, forget their citizenship, do not engage in politics, are not interested in their government, and sit back and laugh at other taxpayers that keep them on the pay roll.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion to recommit?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and Mr. COX and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—14

Barr,	Gourley,	McGinnis,	Shapiro,
Coleman,	Haluska,	McQuiddy,	Stiefel,

RECESS

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 9:30 o'clock p. m.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 556, on third reading, entitled:

An Act concerning the ascertainment of principal and income and the apportionment of receipts and expenses among tenants and remaindermen, and to make uniform the law with reference thereto

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 572, entitled:

An Act to add section 617.2 to the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" authorizing school districts of the third and fourth class to continue work on school buildings abandoned as projects by the Works Projects Administration or other Federal agency on contracts entered into pursuant to solicited bids in order to protect such buildings from loss or damage by the elements

Section 1 The act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" is hereby amended by adding immediately after section 617.1 thereof a new section to read as follows

Section 617.2 Whenever any school district of the third or fourth class pursuant to contract with the Works Project Administration or any other agency of the United States Government shall have expended money for the erection of a school building to be erected by such agency and after the erection of such building has been begun but before the completion thereof the project is abandoned by the Works Project Administration or other agency of the United States Government the board of directors of such school district may with the approval of the Superintendent of Public Instruction enter into a contract for the immediate continuation of the work of erecting such school building to an extent necessary to protect the work already completed from loss or damage by the elements Such contract may be let on competitive bids solicited from at least three responsible bidders and approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—34

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN, Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 580 on third reading, entitled:

An Act to add Section 806.1 to the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 675, entitled:

An Act to further amend section seventeen of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 280) entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands and prescribing interest charges on non-payment thereof requiring the receivers and collectors of county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissioners of such unpaid taxes and providing for the lien thereof authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances" making the sale of land purchased at treasurer's sale discretionary and authorizing the sale of such property on court order and the redemption thereof after such sale free and clear of all mortgages, municipal claims and ground rents and validating previous sales.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

I might say, Mr. President, in offering these amendments, that they are the result of a conference between some of us who differed about this bill. I am offering these amendments now, after they have been prepared by the sponsor and those who were assisting him and others in the Senate who understand them, and who have handed them to me. They cover the amendments which I wished to have put in Senate Bill No. 100.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 1, line 1 of title, by inserting after the word "To" the following: "reenact and"; Amend Title, page 1, line 16 of title, by striking out the word "and" and inserting in lieu thereof: "providing for the readvertisement of such sales heretofore advertised but not held;" Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 16, by inserting after the word "hereby" the following: "reenacted and;" Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 17), page 3, by inserting between lines 28 and 29 the following: "where any such public sale has been advertised under the provisions of this section prior to this amendment and such sale not having been held, the readvertisement of such sale need not be advertised three consecutive weeks, nor include a list and description of the lands to be sold, but need only be advertised by one insertion in one or two newspapers as aforesaid at least thirty days prior to the sale, and include the purpose, the time, the place and the terms of such sale with a reference to the prior advertisement."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing on final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 731, entitled:

An Act to further amend subsection (c) of section four hundred twelve of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. Section 20 Manner of Registration

* * * * *

(f) Any person employed in the service of this Commonwealth or in the service of the Federal Government and required thereby to be absent from the city wherin he resided when entering such employment his wife or her husband unless actually separated and living apart shall be registered as of the district wherein he or she shall have resided immediately prior to entering such service and be enrolled as a member of the political party he or she designates without declaring a residence by street and number All persons employed by this Commonwealth who register in this manner shall produce a certificate from the [Auditor General] head of the proper department board or commission under the seal of his office setting forth that said person or the husband or wife of said person is actually employed in the service of this Commonwealth and also setting forth the nature of such employment and the time when such person first entered such employment

All persons employed by the Federal Government who register in this manner shall produce a certificate from the head of the proper department or chief of the proper department or chief of the proper division or bureau under the seal of his office setting forth that said person or the husband or wife of said person is actually employed in the service of the United States and also setting forth the nature of such employment and the time when such person first entered such employment

The commission shall retain such certificates and shall cause to be noted on the registration card of each person so registered the fact that such person is an employe of this Commonwealth or of the Federal Government as the case may be

Section 2 Clause (g) of section twenty of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 20 Manner of Registration

* * * *

(g) At least once every two years the commission shall verify the employment of all persons thus registered at either the office of the [Auditor General of this Commonwealth] head of the proper department board or commission of the State Government in whose employ such person is alleged to be or at his office of the department division or bureau of the Federal Government in whose employ such person is alleged to be If any such person is found to be no longer an employe of this Commonwealth or of the Federal Government his registration card shall be removed from the district register until such time as said person appears at the office of the commission and declares the street and number of his residence in the city

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate one of the gentlemen of the other side and ask why the need for the change from the Auditor General to the head of the proper department, board or commission?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, that bill was in the Committee on Elections and I yielded to the Chairman of that Committee, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FARRELL. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Is it necessary for me to repeat the question? Can the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell, explain the need of the change from the Auditor General to the head of the proper department, board or commission? Will the Senator from Philadelphia answer that?

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I just can not answer the question, but I may say, Mr. President, these five House bills, Nos. 660, 661, 662, 675 and 747, were sent over to me as Chairman of the Committee on Elections by the Secretary of State. These five bills take in the five registration commissions of Pennsylvania, and they apply to cities of the first class and so on, and it simply provides that they would take the statement from the Auditor General to the department where these men work for registration purposes. These bills are all from the Department of the Secretary of State and it is only a change from the Auditor General to the secretary.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Jaspan, have any further questions?

Mr. JASPAN. I want to repeat my previous question and ask that it be answered. The gentleman from Philadelphia has not answered my question. I believe, Mr. President, there is something rotten in Denmark.

Mr. President, I can not understand why the change has been made from the Auditor General to the head of the proper department, board or commission. Mr. President, I understand that Mr. Heyburn, a farming Senator, has an answer, but I have not gotten it thus far, and when I put the question to him previously he did not seem to know the answer, but apparently some one more or less familiar has given him the answer.

At any rate, Mr. President, there seems to be something rotten in Denmark. Apparently they have lost confidence in our Auditor General—I can appreciate why because he has a different label than the other side—but I have not lost confidence, nor have our citizens, and I ask my colleagues to vote against this bill, as it affects Philadelphia.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE BILL No. 99, PRINTER'S No. 28 CALLED UP FROM POSTPONED CALENDAR

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I call up for action at this time, Senate Bill No. 99, Printer's No. 28, from page 16, of the Third Reading Postponed Calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 99, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to Section one of article Fourteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by making sheriffs eligible to succeed themselves

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows

Section 1 The following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof

That section one of article fourteen of the Constitution of Pennsylvania be amended to read as follows

Section 1 County officers shall consist of sheriffs coroners prothonotaries register of wills recorder of deeds commissioners treasurers surveyors auditors or controllers clerks of the courts district attorneys and such other as may from time to time be established by law and no treasurer shall be eligible for the term next succeeding the one for which he may be elected

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. EALY. I do not know whether the Senators are in a mood to listen to a short speech on this bill but I feel that I want to put something on record as to my position in regard thereto. We can not at the time we are meeting here properly evaluate what we do; time only tells which things are important and which are not.

I remember reading in a local paper last week an historical and biographical sketch of Charles R. Buckalew, at one time a Senator in this body. According to this article, which I think states the facts correctly, Mr. Buckalew was elected to the United States Senate by the Legislature by a majority of one vote, and a plurality of two votes. When he went to the Senate of the United States his vote saved President Andrew Johnson from being convicted in the impeachment proceedings. There was not any one at the time who voted for him for United States Senator who imagined the importance of his vote.

It seems to me sometimes when the Senators are speaking and acting here in this Senate it might be well to remember the words of old Omar, the poet, who said:

"The Moving Finger writes; and, having writ,
Moves on: Nor all your piety nor wit
Shall lure it back to cancel half a line,
Nor all your tears wash out a word of it."

Some weeks ago one of the men who seem to be interested in this bill said that in matters connected with the Constitution Senator Ealy seems to be sort of hidebound. Well, if he meant by that statement that I am conservative, why, I accept it. It seems to me that true conservatism is really the best kind of liberalism; but that man seemed to be ignorant of the purposes and intent of a Constitution. A Constitution is a contract or an agreement between the people as to how they should be governed. It protects the people from the government which they set up; it protects a minority against the majority; it protects the people against themselves.

So, in our Constitution we have some things which are very basic, as for instance, our three branch form of government, the Legislative, the Executive and the Judicial.

Then, we have some things which are not so important which are, in our Constitution, more or less administrative. These things should be changed from time to time as necessity arises. We have in our Constitution a provision that a Governor may not succeed himself. Since the Constitution of 1874, which provides for this, that has been an important provision of the Constitution.

In all cases where an official is given particular power or given an opportunity of doing harm or an opportunity of corruption or of using his office to the detriment of the people, then we throw around that office a safeguard that he may only serve one term.

As I said, a Governor of the state may not succeed himself under our present Constitution. In many of the states a Governor may succeed himself, but there are other provisions in those Constitutions for safeguarding the people. For instance, the office of attorney general in many of the states is elective—in most of the states as a matter of fact—and some of the other officers which here are regarded as cabinet officers and members appointed by the Governor, in other states are elected by the people; and all of these things protect the people from usurpation of powers by an executive.

Then we have in our Constitution a provision that neither the state treasurer nor the auditor general may succeed himself. That is our provision to protect the people against use of either of those offices for improper purposes and so in our Constitution we have certain county officers which are in the same category.

In the very first Constitution of Pennsylvania, that of 1776, it was provided that neither the treasurer of a county nor the sheriff may succeed himself. That provision was continued in every Constitution from the very beginning, in the Constitution of 1790, the Constitution of 1838 and the Constitution of 1873-74, and in the 1920's, when a group of prominent people in this state were appointed to draft a prospective Constitution they continued that provision therein, that a sheriff and a treasurer may not succeed themselves.

These provisions were put in there in order to protect the people against the misuse of the powers of those offices.

There should be no change in the basic principles of a Constitution unless there is some real reason therefor. The office of sheriff is a potentially powerful office; he may call out the posse comitatus, he may call out the people in case of necessity, he appoints detectives for the county, and he collects a great deal of money and should be required to clean up the office every four years.

In the City of Philadelphia, for instance, I am told that some sheriffs who went out of office had hundreds of thousands of dollars in their possession which money was not paid out to the persons entitled to it. I am not finding fault with any of those sheriffs for doing so as I do not know all the facts, although I am told that the City of Philadelphia collected from a former sheriff a considerable sum of money and that there is a suit now pending against the estate of a former sheriff of Philadelphia.

If a sheriff might be permitted to succeed himself, in the larger counties particularly, the amounts of money which he would collect, and might possibly keep in some way from being properly audited, by covering up his bookkeeping in one way or another, would be a powerful thing in a city like Philadelphia and in a county like Allegheny. If sheriffs wanted to use the money they take in for reelecting themselves, you could probably not defeat a sheriff for re-election and I can not see why or how any county chairman would wish to have a sheriff permitted to succeed himself, because if a sheriff could use the powers of his office for that purpose pretty soon he would be more powerful than the county chairman himself.

There is another thing with regard to this office of sheriff, as, if he is permitted to succeed himself, in connection with the district attorney, who may also succeed himself, there might be a combination formed for protection of vice and crime, which would make it almost impossible to stop. We have now certain district attorneys in various counties of the Commonwealth whose offices are under investigation. We have, I think, in the case of one sheriff the same thing happening and we should not, unless there is a real reason or demand for it, change this basic provision in the Constitution, which was put in there for the protection of the people.

I spoke to sheriffs who came down here lobbying for this bill and I told them, "You men are high class men but you are not the only men who are going to run for sheriff and this provisions was put in the Constitution to keep sheriffs honest and I think it is a proper provision in the Constitution." I told them that one of the county treasurers in my district said "I notice a bill which provides that a sheriff may succeed himself." He said, "If a sheriff could do that, why, I think the county treasurer should," but when I told that to these sheriffs they said, "No, we do not think a county treasurer should succeed himself." At the same time they spoke about discrimination against the office of sheriff. Well, no officer has a vested right to his office. We do not say that there is discrimination against the Auditor General, State Treasurer or the Governor because there is a provision in the Constitution that they may not succeed themselves. That should have no weight whatever.

It was also stated, "Well, these sheriffs are not interested because they can not succeed themselves; this bill will have to be passed at two sessions of the Legislature and then be submitted to the people." Well, I suspect that they figure it will take a certain period of time and when that time passes they may run again for sheriff and they sort of expect to be then frozen into office.

Of course, that is only a purely selfish proposition. There is only one crime in the world, and that is the crime of selfishness. I was rather surprised to hear a few weeks ago when one of the Senators told me that a high official of his county said that he was not for an increase in his salary. If it would not embarrass that man I would like to bring him down here and exhibit him to the people of the state as one of a fast vanishing race of people who were not willing to have taxes of a neighbor increased in order that they may have more money.

This is a purely selfish proposition, the people of this state put in their Constitution that there should be no succession by a sheriff or a treasurer; they put it in there for the protection of the people. There is no real reason why we should change it.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I will take only one minute. I agree entirely with the sentiments uttered by my distinguished colleague, the Senator from Somerset, Senator Ealy, and I admit that we are about to punch another hole in the sacred constitution of 1874 which Senator Henry I. Wilson and I framed in 1873—but as Grover Cleveland said, it is the condition—not the theory. It so happens that the sheriff of Philadelphia county is my political boss and neighbor and I will probably meet him at the station Friday morning and I would hate to have him read in the newspapers that his Senator voted "no" on this bill and, therefore, I shall have to waive the constitution in this respect and vote "aye".

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I am a very keen admirer of the conservatism of the gentleman from Somerset, Senator Ealy. I think he is a fine restraining influence against unwarranted change or innovation in our American institutions and traditions.

However, I would have to lean very heavily upon the figment of my imagination in order to feel that this in any way is gnawing at the fundamentals of our government; and if it is gnawing at all I think the incursions are rather obtuse.

It seems to me, Mr. President, that a great deal of water has gone over the dam since our Constitution was adopted in 1874. Perhaps at that time there may have been reasons why a sheriff might not succeed himself, reasons why this inhibition was placed in the Constitution, but at the present time it seems to me that those reasons have all disappeared. In the first place, the sheriff no longer controls the jury wheel, and I think that was one of the main reasons why a sheriff was forbidden to build up his power, by reason of the fact that he had control of the juries.

Then, again, the sheriff no longer needs to call a posse comitatos, which has been regarded by some as a very dangerous weapon. What he does do is to rely on the state police when he needs any assistance to prevent rioting or unlawful assembly.

Mr. President, so far as the accounts of the sheriff are concerned, each year his accounts are audited. There is no reason why a sheriff can steal any moneys today from the public funds. In fact he now is, in my opinion, simply an arm of the court. He is interested, of course, in the shrievery board and the custody of the prisoners, but he no longer possesses all those powers which he formerly had. I can not see how this in any way strikes at the fundamentals of our government.

In my opinion, this bill will greatly enhance the service of the office of sheriff. At the present time a sheriff has not any particular inducement to run his office in high order, because at the end of his term he knows he can not go before the people for re-election, and, if he has the privilege of submitting his name and making an accounting to the people, he is going to run a higher type of office.

For that reason, I feel very strongly that this opportunity to improve the office of shrievery should not be neglected and so, Mr. President, I am not going to go back and quote Homer or Virgil, or any other of the ancient poets, but I do hope that the members of the Senate will abound in their own common sense and support this measure.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, there is only one county office that I feel should be held to one term and that is treasurer. I think perhaps a treasurer should be given only one term, and then have his books audited, and then he ought not be allowed to run again, but outside of the treasurer I can see no reason whatever why any officer should not succeed himself. I am sure that every Senator on this floor tonight is very happy that we do not have in our Federal Constitution that the President can not have more than two terms, because in this world crisis if we had had such a provision in our constitution, we might have had Landon or Willkie in there now.

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, after listening to the very fine speech of the gentleman from Somerset, Senator Ealy, I am compelled to withdraw from the four Georges and vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. McQUIDDY. Mr. President, from practical experience in over thirty-five years in labor, I think it is a dangerous thing to permit a sheriff to succeed himself.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 150, entitled:

An Act to further amend clause (17) of subdivision (4) of subsection (j) of section four of the act approved the fifth day of December one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (1937 P. L. 2897) entitled "An act establishing a system of unemployment compensation to be administered by the Department of Labor and Industry and its existing and newly created agencies with personnel (with certain exceptions) selected on a civil service basis requiring employers to keep records and make reports and certain employers to pay contributions based on payrolls to provide moneys for the payment of compensation to certain unemployed persons providing procedure and administrative details for the determination payment and collection of such contributions and the payment of such compensation providing for cooperation with the Federal Government and its agencies creating certain special funds in the custody of the State Treasurer and prescribing penalties" excluding services of real estate salesmen real estate brokers and unsalaried newspaper correspondents from the definition of "employment."

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 171, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" further clarifying the term "deceased service persons" changing the provisions for the burial of deceased service persons and their widows and for markers and headstones on their graves changing the name of the veterans' grave registrar to director of veterans' affairs and prescribing his duties

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 182, on second reading, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Medical School of the University of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 198, entitled:

An Act to amend section nine hundred fifteen of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 103) entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" continuing the liability of taxpayers after the tax collector has been exonerated.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 236, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the twelfth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 335) entitled "An act creating a temporary commission to examine report upon and recommend measures to improve the economic cultural health and living conditions of the urban colored population of the State and making an appropriation of the expenses of such commission" by extending the term of such commission until the next regular session of the General Assembly and making an appropriation.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 276, on second reading, entitled:

An Act further restricting, for the continuance of the present war, the hours during which certain licensees under the "Beverage License Law," approved the third day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 252), as reenacted and amended, and the "Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act," approved the twenty-ninth day of November, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 15, 1933-34), as reenacted and amended, or their servants, agents or employes may sell liquor or malt or brewed beverages; and prescribing penalties be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I am not going to ask for a roll call on the motion to recommit this bill, but I do want to go on record as voting against this recommittal and I think perhaps there may be some other Senators who might also want to be recorded that way.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I want to inquire of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Kephart, the purpose of recommitting this bill to the Committee of Judiciary Special.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, Article 3, Section 6 of the Constitution provides that no bill shall be amended without being recited in full, and this bill violates that section and we will have to send it back to committee for further study.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, am I to understand that the Committee on Judiciary Special will forthwith attend to this task?

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I attended to that task forthwith; it has already been attended to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 289, entitled:

An Act limiting the extent to which liability may be made retroactive in cases in which, upon the basis of court decision or administrative ruling, a liability to the Commonwealth for taxes or other moneys is asserted which had not theretofore been claimed.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 356, entitled:

An Act to amend sections twelve and seventeen of the act, approved the twenty-first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 626), entitled "An act providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of all subjects of taxation in counties of the second class; creating and prescribing the powers and duties of a Board of Property Assessment, Appeals and Review; imposing duties on certain county and city officers; abolishing the board for the assessment and revision of taxes in such counties; and prescribing penalties," by providing for appeals from the judgment order or decrees of the court of common pleas to the Supreme or Superior Court, and for exoneration and refund of taxes when any assessment has been reduced by the Board of Property Assessment, Appeals and Review or by any court.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not think this bill is on our desks, at least I could not find it this afternoon, and I wanted to submit amendments to this bill.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair is advised that copies of the bill are on the desks of the Senators.

Mr. BARR. This bill probably arrived on our desks during the recess and I did not know it was here.

Mr. President, I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill if he would have any objection to the bill going over in order until tomorrow?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I object. This is a Senate bill and if amendments are offered, tomorrow, after going over in order until tomorrow, the bill would not be passed. I have no objection to it going over in order temporarily if the gentleman can get his amendments prepared.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 356, on second reading, go over in its order, temporarily.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 372, entitled:

An Act to amend clause eight of section seven hundred and two of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 103), entitled "An act concerning townships of the second class; and amending, revising, consolidating, and changing the law relating thereto," by empowering townships of the second class to levy tax, under certain circumstances, for the purpose of paying for the removal and disposal of ashes, garbage and other refuse material.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 373, on second reading, entitled:

An Act providing for the creation and for the administration by a State Building and Loan Insurance Board created in this act, of a state fund for the insurance of shares in building and loan associations and savings and loan associations; and prescribing penalties

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 374, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section 402 of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343), entitled, "An act relating to the finances of the State government; providing for the settlement, assessment, collection, and lien of taxes, bonus, and all other accounts due the Commonwealth, the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale, the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth, and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth, the resettlement of accounts and appeals the courts, refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth, auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof, and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties; affecting every department, board, commission and officer of the State government, every political subdivision of the State, and certain officers of such subdivisions, every person, association, and corporation required to pay, assess, or collect taxes, or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes, or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth, or any agency thereof, every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth," exempting the affairs of the State Building and Loan Insurance Board from audit by the Auditor General

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FARRELL. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. JASPAN. Can the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell, explain the reason for having this bill go over in order?

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, the only explanation I can give is that it is because of Caucus action; they will not pass the bills and I can not make them. I am very much in favor of these two bills but I can not make the Caucus pass these bills, so by Caucus action it was agreed that these bills should go over in order.

Mr. JASPAN. In other words, Mr. President, I take it that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell, has little hope for passage of these bills; is that correct?

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I would not say whether these bills will be passed. I feel that relatives and friends of the family should be notified of the funeral of these bills. I sponsored similar bills two years ago and got them by the Senate and had them started in the House but all my efforts were of no avail. These bills look good to me but I can not get anybody else to think as I do.

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, vigorously opposes these bills and if I am not going to get any help I am not going to be able to pass these good bills. If these bills do not look good to the Senators it is all right with me. These bills insure State building and loan associations against loss up to $5,000. I am a director of a Federal building and loan association, and of course if we go on and do not insure local building and loan associations we will not get anywhere with the local building and loan associations because every one will back up Federal building and loan associations, and not State building and loan associations, because Federal building and loan associations are insured up to $5,000 against loss.

I guess nobody better than the good Senator from Philadelphia knows where the opposition to these bills comes from, and if the Senate of Pennsylvania does not see the value of these bills, then I simply surrender.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I am thoroughly in accord with the statements made by my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell. I think these bills are very good bills and I assure the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell, that if they come up for final passage I will vote along with him. I was very much interested in the same bills back in 1941, but through a little chicanery and trickery they were lost in the final days of the Legislature.

Mr. President, I hope that the other side will permit the second reading of these bills tonight and take a chance on a third reading tomorrow, but by holding these bills over for one day—probably next week will be our last week—probably these bills will be lost in the shuffle.

Therefore, Mr. President, I object to any attempt to have these bills go over in order.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Schuylkill will procceed.

Mr. WATKINS. What is before the Senate, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Unanimous consent has been requested that Senate Bill No. 374 go over in its order.

Mr. WATKINS. That consent has not been as yet granted, Mr. President?

The PRESIDENT. That is right.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I had not intended to speak on this matter, but when the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell, got up and complained about non-support from our side, I want to remind him that I was one of the champions of these measures in 1941, and now I too hope that he will espouse the measures and will insist upon prompt consideration of these three bills.

Mr. President, these bills were introduced long ago we have had ample time to consider them, and if they pass tonight or tomorrow, the bills can then pass the House. I hope the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell, will continue to fight for them because otherwise the people in Philadelphia, where there is considerable interest in these measures, will be deprived of the benefit of these bills. The bills were introduced merely for purposes of complying with requests of constituents.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, it has been requested that these bills go over in order largely at my request; I am still insisting upon that request and if necessary I shall put it in the form of a motion.

I differ somewhat with my friend from Philadelphia Senator Farrell. I do not represent a Federal building and loan association but I represent about eight or nine mutual building and loan associations, some of which I am a director, some of which I am secretary. There are four or five bills which are very important, affecting the very existence and life of these mutual building and loan associations, which are the creation of the common people I have had no opportunity to examine any of these bills I have not seen them yet and they are not on my desk.

Therefore, I repeat the request that this bill go over in order.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I have no objection to these bills going over in order, if it is not the purpose of the members of the Senate to pickle these bills. I want to say for the benefit of the Senate that it does not matter to me. I attended a convention on building and loan associations in Harrisburg last year. There were 603 building and loan associations represented and they unanimously endorsed these bills and that looks pretty good to me. I do not claim to be a great building and loan man but as I say, I am a director and have been for many years, but if the members of the Senate do not see the value of these bills, if they do not see the possibility of State building and loan associations just going to ruin, then that is their lookout.

I just have to say this, Mr. President: who in the name of common sense is going to join a local building and loan association when he can join a Federal building and loan association and be insured up to $5,000 against loss? That is just what these bills would do, but if the members of the Senate do not see it that way then I guess I am dumb, and whatever happens, it is O. K. with me.
